

Carroll Man Dies In Car Accident

Dallas E. Cunningham, 44, Carroll insurance man, was killed Friday at about 6:10 p.m., when his car and one driven by Paul B. Fusterwimann, 41, of Howells collided at the crest of a hill a half-mile west of Howells on old Route 91.

Cunningham, alone in his car, was killed outright in the accident and Fusterwimann died later in a West Point hospital.

Collax County Sheriff Dick Kruse of Schuyler and State Trooper "A. A. Roby" of West Point, investigating officers, said that the Cunningham vehicle was westbound and the two collided, nearly head-on.

With Fusterwimann were his wife, Alka, who suffered a fractured knee, facial cuts and bruises, and seven children, all of whom were taken to the West Point Hospital.

Labona, 16, suffered a fractured skull; Russell, 12, a broken leg; and Paul, 15, upper jaw fracture. The others were treated for severe lacerations and numerous lesser cuts and bruises.

Randall, 7; Ryan, 4; David, 13; and Daniel, 12.

The Carroll victim was the son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Cunningham of Carroll, with whom he had made his home. A brother, 7-year-old, also is a Carroll resident.

In another Friday accident, this a car-train mishap at Tilden, Paul Jess, 26, of Tilden, suffered serious injuries when his car was struck at the main railroad crossing in Tilden.

Jess was alone in his car at the time of the accident, which occurred at 8:15 a.m. His car was dragged about 100 yards by the train.

The Tilden man was taken to Methodist hospital in Omaha, where he was reported to be in guarded condition.

Condrey's Attorney Asks Client's Bond Be Lowered

Jerry L. Norris, Columbus, attorney for Danny Gene Condrey, has filed a petition in District Court for a writ of habeas corpus on Condrey's behalf. The petition is a request that Condrey's bond be lowered from the present $20,000.

The petition will be presented to District Court Judge George Patrick Feb. 9. If Patrick approves the petition, a writ will be issued, and Condrey's bond will be lowered.

Condrey, 26, of Schuyler, is being held in the Wayne County Jail in lieu of $20,000 bond on charges of rape, assault to commit rape, kidnapping and sodomy in connection with the alleged rape of a Wayne State College student, Nov. 10, 1971. Condrey's co-defendant, Gale R. Grontalich, 24, Columbus, is charged with rape, assault to commit rape and kidnapping. Grontalich is free on $5,000 bond.

Both men pleaded not guilty to all charges at Feb. 9 arraignment hearing in District Court.

Heating Problems Cancel Classes at Wayne, Wisner

Two area schools were forced to cancel classes last week, due to heating problems.

A broken boiler fan Thursday resulted in a day of unscheduled vacation for Wayne High School students.

According to Supt. F. R. Hain, Thursday classes were canceled at the high school building, when a custodian arrived and discovered the problem about 6:30 a.m. The malfunction resulted in a heavy coat of carbon on the boiler walls. Custodians worked through the day Thursday to clean the carbon from the boiler and replace the broken fan with new parts.

Friday, it was business as usual again with school back in session.

Classes were canceled Friday at Wisner due to heating and bus problems.

The Wisner High School building, housing students in grades 7 through 12, was without heat Friday, as a result of a leak in a faulty heating valve. The building had been heated since Tuesday by a reserve supply of liquid propane fuel, when a minor fire due to leakage broke out late Thursday. After extinguishing the fire, custodians found the leak.

Johnsons End 49 Years in Bakery Business

Lowell Johnson and his mother, Mrs. Ethel Johnson, co-owners of Johnson's Bakery, 309 Main, have sold the business to Val's Bakery, Lincoln, ending a family business of 49 years' standing in Wayne.

The bakery was originally owned by Albert Johnson, Lowell's uncle. Lowell's father, Robert Johnson, took over the operation in 1944, and owned the bakery until his death in 1962, when Lowell and his mother assumed ownership.

Johnson stated that his family will move from Wayne to Laurel, Md., during the second week of February. Johnson will be employed there by a large manufacturing firm, and will be in charge of sales from Omaha to the East Coast.

The new owner of the bakery has been employed at a bakery in Lincoln. Temme's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Elvin Temme, live in the Wayne area. The name of the business will be changed to Val's Bakery. Temme will take over ownership of the business Feb. 1.

Seven Mishaps In Three Days

A three-day period from Wednesday through Friday, yielded seven property damage accidents on Wayne streets. As in past weeks, most of the fender benders involved icy streets.

The first of three Wednesday mishaps occurred at 2:30 p.m., when a car driven by Steven Harvey, Craig, struck a parked car owned by George Jones, 592 W. Fifth. The mishap in the 900 block of Winnet left the left rear fender of Jones' car damaged.

The parking lot of Wittig's Super Valu was the scene late Wednesday of a minor two-car collision. Hazel Beckenhauer, See MISHAPS, page 6

Mayor Signs Over Salary To Hospital

Ken Hall is contributing his entire salary as mayor of Wayne—$750 a year—to the Medical Center building program.

The $3,750 five-year subscription was signed Saturday without any ceremony.

The mayor's term expires in June of 1974. The subscription he signed, with a check for this salary, will run through January of 1976. Hall said, whether or not he succeeds himself as mayor, he will continue the payments personally.

Hall added "I was happy to sign the subscription card for my salary as mayor. I am not seeking publicity for re-election. I don't even know if I will run again—I do know that Wayne badly needs the proposed medical center."

The Medical Center campaign total has reached $152,750 in advance gifts—70 per cent of a $500,000 goal with five weeks left for solicitation.

St. Mary's Students on the Move

Remember, you had all your classes in one room, how anxious you were to get to high school and move from room to room for your classes like the big kids did?

With the advent of open classroom teaching, departmentalized classes and individualized instruction, being in the same classroom from early in the morning until mid-afternoon is becoming a thing of the past, as children at St. Mary's (Catholic School) in Wayne are finding out this year.

St. Mary's, which has 51 students enrolled in grades one through six, this year changed over to departmentalized classes and individualized instruction in hopes of providing their students with more motivation for learning and in an attempt to strengthen the pupil-teacher relationship and improve the learning atmosphere.

For the new system, the three teachers at St. Mary's decided between themselves which areas of learning they were best adapted to teaching, resulting in Sister Margaret Mary Bean, who also serves as principal at St. Mary's, taking over the science and social studies classes; Sister Josephine Everett taking charge of the reading and related studies, and Mrs. Eldin Roberts of Wayne, the language arts (except reading) and mathematics.

In addition, Sister Margaret Mary is home room teacher for the fifth and sixth grade students, Sister Josephine for the third and fourth grade students, and Mrs. Roberts for the first and second grade students.

The schedules have been set up so that the students are in their home room for their first and last classes (whatever they happen to be). For all other subjects, they move to various classrooms. This system allows each room to become more of a resource center than it could have been under the old plan.

The school teaches language arts, reading, science, math, social studies, music, art and religion. Father Begley spends one day per week at the school for additional instruction in religion.

Tickets for the proposed hospital benefit performance of "Odipus Rex" will be $3 per person or $5.00 per couple, according to Dr. Helen Russell, head of the WSC Drama Department, who made the announcement this week.

Hospital Benefit Performance Planned

Dr. Helen Russell, professor of theater at Wayne State College, has announced that a benefit performance of "Odipus Rex" at the department's forthcoming production, will be given for the Wayne Medical Center drive. The proposed project was unanimously approved by the department at a recent meeting.

The benefit performance, scheduled for 8 p.m. Friday, Feb. 18, at Ramsey Theater, will be one of six performances scheduled for the Greek Tragedy Admission, $1.50 per person for all other performances, will be upped to $2 per person or $5 per couple for the benefit performance. No season tickets or group rates will be honored that one night.

It has been suggested that various groups or organizations could promote theater parties to stimulate participation in this worthy cause. Blocks of choice reserved seats will be made available for those interested in an arrangement of this type.

Further information can be obtained by calling Ramsey Theater box office (375-2200, extension 234), open daily from 12 noon to 5 p.m. after Monday, Feb. 14.

"Odipus Rex," to be presented in the classical tradition, with authentic costumes, full head masks and typical Greek setting, is designed to be an educational as well as an entertaining experience.

Allen Rescue Unit Drive Passes Goal

Donations late Thursday afternoon pushed the Allen Rescue Unit fund drive $53.15 over the $5,000 goal set in early December by Allen Volunteer Firemen and Rescue Squad members who donated the campaign rolling.

The hoped for $5,000 was earmarked for the purchase of a new $3,900 Dodge max-van. The remainder of the $5,000, and any monies collected over that amount, it was planned, would be used to equip the van for use as a rescue unit. (The van was ordered this month).

Security State Bank presented Allen residents with a $1,000 Christmas present in the form of the drive's first steerable do-

Mutual Aid Group Lives up to Name

The Elkhorn Valley Mutual Aid, composed of firemen in adjoining towns, is an organization for exactly the purpose that the name signifies.

Mutual aid.

Volunteers, along with paid firemen, get together every two months to discuss mutual problems and by literally "putting their collection heads together" come up with solutions to many of the problems encountered in fire-fighting.

The group held its meeting Tuesday night in Wayne and, even though the temperature outside was below zero, 32 firemen from six of the towns belonging to the association turned out.

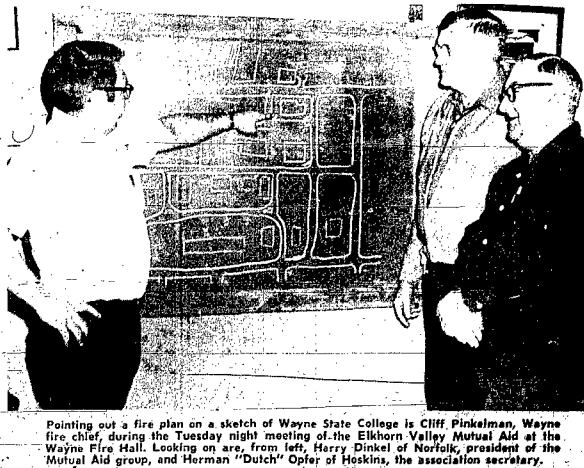

In addition to Wayne, members of the Elkhorn Valley Mutual Aid include Wadine, Hoskins, Norfolk, Pierce, Hider, Madison, Madison Grove, Battle Creek and Tilden. Meeting sites alternated among the member towns.

Harry Dinkel, who retired last August after 25 years with the Norfolk Fire Department, 24 of those years as chief of police of the fire department, is the EVMA president. Herman "Dutch" Opler of Hoskins is the group's secretary.

Answering a reporter's question as to whether the mutual aid firemen's group is unique, Dinkel said "we're probably not the very first to have such a unit, but we're certainly one of the pioneers."

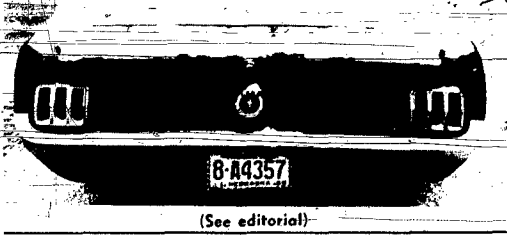

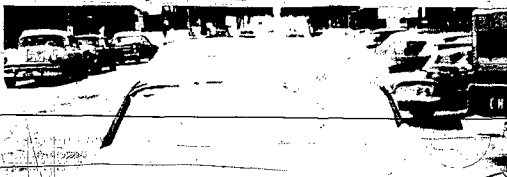

The association was organized in 1960 and the constitution and bylaws were adopted July 31, 1961.

To the Editor:
I hope this letter will be printed as I feel it is a real problem for a lot of the people of Wayne who have the daily run of driving children to school.

It is a gripe that I have and one that I'm sure is shared by a lot of people. It is an incident that we go through every morning at the Middle School.

The school bus stops on the east side of the school building to drop off the children. It stops by the back door which is almost to the corner and enough down the hill so that you cannot see around the bus enough to know if a car is coming up the hill from the opposite direction.

What happens is this:
The bus stops, lets the children off and then instead of leaving right away, the bus for some times bases just sits there. That street of course is very heavy with traffic and a line up going right through the intersection gets stuck behind the bus, so finally people have to go around the bus, on a hill, on the wrong side of the street, and pray the whole time that no car is coming at you. If an accident took place, it wouldn't be the bus driver who would be found at fault.
Something has not to be done about this problem before serious accidents do evolve.

Nebraska Mental Health Leaders Ask for $1.3 Million State Aid

Nebraska mental health leaders asked for $1.3 million from the Unincorporated State Aid to Community-Based Mental Health Programs for fiscal year 1973 at a dinner meeting of senators and citizen representatives in Lincoln Monday.

Twenty senators and 120 community leaders from all corners of the state informally discussed local community needs over the dinner table and then listened to brief talks by several members of the delegation.
Jack O'Shea, state legislation chairman from Lincoln, urged that $1.3 million be appropriated to facilitate community mental health clinics but through "rob Peter to pay Paul" tactics.

Joining O'Shea was Robert Clark, executive director of Douglas County Mental Health Advisory Commission. He emphasized that communities do not want financial assistance by legislative reduction of regional center (state hospital) budgets. Clark said that instituting need continuing state support for inpatient hospital programs and related outpatient clinics and help in providing staffing support to community initiated programs.
Senators were told the $1.3 million to help develop community services was in the Department of Public Institutions budget but was eliminated by Administrative Services Department before getting to the Unincorporated Budget Committee.
O'Shea cited population decreases in state hospitals from 3,400 inpatients down to 1,000 since 1965. Simultaneously outpatient programs through state mental health facilities and community efforts have increased from 1,225 in 1965 to over 6,000 outpatients at present.
O'Shea said that this trend means that citizens are looking more to the community today for services, and that legislation will be passed in 1973 for legal financial state aid to expand services to these people. The Rev. Robert Allenhus, president of the Mid-East Nebraska Mental Health Clinic, spoke about the areas' need for more than the present one-day-a-month services of a psychiatric team from the Norfolk Regional Center and two mental health professionals' services one day on each of the other three weeks.
Mary Hepburn, president of the Lancaster Mental Health Association, reminded senators that many former state hospital patients are now constructively employed in the community and paying taxes. This does not mean that all these people are well, she said, any more than a diabetic, arthritic, or person with a chronic heart ailment, or other disability. It means that people with a mental disorder can remain in the community and function if they have adequate treatment and follow-up.
Senators from Northeast Nebraska attending the meeting were William Fitzgibbon from West Point, LaRue Hester from South Sioux City, Clair Holmquist from Oakland, Otto Kline from Valentine, Tom Kennedy from Albion, Herb Nore from Genoa and Loren Schmit from David City.

Fever is a Signal Something Wrong
Here is a health tip from the Nebraska Medical Association.
A fever is an indication that something is wrong and causing the body to produce more heat than it gives off.
There are several causes of fever, the most common being a disease or infection. Its effects can range from mild discomfort to convulsions and possible brain damage.
Many physicians recommend you drink plenty of fluids to keep your body's water balance high and that you seek proper care to determine the origin of this malady.
The individual should get plenty of rest and eat easily digestible foods such as those containing proteins and vitamins.
Aspirin can assist in reducing a fever.
Remember to keep the individual as comfortable as possible. Immediate care is very important to the well-being of these patients.

Obstructed Vision

We saw a State Safety Patrolman stop a little red Mustang on the streets of Wayne early Monday morning after the heavy weekend snow and very courteously lecture the driver for not clearing the snow from the back window of the car.

The patrolman gave him a warning ticket for driving with obstructed vision, the ticket not requiring a court appearance or a fine—just a reminder that such a practice was a no-no.
In addition to snow heaped over the back deck to the top of the window, the side mirror was partially covered, preventing a clear view of the rear.

That driver, not blessed with the luxuries of a garage, had spent quite some time clearing off the windshield and the side windows and had scooped enough snow off the hood that his rear view mirror could be used.
But, leaving the snow on the hood purposely to give his car motor an "insulator" when it was parked in open spaces at the mercy of the wretched weather, it didn't occur to him that wind would blow the snow back on that mirror when the car was moving and cover it over to block clear vision of the rear side.
And, before he had gone over a couple of blocks that was exactly what happened.
The officer had the driver clear off all the windows and then bid him a very polite "thank you and have a good day."

We saw all this and marveled at the extremely courteous manner in which the law-enforcement officer had handled the situation against the negligent driver.
Saw it—back. This writer was the embarrassed driver.

And we agree with the patrolman—100 per cent that we were negligent in taking all safety precautions possible during a season when all care should be exercised for good vision and the utmost care in safe vehicle operation.
Having a patrolman pull the writer over to the curb for an infraction was a new experience.

Kinda makes you remember when, as a kid, you got caught with your mitts in the cookie jar or taking a pull from a corn silk behind the barn.

Only then you knew what you were going to be punished for.

We tried to act nonchalant for the benefit of those persons who were glaring at us from passing cars or pressing faces against windows of nearby businesses.

You give them an "It's OK grin," trying red-facedly to assure them you are unarmed and there is to be no bloodshed. It was over with you all the way.
Thanks for the lesson that will prompt us to think twice, in the event we would tend to get a little "lazy" in the future.

In the Dark . . . Again

We commend the Wayne Power Plant employees for their speedy corrective action in restoring electrical power to city residents during the brief Tuesday and Wednesday night blackouts. With sub-zero temperatures gripping the Wayne area, it was essential that power be restored as quickly as possible.

To the best of our knowledge, the two power outages had no serious consequences, but the fact that blackouts are possible should point to a need for preparedness. Machines, like humans, are not perfect, and malfunctions do occur. In such cases, the power department usually is able to correct the problem within a few minutes. The breakdown of lines, however, is another matter. Ice or excessively high winds can cause main lines to snap, and repairing them can take hours.

In the event of another outage, especially in cold weather, it will pay to be prepared. Each home should have flashlights or candles on hand, and enough blankets to insure warmth in case of a protracted power loss. Those with elderly relatives or friends should see to it that the senior citizens know who to contact for aid.
Power Plant Superintendent Norbert Brueger offers this tip for helping the city crew restore power quickly. If power fails, turn lights and electric appliances to the "off" position. According to Brueger, light switches and appliances left "on" all over town put an extra heavy load on the generator, and the restoration of power can take considerably longer. The outages also help to point up directly the need for better hospital facilities. Tuesday night, the hospital's emergency generator failed to operate properly, and the Wednesday blackout saw the hospital without power again, since the generator was in the process of being repaired.

If such blackouts were to occur during surgery or in another emergency situation, the life of a patient could well hang in the balance. We hope Wayne's new hospital will provide a "coolproof" reserve power supply, in the meantime, with the emergency generator in good working order again, the hospital should experience no further difficulties.

Perhaps the two minor outages in the past week should be interpreted as gentle warnings. This time, we suffered nothing worse than inconvenience. Next time, and judging from past experience, there will be a next time, we may not be so lucky. So let's be prepared.

Guidelines for Purchasing Home

(Special To The Herald)—NEW YORK—With incomes such as they are locally, how much can the average Wayne County family prudently afford to spend for a home?

How big a load may it take on in the form of monthly carrying costs without getting overburdened?
The questions are pertinent at this time because many local families are in the market for new homes. They have been house hunting for a long time but have been unable to get what they wanted. The selection was small and the prices high. More recently, however, the situation has improved.

Some guidelines on home buying for families in various income brackets come from the Federal Housing Administration, the American Bankers Association and others.

In general, they say that the cost should not be much greater than twice the family's annual income. Those with small incomes sometimes have to go as high as 2.5 times their earnings. On the other hand, those in the upper brackets may spend only 1.5 times their income to obtain suitable homes.

On that basis, Wayne County families whose incomes are close to the local average are in a position to buy more expensive housing than families in many other communities.
That is because the local average is relatively high, amounting to approximately $11,800 gross per family, according to the latest figures.

Applying the recommended rule of thumb, those in the area with average incomes could therefore safely buy homes costing up to $23,600.

Many Wayne County families have earnings that are well above the norm and others have less. Those in the upper ranges can afford more expensive homes, at the same time using a smaller proportion of income in doing so.

As a guide to carrying costs, including mortgage payments, taxes, insureance, maintenance and utilities, the latest report shows that the average purchaser of homes bought with mortgages insured by the FHA took on monthly payments equal to nearly one-fourth of their income.

Because of the tight market in recent years, houses have gone up steeply in price. In Wayne County, the median price rose 31 per cent in the past 10 years.

Fever is a Signal Something Wrong
Here is a health tip from the Nebraska Medical Association.

A fever is an indication that something is wrong and causing the body to produce more heat than it gives off.
There are several causes of fever, the most common being a disease or infection. Its effects can range from mild discomfort to convulsions and possible brain damage.
Many physicians recommend you drink plenty of fluids to keep your body's water balance high and that you seek proper care to determine the origin of this malady.
The individual should get plenty of rest and eat easily digestible foods such as those containing proteins and vitamins.
Aspirin can assist in reducing a fever.
Remember to keep the individual as comfortable as possible. Immediate care is very important to the well-being of these patients.

Lou Ann Dunklau Named Homemaker

Lou Ann Dunklau, who was 18 years old Saturday, had a pleasant surprise waiting for her at School Friday. During her home economics class that afternoon Mrs. Marie Mohr, instructor, announced that Lou Ann had been chosen from the 45 Wayne High School senior girls who took a test early in December to receive the Betty Crocker Homemaker of Tomorrow award for 1972.

The knowledge and attitude examination, given all interested senior girls throughout the United States and the District of Columbia, was judged by Science Research Associates of Chicago, an educational testing and publishing firm which was also responsible for making up the test. Lou Ann, who is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Alden Dunklau of rural Wayne, has a sister, Kathy, 21, who was named winner of the local contest three years ago. The family also includes brothers, Mike, 16 years old, and Randy, ten, whose demands for their sister's cookies may have been partly responsible for her success.

This is Lou Ann's first home economics course at Wayne High School, but she is in her eighth year of 4-H, where projects have included cooking, sewing, home living, dairy, beef, gardening and, as she puts it, "all kinds of neat things like weeds and trees."

She is a member of the Loyal Lassies 4-H Club and the Wayne County Junior Leaders. Lou Ann attends Redeemer Lutheran Church in Wayne and just completed four years as president of the Lutheran League group. Her interests have also extended to include Theatricals, Girls Glee, Choir, Pop Club and Paramedical Career Club, some of which she is currently active in.

This is Lou Ann's second year in working with other high school youths under the direction of Rowan Wiltsie in the local March of Dimes Campaign, and she is a member of the recently organized Youth Association for Retarded Children. Plans for after graduation are not definite, notes the attractive Wayne High senior, but they will probably include getting a job for the summer and possibly working toward a career in nursing.

With the honor of being chosen

Wayne High School's Betty Crocker Homemaker of Tomorrow for 1972 is Lou Ann Dunklau, 18-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Alden Dunklau of rural Wayne. Lou Ann was one of 45 Wayne High senior girls who took the national test in early December.

the local Betty Crocker Homemaker of Tomorrow, Lou Ann also will receive a specially designed award charm from General Mills, who sponsors the program, and is now eligible to compete in the contest at state level.

Several scholarships and other prizes are available for winners in the state and national areas of the contest. The presentation is to be made at a 7:30 p.m. banquet, this Thursday at the WSC Student Center, when Dr. Campbell will also be installed as an honorary member of the Wayne State chapter.

Members of the Wayne chapter of the American Association of University Women (AAUW), faculty members and friends of Dr. Campbell will assemble Thursday afternoon at the faculty lounge in the Hahn Building for a 3:30 to 4:30 p.m. reception. Dr. Campbell, who has a master's degree from Wayne State College, and who is presently serving as national president for the AAUW, has long been a leader of Nebraska State Education Association activities. She is administrative assistant for governmental services with the Lincoln Public Schools. She is also a recipient of Wayne State's Distinguished Service Award.

The public is invited to attend. No admission will be charged.

has not been totally without problems. Sister Margaret Mary notes that it takes time for a pupil to adjust to being responsible for his own learning, to putting his time to the best use, and to setting up and striving for the accomplishment of his own goals. The computerers are being trained to be on their own. Various classes may be broken up into classes within classes, the different groups working on different problems, and possibly at different levels.

The change has essentially been from a grade level system to an achievement level system of teaching, though the students are still grouped according to the standard grade set-up. Within this system, a larger load is placed on each teacher, who must put more time into planning her varied schedules within each class.

In order not to take more time than they can handle, the teachers at St. Mary's have started out by teaching only one of the subjects for which they are responsible on the individualized plan.

The teachers had approached Father Paul J. Bergies, who serves as superintendent, and the school board with the idea of departmentalized teaching last spring, and were met with wholehearted approval. Board members John Melena, president; Clifton Gln, vice president; Mrs. Don Goeden, secretary-treasurer; Larry deForge, Mrs. Bob McLean and Harold Murray, expressed enthusiasm for this new trend of teaching which is moving across the country.

During the summer the two sisters attended a several-week course in individualized instruction at Creighton and a two-week workshop in open-classroom schools at Mount Marty College, Yankton, to help prepare them for the change over. Actually, Sister Margaret Mary explains, though the terms "open classroom, individualized instruction" and "departmentalized classrooms" are fairly new the methods have long been used in some classrooms and by some teachers. Many instructors choose to teach from several

One of the goals hoped for in the new system of teaching now being used at St. Mary's School in Wayne is that there will be more emphasis on individual instruction. Here Susan Schwartz has a question for math instructor Mrs. Eldin Roberts.

Eagles' Defensive Work Smothers Winside, 64-54

Winside's Wildcats, fresh from two straight victories and hungry for a third, were denied for the tenth time this season Friday night, as a tight Allen Eagle defense held the Winside crew in check, to register a 64-54 triumph Friday night at Allen.

"First-quarter action saw the Winside offense spluttering to a six-point effort while the Eagles struck a 19-point opening stanza bonanza behind the scoring of John Warner and Scott Von Minden. Winside's defense seemed unable to contain the rampaging Eagles, who hit from the top of the key as effectively as from inside. The 19-6 first-quarter lead was a back-breaker for the visitors, and they were unable to mount a serious threat from that point.

Winside was able to pick up the scoring pace in the second quarter, canning 11, to Allen's 13. The Eagles' defense continued to harass the visitors, refusing to let them inside. The Wildcats were unable to set up their plays, and as a result, had to settle for junk shots from the outside. The hosts pestered the Winside five, causing frequent turnovers, with Warner managing to muscle his way to the ball most of the time. Winside's Jan Behmer teamed with Greg Titterton to provide most of the Wildcats' first-half points.

Down 32-17 at the half, the Wildcats attempted to mount a third-quarter rally, and almost succeeded, but Warner was there again, along with Von Minden, and senior Jerry Geister. The Allen trio plugged the holes during the late minutes of the quarter, to limit Winside to 15. Titterton provided the third-quarter spark for the visitors, with eight points.

Allen's third-quarter effort was led by Duane Mitchell and Von Minden, with Mitchell posting several shots from outside, and Von Minden teaming again with Warner to get the inside shot. When the ball entered the forecourt, it was passed to Warner on the run. The husky senior then flipped it to Von Minden under the basket for a quick two-pointer. It was almost automatic.

Picking up speed, but still down by 17 as the final stanza got underway, the Winside crew took every possible shot and sharpened accuracy to register 22 points. The Eagles, coasting with reserves in command, were content with 15 final period points, yielding a 64-54 count, and boosting their record to 4-8.

Titterton uncoupled with 10 counters in the frantic final quarter, leading the second-half drive with 18 of his 25 total points. Titterton and Behmer, consistently the top scoring Wildcats, again carried the offensive load, with Titterton's 25 points and Behmer's 18 accounting for all but 11 of the visitors' points. Next in line on the scoring charts was Bob Krueger with four. Behmer's defensive work also looked impressive, as the 6-2 senior blocked more than his share of shots.

The sharpshooting Allen club featured more balanced scoring, with four Eagles in double figures. Heading up the torrid 61 per cent attack from the field was Mitchell, with 16. Von Minden wasn't far behind, posting 17 counters. Warner and Chuck Peters pitched 12 and 10 respectively.

Behmer and Krueger took most of the rebounding chores for the Wildcats, while Warner grabbed 10 for the Eagles, and scrambled to four recoveries. The foul line seemed the best place for the Winside five, as they converted 12 for 17. Allen managed only four charity tosses for 12.

The Wildcats, 4-10 on the year, will put in on the line again Friday night, meeting Homer on the Winside hardwoods.

Allen also took the measure of the Wildcats in B team competition. The preliminary scrap saw the hosts dumping Winside 49-37. The score was knotted, at 9-9 at the end of the first quarter, but from that point, the Eagles began creeping to a substantial lead that eventually spelled out the 12-point difference at the final buzzer.

Neil Bloom earned 22 points for the Eagles, with Larry Weible taking high points honors for the Wildcats, with 16.

Allen's third-quarter effort was led by Duane Mitchell and Von Minden, with Mitchell posting several shots from outside, and Von Minden teaming again with Warner to get the inside shot. When the ball entered the forecourt, it was passed to Warner on the run. The husky senior then flipped it to Von Minden under the basket for a quick two-pointer. It was almost automatic.

Peanut 'Payoff' Fighting Arthritis

Gov. J. J. Exon donated Oklahoma's peanut payoff to the Nebraska chapter of the Arthritis Foundation.

"We discussed this with Coach Bob Devaney," Exon said, "and since he was state chairman of the Nebraska Arthritis Foundation's Victory Campaign, Bob suggested that funds raised from the nuts would help fight our state's number one crippling arthritis."

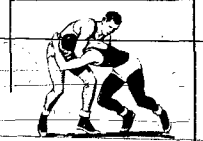

A souvenir package of the peanuts containing certification that they are from the Sooner payoff may be secured by sending a $1 tax-deductible donation to the Arthritis Foundation, 4601 So. 50th Street, Omaha, Nebr. 68117.

"The most exciting game in climbing the ladder for a second year," said chairman of the Cornhuskers, certainly was the Oklahoma game," Gov. Exon said. "I feel certain all the Nebraska fans will want their own souvenir package."

Getting the peanuts red was not an easy task; the governor donated. Paint could not be used in the event that the nuts were eaten.

Dorsey Laboratories of Lincoln volunteered assistance. Permission for their participation had to come from the president of the firm and the Pure Oil and Drug Administration headquarters in Washington, D.C., was called upon to certify that dyes used were harmless.

Teams 3 and 5 Still Supreme In City League

Men's City Recreation League Basketball saw two lopsided victories Wednesday night at the City Auditorium.

In the first and only even scoring encounter, Team 3 downed Team 2, 57-51. The losers mounted a final-period rally, but were too late to catch the league-leading Team 3 crew. Herb Svan paced the winners with 24 points, while Don Koerber ripped the account for 12. Mike Loofe accounted for 12, spurring the losers' late rally. Steve Hillier and Randy Robins with 15 counters each, and Bill Workman with 12.

In 8 p.m. action, Team 6 blasted Team 1, 70-48. A 22-point fourth quarter led the win as the cellar-dwelling Team 1 squad was unable to put together a serious threat. Tom Dalton hit a slizzling 25 points for the victors, assisted ably by John Dorcey with 22. The losers placed only two players in double figures, with Joe Roberts notching 12, and Mike Ginn adding 10.

Balanced scoring, with four 18m members in double figures, enabled Team 5 to post a 65-47 triumph over Team 4. Leading the high-scoring winners was George Exon, with 18 points. Mike Bilotti posted 14, with Brent Lessman and Hank Overin notching 13 and 12 respectively.

Grabbing high point honors for the losers was Darrell Doeschler with 15. John Matson chipped in 11.

League standings after the Wednesday night clashes find Team 5 and 3 sharing the loop lead, on 5-2 records. Team 6 with 4-3 tied for second place, with 2-3 marks. Team 1 posts a 2-5 slate, and Team 1, a 1-6 owns the cellar.

Monday night at the City Auditorium, action kicks off at 7, with Teams 6 and 4 knocking heads. Team 5 takes on Team 2 at 8, and in the windup at 9, Teams 1 and 3 will meet.

Sharp Cadet Play and Scoring Freeze Stop Wakefield, 50-37, at West Point

Wakefield dropped its eighth straight basketball game of the season to the Cadets from West Point Friday night by a 50-37 count. As in many previous games, timely shooting and a good percentage from the line by the opponents doomed the Trojans.

The big difference was at the line in the long run, where clutch free throw shooting by the Cadets faltered 20 of their 50 points. Seventeen of the Trojans' 23 fouls came in the second half as they were trying to play catch-up ball. The Cadets connected on 15 of 23 second-half charity shots, which proved to be too much for the Maroon and White.

Len Adams, the big gun for West Point, was held far below his average and collected only 13 points. He received good support from Ray Wagner, with 13, and Ken Geister, with nine.

Pat Starzl and Randy Johnson were the best for Wakefield with eight apiece.

After Starzl popped a 15-foot for a 2-0 Trojan lead, it was all West Point. The Trojans never led again.

Stumpous turnovers helped West Point to a 25-14 halftime lead. Wagner, with nine points, and Adams, with seven, collected on some timely field goals that seemed to put it out of reach midway through the second period, until Don Rouse entered the Trojan lineup.

"Things seem to happen when the little senior steps in, and Friday night was no exception. His hustle and floor play kept Wakefield within 11 at intermission.

Rouse and Company went to work in the third quarter for the Trojans. They were down nine just before the buzzer, when Geister stole a pass and hit a shot that put the Cadets out by 11. This play put a damper on Wakefield's comeback effort.

Doug Soderberg's two-pointer was all Wakefield could muster until Jerry Nicholson hit from short range with 3:50 left to play.

Power Blackouts on Successive Nights

Electrical power failed in Wayne for the second time in as many nights Wednesday. Local residents were without electricity for about five minutes in most parts of town, but in the eastern section, including Wayne State College and the First Heights and Hillcrest areas, the blackout lasted up to 30 minutes.

The power failure occurred about 5:25 p.m., when the main generator which shut off Tuesday night, malfunctioned again Wednesday. Power plant employees were able to restore power to most of the city within five minutes, but residents in the eastern section of town were forced to wait about 30 minutes. According to power plant superintendent Norbert Brugger, it is impossible to restore power to the entire city at the same time, because the load on the generators would be too great.

Brugger said efforts to locate the source of the problem are focusing on the possibility of high oil temperature or low oil pressure. According to Brugger, when either situation occurs, an automatic shutoff device turns the generator off, in order the keep the generator engine from overheating. During both the Tuesday and Wednesday night blackouts, power plant crewmen used reserve generators to restore power, and later returned the main generator to service. Brugger said the power department does not anticipate any further malfunctions, but is ready to handle any problems that may arise.

The Wayne Hospital, which was without power Tuesday night due to a malfunction in its emergency generator, again was blacked out Wednesday night. The generator, which the hospital maintains to provide power in emergency situations, was in the process of being repaired, and was not available for use Wednesday night.

The Wayne Police Department also experienced some difficulties during the power failure, as communications were impaired, due to a slight malfunction in the department's emergency generator. According to Police Chief Vern Fairchild, the department could maintain power in a prolonged blackout with extra emergency generators.

The Tuesday power outage occurred about 5:55 p.m., and lasted from four to seven minutes.

Parents Are Causing Hazards at Schools

Here is a health tip from the Nebraska Medical Association. Parents are becoming more of a traffic hazard around school buildings. In addition to changing traffic laws there are other items that must be considered.

Do not drive your children to school unless absolutely necessary.

Do not park close to a crosswalk or double park as both practices block the view of children and other motorists.

Loading zones are designed for just that and other areas should never be used.

The main problems are encountered on rainy and snowy days when there is poor visibility.

It goes without saying that everyone must use more than ordinary caution when approaching a school. Areas such as this present a unique traffic problem which deserves our continuing respect.

Planetary Sates Two Shows Weekly

The intriguing and ancient question, "Is there life elsewhere in the universe?" is the topic of current shows at Wayne State College's Dale Planetarium.

Carl Thump, planetarium director, picked the title, "We Are Not Alone," for his twice-weekly schedule of shows at 8:30 p.m. Sundays and 7:30 p.m. Wednesdays, through March 26.

Besides the scheduled shows, Thump welcomes schools and organizations for special performances. Arrangements can be made by writing or telephoning Thump at his office in Carhart Science Hall, where the planetarium is located.

Visitors to the planetarium can find parking in the Ilium Administration Building parking lot, located close to Main and 12th Streets. Carhart Hall is the first building east of the Ilium Building.

There is no charge for planetarium shows.
