

City Sets Sanding Routes

The city has set sanding routes to be followed when storms hit. This can be determined by a map being published by the city council in this issue of The Herald.

City Clerk Dan Sherry points out that the routes shown in black on the map are the main-traveled routes, including Highways 15 and 35. Other areas where there are hills or much-used streets will get sand when icy conditions are severe.

North-south routes to be sanded are Main Street all the way through town; Pearl Street, Seventh to Clark; Logan Street, Seventh to C&NWRR; and the block by the elementary school.

Seventh Street is the main east-west street to be sanded. One-way streets leading to and away from the elementary school are also to be sanded.

GREGG JAGER, son of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Jager, Wayne, had just weighed and tagged six Angus calves when along came The Herald photographer for a picture of the weigh-in process. County Agent Harold Ingalls was engaged in Thursday.

Calves Weighed for New Contest

County Agent Harold Ingalls was at the Wayne Sales Co. yards Thursday and Friday weighing calves. Employees of the firm assisted with the 4-11 project.

Calves weighed are eligible for the new rate-of-gain contest the county is sponsoring. Under the plan, special prizes and inducements are given those who show the best results in putting on beef poundage.

The near-zero temperatures Thursday kept the number of entries down. Agent Ingalls told The Herald he had hopes of a

The Spook Speaks

A Wayne man went to Sioux City to take a plane to the Twin Cities. He noticed a frustrated businessman who was panicky because planes were "stacked" and flying an hour or so late. Finally, finding the next plane would be over an hour late, the panicky one rented a car and drove to Sioux Falls to catch a plane to the Twin Cities. You guessed it—he arrived at Sioux Falls in time to catch a plane (the same one the Wayne man had boarded at Sioux City). Renting the car had cost an extra $35.

Over in Allen a boy told friends they could use his car parked on Main Street, pointing out that the keys were under the front seat. The friends found the car, found the keys and took off, not returning until 4 a.m. In the meantime, police had been notified by another party that his car had been taken. He had left it on Main Street in Allen. It was seen coming in at 4 a.m. Sure enough, the cars are identical and the friends had taken a stranger's car instead of their buddy's, both the friend and the stranger putting keys in a too-obvious place, under the front seat.

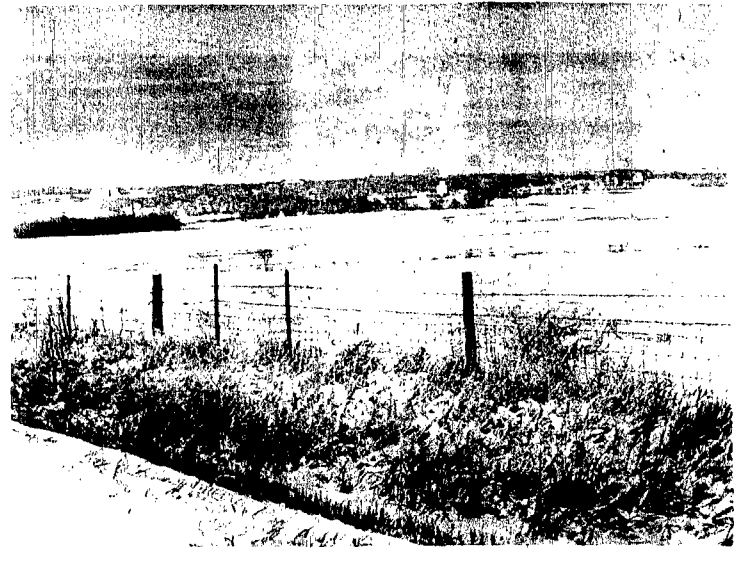

A Dixon woman gave a new excuse for not making a party on short notice the other day. In contrast to the usual reasons, "I couldn't get an appointment at the beauty shop; I couldn't get a sitter for the children; I was in the middle of housework," she gave a new one: "I had to help my husband spray hogs."

Logan in the sanding areas, sand will be plaged. Stop sign areas at Fourth, Fifth and Sixth on Sherman near the middle school, elementary school and high school are also to be sanded.

Sanding crews will go out as soon as feasible, often just after a storm has started. The highways and business district will be sanded first, this giving access to the hospital, post office, schools, fire station and most business places.

Wayne has a sanding machine. It is used whenever conditions warrant for the protection of the motorists.

Drivers are asked to be careful in some hilly areas of the city. Streets have been marked as "sliding areas" and will have new sleds for Christmas and fresh snow on the hills, the youngsters are taking advantage of these marked streets.

BLANKETED IN SNOW was the Wayne countryside following a snow after Christmas. The view above was taken from the southwest looking toward Wayne from a hillside. Bowen Dorm, the new high school and the middle school are among the prominent buildings identified.

First Baby Contest Conducted in Area

For the first time in several years, there will be a "First Baby Contest" in Wayne. A dozen business places are providing gifts for the first area baby born in the Wayne Hospital in 1968.

Rules are simple. The date and birth of the baby must be verified by the attending physician; the parents must reside in Wayne County or one of the counties bordering this county; in case of tie the winner will be determined by drawing; and no formal entry is required.

A list of prizes appears in an ad on an inside page this week. Those sponsoring hope to make the project worthwhile by providing gifts of great enough value so others will join them next year and make it an annual event just as it is in many other cities in which hospitals are located.

Lunch at Big Dance

Lunch was scheduled to be served at the Jaycee New Year's Eve dance at the army Sunday night, Dec. 31. Proceeds from that will also be donated to the fund for Mrs. Keith Kassel and Mrs. Dick Hammer. A group of young ladies agreed to sponsor a lunch concession at the annual New Year's Eve ball at which The New Brass orchestra was scheduled to play.

Lower Labor Costs to Be Cited at Clinic

Lower labor costs are only one of the benefits of minimum tillage planting of corn, soybeans and sorghum according to the many Midwest farmers who have tried this method. Better holding of moisture, looser soil and less erosion are other advantages, along with making fewer trips across the field.

A crowd of several hundred top farmers in this area is expected to attend to hear a panel of experts on farm production discuss the timely minimum tillage question and many other up-to-date practices at the Corn-Soybean-Sorghum Clinic at the City Auditorium in Wayne Jan. 26. The meeting starts at 9:15 a.m., with free coffee and rolls available from 8:30 to 9:15. A Remington Model 870 shotgun will be given away as the early-bird prize. A free hot meal will also be served at noon as part of the program.

All aspects of the year-long task of planning for a bumper crop of corn or soybeans will come under inspection at the clinic. The methods of presenting this information will be as

Rites Planned Jan. 4 For Anna Louise Kay

Funeral services for Mrs. Anna Kay, 82, are planned Jan. 4 at 2 p.m. at St. Paul's Lutheran Church, Wayne. Mrs. Kay was born and raised in the Wayne community. She moved to California about 20 years ago where she made her home until her death. A complete obituary will be carried in the next issue of The Herald.

Dance, Gifts to Boost Schran's

A square dance Saturday, Jan. 6, at Winside and donations through the Farmers State Bank, Carroll, and Winside State Bank, Winside, are boosting the Allen Schran's, Winside dairy operators who hope to be back in business after the first of the year.

Farmers State Bank reports donations in Carroll the past week. They came from Don and Dottie Wacker, Winside, and Everett Rees, Wayne.

Meanwhile, Belles & Deaus Square Dance Club, Carroll and Winside, is planning for the biggest crowd ever for the Jan. 6 dance. Some other area square dance clubs have called off their own dances so members can attend the big benefit at the Winside Auditorium. Jerry Junck will donate his services as caller.

Donations are being received and tickets are being sold. Everything received will be turned over to the Schran's.

Rehabilitation is the other bright spot in the Schrant home, in addition to the help and encouragement from neighbors and friends. Schrant has visited state rehabilitation experts and they feel he will be able to adapt to the loss of both hands and will be equipped with mechanical hands that will enable him to keep on operating as a self-supporting and independent farmer.

Clothing Delivered; Orphans Most Happy

Orphans in Hoi Duc Anh Orphanage, Saigon, South Vietnam, were delighted the past week. It wasn't Christmas for them, but they did receive gifts, clothing from an 11-year-old Wayne boy.

Terry Hasebrook's package of underwear was received by Sp-4 Charles Ronayne of the Traffic Management Agency. He took the clothing to the orphanage where the children have few possessions they can call their own. The story started when Terry's sister, Ann, told of writing to Ronayne, who wrote back that orphans were hard-up for clothing. Terry listened to the story and remembered it later when he won $15 as a prize at a store. He used this money at J. M. McDonald's to buy underwear for the orphans.

Sp-4 David Frazier in the information office of the Traffic Management Agency found out about the Wayne youth's generosity. He took a picture of the clothing being delivered, that being included with this story. What he did not know was that Terry's newspaper customers appreciated what Terry had done. They presented him with a new bicycle just before Christmas.

WSC Second Term Schedule Planned

Wayne State College begins its second term with registration Wednesday in the Rice Building for all students who did not register in December.

Enrollment for evening courses is scheduled Saturday morning January 6, in the Administration Building.

Students already enrolled may pay fees either Tuesday or Wednesday in Connell Hall.

The evening curriculum offers 52 classes:

Upper division—Chaucer, advanced composition, mathematics concepts (101 and 101e), orchestra, child and adolescent psychology, book selection (library science), and major field materials in these subjects: art, biology, business, home economics, industrial arts, language, mathematics, physical education, physical science, social science, and speech. The major field materials classes meet twice weekly for the first half of the term. The book selection class meets every other Saturday from 9 a.m. to 4 p.m.

Senior or graduate students plined astronomy, world civilizations 2, speech fundamentals, and elementary school speech.

Graduate—Teaching shorthand and transcription, advanced children's literature, education and society, research seminar in education, studies in American realism and naturalism (English), creative arts today, occupational and education information, group techniques, counseling theory and technique, Tudor-Stuart England (history), the Jacksonian era, literature and research in physical education, learning theory (psychology).

Teachers in Classes

It's vacation time for college students but 30 teachers from colleges and universities in Nebraska, Kansas and South Dakota are using the period to prepare instructional materials for classes. They are in a year-long institute in educational media for college and university faculty members at NU. Participants are attending from Wayne State, Chadron State, Concordia Teachers College, Fort Hays State, Peru State, Sioux Falls College, Hastings Vocational-Technical School, University of Nebraska and Nebraska Wesleyan University.

Two Wayne Cars in Wakefield Mishap

Two Wayne residents were involved in a traffic accident at the junction of Highways 35 and 9 Dec. 26. No one was injured but one of the cars did catch on fire.

Trooper J. Yosten, Nebraska State Patrol, investigated. He reported Kathy Wolske driving one car owned by Ed Wolske. Miss Wolske had stopped at the stop sign as she was westbound.

Behind her was Loretta Swanson. Mrs. Swanson was unable to stop on the slick highway, striking the rear of the Wolske vehicle.

The Wolske car caught fire. However, with the use of a fire extinguisher the flames were put out before much damage was done. No one was injured.

Vacation's Over

Sorry about that, kids, but vacation is over. School resumes in all except one of the area schools Tuesday, Jan. 2. The exception is Trinity Lutheran School, Hoskins. Pupils at that school do not go back to school until Wednesday, Jan. 3. Schools going back include rural, Wayne-Carroll, St. Mary's Catholic in Wayne, Hoskins Public, Winside, Allen, Dixon, Concord, Sholes and Altona Trinity Lutheran. Next vacation: Easter weekend.

Farm-Loan, Wool Act Advice Given

Wayne County Agricultural Stabilization Committee has advice for farmers concerning the wool act and the price-support loan program. Information on dates to remember has been supplied.

Wool growers are notified that they should get applications in early for 1967 marketing year payments under the wool act. These should be in no later than the last of January.

Applications cover marketings of wool, lambs and mohair during the calendar year 1967. This covers all of the foregoing for which sales details were completed not later than Dec. 31.

Payments for the 1967 marketing year will begin in April. Marketings completed after Dec. 31, 1967, will be considered as 1968 marketings and will not be

Three Accidents Occur Past Week

Wayne Police Department investigated three accidents in the past week. Two of them occurred Dec. 26 at Third and Main. The third occurred two days later in a parking lot.

Officer Ron Penlerick investigated both mishaps at Third and Main. The first involved JoAnn Bengtson, Wausa, driving a car owned by Ferne Bengtson, and Cheryl Siefken, Wayne, driving a car owned by Arnold Siefken.

The Bengtson car did not have visibility through the rear window, according to the police report. The driver backed up from a diagonal parking stall, striking the right rear fender of the eastbound car of Miss Siefken.

Later at the same intersection, Dennis Beckman, Wayne, driving south in a car owned by Russell Beckman, had stopped for a traffic signal. Also southbound was Blaine McCulloch, Wayne, who was unable to stop on the slick street, his car striking the rear of the Beckman vehicle.

Dec. 27 behind Tiedtke Plumbing & Heating, William Winch, Wayne, was backing a Tiedtke pickup. The vehicle struck the rear of the parked car of Wes Wingett, Wayne, the rear of the Wingett car extending over the line from Swans' lot to Tiedtke's lot. Chief of Police Vern Fairchild investigated.

Laurel Woman Misses Thursday Night Prize

Mrs. Ann Chederquist, Laurel, could have won $350 by venturing out on a cold night Thursday. That is the amount the Silver Dollar Night drawing offered at 8.

Since there was no winner, the check for the first Thursday in 1968 will be for $400. If there is no winner then, money will go into a reserve fund, already swollen by the Friday night drawings during the Christmas season when no winners were drawn. The reserve fund will keep building until someone wins the $400.

Anyone 18 or over not registered, may take part in these weekly drawings by registering in participating business places. Information may also be secured from Bernard Schulte at the Wayne Chamber of Commerce office.

IN VIETNAM, clothing sent by Terry Hasebrook, Wayne, who received the package, is shown slipping a pair of shorts on a child at Hoi Duc Anh Orphanage, Saigon.

EDITORIAL COMMENT

The editorial department of a weekly newspaper is an important department. Normally it is one person's opinion of topics that concern most of the readers.

It is the duty of an editorial writer to set all available facts before his readers down to write. From this basis the writer should be able to give a clear picture of important topics.

You may not agree with an editorial but if you read the editorial and give your thoughts to the subject discussed you have gained. You as a reader, have given careful thought to an important problem and the writer is proud to have called your attention to an important subject that you may have overlooked.

A Resolution for Wayne

For the city of Wayne, there is a resolution for the new year and it would not hurt if every resident made it: During 1968 every effort will be made to secure industry for this city with complete backing from all businessmen, organizations and factions.

Wayne simply cannot go on progressing without some diversification of the economy. If there are those in the past who have not given wholehearted support to getting industry, they must upgrade their thoughts and start thinking of the common good rather than being afraid of their personal welfare.

The latter statement comes because more than a few times the remark has been heard that some do not want industry here because they fear they might have to pay their own employees higher wages. It seems likely statements such as this are a lot of hogwash, but if it is true in even one case then the ones who have these fears need to gain more information on the true meanings of industry.

Has anyone ever opposed industry in Wayne? It is doubtful if one such person can be named in our experiences in other cities the same idea was broached without exception - so and so doesn't want Julesburg (or Oshkosh) to have industry because he would have to pay his help more.

Right away, let us point out that the wage level does go up when industry comes in. However, profits are higher because volume is higher. Benefits go right down the line, top to bottom.

Wayne has gone too long on the twin supports of agriculture and education. It needs a better balance to its economy and the third support is industry.

It is safe to say that no business place in Wayne will be hurt if the city gets industry. If wages go up, profits will also go up. It has happened that way other places and it can happen here.

If there are more workers making more money they are going to spend more. More help will be needed to handle the business. If anyone is selfish enough to favor industry solely on a profit basis, then even that is there.

For those who want to get industry here because the community needs it, the doorway is open. Other cities have secured industry. Wayne can do it too.

Here are some examples of what has happened in the past year. A college student whose wife must work to help him make it through college helped his wife get a job. She worked about a week and then quit to go to Omaha to seek employment. She is now there throughout the week and her husband is here going to college, returning to Omaha on weekends.

This is one example. Is it possible others have given up the idea of coming here to college simply because if one of them has to work the job must pay enough or they cannot make it?

The couple left Wayne although both man and wife had good jobs. Now they are happily located in an area where he is working and making as much as both did here. As a result, she can be home as a housewife and mother, no longer putting in hours as a worker and then returning to household duties.

A family left Wayne to live in a smaller town where expenses were not so high as far as rentals go but where they could clear more each week on the same salary. You must admit that our college makes renting a problem, and certainly those who fix up rental properties cannot be criticized for wanting to get returns on their investments as quickly as possible.

Are We Wrong?

A WSC teacher takes us to task for taking teachers to task who refuse to sign a loyalty oath. It is possible we are wrong in our outlook—we have been wrong before.

The letter writer indicates loyalty oaths are unfair because they indicate teachers are more likely to commit treasonous acts than any other class of citizen. We'd say he is wrong. We think the oaths are fair because no other class has so much contact with our young people—children spending more time with teachers than with parents in the years when they are most easily influenced.

He questions whether a teacher is in any more responsible post than doctors, ministers, businessmen or newspapers. We hope so! We don't see some of the pupils in Wayne schools in months. We don't see some WSC students at all. The same is true of doctors, ministers and businessmen—they have less contact than teachers do with pupils. Therefore, teachers ARE in more responsible posts.

Newspaper men have influence (we flatter ourselves into believing). However, they are not present in person five days a week to pound home their ideas. We would be willing to sign a loyalty oath—proud, we should say, just as proud as we are to salute the flag, stand for the Pledge of Allegiance and sing "The Star Spangled Banner."

The letter writer says the teacher teaches the truth "as he sees it." Lord, we've seen some of the "teaching of truth" as teachers see it right in this community. We don't care to go through that again. Let us say teachers teach what they believe and we think the public has a right to know what these teachers believe. Certainly the public wants to know if they don't believe in obeying the laws and supporting the constitutions of state and nation.

Finally, the writer of the letter says this editor has remarked on the fact that the majority of the young are intelligent, loyal, open-minded

As Wayne goes, so goes the city. This is to say that if Wayne gets industry, benefits will be derived by Winslow, Carroll, Hoskins, Allen, Dixon, Concord, Wakefield, Pender, Wisner, Pilger, Stanton, Soles, Alton and other communities. If you think this is not true, find out how many people from other towns drive to Wakefield each day to work at Waldbaum's.

One of the best examples of what happens when industry moves in is Oshkosh, a town we are more than a little familiar with. Before an electronics plant opened there, seven business buildings were vacant. Five years later, several new business places had been built, all business places are filled, many new homes have been built and people drive from as far as Harvard, 36 miles away, to work in the plant.

There were those in Oshkosh who feared they could no longer afford clerks, waitresses and other help. Instead, everyone has jobs, employees make more and business places are better off. When the electronic plant shifts get off, there are few places to park in the business district so many stop to buy. On paydays, the money flows generously, people buying food, clothing, appliances and other needs.

The town (1200 population) now has three doctors, two dentists, two veterinarians, several new business places, a new housing development, a new hospital, new additions on the two schools, new churches planned, concrete paving over most of the town, an airport equal to Wayne's and other facilities it might not have had the attitude remained as it was a few years ago, B! (Before Industry).

There are bigger examples. Columbus is one. Try driving through Columbus on Highway 30 about the time shifts are changing at Dale Industries, Becton-Dickinson, Behlen and several other plants. You'll find out what congestion is and you'll see cars from every area county. You will also find those people stopping to buy at shopping centers, service stations, cafes and the main business district.

Can this happen in Wayne? Why not? It has happened in Broken Bow, Holdrege, Cozad and other towns in the same population range as Wayne. Some have advantages Wayne does not have but some lack advantages Wayne has.

IT MUST happen someday. Wayne cannot afford to continue in the path it is following now. Where effort has been made before, it must be increased tenfold. Where enthusiasm has waxed and waned on industrial prospects in the past, it must be made to rise and keep rising. Where a few have been willing to devote time in previous years, everyone must be willing to do their part in the year ahead.

This can be an empty resolution. It can be forgotten tomorrow. It can also be a meaningful resolution if there are really enough who care.

Wayne is too nice a city to ride along without moving into the industrial age. This area is too rich in good people to continue losing them to other areas where industry is a major factor in the economy. The future is too bright for the communities that plan ahead not to make every effort to be among them.

Each organization, each business place, each institution, each individual should have a part in Wayne's resolution for 1968: We will get industry! Somehow you must be included, maybe several times, as a member of one or more organizations, as a businessman, as a committee member and as an individual.

Let's go great in '68. Let's progress. You! You! But especially you! —CEG.

and alert. He says therefore the teachers should get credit for influencing this group. He has reversed himself because earlier he had said teachers were no more influential than others and then he turns around and wants credit for the majority that are good but no blame for the minority that goes astray. Isn't it possible the ones who are delinquent, anti-social and led astray might also be influenced by teachers?

America has had troubles in all parts of the nation. How often are they started on college campuses? How often have teachers influenced the thinking of the students? Teachers have to admit they try to influence their pupils and students and fortunately for us, most of them are influences for the good, the right and the just.

We don't necessarily think a loyalty oath is necessary here, but should a time come when one is requested, we see no reason for not signing such a simple oath as: "I will obey the laws and support the constitution." Who could be offended by that? Maybe we should be proud that someone is concerned enough to want to know. We're proud that in almost all cases even the majority of the teachers asked to sign have been willing to do so.

The Herald agrees that no "circulation-building controversy" is needed on this matter. It has just taken a stand. We could be wrong. We need a controversy to build circulation as much as Great Salt Lake needs a teaspoon of salt to make it saltier.

If we are wrong in favoring signing loyalty oaths when they are requested, we want to know. We also want to know why. So far we have not found any legitimate reasons for anyone not signing such a basic oath, the only real argument being that someone's feelings might be hurt to think they might not be trusted.

We are ready to sign. Our feelings would not be hurt if we were asked. What's more, we are willing to back up our signing with action. Are we wrong? —CEG.

Dear Friends, Congratulations to your success in football season. I have been being proud of you guys very much. It was unbelievable, friends!!!! I received the Wayne Herald Newspapers for a year for graduation gifts from the Baier family, so I love very much to read and know about all my friends have been doing.

All the best wishes to my friends in Carroll, Wakefield, Winslow, and WAYNE, Nebraska.

My dear friends, HAPPY NEW YEAR TO YOU.

Think of you guys always, Phadot Gawsombat, Fire Station, AMPAC, Nonsong, Udon, Thailand

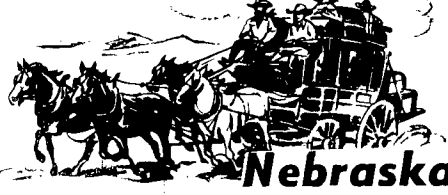

Dear Editor:

Will you get me straight on this? Roy Coryell was chosen to serve on the teachers salary committee of school district 17. His residence is in rural school district 88. I thought one cannot vote or serve on committees of a school district in which one does not live.

I do know if you own property in a rural school district and live in town you can't vote or serve on a committee in that rural district.

Out of Old

Nebraska

The Dunbar-Allis Pawnee Mission in the early 1800's, missionaries were attempting to save the "sin-destroyed" Indians of Nebraska, just as they worked with the natives of Africa and the Far East.

Among the manuscript collections of the Nebraska State Historical Society are some of the original records of an early attempt by the Presbyterians to establish a mission among the Pawnee Indians in Nebraska. At this time, the government was trying to persuade the Pawnee to give up their roving life and settle on a reservation.

Two men from Ithaca, New York, Mr. Samuel Allis and Rev. John Dunbar, a graduate of Williams College and Auburn Theological Seminary, came west in 1834 to minister to the Pawnee.

In October the two men went to live with different bands in order to learn their language and customs. They spent the winter with the Pawnee, then returned to Bellevue for about two months. In late June, 1835, they went out again, returning to Bellevue in August. Dunbar stayed out a third time, from early October, 1835 to late April, 1836. For the next five years, from May, 1836, until April, 1841, the missionaries' contact with the Pawnee was much more limited. They remained at Bellevue most of the time making plans for a permanent mission. During this time, they were joined by their wives and by Dr. Benedict Satterlee.

Dr. Satterlee was later found dead, either from starvation or from an attack by a crazed fur-trader.

In 1838 smallpox broke out among the Pawnee, and Allis brought vaccine to help stop the epidemic. Due partly to fear of the Sioux and partly to the losses from smallpox, the Pawnee decided to move to a reservation.

Accordingly, Dunbar and Allis proceeded with their plans for a mission near the Pawnee villages. It was established in the summer of 1841, near the mouth of Plum Creek (now Council Creek), about midway between the present towns of Genoa and Fullerton in Nance County.

In addition to Dunbar, Allis, their wives and children, there were Rev. Timothy Ranney and a number of government employees associated with the mission. They included farmers, a blacksmith and his helper and an interpreter.

The mission's future did not look too hopeful. Protection promised by the government never materialized, and both Pawnee and whites were open to attack by the Sioux. Missionaries and government employees constantly quarreled among themselves.

The missionaries never learned to appreciate that the Pawnees had their own traditions, customs and religion. Instead, they persisted in regarding them as "sin-destroyed" and "degraded." Writing of one of the Sioux attacks years afterward, one of the missionaries noted "we...thought best not to interfere. Sin is the cause of all battles."

After a severe Sioux attack in the early summer of 1846, the missionaries feared for their safety and abandoned the mission.

Clothes Dryer—Gas or Electric? Homemakers in the market for a clothes dryer may choose either a gas or electric dryer. Installation costs, inconveniences and cost of operation are factors to consider. From the performance standpoint there is little difference. Her choice may depend upon present gas connections or wiring, on local fuel rates, or simple personal preference.

Average electrical energy needed to dry a load of clothes in an electric dryer is 2.7 kilowatt hours. Multiply price you pay per KWH by 2.7 and you have the cost of drying a load by electricity.

Average natural gas consumption is 9.6 cubic feet per load, so multiply that by your gas rate and you have the answer on operating cost with a gas dryer.

Initial cost of a gas dryer is usually from $25 to $50 higher than for electric ones, and there are differences in installing charges. It requires a 115 volt electrical circuit for turning drum, operating fan and for lights.

A shopping guide for a Clothes Dryer E.C. 67-1196 is now available by request from Local County Extension offices or the Northeast Station, Concord.

"Joshua Simpkins," a rural comedy which has been presented continuously on the road for several seasons, will be in Wayne Jan. 10. A complete orchestra composed of professional musicians discourses incidental music which assists to make the play the success it is. This feature is claimed by the management to be gulf edged and it is said far exceeds the usual orchestra by theatrical companies. Their fine band will give in burlesque parade about noon on the day of the engagement.

Walter Yarvan has rented the J. W. Johnson ice house and will conduct the business this coming summer. It is to be hoped that there will be an improvement in both service and price. (Carroll News).

"Well, let her panic," remarked a contented Platt county farmer to a newspaper man. "Cellar full of potatoes, bins full of wheat, cribs full of corn, plenty of fat hogs and good cattle and money in the bank. (Guess those Wall Street fellows who have been pipping fun at us farmers will sit up and take notice of our food supply before the winter is over!")

While the A. E. Chapin family were absent from their home this week, a skunk moved in. The return of the family brought on a fight for possession that caused a big "stink" in general, but finally resulted in the murder of the intruder by the irate head of the Chapin household. "Signs of the battle are still perceptible to the nostrils of passers-by." (Winslow News).

W. A. Emery has just opened a barber shop next to Gaertner's furniture store. With five shops in town there's no excuse for going unshaved in Wayne.

It is said there is a foot of ice on the Bressler lake a mile and a half east of town. Work of putting ice will soon commence.

Ed Samuelson was seen driving toward home with some furniture in his wagon the first of the week. This looks rather suspicious but we suppose, perhaps, it is partly the result of some of his trips up the line. (Eastern Hunter News).

It has been reported that a new German school will be built half way between districts 75 and 80. That will locate it across the road from A. Rethwisch's. (Sunny Slope News).

About the busiest place in Wayne this week is the X-Ray Incubator Factory and when the writer called there the other day and was shown through the factory it was surprising the magnitude the business has already assumed. There are 15 men now employed in the factory in putting together the incubators. Mail averages about 200 letters a day and they have just put out a 56-page catalogue.

Mr. Lundberg of Wayne is about to start a new newspaper at this place in the old Headlight office. (Hoskins News).

There is talk of a new bank, a new butcher shop and a new opera house. (Hoskins News).

Some excitement prevailed at the Hill Side school Wednesday afternoon. In a manner that is unknown the cobs in the coal house became ignited and the blaze had gained considerable of a headway before it was discovered. A small quantity of coal is all that was saved. (Carroll Index).

Peter Thies, a farmer living near Randolph, had a thrilling experience with a pack of wolves one night last week. Hearing a disturbance at his sheep and hog sheds he took a gun and went out to investigate. He had hardly arrived at the sheds before he was surrounded by a yelping and snarling pack of wolves. Opening fire he made it so hot for his assailants that they retreated, leaving one dead behind. It has been a long time since anyone has been attacked by wolves in Nebraska, but this winter for some reason, the wolves are reported to be more vicious.

The state bank is making preparations for extensive alterations of their building both inside and out. A complete new front will be put in both stories and will be of the most modern style of architecture. The front will be mainly of pressed brick with stone cap on top and large plate glass windows, and the entrance will be from the corner of the building.

We have a few 400s, good cooking apples at Bu. 606.—Ort & Jarvis Co. (Adv.).

John Hufford had a little experience with a couple of smooth fellows who blew in from Norfolk way yesterday, and they had their business down to a system. Going into the 2-towns clothing store they took a quick survey of the interior and when Mr. Hufford came up to wait on them, one said he wanted to buy a pair of shoes. Mr. Hufford had sized them up as suspicious characters and kept an eye on the one in the front end of the store as he went to the rear of the store to show the other fellow the shoes. As Mr. Hufford turned his back to reach for a box of shoes the "artist" at the front of the store made a swipe from the pants rack and Hufford turned in time to see him button up his big overcoat.

After the two left the store they were stopped and upon opening the overcoat of one, three pair of pants fell out.

Allen Dropped in Randolph Tourney

Allen High School dropped out of the Randolph Holiday Tournament Wednesday night. The Eagles faded in the second half to drop a 78-62 decision to Randolph St. Frances. Hartington surprised Coleridge 67-62 in the second game.

The Blue and Gold made a real battle of the first half, the lead changing hands six times and the score being tied seven. However, the Blue Jays came out the second half to outscore AHS 10-2 in the first minutes to move from a 31-29 lead to a 43-31 advantage.

Trading baskets, the teams moved to a point where St. Frances led 51-40 and then it was Allen's turn, the Eagles outscoring the Jays 9-2 before the third quarter ended to pull up to a 53-49 lag. Then the roof fell in. RSH scored 19 points while AHS could make 3 and it was a 72-52 ball game. Both teams used reserves there on out.

After one quarter, Allen led 17-15 but at the half it was 31-29 in favor of Randolph St. Frances. Three quarters through the game the winners led 53-49 and they outscored Allen 25-13 the final stanza.

Dave Abts led Allen in rebounds with 13. Alan Smith had 8, Kevin Hill and Mike Roeber 3, Charles Geiger 2 and Rick Hank, Dennis Geiger and Bob Meyer L. Abts also led in steals with 3. Hill, Roeber and Hank had 2 and Bob Mitchell 1. Smith had 4 assists, Hill, Abts and Hank 3 and Roeber 2.

The Blue Jays won the game on the ability to control rebounding at both ends of the court the final two periods. Players seemed to be in the right place at the right time and went up the right height to gain possession.

Following is the box score:

ALLEN	FG	FT	F	PTS
Mike Roeber	3	1-3	5	7

One Fined in Court

For the second issue in a row, only one court case can be reported. Judge David Hamer has handed only two cases the past week, one of these being a carry-over from several weeks ago. The last case heard was Dec. 28. August Volk, Norfolk, paid $10 fine and $5 court costs on a speeding charge. The complaint was filed by County Attorney Donald Reed.

Winners at Concord

Five more turkeys were given away Dec. 23 at drawings in Concord with a big crowd present on a pleasant day. Two winners were from Wakefield, Patty Kirchner and Carl Johnson. The other three were from Concord, Charles Holdorf, Jodene Nelson and Mrs. Art Johnson. The five turkeys brought the total to 15 given away during the Christmas season.

LYNN ROBERTS, Carroll, won third place in the division for rural lighting sponsored by WCPPD.

"MY BANK HAS
A RECORD OF SAYING
YES... SAYING YES
... SAYING YES...."

"YOU CAN SAY THAT AGAIN"

On the record, we say "Yes" to loan applicants about 99.44% of the time. That's because we WANT to lend. We strive to help people meet their personal problems, buy automobiles, do all those things that people borrow for. Any other reason for saying "Yes"? We admit it... Loan interest is an important part of our income. Even though our rates are low, we make lots of loans and the total adds up. So every loan works two ways. It helps you, the borrower. It helps us. That's why we keep saying "Yes"... saying "Yes"... saying "Yes"...
