TUESDAY, NOV. 18, 1884.

The New Orleans exposition is in full operation.

John McCullough, the great actor died very suddenly Sunday night.

The Republic's plurality in Nebraska on Supreme Judge, 22,000.

A large steamer was wrecked on Lake Superior Saturday and 20 lives were lost.

A big meeting was held in Chicago last Thursday to expose that notorious fraud, the Henninger canal.

The disappearance of the New York mag-wump as a factor in politics is promised as a result of the late election.

The Sioux City Journal has adopted the plan of issuing an enlarged Sunday edition, and is making it very successful.

The editor of the West Point Progress is despondent over the defeat of his party in the elections, but he says that the country will remain Republican for six years.

The South is being treated to a second lot of tornadoes for the year. Recent ones in Tennessee, Florida, and Texas caused great destruction of property and considerable loss of life.

If Sioux City expects to regain the trade she is losing in Northern Nebraska, or even hold what she now has, the talk of bridge at that place must be got off paper and over the river.

Our Madison county exchanges say we were mistaken in saying that a Democratic paper was to make its appearance in that county. One of our neighboring exchanges was our authority for the statement.

The first annual report of the government of Alaska is in the hands of the government. The governor takes a rose colored view of the future of that vast territory and dwells at length on its vast mineral and other resources.

It is said the President Cleveland is not of the same opinion as the majority of the members of the Legislature of the State. One of 54 votes 53.

The world would seem that there ought to be a good field for missionary labor in that precinct.

Lincoln visited bonds to secure the building of the North Western line that city, the "Gateway to the West," notes. The road connects Omaha and gives Lincoln another through line to Chicago. Omaha must make up and not long about it either.

Father Martin, of the Dakota City Argus, depicting the free use of ardent spirits and money in the late election in that county, says he looks hopefully forward to the time when candidates will not treat with any thing but apples or cigars. It is evident that he believes in the near advent of the millennium.

The last number of the Norfolk News has a sketch, evidently intended to be sarcastic, of Fred Nye, the editor of the Omaha Republicans. The most of the sarcasm is in the pretended portrait which heads the sketch, and Mr. Nye, with eye glasses, a full beard, and the dignified appearance of some body's back office.

(Wayne Tribune Nov. 18, 1884.)

"We have decided to change the Gazette into a Republican paper, which will give cordial support to any ticket properly selected in convention time. The Gazette will start no pledges or promises in advance, as a premium for a loyal support of every Republican ticket regularly nominated by the party."

A little the richest, and certainly the most ludicrous thing in a political way thus far happened in Wayne County. It is the announcement in the last Gazette in a double headed editorial that, yielding to the unswerving loyalty of Woodburners, it had changed from a Democratic paper. Now, why the Lord loves them, I do not know. The Republican party in Wayne County is the mildest party in Wayne County. It will have need of their watchful care if it has to bear up under this affi-tion. The unswerving statement is made that the new editor is an "ardent Republican," and also that the change has been in contemplation for some time, but the announcement was purposely withheld until after the election. Of course, there are a few persons who are at all acquainted with the situation, but even if the election had resulted differently the Gazette would have been as "ardently" Democratic. If Childs is a Republican his conversion is of very recent date. Those who have been at all intimate with him know that he is a decided Democrat, more than a Republican to further his own ends. The only idea of party loyalty he has is to sell his influence. He talk of being a loyal Republican! That's too good. Before the Republican convention met he repeatedly went to the leading Democrats in the country and told them that unless the men he favored were nominated he would help the ticket to elect every man that was not a Democrat over the Gazette into a Democratic organ.

No longer ago than Wednesday last week he admitted the truth of these statements in the presence of the writer, and insisted that he was thoroughly in earnest in making them. That is the kind of a loyal Republican he is. We would gladly welcome any such a man to our ranks, but then the Gazette has shown its power to help the party by conducting a campaign in which a man as to reduce a Republican majority of 27% to almost nothing.

The Impending Danger
The recent statistics of the number of deaths show that a large majority of them are due to disease. This disease may commence with an apparently harmless cough which can be cured in a week. It is known as "Katy's Disease," for the throat and lungs. It is a disease which is liable to recur and relapse after it is cured. Price, 50 cents and $1. Trial size free. For sale by Adams & Dutcher.

Plain Craft Pickings
Politics is now a thing of the past and people settle down to business and husking corn. We hope to never hear of another such a campaign. This will be a greater than ours of the mandates were not defeated.

Some of the boys complain of being quite thirsty since election, there must have been salt in that wh—wh—what was it?

School is progressing nicely in 34. A. Lindsey intends to have a new school house this winter or break a hame string.

Eug. Biggar is at Omaha attending Rathbun and Daffey's business College. Sylvanus Taylor has sold his farm in 34, 4, but does not give possession till spring. Mr. Taylor is a thorough school master in school masters, and the neighbors will miss him exceedingly.

Harve Delahoyde has again left home, he says he couldn't stand the heat—not the red—but one about a mile wide which warmed him below the waist.

We'll have a nickel, or a half, we're worth that much, that we can give the first time that Paney is beat we struck the wrong chap for Sally that time, goes again. You must be hard to take home. It's not in the four grounds I'd be ready but if you're right and looking sharp and would like to try. Will a man come over some Sunday evening only don't come the same evening he does.

A Very Narrow Escape.—said a prominent citizen to a friend, "I had a very narrow escape." "What?" "I had to lend my bed for a year to a man who got me to sign a paper that I would never leave his grave until I began using Kamp's Balance for the Throat and Liver, and I am still here and healthy. You will find it at Adams & Dutcher. Price 30c and 50c."
