Area Vet to Be Honored For Saving Farmer's Life

The Nebraska Funeral Directors Association will give a "Nebraska Hero Award" to a Win side veterinarian for his role in saving the life of a Wayne farmer.

Larry Carpenter of McCook, president of the funeral directors, said Dr. N. L. Diltman will be honored for his quick action in massaging the heart and giving artificial respiration to Fred Heier, who farms south west of Wayne.

The veterinarian and a helper, John Claus, veterinary student from Kansas State University, were with Heier on Jan. 17.

The three men were attempting to chase a cow into a barn. Heier, 69, first fell down and later got up. Then he went into the barn to open the door so that Dr. Diltman and Claus could chase the cow inside.

When Heier failed to open the door, Dr. Diltman went inside to investigate. He found Heier had collapsed and was not breathing.

The veterinarian immediately gave artificial respiration and heart massage. While he was doing this, Claus called an ambulance, which later arrived and took Heier to the Wayne Hospital.

Darrell Heier, the farmer's son commented that "we're just lucky somebody was present who knew what to do immediately or he might have died before medical help arrived."

Carpenter said that Dr. Diltman "is to be highly praised for moving into action as he did. He certainly reached beyond the call of duty to save a human life."

Dr. Diltman will receive a plaque from the state association at a meeting of the Win side Commercial Club tonight (Monday) at 7 p.m.

When one hot summer day the boys at Les Way's office planted a dead pig behind the seat of George McEachen's Model T touring car and waited for him to notice the aroma?

Schools To Open For Public

Dates for the open house at the elementary school and middle school in Wayne have been announced by Superintendent Francis Haun.

The elementary building and the new storage building just north of it will be open for public viewing on Tuesday, March 13. Open house for the middle school is set for the following Tuesday, March 20.

Among the improvements at the middle school which might interest residents of the district is the extensive work done in the library. Haun said.

Work has been done also to install lighting and lower ceilings in about eight rooms, remodel the basement and remove old lockers, he said.

The public is urged to attend either or both events to find out firsthand what has been going on in the schools the past year.

LHS Groups To Perform Wednesday

Four musical groups at Laurel High School will present a winter band concert Wednesday evening at 8 o'clock in the high school auditorium.

Groups which will perform are the varsity concert band, brass sextet, stage band and junior band.

The stage band recently took third place in a jazz festival at Midland College in Fremont

Wayne State President to Resign

Dr. William A. Brandenburg will resign as president of Wayne State College at the end of this month.

Dr. Brandenburg, president of the college, the past 17 years, submitted his resignation to the Board of Trustees of the Nebraska State Colleges at the group's regular monthly meeting in Kearney Saturday.

The board accepted the resignation. Dr. Brandenburg asked the board for leave of absence from March to September and for assignment to fulltime teaching at Wayne State next fall. The board approved both requests.

Named by board members to serve as interim president until a replacement can be named was Dr. Lyle Seymour, vice president for academic affairs at Wayne State.

Dr. Seymour was recommended for the post by board members Ward Reesman of Falls City, Jim Lane of Ogallala and Alan Cramer of Wayne.

Dr. Seymour will receive a salary of $24,600, a $1,500 increase over his current salary of $23,100. His salary will be paid out of the $700,000 housing allowance which Dr. Brandenburg will not receive starting in March.

Dr. Seymour is not a candidate for the presidency.

The board agreed to ask the student senate and faculty senate at the college to recommend persons to serve on a presidential search committee to find a replacement for Dr. Brandenburg.

The committee could include persons from the Wayne State faculty, administration, graduate students, student body, alumni, Wayne State Foundation and the Wayne area, board members agreed.

Dr. Brandenburg, a named college president in 1956 following the death of President John D. Rice, said the growing desire to return to fulltime teaching was the deciding factor in submitting his resignation.

"I'm looking forward with much pleasure to teaching," he said. "Teaching is the most satisfying aspect of higher education these days. That's where the action is," he commented.

Dr. Brandenburg, 63, began teaching part time three years ago when he took on a class in Russian history at the college. He said he plans to spend some time during his leave of absence developing one or two history courses for possible use at Wayne State. The courses would emphasize civilizations such as Chinese, Scandinavian and African which are usually overlooked in other history courses, he said.

Dr. Brandenburg, who will resign as Wayne State president at the end of this month, jots down a note to one of his staff. He has served as college president 17 years.

Board Members To Attend Meet In Lincoln Today

Two members of the board of education of the Wayne Carroll school system, president Irvin Brandt and Wilbur Giese, will attend a legislative meeting in Lincoln today (Monday).

The annual meeting is held to give school board members in the state an opportunity to meet informally with their state senators to discuss legislative actions affecting school systems.

Who Is the Best Hiker — Mayor Hall, Councilmen?

Who would you bet could hike the farthest—the mayor of Wayne or the city councilmen?

You may find out next month if the councilmen accept Kent Hall's challenge to hike part in the Hike for HOPE.

Mayor Hall, now the proud owner of a pair of new tennis shoes given to him especially for the fund-raising hike, said he will challenge the council to take part in the effort.

The hike is scheduled for March 31 between Wayne and Wakefield.

Hall said he is going to try to challenge the mayor and councilmen at Wakefield to see whether Wayne's officials can outdistance Wakefield's.

Persons taking part in the hike, being sponsored for the second year in a row by Wayne State's Phi Mu Sorority, will have sponsors who will pay a certain amount of money for each mile they cover.

The funds raised will go toward support of U.S.S. HOPE, a self contained medical center which travels around the world to aid nations in need.

The Wayne State sorority bought the new pair of shoes for Hall in hopes of stirring up adult interest in the hike.

Sorority members already have been working to stir up interest among young people so they will take part in the hike.

A convocation was held at Wayne High School Thursday to explain the project, and plans are to try to interest youths in Wakefield and Laurel.

Last year's hike by 28 young people raised $900. This year the sorority hopes to have more than 100 persons taking part so several thousand dollars can be collected.

Maury Sue Rickerts, WS Freshman from Nebraska City who is helping organize the hike, said the fund raising effort is an attempt to make the world "a little better for when the next generation takes over."

"Disease and early death are among the greatest problems facing by most of the world's population," she noted, and U.S.S. HOPE is one of the answers to those problems.

The ship, a 15,000-ton veteran of World War II and the Korean conflict, began its mercy mission in 1960. The 180-bed medical center has already made missions to such places as Columbia, Brazil and South Vietnam.

Ambulance Service Meeting Topic

Representatives from several groups met Wednesday night to discuss how to provide an ambulance once the new medical center is built in Wayne.

The representatives agreed that an ambulance will not be provided to the Missionary Ben edictine Sisters of Norfolk, who will operate the medical center, without stipulations on how it could be used.

Consequently, the Sisters will instruct the architect for the hospital to not include plans to house an ambulance when a bid letting is held on the facility.

After the new facility is constructed the city will probably provide an ambulance service through some type of volunteer or semi-volunteer arrangement, he said.

Attending the meeting were county commissioners Ken Edler, Floyd Burt, and Joe Wilson; hospital foundation members Ken Olds and Bob Carhart; hospital board members Lyle Seymour, Falls Dorsey and O.K. Brandtletter, mayor Kent Hall and councilman Pat Gross.

The present ambulance agreement between the county and city of Wayne will continue until completion of the hospital, said one of the men attending the meeting.

The agreement provides that the city purchase the ambulance and the county finance its operation.

Mixers Start Churning Tuesday for Wayne's 1st 'Battle of Batters'

The mixers will start churning and the ovens will begin heating up Tuesday morning as contestants in the "Battle of the Batters" try their hand at bettering the bakers.

The contestants, who numbered about 80 late Friday, will bake cakes Tuesday and Wednesday for an auction to raise money for the March of Dimes.

Cakes will be sold Thursday evening at 7:30 at Peoples Natural Gas Co. same place where all the baking will take place.

Persons wishing to bid on the cakes but unable to be present for Thursday night's auction may leave their money with either Rowan Willse or Ted Bahc, who are helping plan the cake bake.

Bakers of the cakes judged best will receive trophies — one going to the best adult baker, one to the best young baker.

The all male contest, first ever held in Wayne, is first money for the March of Dimes, is expected to attract 90 businessmen, employees and area farmers by the time it starts Tuesday morning.

Baking will be done from 8 a.m. to 9:30 p.m. both days, with contestants allowed an hour and a half to finish their entries. They have an unlimited time to decorate the cakes which will be the basis for judging.

Rowan Willse, chairman of Dimes fund drive, said he hopes the auction will raise as much as $300.

He emphasized that the men and boys will be on their own during baking and decorating and won't be able to get any help from their wives or girl friends.

NPPD Approves Bids For Transmission Line

The Nebraska Power District board of directors has approved the bid of Casler Electric Company for the construction of two substations in the Hoskins area, which will be one of the terminal points of the 36 mile line. The bid was $250,832.

The bid of Casler Electric Company was accepted for the construction of a 230,000 volt addition to the Twin Church substation near Dakota City where the new line will tie in to other NPPD extra high voltage transmission lines. That bid was $50,712.

In both instances NPPD will furnish all major material for construction of the substations.

The transmission line is part of a major intertie between the NPPD grid system and the United States Bureau of Reclamation substation at Hinton, Ia., where it is connected to numerous major transmission lines.

NPPD is under contract to purchase 49 per cent of its power in 1973 from the USBR and this new line will be a major part of the NPPD power supply.

In January the Board of directors approved construction of the line by NPPD personnel at a cost of $2,085,735.

Career Day Set at WSC

The annual Career Day at Wayne State College will be held Wednesday in Connell Hall on Wayne State campus.

The program will consist of 10 speakers who will talk on various business fields to give students an idea about qualifications needed to enter the fields and opportunities available to them.

Speakers will be Wall Moller, Wayne, real estate; William Novelli, Laurel, insurance; Rodney Varitek, Wayne, marketing; Daniel Jewell, Norfolk, law; Robert Scheffgen, Norfolk, realty; Judy Unger, Omaha, modeling; Mrs. Twila Wallace, Columbus, secretary; Dr. Gordon Culver, Lincoln, business education; William A. Freed, Omaha, data processing; and Ken Bush, Omaha, personnel administration.

Delta Sigma Pi, Wayne State business fraternity, a non-utility works with the college's department of business to sponsor the event.

Teachers To Meet For Dinner

Teachers in the Wayne-Carroll school system will meet for an all-college pot luck dinner Tuesday, March 6, at West Elementary School.

The supper, which will begin at 6:15, will include a program explaining Project Success, a federally funded program which offers different approaches to teaching reading, writing and spelling to children who have difficulty learning under conventional teaching methods.

The program was recently unveiled as one of the top ones in the nation and will be recommended for adoption nationally.

DR. LYLE SEYMOUR

Dr. Brandenburg, who received his doctorate from the University of Colorado at Boulder in 1946 after serving in the U.S. Marine Corps in World War II, took over at Wayne State when enrollment was less than 1,000.

Enrollment climbed every year until it peaked at just over 3,000 in the fall of 1968. Current enrollment is about 2,200.

During his 17 years as college president, 10 major building projects and two large remodeling projects were undertaken.

Buildings constructed during those years include Anderson Hall, Rice Auditorium, Peterson Fine Arts Building, Student Center, Carhart Science Building, Bowen Hall and Berry Hall.

Remodeling projects included work on Connell Hall and Hahn Administration Building, the former high school building.

Planned for construction is the new applied science building.

Dr. Brandenburg termed that expansion of the facilities at the college and the increase in campus area from about 60 acres to 135 acres as two achievements he was proud to see come about during his years as college president.

He said the replacement value of those 10 buildings is about $15 million.

He said one of the major accomplishments of the college in recent years was the international recognition it received when given the award for excellence from the American Association of Teachers Colleges in 1971. Wayne State was competing with about 800 other schools for the honor, he noted.

The development of the international education programs at the college during the past few years is another thing every-

OBSERVATIONS

Cancer is worse than a black eye

We agree with the Wayne police chief when he says that crimes could be cut if people would really care.

As he says, too many parents pay too little attention to too many kids. If the parents would really take an interest in their children from an early age on there would probably be much more understanding between them and many fewer crimes by teenagers and adults.

But we disagree with him when he says that the biggest factor in creating a disrespect for law officials is the news media.

According to the chief of police, the news media dwell on police brutality and corruption. That tends to create a poor image of the policeman in the public's eye, he explains.

We think the news people — in newspapers, television and radio — are doing an excellent service to the public when they find corruption in public places and expose it for all to see. By doing so they are fulfilling one of their basic functions — weeding out the filth that would be certainly destroy our form of government if allowed to spread and grow.

True, any group which is singled out because of corruption would end up with a black eye which it would have to wear for all to see for some time. However, we think the black eye is a lot easier to live with than a cancer which the public doesn't know exists.

Worth a compliment

That's quite a feather in our cap, having a program in the local school system called one of the top ones in the nation and recommended for adoption nationally.

The program is Project Success, a federally funded project which offers new approaches to teaching reading, writing and spelling to children who can't learn under conventional teaching methods.

Compliments on the success of the project can't be limited to just those teachers who worked on it, although they most certainly deserve a large thank you. Compliments must also go out to the persons who make up the local Community Council and the parent workshops. They have played a large role in developing the project into something which is worth using as an example across the nation.

All that did not come about without a considerable amount of planning, worrying and working. All those who had a hand in the project over the past several years deserve to stand up and take a bow.

That ain't hay

We doubt if a majority of our readers would agree with arguments that the cost of publishing proceedings of city council meetings is not worth it to the public.

But that's what some people are saying in opposition to a bill introduced in the Nebraska Legislature which would require all cities except Omaha and Lincoln to include in the paid notices the amount of each claim allowed, name of claimant and purpose of the claim.

According to an Associated Press story, some city officials say that the step would simply increase publication costs without benefiting the public.

We would like to refer those officials to the 242 persons who said in our recent survey that they usually read the legal notices. If that survey was fairly accurate, half of our readers seldom let an issue of the newspaper get by without reading the legal notices printed in it.

Add that figure to the figure who read the legal notices sometimes and you end up with about 80 per cent of our readers. That's 80 per cent of some 12,000 to 14,000 readers. And that, as they used to say, ain't hay.

In our opinion the legal notices serve a very worthwhile purpose. They are the only assurance that public bodies remain accountable to the very people they are elected and appointed to serve.

A closer look. . .

Business has really picked up at the Wayne County judge's office. . . thanks to 21 complaints issued by the Wayne police department for failure to scoop snow off sidewalks.

The police issued all 21 complaints, in just three days starting a week ago Saturday.

I feel a bit contrite over the whole affair. Last week in Column 1 I chided the police department for failing to issue tickets to persons not scooping their walks within 24 hours after it quit snowing.

Then, along come 21 tickets for that very thing.

But for the life of me, I can't figure out where all that snow came from. The last snow recorded in the city — two and a half inches — fell about five days before the police started issuing the tickets.

I suppose it's better to give people a few extra days to clean off their walks, although city ordinance reads that tickets are to be issued 24 hours after the snow stops if the walks aren't cleared.

One thing about it, the fines from those taken to court will probably please the local school board.

The Wayne-Carroll school district gets all the money collected in fines resulting from such misdemeanors. That could amount to $210, going into the school coffers, considering that those who have already paid fines, had to fork over $10 each. The 38 costs they paid goes to the state.

But at least four of those who were ticketed by the police said they weren't guilty and asked to have their case go before the district county judge. They apparently think they have a chance of getting out of the fine.

Thanks go out to two Herald subscribers for jostling their memories and coming up with a host of "Remember When" items.

Spring Ranch Destroyed in Raid, 1864
June 8, 1864, marked the beginning of Spring Ranch, a Clay County community which two months later was destroyed by Cheyenne and Sioux Indians during their raids of that year.

In the John Malby collection at the Nebraska State Historical Society in Lincoln there is an affidavit of James Bainter, the first settler and operator of a general store at the Ranch, which tells of the raid. "At the time and place where the same was taken stolen and destroyed by Cheyenne and Sioux Indians on the 9th day of August, 1864, affiant further declares that the said Indians commenced the said attack on the seventh day of said month and year and continued murdering, burning and stealing until the 10th and destroyed nearly all the ranches along the Little Blue for a distance of about eighty or ninety miles, and affiant further declares that when he received news of the advance of said Indians, he moved his family to the Pawnee ranch, and before he left the Indians were in sight and he saw them shoot a man who was passing his said Ranch, and he was compelled to leave in such haste to secure his family that he lost every article thing in and about his premises, and he was left without even a coat to wear as all they saved was what he and his family had on.

"Affiant further declares that the improvements on his ranch consisted of a house with two rooms 18 by 20 feet each one building store house 12 feet by 16 feet and materials on the ground for another building 14 by 16 feet, and a stable and shed of sufficient capacity to stable ninety horses or oxen, two corrals about five rods square and 25 acres fenced with post and rails which had cost and was worth altogether the full sum of two thousand dollars and affiant declares that in addition to what he has charged he knows that he had a large amount of other articles in broken packages and pack boxes (of) which he is unable to give the exact items and their just value, as well as his household goods, clothing, and articles of value in his house and store, as well as his tools and utensils for carrying on his business of farming, and that he knows that they were worth and had cost the full sum of one thousand dollars, and affiant declares that his said property was all taken and destroyed by Cheyennes and Sioux and the same partly that took Mrs. Eubank and Miss Roper prisoners, and as the legal owner of the above and foregoing property he makes this application for the purpose of recovering payment for the property so taken, stolen, and destroyed in manner and form as aforesaid.

"In attempting to settle this claim, Malby was to be given one-third of the total settlement. However, the last piece of correspondence in the Malby file regarding this claim gives no indication whether or not the claim was settled.

St. Paul's Church Scene Of Johnson-Smith Rites

St. Paul's Lutheran Church of Wayne was the scene of the Feb. 17 ceremony uniting in marriage Donna Johnson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Johnson and Richard M. Smith, son of Mr. and Mrs. Martin Smith. All are of Pender.

The Rev. Doniver Peterson officiated at the double ring rites and Gordon Nidergaard sang "Song of Ruth," "Lord's Prayer," and "Wedding Benediction," accompanied by Mrs. Norman Meyer. All are of Wayne.

Maids of honor was the bride's sister, Jan Johnson of Pender, and bridesmaids were Joycelynn Smith of Pender, a sister of the bridegroom; Mrs. Gerald Smith, also of Pender; and Mrs. Gene Brown of Wakefield.

The bride's gown was a toe-length fashion of white bridal satin featuring a wedding band neckline and yoke of Venice lace, full sleeves caught at the elbows in long cuffs and an empire waist with softly gathered skirt. The gown, also worn by her sister, Rae at her own wedding, was complemented by a long white tulle and tulle mantilla caught to a satin bow. Her mother's locket completed the ensemble.

The bride's attendants were identically gowned in floor-length dresses, designed by the bride of garnet velvet. The tracks were styled with slim sleeves, V necklines accented with ruffles and gracefully flared skirts.

long wool dress in a winter white with gold accessories. Mrs. Smith chose black accessories for her formal length crepe knit of deep pink.

Mrs. Gary Jurgensen regis-tered the 200 guests, and Pat and Pog Jacobsma of Hampton, Ia., had charge of the gifts.

Mr. and Mrs. Dave Jacobsma of Hampton served as hosts for the reception held at the church parlors following the ceremony.

Mrs. Doug Malchow and Mrs. Terry Rath of Pender and Mrs. Jack Ruback of Wayne cut and served the cake which had been baked by Mrs. Ruback. Eileen Ellis of Denver and Mrs. Bill Blecke of Wayne poured and Mrs. Gordon Shupe and Barb Munter, both of Wayne, served Waltresses were Sharon Lueh of Wayne and Peggy Rouse of Wakefield.

Mrs. Anne Kline and Mrs. Lloyd Hugelmann, both of Wakefield, were dining room hostesses. Kitchen hostesses Mrs. Harold Field, Mrs. Marie Baier and Mrs. Dick Longe, were assisted by St. Paul's church women.

The couple took a wedding trip to Mexico and Las Vegas and will be at home near Pender.

The bride, a 1971 graduate of Wakefield High School, is employed at Smith's Standard Service in Pender. The bridegroom, a 1963 graduate of West Point High School, is the Standard Oil agent in Pender and is engaged in farming.

Wozny-Gunderson Engagement Told

Making plans for an August wedding are Helen Wozny, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joe Wozny of Columbus, and Lynn Gunderson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Harold Sipp of Wayne.

The engagement and approaching marriage have been announced by the parents of the bride-elect.

Miss Wozny, a 1969 graduate of Columbus Scopus High School, is a senior art major at Wayne State College. Her fiancé, a 1971 graduate of Wayne Carroll High School, attended WSC and United Electronic School in Des Moines, Ia. He is presently employed by Marra Home Improvement.

Wayne Grapplers Win 9th Straight NCC Title

Wayne State wrestlers made it another year of the same song when they won their ninth straight championship of the Nebraska College Conference Friday at Kearney.

All nine Wildcats went to the finals. Four of them won, and for three of them, it was the third conference crown. Kent Irwin, who competed at 142 pounds this year after two times of 134, Ken Monroe at 177, and Dennis Reid at 190 (he won his first title as a heavyweight). The other Wayne champ was 158-pounder Tom Luth.

Another third time champion, Don Moseley of Kearney, edged by Wayne freshman 118-pounder Tom Cortez for an 8-7 title verdict.

Larry Kersten dropped a 1-3 decision to defending champion Steve Laird of Chadron, who won last year of 127 but wrestled at 134 this time.

Wayne piled up a 21-1 point total, well ahead of runner-up Peru State, 29. Kearney State scored 31, Chadron State 28.

Wayne's results in the final round:

118 Don Moseley, Kearney, dec Tom Cortez (Chadron), III, 2-1.

126 Gary Lissong, Peru, dec Jim Meyer (Wayne), 3-2.

134 Steve Laird, Chadron, dec Larry Kersten (Harian), 1A, 1-3.

142 Kent Irwin (Columbia Bluffs, Ia.) Wayne, dec Randy Nicholson, Kearney, 5-0.

150 John Whisler, Peru, dec Herb Harris (West Lafayette, Ind.), 9-3.

Liquid Air Program Set Mar. 5

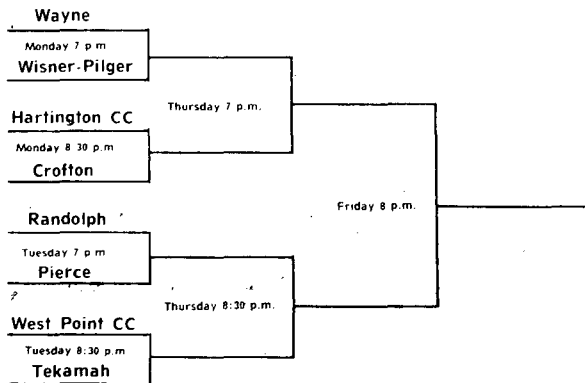

Jack Jackson, who tours the upper Midwest under the auspices of Division of Independent Study of the State University at Fargo, N. D., will present a program on liquid air at Winside High School next Monday afternoon, March 5.

Unique demonstrations in combustion are possible because of nitrogen in liquid air is more volatile than is oxygen, and when it evaporates it leaves almost pure liquid oxygen.

Liquid air will exist in our normal atmospheric pressure at a temperature of nearly 300 degrees below zero F. Behavior of molecules at this exceedingly low temperature causes fascinating changes in ordinary materials.

The program is scheduled for 7:40 p.m.

Pelican Lake or Bust!

When the ice goes out at Pelican Lake near Valentine, look out, northern pike! For that's the start of the State's annual pike egg roundup. Trap nets go into the chilly waters in search of northern pike spawners.

Generally by the time the ice goes out, the pike are ready for spawning. There have been a few occasions, though, when the ice held too long and the pike spawned out under the ice, a complete loss to propagation efforts.

Earliest record for taking "ripe" northern pike in Nebraska is March 7. The usual time is around the middle of March, although northern spawners have been trapped in late March.

Glen R. Foster, long time fisheries chief, says he will have six crews of "pickers" standing by for "lice out" call. These include two crews of "strippers," who strip eggs from ripe females, two crews of "fertilizers," who take milk from ripe males to fertilize the eggs, and two crews of "washers" who wash the eggs after fertilization and ready them for the truck ride to the North Platte hatchery and its pike nursery.

The spawners get a shorter ride. They're hauled from Pelican Lake to the Valentine hatchery where roe and milk are taken, then trucked back to Pelican.

Not totally so last year, though. Some spawners were released in nearby Dewey Lake, in hope of insurance for future years. Foster hopes to get northern spawners established in Dewey so there'll be spawners available in the event Pelican pools out for any reason.

Northern pike production varies somewhat each year. Top year's egg production was 46 million. This year, the State is shooting for 30 to 35 million eggs. One federal hatchery in Kansas reportedly has requested 25 million eggs. Foster doubts that will be possible.

Extremely cannibalistic, northern pike dine upon one another, so can't be held too long after hatching before they are stocked.

All in the Family

Recently nine year old Keli Hahn, Lincoln, joined her father Wayne and two older brothers in the master angler ranks. She caught a 14 pound, 10 ounce northern pike in Branched Oak Lake near Lincoln. Still a younger member of the family threatens. Seven year old Chris pulled in a 7 1/2 pound northern, just 2 1/2 pounds under master angler weight.

Together the Hahn family this winter has taken 17 northern pike weighing a total of 140 pounds, 15 ounces.

Colder Weather than Usual

Colder weather than usual this winter over most of the United States hasn't prevented purple martin scouts from showing up in the deep south a little ahead of schedule. Martins were observed as early as New Year's Day in Florida and on Jan. 15 in southern Texas. A Jan. 22 sighting has also been reported for Louisiana.

MISHMASH

Peak period for fawning activity in Nebraska occurs during late May through June for both mule and white tailed deer. Still an deer, research shows that a good deer habitat can withstand an annual harvest of about 40 per cent without ill effect on future populations. Yet in most states, hunters rarely take more than 15 per cent.

Indians of the Great Plains made little use of fish. Still, however, archaeologists have uncovered remains of gar, goby, catfish, carp, and perch at some Indian sites in Nebraska. Fish remains uncovered at the Medicine Creek Reservoir area dated as far back as 630 A.D. Minnows comprise approximately one third of the species of fish found in Nebraska.

Recreational vehicles number almost four million in the U.S. and could reach 10 million by 1980. Motor homes continue multiplying, with the Recreational Vehicle Institute forecasting a 48 per cent increase in the number in use this year.

February is not a month of big fish based on past state records. Not one of the 45 record fish has been caught in February of any year. The only other month to be skunked in state fishing annals is December. Approaching Tuesday, Feb. 28, marks the end of two more seasons — rattlesnake hunting and beaver trapping.

Not all Nebraska squirrels are the fox variety. Gray squirrels are found only along the Missouri River in southeastern Nebraska. In a narrow, heavily wooded strip along the river from around Omaha south to the Kansas border. Muskrats are found throughout Nebraska. Densities and numbers are highest in the marshes of the Sandhills.

PLACES TO GO-GO

The 26th annual Omaha Boat, Sports and Travel Show at Omaha Civic Auditorium, Omaha, Feb. 27 through March 4. Everything that is new and exciting in the outdoors and travel fills both levels of the auditorium. Nebraskans are beginning to compete with the many attractions, facilities, outfitters, etc., from other states and Canada. Newcomers this year include Loren Wilson, canoe outfit from Lincoln, and NEBRASKAland Days and the North Platte Chamber of Commerce.

Queen of national and international casters, Ann Strobel, is one of the sports show headliners, as is Ray Sommer and his fabulous hunting dogs.

Doors open at 6 p.m. Tuesday, Wednesday, and Thursday, and at noon, Friday, Saturday, and Sunday.

"Going one step further"

AN ARCHITECT'S SKETCH of the proposed new First Methodist Church of Wayne shows the $330,000 structure to be built west of Highway 15 across from Wayne State's Rice Auditorium. The white-concrete front with the cross will be facing in a southeasterly direction.

Hopes Growing for New Methodist Church

A new $330,000 church soon may turn from the planning stages into reality this April when the congregation of the First United Methodist Church in Wayne casts ballots for the final decision to build or not to build.

"It looks like everything is running real smoothly," said Loren Park, chairman of the building committee. "We already have the plans for the new building and what will be included."

Park, along with committee members Arnold Marr, Stan Moran, Willard Witte, Glenn Walker, Niel Edmunds and Troy Vascoti, are going to the various groups within the church to talk to the members and show the plans.

"If we can get enough support," Loren noted, "then we will begin construction as soon as possible.

As of December, a total of $75,416 had been collected out of $120,240 pledged for the first three-year program, Park said. The goal of the program is to raise $365,000 over a nine-year period.

The proposed site for the new 90-foot brick building is located west of Highway 15 across from Rice Auditorium. According to Park, the church already owns the five-acre plot of land.

The total $330,000 cost includes landscaping, air conditioning and heating, sidewalks and hard surface parking, floor covering and carpeting, furniture and pews, fixtures and partial cost of repair and moving the organ, Park said.

The two-level structure will have 10 classrooms, with an additional four spaces gained in the Fellowship Hall by movable partitions. There will be ground entrances to both levels.

One of the features of the complex will be a white-concrete wall structure with a cross carved in the front. The wall will face in a southeasterly direction toward Wayne State campus.

The present building, located at Sixth and Main, was built in the first decade of the century.

The Rev. Frank Kirtley, pastor, will present the new church proposal to the 600-member congregation at the early part of April. We probably will have to hold a special meeting on a Sunday afternoon, Park added.

Next Step: Attaching Doors

Brandenburg

body of the college ran point to with pride. Dr. Brandenburg said the college currently has three summer institutes for Wayne State students wishing to study abroad.

"We said he is very happy the decision was made to locate the proposed new medical center in Wayne on former college ground next to the campus. "This opens a future for science students and students in allied health fields as well as providing needed medical facilities for the college and area," he noted.

Another accomplishment of the college, he said, was the calendar revision which permits an accelerated school year.

Wayne State revised its calendar in 1961, and within the past two years virtually all colleges in the state have done the same, he pointed out.

He noted that Wayne State had its share of campus unrest in the late 1960's, but he noted that there was no physical violence or vandalism on the campus as there was on campuses across the nation.

"We've had trouble at times," he said, "but everybody else did, too. The 60's were times of considerable ferment among youth, and Wayne State had its share of restlessness."

Dr. Brandenburg began his teaching experience at Ohio State University in the late 1950's. He served as dean of faculty and professor of history for several years at William Woods College in Fulton, Mo., before serving as dean of faculty at Northwest Missouri State University at Maryville for six years. He came to Wayne State from Northwest Missouri, taking over in July of 1964 following the death of Dr. Rice earlier that year.

Dr. Brandenburg and his wife, Gwen, live on the north edge of Wayne. They have two children, a daughter who is married to a medical doctor in Omaha and a son who is a radio station announcer in Lincoln.

Ak-Sar-Ben Offers 40 Scholarships
Forty Ak-Sar-Ben post-graduate scholarships of $150 each are available for elementary and high school teachers in Nebraska, says Nick Newberry, chairman of Ak-Sar-Ben's scholarship committee.

This is the 15th year that Ak-Sar-Ben has offered the scholarships to help teachers obtain advanced study in their respective fields. Applicants must have a minimum of 60 semester hours of college credit and must plan to take at least six semester hours during the summer session for the purpose of renewing an existing certificate or applying toward an advanced certificate.

Stanley Hawley of Lincoln, deputy commissioner for the Department of Education, will administer the program, which is handled by a committee of 11 Nebraskans.

Committee members in addition to Hawley are Ross Ras Mussen of Lincoln, Dr. Freeman Decker of Wayne, Mrs. Fritz Krause of Alliance, Mrs. Rich are Lackoff of Bassett, Max Logan of Diller, Jerry Steggs of Broken Bow, Robert T. Reilly of Omaha, Ed Burke Jr. of Imperial, Mrs. Ennis Shepherd of Lexington and Carl Speltz of Kearney.

Applications and inquiries should be directed to Hawley at the State Department of Education, 233 South 10th Street, Lincoln. Deadline for applications is April 15; so winners may be announced before summer vacations begin.
