

PROFESSIONAL CARDS.

ATTORNEYS.

FRANK FEEHER,
ATTORNEY AT LAW,
WATNE, NEB.

A. A. WELCH,
ATTORNEY AT LAW,
WATNE, NEB.

W. B. HARRISON & BORTHROP,
ATTORNEYS AT LAW,
WATNE, NEB.

N. E. & HATCH,
ATTORNEYS AT LAW,
WATNE, NEB.

W. A. WATNE,
Cottons & specialties, Stationers, Construction, Dress, Shoes, Hats.

F. E. MOSES,
ATTORNEY AT LAW,
Abstractor and Conveyancer,
WATNE, NEB.

G. E. W. HENK,
ATTORNEY AT LAW,
WATNE, NEB.

W. A. WATNE,
Physicians.

W. A. LOPE, M. D.,
Physician and Surgeon,
WATNE, NEB.

H. G. GREENBERG, M. D.,
Physician and Surgeon,
WATNE, NEB.

W. A. WATNE,
Physicians and Surgeons,
WATNE, NEB.

R. B. CRAWFORD,
FISHER
REAL ESTATE AGENT,
WATNE, NEB.

W. P. WOODLEY,
To take contracts for signing
Orders and Certificates.
WATNE, NEB.

BARON CLIPPING.

BARON CLIPPING.

BARON CLIPPING.

BARON CLIPPING.

BARON CLIPPING.

BARON CLIPPING.

BARON CLIPPING.

BARON CLIPPING.

BARON CLIPPING.

BARON CLIPPING.

BARON CLIPPING.

BARON CLIPPING.

BARON CLIPPING.

BARON CLIPPING.

BARON CLIPPING.

BARON CLIPPING.

BARON CLIPPING.

BARON CLIPPING.

BARON CLIPPING.

BARON CLIPPING.

BARON CLIPPING.

BARON CLIPPING.

BARON CLIPPING.

BARON CLIPPING.

BARON CLIPPING.

OVER THE STATE.

News from the State.

News from the State.

News from the State.

News from the State.

News from the State.

News from the State.

News from the State.

News from the State.

News from the State.

News from the State.

News from the State.

News from the State.

News from the State.

News from the State.

News from the State.

News from the State.

News from the State.

News from the State.

News from the State.

News from the State.

News from the State.

News from the State.

News from the State.

News from the State.

News from the State.

News from the State.

News from the State.

News from the State.

News from the State.

News from the State.

News from the State.

News from the State.

News from the State.

News from the State.

News from the State.

News from the State.

News from the State.

News from the State.

News from the State.

News from the State.

News from the State.

News from the State.

News from the State.

News from the State.

News from the State.

News from the State.

News from the State.

News from the State.

News from the State.

News from the State.

News from the State.

News from the State.

News from the State.

News from the State.

News from the State.

News from the State.

News from the State.

News from the State.

News from the State.

News from the State.

News from the State.

News from the State.

News from the State.

News from the State.

News from the State.

News from the State.

News from the State.

News from the State.

News from the State.

News from the State.

News from the State.

News from the State.

News from the State.

News from the State.

JOSEPH PULITZER.

Joseph Pulitzer and controlling spirit of the St. Louis Post-Dispatch and New York World, New York Herald.

FREDERICK T. FERRISS.

Frederick T. Ferriss, vice president of the State under Arthur, died a short time ago.

NEWS NOTES.

News notes from various sources.

News notes from various sources.

News notes from various sources.

News notes from various sources.

News notes from various sources.

News notes from various sources.

News notes from various sources.

News notes from various sources.

News notes from various sources.

News notes from various sources.

News notes from various sources.

News notes from various sources.

News notes from various sources.

News notes from various sources.

News notes from various sources.

News notes from various sources.

News notes from various sources.

News notes from various sources.

News notes from various sources.

News notes from various sources.

News notes from various sources.

News notes from various sources.

News notes from various sources.

News notes from various sources.

News notes from various sources.

News notes from various sources.

News notes from various sources.

News notes from various sources.

News notes from various sources.

News notes from various sources.

News notes from various sources.

News notes from various sources.

News notes from various sources.

News notes from various sources.

...the members of the institute have derived much benefit from the instruction given.

II. That the members of the institute have derived much benefit from the instruction given.

III. That those who have lectured during the institute have our sincere thanks for the able manner in which they have entertained and instructed us.

IV. That we appreciate the kindness and ability of Prof. Davies and those who have assisted in our musical instruction and entertainment.

V. That we have been encouraged to our work by the interest the people have manifested by their presence as visitors.

VI. That we hereby extend our thanks to the school board for the use of the school building; also to the trustees of the Presbyterian Society for the use of the church.

VII. That a copy of the resolutions be furnished to each of the county papers for publication.

ANNA CHACE, Committee on Resolutions
 ROMA M. BEACH,
 J. J. GILLENKLEVE, Resolutions

Backen's Arnica Salve.
 The best salve in the world for Cuts, Bruises, Sores, Ulcers, Fever Sores, Salt Rheum, Tetter, Chapped Hands, Chills, Corns, and all Skin Eruptions, and positively cures Piles, or no pay required. It is guaranteed to give perfect satisfaction or money refunded. Price 25 cents per box.

FOR HER SWEET SAKE.
 A group of three—Ronald Sylvester and his two sisters, Blanche and Grace—were seated in the room which did threhold duty as parlor, library and dining-room, in the tiny house which had been willed to them by their grandfather. Added to this bequest was a fortune of money invested in the funds, the interest of which, with strict economy, would feed and clothe the recipients. The remainder of the old gentleman's property went to Reginald, the child of his son Jasper, and was to accumulate until he became of age, with the exception of what was necessary for him to disburse for living expenses.

When he was to reach his majority he was to have the possession of his large inheritance, provided he should consent to fulfill the instructions contained in a sealed note, which was not to be opened until then.

If he however, be refused to obey his grandfather's wish, the money was left to other and indirect heirs, with the exception of an amount equal to the amount of the interest on the funds.

Richard was before the four or five years of age, and had been absolutely unacquainted with the city of New York, but so far as he knew, who represented Mr. Simpson and nothing else, he had learned before the fall session to get a restraining hand on the political and of some of the business community, and had learned from the public that the name of Mr. Head was the name of a worthy and

And tears overflowed the blue eyes which hid, but the moment hidden, but bright and merry.

Reginald finished. Then he turned and looked at Grace with an expression in his eyes that would have told her the whole truth, had she been looking towards him with her head turned away so that he could only see the delicate contour of her pretty profile and the graceful quietude of her hair.

"I spoke," he said softly, but with a tremor in his voice which told of some deep underlying agitation, "look at me."

Grace shivered, but she obeyed. The thought which had been presented to her mind had made her opening spring tides of life seem all of a sudden changed and cold as though his winter had come.

She raised her eyes to Reginald's face and for an instant they looked straight at each other. Then Reginald put his arms about her neck and drew her to him and kissed her.

"You are to be my wife, Grace—that if you will consent to marry me. Did you think I could ever love anyone else? I thought you knew me better. Naughty little girl, you were jealous. But it is such an encouraging sign that if you will consent it freely, I'll forgive you."

"Was it jealousy?" asked Grace, smiling through her tears. "I only know that I felt as though my heart had turned, all at once, into something that hurt me. But what will Ronald say? You must go in."

It was with a new and strange feeling of cynicism that Grace said this. Previously Regie had been to her a brother. Now, he was so much dearer, and yet she had lost all feeling of ease with him. Then, too, this rash of emotion which filled her heart was disquieting as she felt Reginald's kisses had burned upon her lips she had changed from a careless happy-go-lucky girl to a deep-thinking, loving woman. But she must have time to become accustomed to regarding Regie in the light of a lover. Thus it was that she became restless in his society and would fain have flown away from him into solitude, where she could commune with her own heart.

Although Reginald comprehended but dimly the state of her mind, he followed her obediently into the house, where Ronald was waiting to monopolize him, and resigned himself patiently to the task of coaching this ardent student.

After seeing him safe, beside her brother, Grace disappeared, and did not become visible again until tea-time, and then she was so unusually quiet that Blanche looked at her several times with a constantly increasing anxiety, which culminated at last in threatening to send for the doctor.

Reginald was about to speak, but an extraneous look from Grace checked him, and later on she whispered to him, as she went with him to the gate:

"Keep what has passed a secret, Regie, until you know the contents of that dreadful letter. I would never consent to stand in the way of your future prospects."

"And, to win or not to win you, my darling, will either be the making or the marring of my life."

"We are so young, Regie. People will talk harshly if they hear of a projected marriage between us and a woman to keep it a secret for a while."

"I will promise anything to please you, Grace. But remember one thing—I will never give you up."

"Grace, look at this!"

"There was an excited entrance in papa's voice, which caused Grace to

And tears overflowed the blue eyes which hid, but the moment hidden, but bright and merry.

Reginald finished. Then he turned and looked at Grace with an expression in his eyes that would have told her the whole truth, had she been looking towards him with her head turned away so that he could only see the delicate contour of her pretty profile and the graceful quietude of her hair.

"I spoke," he said softly, but with a tremor in his voice which told of some deep underlying agitation, "look at me."

Grace shivered, but she obeyed. The thought which had been presented to her mind had made her opening spring tides of life seem all of a sudden changed and cold as though his winter had come.

She raised her eyes to Reginald's face and for an instant they looked straight at each other. Then Reginald put his arms about her neck and drew her to him and kissed her.

"You are to be my wife, Grace—that if you will consent to marry me. Did you think I could ever love anyone else? I thought you knew me better. Naughty little girl, you were jealous. But it is such an encouraging sign that if you will consent it freely, I'll forgive you."

"Was it jealousy?" asked Grace, smiling through her tears. "I only know that I felt as though my heart had turned, all at once, into something that hurt me. But what will Ronald say? You must go in."

It was with a new and strange feeling of cynicism that Grace said this. Previously Regie had been to her a brother. Now, he was so much dearer, and yet she had lost all feeling of ease with him. Then, too, this rash of emotion which filled her heart was disquieting as she felt Reginald's kisses had burned upon her lips she had changed from a careless happy-go-lucky girl to a deep-thinking, loving woman. But she must have time to become accustomed to regarding Regie in the light of a lover. Thus it was that she became restless in his society and would fain have flown away from him into solitude, where she could commune with her own heart.

Although Reginald comprehended but dimly the state of her mind, he followed her obediently into the house, where Ronald was waiting to monopolize him, and resigned himself patiently to the task of coaching this ardent student.

After seeing him safe, beside her brother, Grace disappeared, and did not become visible again until tea-time, and then she was so unusually quiet that Blanche looked at her several times with a constantly increasing anxiety, which culminated at last in threatening to send for the doctor.

Reginald was about to speak, but an extraneous look from Grace checked him, and later on she whispered to him, as she went with him to the gate:

"Keep what has passed a secret, Regie, until you know the contents of that dreadful letter. I would never consent to stand in the way of your future prospects."

"And, to win or not to win you, my darling, will either be the making or the marring of my life."

"We are so young, Regie. People will talk harshly if they hear of a projected marriage between us and a woman to keep it a secret for a while."

"I will promise anything to please you, Grace. But remember one thing—I will never give you up."

"Grace, look at this!"

"There was an excited entrance in papa's voice, which caused Grace to

And tears overflowed the blue eyes which hid, but the moment hidden, but bright and merry.

Reginald finished. Then he turned and looked at Grace with an expression in his eyes that would have told her the whole truth, had she been looking towards him with her head turned away so that he could only see the delicate contour of her pretty profile and the graceful quietude of her hair.

"I spoke," he said softly, but with a tremor in his voice which told of some deep underlying agitation, "look at me."

Grace shivered, but she obeyed. The thought which had been presented to her mind had made her opening spring tides of life seem all of a sudden changed and cold as though his winter had come.

She raised her eyes to Reginald's face and for an instant they looked straight at each other. Then Reginald put his arms about her neck and drew her to him and kissed her.

"You are to be my wife, Grace—that if you will consent to marry me. Did you think I could ever love anyone else? I thought you knew me better. Naughty little girl, you were jealous. But it is such an encouraging sign that if you will consent it freely, I'll forgive you."

"Was it jealousy?" asked Grace, smiling through her tears. "I only know that I felt as though my heart had turned, all at once, into something that hurt me. But what will Ronald say? You must go in."

It was with a new and strange feeling of cynicism that Grace said this. Previously Regie had been to her a brother. Now, he was so much dearer, and yet she had lost all feeling of ease with him. Then, too, this rash of emotion which filled her heart was disquieting as she felt Reginald's kisses had burned upon her lips she had changed from a careless happy-go-lucky girl to a deep-thinking, loving woman. But she must have time to become accustomed to regarding Regie in the light of a lover. Thus it was that she became restless in his society and would fain have flown away from him into solitude, where she could commune with her own heart.

Although Reginald comprehended but dimly the state of her mind, he followed her obediently into the house, where Ronald was waiting to monopolize him, and resigned himself patiently to the task of coaching this ardent student.

After seeing him safe, beside her brother, Grace disappeared, and did not become visible again until tea-time, and then she was so unusually quiet that Blanche looked at her several times with a constantly increasing anxiety, which culminated at last in threatening to send for the doctor.

Reginald was about to speak, but an extraneous look from Grace checked him, and later on she whispered to him, as she went with him to the gate:

"Keep what has passed a secret, Regie, until you know the contents of that dreadful letter. I would never consent to stand in the way of your future prospects."

"And, to win or not to win you, my darling, will either be the making or the marring of my life."

"We are so young, Regie. People will talk harshly if they hear of a projected marriage between us and a woman to keep it a secret for a while."

"I will promise anything to please you, Grace. But remember one thing—I will never give you up."

"Grace, look at this!"

"There was an excited entrance in papa's voice, which caused Grace to

And tears overflowed the blue eyes which hid, but the moment hidden, but bright and merry.

Reginald finished. Then he turned and looked at Grace with an expression in his eyes that would have told her the whole truth, had she been looking towards him with her head turned away so that he could only see the delicate contour of her pretty profile and the graceful quietude of her hair.

"I spoke," he said softly, but with a tremor in his voice which told of some deep underlying agitation, "look at me."

Grace shivered, but she obeyed. The thought which had been presented to her mind had made her opening spring tides of life seem all of a sudden changed and cold as though his winter had come.

She raised her eyes to Reginald's face and for an instant they looked straight at each other. Then Reginald put his arms about her neck and drew her to him and kissed her.

"You are to be my wife, Grace—that if you will consent to marry me. Did you think I could ever love anyone else? I thought you knew me better. Naughty little girl, you were jealous. But it is such an encouraging sign that if you will consent it freely, I'll forgive you."

"Was it jealousy?" asked Grace, smiling through her tears. "I only know that I felt as though my heart had turned, all at once, into something that hurt me. But what will Ronald say? You must go in."

It was with a new and strange feeling of cynicism that Grace said this. Previously Regie had been to her a brother. Now, he was so much dearer, and yet she had lost all feeling of ease with him. Then, too, this rash of emotion which filled her heart was disquieting as she felt Reginald's kisses had burned upon her lips she had changed from a careless happy-go-lucky girl to a deep-thinking, loving woman. But she must have time to become accustomed to regarding Regie in the light of a lover. Thus it was that she became restless in his society and would fain have flown away from him into solitude, where she could commune with her own heart.

Although Reginald comprehended but dimly the state of her mind, he followed her obediently into the house, where Ronald was waiting to monopolize him, and resigned himself patiently to the task of coaching this ardent student.

After seeing him safe, beside her brother, Grace disappeared, and did not become visible again until tea-time, and then she was so unusually quiet that Blanche looked at her several times with a constantly increasing anxiety, which culminated at last in threatening to send for the doctor.

Reginald was about to speak, but an extraneous look from Grace checked him, and later on she whispered to him, as she went with him to the gate:

"Keep what has passed a secret, Regie, until you know the contents of that dreadful letter. I would never consent to stand in the way of your future prospects."

"And, to win or not to win you, my darling, will either be the making or the marring of my life."

"We are so young, Regie. People will talk harshly if they hear of a projected marriage between us and a woman to keep it a secret for a while."

"I will promise anything to please you, Grace. But remember one thing—I will never give you up."

"Grace, look at this!"

"There was an excited entrance in papa's voice, which caused Grace to

W. M. SOENNERLIN.
 Dealer in
GROCERIES, DRY GOODS and NOTIONS.
 Hats, Caps, Boots and Shoes.

ED MORTON.
LIVERY AND FEED STABLE.

To the Farmers of Wayne County:
 You may obtain MONEY upon most reasonable terms by applying to
DAVID JAMESON
 Office with A. A. Welch, Wayne, Neb.

ED MORTON.
LIVERY AND FEED STABLE.

To the Farmers of Wayne County:
 You may obtain MONEY upon most reasonable terms by applying to
DAVID JAMESON
 Office with A. A. Welch, Wayne, Neb.

ED MORTON.
LIVERY AND FEED STABLE.

To the Farmers of Wayne County:
 You may obtain MONEY upon most reasonable terms by applying to
DAVID JAMESON
 Office with A. A. Welch, Wayne, Neb.

ED MORTON.
LIVERY AND FEED STABLE.

To the Farmers of Wayne County:
 You may obtain MONEY upon most reasonable terms by applying to
DAVID JAMESON
 Office with A. A. Welch, Wayne, Neb.

ED MORTON.
LIVERY AND FEED STABLE.

To the Farmers of Wayne County:
 You may obtain MONEY upon most reasonable terms by applying to
DAVID JAMESON
 Office with A. A. Welch, Wayne, Neb.

DANILSON - JEWELER.
 SILVER and PLATED WARE
Watches--and--Jewelry.
 AT DAVE'S BOOK STORE.

DANILSON - JEWELER.
 SILVER and PLATED WARE
Watches--and--Jewelry.
 AT DAVE'S BOOK STORE.

DANILSON - JEWELER.
 SILVER and PLATED WARE
Watches--and--Jewelry.
 AT DAVE'S BOOK STORE.

DANILSON - JEWELER.
 SILVER and PLATED WARE
Watches--and--Jewelry.
 AT DAVE'S BOOK STORE.

GA
SODA
 Best in the World

GA
SODA
 Best in the World

GA
SODA
 Best in the World

GA
SODA
 Best in the World

TUTT'S PILLS
 25 YEARS IN USE.
 The Greater Medical Triumph of the Age!

TUTT'S PILLS
 25 YEARS IN USE.
 The Greater Medical Triumph of the Age!

TUTT'S PILLS
 25 YEARS IN USE.
 The Greater Medical Triumph of the Age!

TUTT'S PILLS
 25 YEARS IN USE.
 The Greater Medical Triumph of the Age!

TUTT'S PILLS
 25 YEARS IN USE.
 The Greater Medical Triumph of the Age!

TUTT'S PILLS
 25 YEARS IN USE.
 The Greater Medical Triumph of the Age!

Dry Goods and Notions,
BOOTS and SHOES,
Gents' Furnishing Goods
AND GROCERIES.
Come and See us.
WHITTON & WOOLSTON.

FARM M'CHINERY,
J. O. MILLIGAN & CO.
And LUMBER

BED--ROCK!

A Large Assortment of
Dry Goods and Groceries,
BOOTS AND SHOES, HATS AND CAPS.
CLOTHING AND GENTS' FURNISHING GOODS.
Trunks and Valises,
Just Received. The Largest Stock ever brought to Wayne.
Produce Finds a Ready Market with us.
OXFORD & STRICKLAND.

J. P. GAERTNER

Has just received a Fine Line of

NEW FURNITURE

is unequalled in these parts.

Lowest

Rail Road Time Table

Train leaves Wayne	8:00 A. M.
Train arrives at Brock City	10:00 A. M.
Train leaves Brock City	10:30 P. M.
Train leaves Osgood	8:00 A. M.
Train leaves Brock City	8:00 A. M.
Train arrives in Wayne	10:00 P. M.

For timetables and all information call on
T. W. MOGRIAN, Agent, Wayne.

Weather Report,

As taken at Dearborn's Pharmacy for the past week ending with Wednesday.

	800 A. M.	1200 M.	800 P. M.
Thursday	85	75	70
Friday	85	75	70
Saturday	75	65	72
Sunday	75	65	72
Monday	75	65	72
Tuesday	75	65	72
Wednesday	85	75	68

The Largest and Cheapest Stock of MILLINERY,

Gloves, Laces,
RUSHING, ZEPHYRS, SAXONIES, &c

Beer brought to Wayne, can be found at the New Millinery Store of MRS. E. M. SMITH,
Ladies' Call.

Teachers' Examination
I will hold a public examination of teachers in the school house, in Wayne, on the third Saturday of every month, between the hours of 9 a. m. and 4 p. m. Saturdays are office days.
JESSE S. HAYES,
Co. Sup't. of Public Instruction.

Notice to Subscribers
The subscription price of the HERALD-TRIBUNE is $1.50 per year, in paid in advance.

LOCAL MATTERS.

A new mill is building in Osgood. Our business men were very busy Saturday.

Monday was a scorching and very could almost see corn grow. Straw hats cheaper than ever at Oxford & Strickland's.

The creamery is turning out 1500 pounds of gilt-edged butter a week. Mr Pansbaker is doing good and efficient work on Main street between first and second.

J. P. Gaertner supplied the Lutheran church with three handsome pulpit chairs this week.

A great deal of barley and rye have been cut and wheat and oats are nearly ready.

W. O. Gamble has put down a walk at his residence similar to the one in front of Taylor's bank.

A couple of splendid showers passed a few miles south of town Sunday afternoon, but only a few drops fell here.

Posters are out announcing a public sale of stock and farm implements at Moore's stock yards Saturday, August 1st.

We understand that the members of the club will

Dr. J. S. Romine has reduced his position at Hilly & Dyer's leather yard. A. T. Witter has some very fine pairs, as we know by trying them.

C. C. Bosteder had a coil very badly cut up in a barb wire fence Sunday night.

Dr. J. S. Romine, the dentist will again visit Wayne, July 25th to 31st inclusive.

The Monday Club has a luncheon party with Mrs. P. A. English this afternoon.

W. O. Gamble heads the list with one hundred and sixty acres of fine broom corn.

Love's drug store is being raised up to grade, Harry Wallace is doing the "hustling."

"The Power of the Gospel" will be the subject of the morning sermon at the M. E. church next Sunday.

E. L. Hatch and his mother Mrs. Potts, has bought of P. A. English the property now occupied by F. A. Phillips.

The band boys expect to get instruments as soon as satisfactory arrangements can be made to procure them.

Don't forget the free lecture before the teachers institute in the Presbyterian church this evening. All are invited.

Dr. J. S. Romine, the dentist will make his twelfth visit to Wayne July 25th to 31st inclusive. Call early and make engagements for work.

A good soaking shower came down last night and we do not expect to hear any complaint about the corn flooding rain for two weeks at least.

If some one will send a good tailor to Wayne he will confer a favor on both the tailor and the town. There is a good location here for the right man.

The cellar under Smith & Sons store has been cemented, and the firm expect to avoid the trouble from water in the cellar that they have heretofore experienced.

An exchange has a long article giving girls advice as to how to become a man. It might be legs as the famous receipt for cooking a hare. "First catch your man."

F. M. Northrop Lectured before the Normal Monday evening in "The Last." Frank Fuller Tuesday evening on "What, When, and How to Read." Mr. Lodge lectures this evening.

Anyone who has paid penalties on overdue taxes can have the same refunded by calling at the Treasurer's office.

D. W. Britton has Texas We've been watching the Republicans to see how many inhabitants Wakefield has by the new census, but thus far there has not been a twitter. Wayne has 818 Brev. Herb.

We are requested to say that placing the boys quit smoking and playing with matches in and around barns and corn cobs about town that they will be arrested and lodged in the lock-up.

The street commissioner informs us that three thousand loads of manure were put on Main street

A sermon on "The Power of the Gospel" will be preached by Rev. J. S. Romine at the Presbyterian church Sunday morning.

Several match games were played which the fate of the county gallon of ice cream depended, been played this week.

We have heard a number of persons speak of the superior quality of the lumber that is being put into the new mill.

New Watermelon, Peaches, Pears, Apples, Raspberries, Oranges, Bananas and all kinds of vegetables Friday evening at "Wilcut's."

Perfect peace is not possible even in the deepest retirements. A wolf will creep into the most pastoral life.—Rocky Mountain Celt.

Some one sent us a copy of the issue of the Rocky Mountain Celt for July 14th, published at Beaver, printed very attractively in red, white and blue.

A horse belonging to Wm. Wagner of Plum Creek precinct was stolen Monday night, and no trace of horse or thief has yet been discovered.

R. Walsworth informs us that a bolt of lightning struck in a bunch of horses on his ranch yesterday morning and killed one of his best milks. A couple of horses were knocked over but not seriously hurt. The loss is partially covered by insurance.

Base Ball

The match game of ball between the La. Portes and Red Stockings of Osgood Creek was played on the grounds of the latter last Saturday as was announced last week. A large number of spectators from the neighborhood witnessed the game. The following is the score by innings:

Red Stockings	1	2	3	4	5	6	7	8	9	Total
La. Portes	0	0	0	0	0	0	0	0	0	0
Red Stockings	1	2	3	4	5	6	7	8	9	27

Card of Thanks

London, N. Y. June 29th, 1880.
Eds. HERALD-TRIBUNE

Dear Sir: The Family of which Jonas K. Hilber was a member wish to express through the columns of your paper their sincere and heartfelt thanks to the people of Wayne, Wakefield and vicinity for the assistance so freely and promptly rendered by them in the search for the missing body of their son and brother Jonas K. Hilber. We would also thank the Wayne Lodge (the A. F. and A. M.) for the good work performed by them of burying the body decently and we also appreciate the sympathy extended by them. We also extend our thanks to the ladies that in token of their esteem for our son while living prepared the floral wreath to decorate his casket. These papers will please copy especially the Wakefield Republican.

Yours &c,
NELSON RUTHER

Odd Fellows and Masonic Installation

On last Friday evening Wayne Lodge No. 118, I. O. O. F. and Wayne Lodge No. 120, A. F. and A. M. held a joint public installation of officers in the town hall. Quite a number of visiting members from the Wakefield lodges were present and a very fair attendance of the families of members. The officers of the Odd Fellows Lodge installed were

M. S. Davis

Reserve
J. W. Co
Wayne Toun
E. L. Jones went to business Monday.

Paul English went to Sloss yesterday morning.
G. W. Riley went to Seward on business last evening.

I. Ziemer, the Jolly Hoskins man, was in town yesterday.
J. W. Givans of Northside made us a pleasant call Monday.

J. E. Korlett of Elkhader, Iowa, spent Sunday with his uncle, Dr. Crawford.
F. P. Mead of York, spent Sunday with his brother-in-law, D. Jamieson.

Dr. F. W. Cram and wife, of Sheldon Iowa, are visiting with Mr. and Mrs. H. Lerp.
F. E. Moses was in the neighborhood of Northside, surveying, a number of days last week.

H. H. Moses of Youngstown, Ohio, is looking after his ranch in Brenna precinct for a few days.

Mrs. J. P. Gaertner left Monday morning for Iambury, Iowa, where her sister lies at the point of death.
J. J. Adams of Monroe, Wisconsin, has been visiting with his daughter, Mrs. W. L. Witter this week.

Prof. W. J. McCoy goes to Hartington in the morning where he will take charge of the Normal Institute.
W. M. Wright went to Omaha yesterday morning, his daughter Jessie accompanying him as far as Wakefield.

A. H. Hall of Niyawa, Mich., was in town this week, resuming old acquaintances and transacting some business.

Ed. Mott's son Charley started across the country Monday morning with Mr. Strahan, with stock, for Malvern, Iowa.
Mrs. J. A. Wagner started to Lincoln yesterday morning where she will join her husband and where they will reside in the future.

Mr. and Mrs. J. Desjardins and their son Harry of Chicago, are visiting with Mr. Deere's. Harry expects to remain all summer.
F. O. Martin started yesterday morning for Hartington, Wisconsin, where he was called by the death of his grandfather, Rev. O. A. Martin.

H. A. Moore was down from Hartington over Sunday. P. C. Patterson believing him in the back there. He returned to Hartington Monday.

S. S. Shields of Youngtown, O., is visiting with C. C. Maurer and expects to have some sport among the chickens around the Shaw farm.

Miss Carrie G. is visiting with her mother, Mrs. M. A. Moore, and Miss M. A. Moore.

Wayne, N. Y. Pulmonary cause of one of the York State Health have reported to

They are

Chickens at all Im

Bufling
Fans and prices
Hannocks st
New lot of p
Brom. cheap
Cumbin
Wiscon
cheese

