'21¢ Will Fluoridate One Person's Water For A Full Year'

It will cost about 21 cents per person each year to fluoridate Wayne's water supply, according to figures compiled by city administrator Fred Brink.

Brink said that amounts to about 1.7 cents per person each month, which is below the cost anticipated by city officials earlier.

Enough chemicals to supply the city for one year, will cost $1,134, according to Brink. The amount of chemicals necessary for each million gallons of water pumped by the city will cost $4.50, he noted. Since the city pumps an average of 21 million gallons each month, total cost for chemicals will be $94.50 per month of $1,134 per year. The city's population of 5,300 people cuts that per person cost to 21 cents per year, he noted.

Brink also noted that the cost of equipment for the four wells which will be adapted for fluoridation is lower than first thought. That equipment will cost about $600 per well for a total cost of about $2,500, considerably under the $4,000 total cost earlier anticipated by city officials, he noted.

The city will be required to install fluoridation equipment on only four of the city's seven wells, according to Brink.

City residents should be drinking fluoridated water by the first of February since equipment has been shipped from Kansas City to Lincoln and should be in Wayne in about a week.

"Actually, the people will be drinking 'more fluoridated water' rather than fluoridated water, because the water already contains natural fluoride," Brink pointed out.

Natural fluoride in the water the city pumps from its wells ranges from .26 to .50 parts per million, according to the Nebraska League of Municipalities. Because voters approved fluoridation for Wayne in the November general election, the city will have to boost that level to one part per million to comply with a law passed by the 1973 state legislature.

Wayne will be the only community in the county to boost its fluoride level. Voters in Hoskins, Winside and Carroll rejected fluoridation in elections last year, and the village board at Sholes passed in December an ordinance prohibiting adding fluoride to that community's water supply.

Boosting the fluoride level in Wayne's water supply can be done easily and safely, according to Brink. Minute portions of the necessary chemical hydrofluosilicic acid will automatically be injected into the water as it is pumped from the wells, he said.

Old Man Winter's '1st Baby' Is A Real Dilly

By NORVIN HANSEN

The Wayne area's first real storm of the winter Friday left several people injured, scores of cars bashed in and numerous students, truckers, salesmen and stranded travellers looking for ways to get home.

One of the most seriously injured was Marvin Fuoss, a farmer two miles north and one east of Winside who was mauled by a bull as he was working in a barn early Saturday morning.

It took the Winside rescue unit from at least 8 a.m. to 9:15 a.m. to bring Fuoss to the Wayne Hospital for treatment, and if it had not been for a snow plow leading the way, the rescue unit might not have made it, according to reports.

The farmer's family found Fuoss in the barn after the accident.

He suffered a broken left leg and other possible injuries, according to a hospital spokesman. He was listed in fair condition Saturday morning.

Also injured in storm related incidents was State Patrol sergeant Clarence Zurcher of Norfolk, who sustained back injuries in a multi-car accident just north of Winside on Highway 35.

Between 11 and 14 cars were involved in that accident, according to the State Patrol, but an accurate count was impossible in the blowing, drifting conditions which existed when the cars began ramming into each other about 11 a.m. Friday.

Bob Hegarty, an Omaha salesman who was involved in the initial crash, said visibility suddenly "dropped to zero" as he was driving from Norfolk to Wayne, forcing him to stop his car.

Within minutes another car struck his, and then more cars began piling up, he said. Everybody was "screaming and hollering" after the pile-up began, but Hegarty said he was finally able to make it to a farm place nearby.

Also involved in that accident was the car of Wayne County deputy sheriff S. C. "Scotty" Thompson, who was investigating the accident. His car was reportedly struck twice from the rear as more cars became involved in the pile-up.

Another multi-car pile up took place near the Russell Luff farm home on Highway 35 about two miles east of Wayne. At least half a dozen cars and possibly a semi were involved in that accident before it ended. Sixteen people reportedly stayed at the Luff home that night, most if not all of them drivers and passengers in cars involved in the crash.

Injured in that accident and treated at the Wayne Hospital Friday night was Ernest Ogier of Wakefield. He was released following treatment.

Numerous students unable to get home after the storm continued to get worse around noon Friday ended up staying over night at the Jim Motel and Amber Inn in Wayne.

A dozen students slept and ate at the Elm Motel and at least that many stayed at the Amber Inn, according to owners. Providing meals for the students — and bus drivers, truck drivers and others stranded by the storm — were the motel owners and the Cornhusker Cafe in Wayne.

Superintendent Francis Haun said he waited until 12:45 to call off school because of Norfolk weather bureau reports which indicated up until about 11 a.m. that the storm might die out.

The students were much safer in the school than they would have been in buses trying to get them home, Haun said.

Haun had praise for all the local people and businesses who pitched in to help feed and house those students unable to get home Friday.

A "tremendous number" of people offered homes to the students, he said, and the two motels were more than generous in putting the students up for the night.

Also housed at the motels were bus drivers who could not get those students home.

A trucker, his wife and their young daughter also stayed at the Elm Motel Friday night after barely making it to Wayne from Norfolk.

Helping feed those motel guests were families close by who donated paper plates, rolls and other food to help get everybody fed.

Some four inches of snow fell

See "1st BABY", page 8

WAYNE POLICE OFFICERS and some volunteers help herd a bunch of lost and snow-caked cattle through downtown Wayne on the way to the sales barn Saturday morning. The bunch was one of two which appeared on Sherman Street and the highway near the high school during the storm, near ends taking the brunt of the storm until moving during the morning. A bright sun shines low in the sky early Saturday morning as a worker (barely visible through the snow in the background) attempts to clear blocked streets on the north end of Sunset Drive in the northwest corner of Wayne. Friday's storm dumped about four inches of snow on the city, leaving streets blocked and travellers stranded. Several multi-car accidents occurred during the day, one about two miles east of Wayne and one just north of Winside on Highway 35. Saturday morning's sun welcomed by most everybody, signaled the end of the winter's first real storm in the area.

LENRD Will Help Plant, Spray Trees

The Lower Elkhorn Natural Resources District will provide a tree planting and spraying service this spring, reports Arnold Marr, district soil conservationist with the Soil Conservation Service in Wayne. Charge for the service will be 12 cents per tree or a minimum of $20 pull in charge. This service includes the tractor, planter, sprayer and personnel to operate the equipment.

Area farmers may purchase trees from the county extension service or the Soil Conservation Service.

Briefing Businessmen

GEORGE REHM of Wayne, district agronomist at the Northeast Station near Concord, points out how the cost of fertilizer and other supplies narrows the margin of profits for a farmer during Thursday night's agribusness meeting in Wayne. A dozen businessmen and others interested in how farmers are doing attended the meeting at the National Guard Armory. Also discussing latest developments in agriculture was Wayne County agricultural agent Don Spilze.

Bloodmobile Coming Here

Wayne area residents will be able to donate blood to the Siouxsland Community Blood Bank when a bloodmobile makes a stop in Wayne in about another two months.

Ken Lawson, director of the Sioux City-based organization, said Friday that the bloodmobile will likely visit the city in March.

It will mark the first time local residents will be given an opportunity to donate to the blood bank during a bloodmobile stop in Wayne.

That is the result of a decision by officials at the Wayne Hospital to join the blood bank beginning the first of this year. And it will mean an end to the community's "walking blood bank," a setup which allowed hospital officials to call on residents to donate blood whenever there was a requirement.

Mrs. Jim Thomas, hospital administrator, said the first of the year, said the decision to join the Sioux City blood bank was brought about because the hospital can not afford the equipment necessary to test blood donated at the hospital.

A total of 15 hospitals are now members of the Siouxsland Community Blood Bank, according to Lawson. Only two of them — Wayne and Wakefield — are in Nebraska. All four hospitals in Sioux City belong to the organization, he noted.

Crop Clinics Slated For Area This Week

Wayne area custom applicators, dealers and farmers are invited to the 1975 Crop Protection Clinic scheduled for two sites later this week.

One clinic is scheduled for South Sioux City at the Marina Inn on Thursday, the other at Norfolk at the Villa Inn on Friday. Both will run from 9 a.m. to 4 p.m.

Giving presentations, both days will be Russell Moomaw of Wayne, district agronomist at the Northeast Station, Concord.

He will give talks on "Weather, Weeds and Herbicide Performance," "Special Weed Problems" and "Musk Thistle."

See CLINICS, page 8

Son Hospitalized With Broken Back

Vernon Francis, son of Rev. and Mrs. George Francis of Wayne, is hospitalized with a broken back at LaGrande, Ore., following an automobile accident on his way home for Christmas.

It is hoped he can be moved to a Sioux City hospital this week, according to his parents.

Francis, a student at Western Evangelical Seminary at Portland, Ore., was involved in the accident near LaGrande on Dec. 22.

His parents went to be with him after the accident, and Mrs. Francis remained there until he can be transferred to Sioux City.

Dairy Specialist Is On Program

Don Kubik of rural Wayne, district dairy specialist at the Northeast Station near Concord, will give a talk on "Keys to Automatic Feeding" during an Area Dairy Day at Norfolk on Tuesday.

One of four Area Dairy Days scheduled around the state in the past few days, the meeting is scheduled to start with registration at 9:30 a.m. at The Holiday Inn.

Also scheduled for the day are presentations on dairy animal behavior, abnormalities in calves, forage testing; hay handling, embryo transfer; and induction of lactation.

Taxes in County Are High, But We're Below State Average

How big a tax load are residents of Wayne County carrying to meet the operating costs of their state and local governments? How does it compare with what people in other communities are paying?

In line with the rising cost of goods and services generally, taxes in the local area have been climbing steadily. This has been the story, in varying degrees, in every part of the county.

The latest figures show, for Americans as a whole, that the taxes levied by state and local governments averaged $377 per capita in the past year, an increase of $55 over the prior year.

For residents of Wayne County, the tax load was approximately $470 per capita. By way of comparison, the average throughout the state of Nebraska was $503, representing a $50 rise over the previous year. In the West North Central States, the figures are based upon a study made by the Commerce Clearing House, specialist in government finances, utilizing data obtained from the Department of Commerce.

The finding is that it takes more money than ever before to operate the various state, county and municipal governments and to provide the public with necessary services in the fields of health, sanitation, education, welfare, police protection, roads and such.

The tax burden is considerably larger. See COUNTY TAXES, page 8

GRASSROOTS OPINION

Belleville, Kan., Telescope:
"IN WHOM CAN WE TRUST?" - There is a tide of disenchantment in America for the government - and in every major institution including the church, business, the press, the university. Many of our children look like they had just returned from a visit to the reservation. There are a great many charges and counter charges, but few seem to be offering a solution to today's problems. First we need to know the problem. Is it the lack of trust in this country, or is it just the result of such good times, that we have to find something to beel about? One thing is certain, the security of this country and its people is probably at stake. No country or people succeeds without confidence in itself.

I'VE JOINED the rest of computerized America - I've been involved in an automotive recall.
 For a while I was feeling real down for never being involved in one of this country's census tabulations. Can't say I've ever been counted, tabulated or quizzed on such important questions as how many of my irrlaws live with me, how often I brush my teeth or whether I share my shower with somebody else.
 But now I've got something over on those people who have. I had to lot Fredrickson Oil Co. north of town pull out my Space Saver Spare and check it over to make sure nothing was wrong with it. There wasn't, but it seems some people haven't been following directions too well when using their Space Savers. The result has been a few problems with injuries and a couple deaths.

The newspaper boys came to the newspaper but it was closed. Robbers stole all the money and Fuzz Hansen couldn't go to work cause it was burned down. All the newspaper people were poor and they put them in jail. That's all the news for now.
 There's a couple things in there that strike pretty close to home.

ANOTHER unsigned letter won't be printed in the newspaper, this one dealing with the newspaper's policy of publishing the salaries of the administrators and teachers in the Wayne Carroll school system. The letter is well written and makes a couple good points: I would like to use it but will need a signature before it can be printed. The person who wrote it, of course, may have his or her name omitted in the newspaper.

ANYBODY know where Orval Graham lives nowadays? If so, let me know and I'll send him a photograph taken by Craven back in 1938. Graham apparently graduated from Wayne High School with the class of '38, but I can't find out where he lives now. The photograph, in a folder with Graham's signature, was mailed to him in Wayne and was turned over to the newspaper by the postoffice.

LETTERS

'Dr. Matson was a unique man'

Dear Editor
 I am prompted to write this letter out of a deep and sincere respect I had for a man I worked for.
 Several people have been fortunate enough to be with Dr. Roy Matson in a delivery room either as an expectant mother or as a nurse or as a nurse's aide. These fortunate people all knew how he loved babies. Every baby he delivered was better, prettier or cuter than any other baby he had brought into the world. Dr. Matson's biggest love on this earth beside his family were his babies. He loved to play with, cuddle and love every baby that was brought into his office. Dr. Matson knew no special hours when a frantic mother called him about a sick or injured child.
 His Sundays, afternoons off, a good nights sleep and, yes, even his beloved Nebraska football games were interrupted because of his dedication to his patients. Dr. Matson was never cross or grumpy, only kindness showed when he was with his patients.

 Everyone who knew Dr. Matson, whether they were a patient or a co worker, will remember him with only the very kindest of thoughts and fondest of memories.
 How nice for all of us who was allowed to love all of mankind for 89 years - Lana Martin, RN.

(Editor's Note: Dr. Matson died on Dec. 30 in an Omaha hospital. He had practiced in Wayne since shortly after ending his service in World War II.)

'A doctor, a friend'

Dear Editor
 I think that it is up to the people who knew Dr. Roy Matson to write a letter in memory of this great man and doctor.
 He was a friend and doctor for our family for many years, and our thanks go to him for his care, patience, kindness, humbleness and just plain friendship.
 We are expressing our feelings about losing him to the community and to his family, and we hope others will do the same. - Hannah and Allan Perdus.

THOSE interesting hobo signs in that piece of editorial art elsewhere on this page are compliments of a young balladeer who has rocketed to fame with his "American Pie." A song critics say is a rufal rock and rolling evocation of the mod of a pop culture stiffed by commercialization. He's Don McLean. One writer in the New York Times said the song is "mom's apple pie gone sour." I took the signs off a publicity booklet sent out by McLean's backers.

CEDAR COUNTY sheriff John Riibe was lucky he didn't wait a few days to have his car accident a half mile north of Coleridge on Highway 15.
 Riibe's car went off the road and landed in a creek bed about 10 p.m. Jan. 4, and Riibe wasn't discovered until some 14 hours later when farmer Steven "Pie Wee" Kalin noticed it. Riibe was pinned under the dash and had to let his rescuers how to free him. He remained in serious condition at a Yankton hospital late last week. Among his injuries: fractures of both legs, compound fracture above the left ankle, broken ribs.

TWO livestock operations around this part of the country are among 99 which have received tentative state approval to discharge wastes into public waters.
 They are the Northeast Station, a manager of Concord, into Logan Creek. Robert Bergl of rural Wayne, into Pine Creek.
 Early studies show the discharges will be consistent with regulations to protect water quality, according to state officials.

By CARL MARCY,
Affairs Newsletter

Presidential press conferences are part of the American scene. But make no mistake, they are dangerous.
 It is one thing for a President to have a fireside radio chat. It is quite another to be developed to perfection by President Roosevelt who could, without interruption or questions, intone his views on foreign policy. It is quite another thing for a President to be asked questions and have his answers beamed into every American television set, including those in every foreign embassy in Washington.

Surprise questions for which the President has no background leave him with three alternatives: he may refuse to answer or say he doesn't know, which doesn't sound good, he may obfuscate, which is apparent to his viewers, or he may shoot from the hip, a difficult feat even for a practiced marksman.

At his second press conference President Ford shot from the hip when he told the world that American intervention in Chile was "in the best interest of the people of Chile...and certainly in our best interest." In partial justification, President Ford said: "Our government, our other governments, does take certain actions in the intelligence field to implement foreign policy and professional security." He added that "Communists nations spend vastly more money than we do for the same kind of purposes."
 He may have had in mind the year 1950 when the Russian army put down a revolt in Czechoslovakia. Russian leaders said their bloody intervention promoted the Soviet Union. In the words of Brezhnev: "When the internal and external forces hostile to socialism seek to turn back the development of any socialist country, restore the capitalist order...this is longer a matter only for the people of a country in question, but it is also a common problem of justice, a matter of concern for all socialist countries." It was the Brezhnev Doctrine.

Who decides what is best for the people of any nation?
 Most Americans believe they know what is best for the people of all nations including the Russians; freedom is democracy.
 Most Russians believe they know what is best for the people of all nations including Americans; discipline and socialism.
 Although many would view it as a gross distortion of values to compare Russian intervention with American intervention, there is a common pattern involved. Two of the world's super powers, adopting a "father knows best" stance, both have intervened and interfered in the internal processes of smaller nations.

OBSERVATIONS

Promotion is a good idea

The Wayne Chamber of Commerce should be saluted for deciding to salute area pork producers through a city wide promotion Jan. 20-25.
 That decision shows that the Chamber and the businessmen who make up this community realize the importance of livestock producers to this area's economy. It also shows that these producers and their neighbor farmers in this area would be in tough financial shape.
 We hope all businesses get behind the promotion by offering shoppers free pork cuts or prizes during the week long sale. The Chamber will likely offer a special prize such as a hait a hog to help draw attention to the promotion.
 We also hope this event can become an annual one. Something which apparently has happened with the city's beef promotion. That beef promotion, held for the first time last year, is scheduled for later this year.
 Farmers and feeders appreciate being recognized occasionally for their contributions to the total economy of the Wayne area. Events like the pork and beef promotions do just that at the same time as encouraging shoppers to consume meat produced in the area. That results in a twofold benefit. - Norvin Hansen.

Guests were present from Winside, Wayne, Pilger, Norfolk, Carroll, Royal, Ponca and Sioux City to help Mr. and Mrs. Glenn Wade of rural Wayne and Mr. and Mrs. Earl Wade of Lincoln observe their golden wedding anniversaries Sunday afternoon, Dec. 29, at the Win-

WAYNE

Men Win, Too

WS Gals Lead 42-0 at Half in Dumping Chadron

Chadron State basketball teams — both men's and women's — found Wayne State formidable Thursday.

Wayne girls, all of them playing, defeated Chadron 75-25. But even more astonishing than that topside score is this: Wayne led at the half by 42-0.

And how about this statistic in four winning games, the Wildcaters have scored 338 points to 166 by opponents.

Against Chadron, scoring was pretty well balanced on the Wayne side. Mary Steinauer led with 16, Connie Kunzmann hit 14, Martha Schrick 10, and eight others added points.

A sidelight, Larry Schultz, who presides over WSC baseball, directed the Wayne girls against Chadron because coach G. I.

Willoughby was out of town. How did Schultz get along in what he called his varsity basketball coaching debut? Man, he enjoyed every minute.

How some came was asking Schultz if he might apply for the women's coaching job. Maybe let Miss Willoughby take over Men's baseball along with women's softball?

On the men's side of basketball, Wayne got off to a slow start against Chadron before scoring to an 80-51 victory.

The Eagles, inexperienced but sponky, scored first and stayed ahead most of the time until Wayne moved off a 17-12 on a pair of John Redmond free throws with 6:20 left in the half.

From then on Wayne whizzed to a 30-23 half, then up to 30 points leads several times before the end.

Charlie Henderson posted his highest score of the season at 23.

Coach Jim Seward, noting a week and a half lay-off since the last Wildcat game, said the Wildcats executed pretty well but didn't score too well at first.

Wayne moved to a 9-3 record Chadron, with only one letter man and loaded with freshmen, now is 3-9.

hitting 10 of 15 field attempts and five of seven free throws. Andy Kaplan canned a nifty 71 per cent on route to 13 points. Steady Rick Anderson contributed 11 points, and Ray Downs returned to form with 10 points and some smooth floor action.

Consider the latest struggle—a dual at home Wednesday against Kansas State University. Injuries sidelined two regulars, 126 pounder Craig Helwege and 158 pounder Randy Humpl. Ineligibility took out heavyweight Chuck Covey.

So what happened in the meet with Kansas State? The Kansans won 42-6. The only winners for Wayne were Jim Meyer, who scored a take-down with about two seconds left to gain a 3-2 decision at 134 pounds, and Mike Riedmann, who outmuscled his 177 pound foe for a 3-1 decision.

K State won four matches by falls. The victims: Doug Lage,

Eighth Grade Going After Win No. Five

Wayne's eighth grade basketball squad will be going after its fifth win without a loss Thursday when the locals travel to always tough Norfolk.

Thursday Wayne notched its fourth win dropping Macy by 53-21 after the eighth grade reserves downed the visitors by 38-12.

Mike Niemann scored nine points and Lorrn Murray and Sean Willis scored eight each for the club, which held a 27-7 halftime lead.

Murray also was among scoring leaders in the reserve game matching Dennis Carroll's eight points. Dave Hamm led with 12.

The reserves jumped to a 22-6 first half cushion.

Wayne's seventh grade (3-0) plays Norfolk at 5:30 p.m. Thursday, the eighth grade to lows.

College Sports Storm Victims

Wayne State's Saturday sports events were blizzard victims. Both basketball games — the women's at UN-OMaha and the men's here with Doane Saturday — had to be postponed. Same was true of a Saturday swimming dual here with South Dakota State University.

Athletic director LeRoy Simpson said he hopes to reschedule all events.

WSC wrestlers beat the storm out of town in time to compete Friday evening and Saturday in the Northwest Missouri State Tournament at Maryville.

The possibility of playing a Wayne-Midland women's basketball game here Sunday afternoon was still in doubt before the storm subsided.

Bears to Face Seventh Class B Club

For the seventh time this season the Laurel Bears will face a Class B club when they play O'Neill tonight (Monday) at 8:30 in the championship finals of the Northeast Nebraska Activities Conference tournament at Randolph.

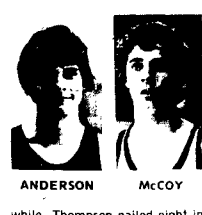

The Class C Bears demolished their fourth Class B opponent Thursday night in semifinal action, blasting Creighton, 70-46, while O'Neill skipped past Plainview, 62-51. Creighton and Plainview will play for third place at 7 p.m.

Prior to the tourney, Laurel beat Wayne, Hartington Cedar Catholic and Syracuse, but lost to Omaha Cathedral and Elkhorn. All are Class B schools.

The Bears mastered Creighton with a strong second half defense which limited Creighton to just 13 points, four of them in the third period.

Laurel took a 41-33 first half command even though senior Scott Fuchtmann led Creighton with 13 of his 18 points that half.

Keys to Laurel's first half showing were two junior and two seniors. Junior Brad Erwin, who led senior Scott Thompson for second high with 10 points, scored his points the first half while Thompson nailed eight in the first period.

Junior Mark McCoy and senior Tim Anderson came off the bench the second period to play fine ball, said Laurel coach Joel Parks. Both have suffered knee injuries.

Laurel's second half surge was marked with strong rebounding. The B-2 Bears cleared 40 cars for the night compared to 28 for Creighton Senior Sterling Slope, the only Laurel player to foul out, grabbed seven rebounds while team mates Greg Pippitt, high score with 11 points and Mark Anderson had six each. Tim Anderson finished with five.

Trees are in short supply this year and should be ordered soon. Marr said, Farmstead windbreak trees cost $11.75 per hundred trees.

With the cost of fuel for heating going up, farmstead windbreaks become more valuable asset to a farm. A home protected by trees may save up to 25 per cent less fuel during the winter months.

The Soil Conservation Service will help plant and establish a new planting or an addition to an existing windbreak, Marr said.
