

Wayne On Parade

Old Man Winter is still holding the spotlight in Wayne. Members of the legal fraternity may engage in fistic combat as a prelude to equally heated battles in courtrooms and as a result claim a share of the conversation. But the weather remains the chief topic of interest.

First, the mercury skids to a new record low for the year and manages to freeze everything that's exposed to the elements taking particular delight in making it impossible to get the old family bus to hit on even those remaining, formerly faithful, three cylinders. It dips to 14 degrees below zero apparently just to demonstrate to the old timers what a delightful winter they previously enjoyed.

Just as the frigid wave is becoming stale as a steady diet for conversation, along comes the snow and when it snows in these parts, it snows, gentlemen, all over the place. It snows inches every hour and continues the process for hours until the average citizen searches about for extensions on his trusty boots.

When the weather goes on a rampage here, it does no halfway job of it. It really deserves the full rays of the conversational spotlight.

But did you hear about the storm three years ago when for a month Wayne was isolated from the world as far as highways were concerned? We heard so many wild tales about that storm that we were beginning to doubt the truth and veracity of some of the city's best citizens. But, no more. We have seen it snow in Wayne county. But, if you really want to hear some good yarns about that snow, you'll find stories as thick as the snow. Just talk to anyone who was here at the time. They are all entertaining and somewhat different. An enterprising author could write a book on that storm.

Speaking of attorneys, another topic of interest here at present, a chat with the lone representative of the democratic party in the legal profession at Wayne now is time well spent. We refer of course, to James E. Brittain, who is not only city attorney and a prominent lawyer, but also speaks convincingly on a variety of subjects without beating a

Fistic And Verbal Blows Lead To Court

Hendrickson Faces Assault, Libel Charges

Fistic and verbal blows, struck by C. H. Hendrickson, Wayne attorney, came bouncing back simultaneously in the form of two cases which were taken to the district court last week.

Hendrickson was fined $50 and costs of $2.08 last Tuesday morning when he was found guilty on an assault and battery charge resulting from an encounter the day previous with H. E. Siman, prominent attorney. Hendrickson pleaded not guilty, appealed the case and furnished bond of $110, signed by Hay McClure.

On the same day, Tuesday, Hendrickson made a second appearance in court to waive preliminary hearing on a suit charging criminal libel, filed by Don S. Wightman in the court of justice of The Peace J. E. Brittain. In this case he was bound over to district court for trial on $300 bond, also signed by McClure.

In the assault and battery case, filed by the city at the request of Mayor Martin Ringer, Mr. Siman testified that he attended a Kiwanis club luncheon and accompanied Dr. S. A. Lutgen to the latter's car. He said that when he turned to walk east, he was struck in the face by the defendant, the blow knocking his glasses nearly off.

As he was attempting to rearrange his glasses, he said he was struck again and fell as he was defending himself. Mrs. Charlotte Polodna and Mrs. Katherine Broek, both of whom saw the affray from hotel windows, testified for the prosecution, the former charging that Hendrickson struck Siman from behind and the latter that the defendant continued to strike him after he had fallen. Lloyd Fitch also testified to witnessing the fight and ending the alleged assault.

Hendrickson testified in his own defense that he had been threatened at one time by Mr. Siman and that D. S. Wightman and Warren Price had threatened him when they visited his office a few weeks ago. Mr. Siman explained that at the time mentioned by Hendrickson the defendant had called him a liar, accusation which he did not allow to go unanswered.

In the criminal libel suit, Mr. Wightman charged that Dec. 16, last, Hendrickson published false and malicious libel concerning both Wightman and E. W. Huse, which tended to injure their reputation. The complaint quotes the statements made in the issue of the Shopper mentioned. It was drawn up by County Attorney Burr R. Davis and will provide a second battle in district court.

Death Claims Altona Man

Funeral services will be held at Altona, Wednesday afternoon, for Mr. K. Walters, who died last Sunday. Mr. Walters, who was 82 years of age at the time of his death, was born in Germany and came to Altona to live many years ago.

Burial will be at Altona with Rev. A. J. Moede and the Hiscox undertaking home in charge. The pallbearers will be: William Roggenbough, George Roggenbough, Oscar Reinhardt, William Theis, Henry Brudeck and Fred Kohl-moss.

Bids Opened For Student, Faculty Building

Bids were opened Monday for the Wayne student-faculty building at a meeting of the state board in Lincoln, which Dr. J. T. Anderson, president of the college, attended.

The action followed a meeting of the building committee and architects for the new structure in Wayne last Tuesday, when final plans for the building were approved. Members of the committee are John Rohn of Fremont, Fred Anderson of Lincoln and Dr. Anderson. Dr. Walter Bentback of Wayne, who was named to the board last week by Governor Cochran, Wesley Noecker of Grand Island and the architect, Gordon Shattuck of Grand Island, also attended.

Hoffmans Hold Records For Champions

It's Breeding That Counts In Livestock

Although you seldom see their names among the winners at state and national livestock shows, the Hoffman brothers, Walter and William, south of Winstle, are probably the world champion breeders of prize winning cattle.

Their names are missing from the winners because they breed the champions, which others show.

From their herd in 1938, for example, came the grand champion at the state fair, the reserve champion at the St. Paul show, the grand champion and reserve champion steer at the Colorado fair.

The many prizes won by Lester Lutt of Wayne in county, state and national shows were much publicized and Lutt's champions sold at $1.50 and $1.60 a pound. They came from the herd bred by the Hoffman brothers.

"This breeding champions consists chiefly of hard work and costs considerable money," Walter Hoffman explained Saturday. "We have about 75 to 100 head of livestock most of the time."

The Hoffman brothers, along with all livestock men, have gone through some tough years. Many were forced to sell and, for a time, breeding champion livestock appeared the height of folly, but the outlook for livestock is again bright. And the Hoffman brothers are continuing to strive to improve their herd and succeeding.

Four Chosen To Represent 20,000 Nebraska Youths

Four Nebraska farm young men and women have just received the highest honors that can come to 4-H club members. They will represent the 20,000 rural youths enrolled in 4-H clubs in Nebraska at the National Club Camp in Washington, D. C., in June. All have achieved outstanding records in 4-H work.

The four Nebraska delegates are Margaret Miller, Cheyenne county; Harold Stevens, Perkins county; Winona Francke, Lancaster county; Clyde Althouse, Cass county.

Closing Out Sale At Strahan Ranch Wednesday

One of the biggest sales of the year, a closing out event, will be held at the Strahan ranch, three and a half miles west of Wayne on State Highway 98, starting at 12 o'clock Wednesday afternoon.

Frank E. Strahan, who has been one of the leading farmers and livestock men since he began farming there in 1881, will quit farming and is offering at auction 168 head of livestock, including 107 head of cattle, 11 horses and 50 hogs, and a large supply of farm machinery.

Free coffee will be served and there will be a lunch wagon on the grounds. Colonels A. F. Herfkens and C. A. Vogt are the auctioneers.

Complete details of the sale together with a list of the livestock and farm equipment will be found on Page 3.

Music Festival Is Postponed

The music festival and band clinic, which was first scheduled to be held at the Wayne Teachers college auditorium Wednesday and Thursday, has been postponed until March 9 and 10. Music students from high school bands of Wayne, Ponca, Emerson, Pender, West Point, Stanton and Wisner are expected to participate.

Details of the program will be announced later this week.

County Has Record Snow Of Winter

But 12-Inch Blanket Will Be Valuable

Winter and spring continued to battle in Wayne county during the past week with the former capturing chief honors in the form of a 12-inch snow, the heaviest of the season, early in the week.

The mercury played around the zero mark after the snow blanket covered this section of the country and residents feared a sharp wind would cause it to drift and block highways for days. However, there was little wind and, although some roads were virtually closed for a day or two, a warm sun sent the temperature climbing and melted the snow rapidly.

Temperatures soured steadily Saturday only to reverse the process Sunday night as a frigid wave rode a strong wind over this section of Nebraska. Sunday, the mercury remained near the zero mark and dived down to from 10 to 14 degrees below Sunday night. Monday, the cold wave released its grip to some extent and the outlook was for warmer weather.

Ordinance To End Interference Being Considered

Copies of ordinances, which have been effective elsewhere in eliminating radio interference, have been requested by the city councilmen as adoption or some similar measure here is being considered.

Mayor Martin Ringer pointed out Monday that although it will probably be impossible to eliminate all such interference, adoption of such an ordinance may keep it at a minimum.

"The majority of our citizens are willing to co-operate in every way but there are a few who require such an ordinance before they will act," Mayor Ringer explained. "We have sent to the League of Municipalities for sample ordinance of this kind and will probably receive replies in time to act at our next meeting."

Several complaints have been made regarding an unusual amount of radio reception difficulty here, which may have resumed from any one of several causes, some of which an ordinance may not eliminate. However, it is believed that it could be materially reduced.

Certificate Is Awarded Local M. E. Congregation

A certificate of honor for having fulfilled its quota in the Million Unit Fellowship Movement has been awarded the Wayne Methodist Episcopal church, according to the Rev. Carl G. Bader, pastor. The local church is one of 926 churches, or about 5 per cent of the denomination's 20,000 congregations in the United States, who already have reached their goals.

Quotas for the individual churches were set when the movement, now in its third year, was inaugurated and were based on a communion-wide goal of 500,000 "units"—persons who will subscribe one dollar a month as well as undertake the spiritual obligations of the fellowship.

With the strengthening and deepening of the spiritual life of the church as its chief objectives, the Million Unit Fellowship Movement is also endeavoring to secure a better underwriting of its missions and benevolences, known collectively as World Service. Thus far, the movement has added about three quarters of a million dollars to the church income for missions and benevolences.

What Is City's Greatest Need Today?

R. L. Larson—"A commercial club to look after the interests of the town".

R. R. Stuart—"Aside from college equipment, the following are needs of Wayne: an indoor rifle range; a museum of natural history; Indian relics and civilization; an artificial lake and camps; irrigation for surrounding farms; pavement north and south on highway number 15 (cement—not black top)".

Rev. Walter Brackensiek—"That is a hard question to answer. In my opinion, Wayne is one of the finest little cities in Nebraska. We have excellent schools, a fine auditorium, good streets and so on. One need I might mention, however, is a modern up-to-date incinerator".

Fred Blair—"Wayne needs more cooperation to make its main street bigger and better".

F. B. Decker—"A municipally owned and operated recreation ground to include a swimming pool and ball diamond, to keep our youngsters entertained in Wayne".

A. F. Gulliver—"Definite united sentiment for the best interests of the town".

J. W. Baker—"I think Wayne's greatest need is co-operation including co-operation in individual business; co-operation in business as a whole and co-operation in the city government. With complete co-operation, there is bound to be success and in our opinion no one man or small group of men can run any business, his own or public affairs without the help and support of others, so why not work together."

Former Local Man Suicides

Frank Nye Leaps To His Death Thursday

Frank T. Nye, 58, Shenandoah, Ia., insurance man, who was employed by the First National bank in Wayne nearly 30 years ago, leaped to his death from a hallway window on the fifth floor of an Omaha hospital at 12:35 a.m., last Thursday morning.

Mr. Nye worked in Wayne when he was a young man and resided here only a little more than a year, according to residents who were acquainted with him. He was single at the time.

Nye was admitted to the hospital January 26 for treatment of stomach ulcers. Hospital authorities said he was improving, but that Nye seemed to believe his ailment was of a more serious nature.

Ruth Wiltse, a student nurse, struggled with Nye but failed to prevent his leap.

Nye jumped about 75 feet, landing on a sun porch.

An autopsy was held Thursday and the body sent to Shenandoah.

Mr. Nye has been in the insurance business in Shenandoah 25 years, and had held the Southwestern Iowa tennis championship.

He is survived by his wife; parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. P. Nye; nine brothers and sisters, all of Shenandoah; daughter, Mary O. Omaha; son Frank, jr., Des Moines.

Frederickson Claimed By Death

Vernon Frederickson, 37, of Wakefield, died in a Sioux City hospital Feb. 16. He was ill only a few days before his death.

Mr. Frederickson was the son of Mr. and Mrs. John Frederickson of Wakefield. The other survivors are: three brothers, Roy, Alvin, and Ben Frederickson, all of Wakefield; three sisters, Ellen Frederickson and Mrs. Ed Sandahl, of Wakefield, and Mrs. John C. Bressler of Wayne.

Convention Will Launch Election Here

Citizens Party To Nominate Its Entries March 1

First faint rumblings of the spring school board and city election were heard in Wayne this week as a convention of the Citizens party was called for March 1. The convention is scheduled for 7:30 that night and will be held in the City hall, according to a notice issued by B. W. Wright, chairman, and R. W. Casper, secretary, and published elsewhere in this edition of The News.

Purpose of the convention is to nominate two candidates for the board of education and to transact other business which may regularly come before the convention. The terms of B. W. Wright and Edward Seymour expire in May and the convention will select nominees for their offices. School board members serve without pay and are elected by the district at large for three year terms.

Councilmen In Race

In addition to the school board election, three city councilmen will be chosen at the election April 4 to represent the first, second and third wards during the next two years.

The present councilmen, whose terms expire in May and all of whom will likely be candidates for re-election although they have not definitely announced, are Walter Miller, first ward; William Perdue, second ward and Elmer E. Galley, third ward.

Whether or not the People's party, which also nominated a slate at the last election, will again be active this year is unknown. If so, a convention must be called in the near future to nominate its candidates. If not, the Citizens party convention in the case of the school board and the caucuses of electors in the first, second and third wards will virtually decide the election.

Caucuses Called

Following the Citizens party's convention March 1, the electors of the First ward will meet in the City hall to nominate a candidate for councilman from that ward. A similar caucus for the second ward will be held at the Wayne Super Service Oil company, 421 Main street, and the third ward electors will select their Citizen's party entry at a meeting at Fred L. Blair's store, 300 Main street.

Other members of both the school board and the city council will continue to serve with the newly elected officials. It is possible that all members of both the board and the council, whose terms expire, will be chosen to retain their positions.

It is generally believed that two slates of candidates will be offered the voters again this year, although the Citizens party elected its nominees without opposition in several past elections.

Golfers Return From Jaunt To Links Of Texas

Will Coryell, Carl Wright and L. W. McNatt, prominent Wayne business men and winter golfers extraordinary, returned from their annual jaunt to the golf links of Texas Friday night ready for another year's work.

This year's golfing expedition to Galveston, Texas, was even more enjoyable than usual, the trio reported along with accounts of low scores and warm weather. They were enjoying the balmy gulf weather while their friends in Wayne struggled to keep warm with the temperature 14 below zero or battled to get the old bus through the heaviest snow of the winter. Their plans for deep sea fishing were abandoned, however, on advice of fishermen in that area.

The trip was marred by the illness and death of R. L. Larson's father in California. Mr. Larson spent only a few days with the other members of the party in Texas, when he received word of his father's illness and rushed to his bedside. He returned to Wayne several days ago, after attending the funeral services at Harlan, Iowa.

G. L. Rogers returned to his home Thursday from a local hospital.

Co-operation's Dividends

Appointment of Dr. Walter Bentback, chairman of the Wayne school board, to replace John F. Rohn, was one of those happy selections which will benefit the state, the normal board, Nebraska's teachers colleges and the city of Wayne.

That Wayne's civic and educational leaders fully appreciate the honor which Governor Cochran conferred indirectly on this city through his selection was amply demonstrated through "Today's Topic" column of The News last week. They know Dr. Bentback is well qualified for the position; they are familiar with what he has accomplished in the Wayne school system and they feel safe with leaders of his type guiding Nebraska's educational institutions.

As the home of the leading Nebraska teachers college, Wayne naturally is far more interested in normal institutions than the average Nebraska city. On the other hand, there are those who argue that cities with state schools should not be represented on the board for fear they will work only for their local institution and funds will be wasted through trades among the members. Obviously there is reason to such contention, but the selection of such men as Dr. Bentback is an adequate answer and guarantee against such a danger.

While some Wayne leaders may criticize adversely part of the policies of Governor Cochran, the entire citizenship owes him a vote of thanks for his action in this case.

There is still another angle to the appointment which deserves recognition and that is the important role which co-operation among Wayne's leaders played. Two other prominent Wayne citizens, either of whom would have been a credit to the board, were mentioned as possible appointees, supported by their many friends and reputedly seriously considered for the post by Governor Cochran.

If either or both of them had attempted to win the place, the appointment probably would have gone elsewhere since it is only natural that if a city cannot agree on its most qualified man, the fruit will be passed to some other city, where no opposition is encountered. But Wayne's civic leader can and did co-operate. The other two stepped out of the picture and sacrificed the honor that goes with such an appointment for the best interests of Wayne. They realized Dr. Bentback's qualifications and they placed their city's interests first.

It is such actions as these that build communities. We cannot agree on all questions and our government must naturally be based on compromise but when you find civic leaders co-operating, you find a city which is progressing. Wayne has its internal strife like other cities, but if, when an important issue arises, these differences are forgotten and a united front is presented, this city will continue to progress.

Secretary Needed

A Chamber of Commerce secretary, or, call the office what you will, a man who makes virtually a full time job of stimulating the city's progress, is needed in Wayne.

Many contend that employing a capable man for such a position and supplying him with sufficient funds so that he may finance beneficial projects would be too costly. But we believe Dr. J. T. Anderson, college president, offered the solution to the financial problem when he suggested recently that such a man be employed, who would also serve as a publicity executive for the college. In that case, some arrangement might be worked out through which the college would pay half of his salary. There is a solution that merits study and support.

The majority of civic leaders agree that there would be ample work for such a man here. He could co-operate with the fair board in making Wayne's fair a far more important annual event. He could work with local merchants in arranging special Dollar Days and other trade events which would make Wayne an even more important shopping center. He could serve as the clearing house for a variety of community events and supply requested data to industries seeking a new site. He could encourage closer relationship with the farmers and stockmen in this area, whose business is the life blood of Wayne.

As publicity man for the college, he would also be serving to spread the name of Wayne, as the home of the State Teachers college throughout this section of the country. The college has progressed far without such a representative but it would make even more important strides with such help.

It would not be necessary to organize a Chamber of Commerce to employ such a man. It probably would not be advisable to do so, but the Wayne Men's club or some similar community minded organization could expand its work and service to the community by sponsoring such a department. It's worth serious consideration as a step toward progress by Wayne.

Worth Remembering

While being questioned by the senate judiciary committee, which later approved his nomination to the United States supreme court by unanimous vote, Felix Frankfurter made a statement which is well worth repeating. It summarizes the fundamentals of American democracy and should be remembered as various issues arise as a test which they must pass before being adopted.

His statement follows: "It doesn't matter whether the constitution is invoked for ends I like or ends I don't like, so long as those who invoke it keep within the framework of the constitution. There must be freedom of speech, freedom of the press, freedom of assembly and freedom to worship as your conscience dictates. Civil liberties mean liberties for those we like and those we don't like or even detest."

Those who for political reasons have viewed with alarm each progressive step taken by the Roosevelt administration as a threat to our civil liberties could remember these words with profit. To be constantly on the alert to safeguard the liberties and privileges of democracy is entirely different from striving to block progress and reforms which would give the working man and the farmer a more fair share of the country's wealth.

Anyway, Nebraska's weather never has a dull moment. One day you nearly freeze and the next day you hail the arrival of spring. It's tough on business men striving to decide whether to advertise winter or spring merchandise, but there's no monotony.

What Editors Say--

A Needed Probe

The Dies committee is understood to be getting ready to plunge into an investigation of propaganda being fostered on the people of America. Such a probe should be speeded along and the activities of propagandists brought to light.

The probe, it is indicated, will deal with propaganda activities of government officials as well as by foreign governments. If any U. S. officials are devoting their time to propaganda activities they should be exposed as well as the agents of foreign governments.

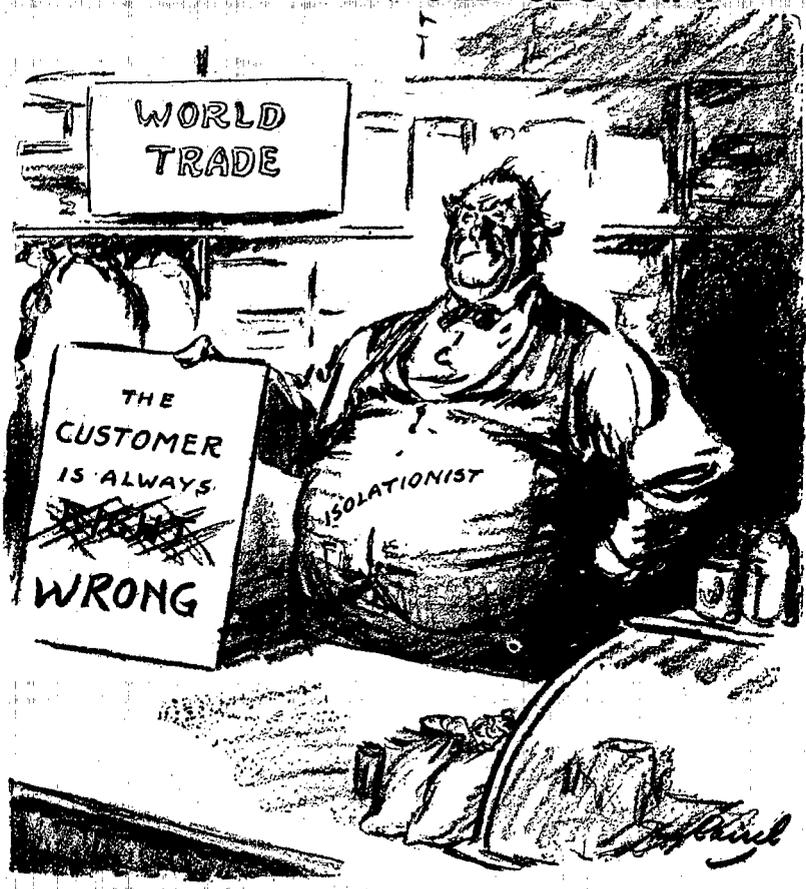

It is rather amusing the way the New Deal belabors the free press of America when it has so many press agents on its payroll.

Now is the time to spike any propaganda, from whatever source, designated to involve the United States in war. During the World War and before America's entry into the conflict, propagandists found this nation a fertile field. It is not too much to believe that agents of foreign governments are now busy trying to enlist public opinion on their respective sides. A probe to uncover their activities will be a genuine service to the people of the United States.—Scranton Tribune

War Not Inevitable

Dr. Eduard Benes, until recently president of Czechoslovakia, is now in the United States where he will give a series of university lectures. The former president, who now regards himself as a private citizen and refuses to take on the role of an active politician, has little to say about the events of last fall which deprived him of his office and stripped his country of much of its former power.

Perhaps the most important statement Dr. Benes made in the interview granted upon his arrival was that he does not consider war in Europe as inevitable and that he thinks the democracies, strongly aligned, could avert war. In spite of losing Sudetenland to Germany, the doctor believes Czechoslovakia can consolidate itself "politically, culturally and educationally".

The future of Czechoslovakia is not as important, from the standpoint of the world in general, as the preservation of peace. That accounts for the fate of the Czechs and has a bearing on the future. The hope which Dr. Benes holds out for the preservation of peace is all important.

Sometimes there is an inclination to feel that the situation is hopeless; that the democracies will eventually run out of sacrifices to make in the interest of peace. The view of Dr. Benes is particularly comforting in view of the troubles his country has so recently experienced and gives new hope to all who hear his words.—Lincoln Journal

Taxing Public Officials

The bitter opposition that has developed in congress to the proposal of President Roosevelt to tax the incomes of both federal and state officials and employees was to have been expected, and the members of both houses may be depended upon to find many excuses to justify their positions. The one most relied upon is the contention that to impose such tax would require a constitutional amendment rather than a mere act of congress.

This excuse should not, however, deter members from voting for the measure, for the ruling that such tax would be invalid was made by a court, and even the supreme tribunal of the United States has been known to reverse itself. If an amendment should be proposed, there seems little doubt that it would be quickly ratified by all of the states.

There are so many reasons why such incomes should be taxed and so few valid ones to the contrary, that voters should require little argument to assist them in settling the matter. Officials as a rule enjoy good salaries and have little expense; nothing for office rent, stationery, telephone rent or other sundries, so there seems to be no good reason why they should not pay their share of the expense of supporting the governments which support them.—Lincoln Star

The Nation's Leading Letter by J. E. Jones, Washington, D. C.

IT'S ALWAYS LIKE THIS

History is repeating. Big rows are historic at the beginning of the last two years of the second term of an American President. In the present instance last fall's elections changed the political complexion of congress and produced a direct challenge to the policies of President Roosevelt.

The President in turn made the usual demands upon congress at the beginning of the session and in order to maintain his position he made partisan appointments—that is appointments of two men to the cabinet, and an Interstate Commerce Commissioner upon whom he could depend to go to bat for him in much the same way that Secretary Ickes and the Department of Justice heads have done in the past.

President Roosevelt's message to congress asking for restoration of the additional $150,000,000, deleted from the relief bill, was rather scornfully received, with such remarks as "you told us that before". The defeat of the nomination of Judge Roberts is rather historical because it is described as the most devastating defeat of a Presidential appointment on record. The senators realized that the President was handing them a new precedent and that if they approved it the "Senatorial courtesy", which is in effect a method by which the senate participates with the President in making an appointment, would be wiped out. The senate merely upheld its own position in voting 72 to 9 to reject the appointment of Judge Roberts.

In short, there is an open break between the White House and congress. It will continue. All we know, at this early date, is that the Country is witnessing the opening act that will likely effect the future history of the country.

More and More Women

Woman's place in national politics, journalism, and government service is producing a new force in our national life. In Washington there are women on the federal bench, in top positions in the police department, and in many of the highest executive positions of the government. There are women in congress. This advancement to the places of "equality" has been going on for a number of years. Women have won their spurs and have made good!

Therefore their influence is bound to spread and their power increase. So, make your bow to a new order—and don't make faces, either. Women are gradually playing a more and more important part in the affairs of our country.

Now It's Life Insurance

The commendable features of exchange of patents in the automobile industry, and the question of the doctor's trust, have been considered by investigators in committees of Congress. Now it turns to life insurance funds and their use. In the figures this week it appears that 60 per cent of all life insurance written in the world is held by policy holders in the United States.

Looking Back To Get Ahead "Go west, young man, go west!" was the advice of Horace Greeley many years ago. The great editor was looking ahead. "Be prepared!" is the motto of the Boy Scouts of America. The founders of this splendid organization were looking ahead.

"The world isn't finished!" is just one of the many pithy expressions of Charles F. Kettering, head of research for General Motors. This scientist looks ahead.

So should we all constantly have our gaze fixed ahead. However, Patrick Henry once said: "I have but one lamp by which my feet are guided, and that is the lamp of experience. I know of no way of judging of the future but by the past."

Just as introspection is good for the soul, so does retrospective help in gaining a better appreciation of the present, a better approach to the future.

Take the automobile for instance. Go back 30 years to 1909, when production of cars went above 100,000 for the first time. According to a General Motors employe magazine, "many of us have not been around long enough to remember what the automobile industry was like 30 years ago. The 1909 models, compared with today's cars, were just horseless buggies.

"Those were the days of the automobile's infancy—and of our infancy. Many people still regard the automobile as an expensive toy, and on city streets as well as on country roads cars of all kinds were far outnumbered by horse-drawn vehicles. Motor- ing was regarded as a sport that would never appear to very many people.

"Of course, people in those days had no way of foreseeing the many technical developments that would enable millions—instead of thousands—to own and operate cars. Even for us, looking back, it is hard to realize how far we have come.

"Up to 1909 fewer than a quarter of a million automobiles were produced. Since 1909 hundreds of thousands of American workmen have had a hand in producing more than 70,000,000 cars and trucks. About 6,000,000 new jobs in service stations, garages, dealers' salesrooms, highway transportation, and refineries—as well as those in automobile plants—are one important result of the industry's growth. Because of ever better values in automobiles, most of these new jobs have been created since 1909."

Yes, it's good to look back occasionally just to satisfy ourselves that we don't want to go back, as did Lot's wife. But to make up happier about the present and to strengthen our hope for and faith in the future.

Farm Price-Fixing

The opposition to a new farm bill that provides processing taxes on agricultural products comes from senators from agricultural and cotton states. Among them are Norris of Nebraska, Gillette of Iowa, Ellender of Louisiana, and Innes of Illinois. A few days ago Louis B. Ward of Detroit, asked congress to fix the minimum prices on 50 agricultural products, and the objections came from supporters of Secretary Wallace.

Indications are that the agricultural states have lost considerable faith in the ability of the government to manipulate production, consumption and pricing by the usual methods. There is further evidence of a determination by congress to restrict any farm benefit payments, somewhere between $1,000 and $5,000 annually.

Monopoly Issues Lose Interest

A few weeks ago the question of "monopolies" seemed to be the biggest thing before congress. The Administration had stimulated the issue and secured a dual-committee made up of Administration and congressional members. It was thoroughly under the control of the Administration. As complications began to set in, in January, efforts were made to shift all monopoly complaints to the Department of Justice where there already exists a Bureau equipped with teeth-and-claws. In the meantime the Administration is favoring a measure for the Federal licensing of all corporations.

Slowing down the monopoly investigation is strategy on the part of the Administration to strengthen its own position by building up the machinery at hand.

Omaha Social Security Office Has Huge Job

Looking after the old-age insurance problems and questions of more than 135,000 employees and many thousands of employes in Nebraska and Iowa is the job of the Social Security board office in Omaha.

This job is done by a staff of six federal civil service employes, under the direction of E. H. Dunaway, manager of the office.

The Omaha office district covers 26,255 square miles in which 135,643 wage-earners reside who are partially or fully covered by old-age insurance. Opened on November 6, 1936, the office is the old-age insurance headquarters for 24 counties in Nebraska and 7 counties in Iowa.

During 1938, the office forwarded 802 old-age insurance claims to Washington for adjudication. These claims are for single cash benefits to commercial and industrial workers who have reached age 65 or to the families or estates of deceased workers. The amount of the benefit equals 3 1/2 percent of the wages earned by the employe between January 1, 1937, and his 65th birthday or death.

In addition, the office issued 30,451 social security numbers to wage-earners in 1938. Social security numbers are required of all workers who are employed in commercial or industrial work either on a permanent or temporary basis or on full-time or part-time.

Nebraska counties served by the office are Antelope, Boone, Boyd, Brown, Burt, Cedar, Cherry, Colfax, Cuming, Dodge, Douglas, Garfield, Holt, Keyapaha, Knox, Madison, Pierce, Platte, Rock, Sarpy, Stanton, Washington, Wayne and Wheeler.

Legion Auxiliary Has Variety Of Projects

Community, Veterans And Families Aided

(Editor's Note: Following is the third of a series of stories reviewing the activities and plans of leading Wayne organizations together with their officers and members. This article deals with the Legion Auxiliary.)

Active in a wide variety of projects, the Wayne unit of the Legion Auxiliary has served this community well. In addition to assisting the Legion in many of its major activities, the Auxiliary has taken an active part in the welfare program in Wayne as well as helped disabled veterans, their widows and families. It also contributes its share to the Girl Scouts, Boy Scouts, crippled children and child welfare work conducted by the state organization.

Activities Listed
The unit's list of accomplishments is an impressive one. It aids the Legion by assisting in the observance of Arbor Day and on Memorial Day provides cut flowers and poppy wreaths for all veterans' graves. Volunteers of the organization sell crepe paper poppies made by disabled veterans in hospitals, always buying more poppies than they sell and thereby contributing more to the veterans' fund. Assisted by the local Legion post, the Auxiliary provides Thanksgiving baskets for all needy veterans' families and contributes toward Christmas baskets. Disabled veteran nurses, who are provided for in hospitals, are remembered at Easter with gifts and the Auxiliary contributes funds for veterans confined to hospitals through sponsoring Bingo parties as well as makes on call such hospital supplies as bathrobes, pillows and sewing kits. At Christmas these veterans receive handkerchiefs and Tarla-

Little Theatre Plays Planned

First Of Series To Be Given Here Soon After Easter

First of a series of plays, planned by the recently organized Little Theatre group in Wayne, will be given soon after Easter under the auspices of the Women's club of Wayne.

Additional plays will be given at various times under the sponsorship of other organizations in Wayne and annually the Little Theatre group will select some play for presentation. The plays will be staged at the City auditorium.

Dr. L. F. Perry is president of the new organization which was formally organized at a meeting Feb. 13 at the auditorium. Rev. W. F. Dierking is secretary-treasurer and the board of directors includes Mrs. Hobart Auker, Miss Harriette Hazinski, Mrs. Clarence Wright, Miss Beatrice Fuller and Henry Ley.

Arrangements for another general meeting to be held on Feb. 28 were to be made at a meeting of the board Monday night at Dr. Perry's home.

Local Teacher's Article Published

Miss Mildred I. Clark, teacher of mathematics at the Wayne high school, has an interesting article in the February issue of "The Mathematics Teacher", published by the National Council of Teachers of Mathematics.

Miss Clark's article deals with the effect of remedial work in reading comprehensive upon algebraic achievement, based upon a study of a group of ninth grade pupils. The procedure of obtaining the data for this study is explained in detail.

Party Held By Faculty Club

Dr. and Mrs. W. Benthack were guests at the faculty club party held at Terrace Hall, Tuesday evening, February 14. The evening was spent playing games.

The entertainment committee consisted of J. R. Keith, chairman Mrs. Keith, Mr. and Mrs. Bowen, Miss Jessie Boyce, Miss Esther Dewitz, Mr. and Mrs. Shriner and Miss Kathleen Staines.

Mrs. Mary Murray of Sioux City is visiting at the Joe Corbit home.

tan Men, filled with mints, gum and cigarettes, from the Wayne Auxiliary.

Prizes Won
The local unit has won more than its share of honors in both poppy poster and history book contests, winning both state and national prizes in the former and capturing the district honors in the latter twice and the state honors, once.

Much credit for the success of the Wayne unit's program is due its officers under the efficient leadership of its president, Mrs. A. L. Jacobsen. Other officers, who share in the credit for the unit's activities, are Mrs. John Brugger, vice-president, Mrs. K. N. Parke, secretary, Mrs. C. E. Nicholaisen, treasurer, Mrs. Frank Gries, chaplain, Mrs. E. E. Gailey, historian, and Mrs. Frank Heine, sergeant at arms.

Members of the executive committee, who help guide the work of the auxiliary, are Mrs. E. W. Huse, Mrs. W. S. Bressler and Mrs. A. L. Swan.

Members Listed
The membership list, which is growing almost daily so that this list is incomplete at the present time since the total will include 60 or more when all have been signed, follows:
Mesdames John Ahern, C. A. Ash, Fred Berry, John Brisben, Walter S. Bressler, A. G. Carlson, C. E. Carhart, Matilda Chittick, Dora Conger, Floyd Conger, P. C. Conner, Fred Dale, J. N. Einung, E. E. Rites Held For Mrs. Fischer

Wife Of West Point Pastor Taken By Death

Funeral services for Mrs. William Fischer, who died early Tuesday morning at her home in Wayne, were held Friday afternoon at the home and the Theophilus church. Beckenhauer's was in charge and burial was in the Theophilus cemetery.

Mrs. Fischer had been in critical condition since Christmas after apparently completely recovering from an operation on Feb. 13, 1938. She was 63 years, 1 month and 9 days old at the time of her death.

Rev. A. Hoferer, Theophilus church pastor, delivered the sermon in English and Rev. J. H. Steger of Columbus, the German.

Mrs. Fischer, Hedwig Eller, was born in West Prussia, Germany, on Jan. 5, 1876, where she was baptized and confirmed in the Evangelical Lutheran faith. She came to this country with her sister in 1893 and located at St. Louis. On Nov. 6, 1895, she was married at Hudson, Kans., to Rev. William Fischer, who had completed his seminary work at St. Louis.

Rev. Fischer's first congregation was at Ashton, Neb., where he served from 1895 until April, 1896. He went to Jansen, Neb., to serve a church in 1896, and all the children of the family were born there. Rev. Fischer left Jansen in 1914 when he was called to Wayne to serve Theophilus and Salem churches. In December, 1928, they moved to Wayne. Rev. Fischer was minister for Theophilus congregation until 1929 and then served a West Point church until 1935, driving to that place every other week. Mrs. Fischer always took an interest in Rev. Fischer's ministry.

Besides her husband, Rev. Wm. Fischer, Mrs. Fischer leaves five children, Hugo Fischer of Winside, Miss Hattie Fischer of Oak Park, Ill., Wm. Fischer of Seward, Kan., Martha, now Mrs. Art Brune of Orange City, Ia., and Baldwin Fischer of Sedro Woolley, Wash. One daughter, Talitha, died in 1925 and is buried at Theophilus cemetery. There are four grandchildren.

Mrs. Fischer leaves two sisters, Mrs. Minnie Schachtschneider of Snohomish, Wash., and Mrs. Anything you don't need is in the way. Clean out your attic, cellar or storeroom for cash by using Wayne's Market Place, News Want Ads.

Mary Fischer of Seward, Kan., and one brother, Rev. Carl Eller of Blue Springs, Mo., in this country. There are also two brothers and one sister in Germany. They are Erich Eller, Arnold Eller and Mrs. Emma Prodehl. Deceased is also survived by one son-in-law, Art Brune of Orange City, Iowa, and two daughters-in-law, Mrs. Hugo Fischer of Winside, and Mrs. Wm. Fischer of Seward, Kan.

Pallbearers were L. G. Koch, Fred Heier, sr., Herman F. Vahlkamp, Fred Vahlkamp, Dan Baier and Henry Frevert.

Schools Seek Tree Planting

Demonstrations Slated; Rural School Highlights

The forest service is providing two demonstrations for each of several northeast Nebraska counties. Two rural school districts of Wayne county will be chosen by the service for demonstration plantings of trees for windbreak and beautifying purposes. The project is being sponsored by the Women's clubs.

Those making applications to F. B. Decker, county superintendent of schools, for these plantings are: District 3, three and a half miles south and one and a half west of Hoskins; 6, one mile north and five east of Wayne; 21, five miles west and one south of Winside; 68, seven miles north and five west of Wayne; 66, seven north and one west of Wayne; 82, 17 west and one north of Wayne; 15, four north and one west of Wayne.

Ten books containing historical sketches of all 93 counties of Nebraska will be awarded to the winners of the essay contest for school pupils in Wayne county. A certificate also will be awarded to the winner of first place. Judges will make the awards by March 15.

The essays on "Why Wayne County Is the Best County in Nebraska" are not to exceed 100 words. They should reach the office of F. B. Decker, County superintendent of schools, by March 1.

The Nebraska Blue Book for 1938 is now in the county superintendent's office. It contains valuable information about Nebraska government. Also available for examination at the office are copies of bills proposed at the legislature.

"An Unsung Hero of Early Day Religious Experience in Nebraska" is the subject of the 1939 literary contest announced by the Native Sons and Daughters of Nebraska. All manuscripts must be typewritten on one side of the paper only and are not to exceed 4,000 words in length. No manuscript will be re-

The contestant's name and address must be written on a separate sheet of paper and attached to the manuscript. Prizes of $25 $15 and $10 will be awarded on the basis of general interest, accuracy and literary quality.

Girl Scouts Will Sponsor Penny March

A sum to be given toward the fund for a memorial for Juliet Lowe, will be raised by a "penny march" to be held by the girl scouts of Wayne, March 12, according to plans discussed by the troop last Tuesday evening at their meeting in Dr. R. W. Casper's office. At this meeting Mrs. Casper was re-elected chairman; Mrs. L. B. McClure vice chairman; and Dr. Casper, treasurer. Mrs. J. M. Strahan was chosen secretary. G. A. Renard is chairman of camp site; R. C. Hallbeck of camping; Mrs. G. W. Costersan, badges and awards; and Mrs. F. W. Nyberg, publicity.

The girl scout cabin will be moved soon to the new city park in the east part of town. The college troop will present a play in March for the drama award, and both troops are working on sewing projects.

Mrs. R. J. Kingston, arrived home Friday from Santa Monica, California, where she had been visiting for the past few months with her daughter, Miss Peaca Kingston.

Young women of the United States who meet together monthly for the preparation of aids for the development of the spiritual life prepared the program to be used. The theme for 1939 is: "Let us put our love into deeds—and make it real". Women of all nations will meet in groups, not to use unkind words or threaten military or economic reprisals, but to study, work and pray for better understanding among people of all races and nations.

Dr. Griffin To Teach At Harvard

Dr. H. D. Griffin of the Wayne college faculty, will speak on "Current Trends in Educational Prognosis" during the week of July 9, at the alumni institute at Harvard University. Dr. Griffin will be a member of the teaching staff of Harvard University, next summer. He will teach a course in educational measurement and experimentation.
Mr. and Mrs. Everett Rhoades and daughter, Elaine, left Thursday for California to visit their son, Orvan Rhoades and his wife.

'Scattered Hairs' Mystery Finally Solved

The mystery is solved. Those scattered hairs, which the college boys are nursing tenderly on their faces, are not the result of a careless shave with a dull razor on a cold morning. In fact, their presence is due to no accident.

Quite the contrary. They are being carefully encouraged in the hope that by March 12, when the Katz club stages its big Hobo frolic, they will be full grown beards. Some are blaming the recent cold weather and snow for stunting their growth and are looking forward to help from the warm sun, which nurses the crops of the field. Others are resorting to the use of numerous ingredients reputed to be helpful in growing beards. It's getting so it's even difficult to be a hobo these days, but a college education may help there, too.

Fraternity To Present Play Next Friday

The Masque of Kings, which the Alpha Psi Omega, dramatic fraternity of the college, will present Friday, February 24, is based on a tragic event in Austrian history—an event which occurred fifty years ago this month.

Maxwell Anderson, author of "High Tor", "Mary of Scotland", "Both Your Houses", as well as of "Masque of Kings", uses his dramatic imagination in the plot and in the strong love scenes between the Crown Prince of Austria and Mary Vetsera and in the clashes between Rudolph and the emperor.
One New York critic wrote of it, "A play touched with rare beauty, high excitement. Nobly, now and then gloriously, composed. Here is eloquence carried to the nth degree."
Anderson contributes the story of Rudolph's attempt to seize the government from his father, the emperor, and to establish a more just and human regime.
The play, first produced in New York by the Theater Guild, was one of the outstanding successes of 1936-37.

Mrs. Brisben Critically Ill

Mrs. J. M. Brisben, of Wayne, is still in a critical condition at a Norfolk hospital. She was moved to Norfolk Feb. 12, after she became seriously ill with pneumonia and other complications. Mrs. Brisben was accompanied to the hospital by Willard Wiltse and a trained nurse. She may undergo an operation later.

Dr. Benthack Is Questioned

Usual Session Prior To Confirmation Is Held

Dr. Walter Benthack of Wayne, who was appointed to the state normal board for a six year term by Governor R. L. Cochran, met with the legislative committee at Lincoln Monday afternoon for the usual question session prior to confirmation. It was expected that his appointment would be confirmed today (Tuesday).

Dr. Benthack will replace John F. Rohn of Fremont, whose term expired, assuming the duties of his new office immediately after confirmation. He is expected to retain his position as chairman of the Wayne board of education, where he has been of great service to the local school.

Appointment of Dr. Benthack was hailed in Wayne as deserved recognition for his excellent work in the interest of education here, which presents ample proof of his qualifications for the office.

The board guides the state normal schools including the Wayne State Teachers college. Prior to Dr. Benthack's appointment, Wayne had not been represented on the board for several years. Fred Berry, prominent local attorney, served on the same board for several years. The appointment carries no salary and demands considerable work.

Sports Slants

Wayne basketball fans are being treated to some of the best exhibitions of their favorite sport to be seen in Nebraska this season.

Coach Jim Morrison has his Wildcats battling for a share of the conference title. Fans who witnessed the two upset victories over Chadron saw a team that was greatly improved and one which appears capable of giving Peru a mighty tough tussle when the conference leaders invade the local court next Thursday night.

But first, the Wayne Teachers must defeat Midland college here in a game Tuesday night and will close the busy week's schedule against Hastings on Feb. 25.

Coach Morrison deserves a good hearty slap on the back for the manner in which he has built what appeared early in the season to be only an average team into a real championship contender, credit which, of course, is shared with the team.

But Wayne has more than one good team. It has a high school quintet that can furnish its share of thrills and good basketball. They demonstrated both in one of the best high school tilts witnessed here last Tuesday night, when they defeated the Winnebago Indians in an extra period, 27 to 25.

The Indians have a fast team, which has lost few games this season, and kept the local boys battling every minute of the game.

The Wayne Creamery team, which marched away with the Town Team tournament title in such convincing fashion that there could be no disputing their right to the honor, will likely be entered in some other tournaments.

If so, it will take a strong team to eliminate them and they are very likely to return with additional honors.

The Town Team tourney offered every variety of basketball, some good and some bad, but it was not a financial success from the standpoint of the sponsors, the local post of the Legion. It did serve, however, to stimulate interest in Town Team basketball.

Plans are already being made for next year's tourney, which will likely be a six day event. Four games an evening supply a bit too much basketball for even the most enthusiastic fan and delays the final tilt of the evening until after midnight, so the new arrangement will be a break for both fans and players.

Judgment In Mortgage Affirmed

A Wayne county district court judgment foreclosing a Prudential Life Insurance company mortgage for $7,200, executed by Carrie P. Parson, was affirmed by the supreme court, last week. The lower court said Miss Parson probably knew what she was doing when she signed but did not know or care about the amounts.

Wildcats To Meet Peru, Midland

Championship Hopes At Stake Thursday Night

Following a week of rest after two upset victories over Chadron, the Wayne State Teachers college cagers will swing into action again Tuesday night when they play Midland college here.

Two nights later, on Feb. 23, the Wildcats face their big battle of the season against the league leading Peru Teachers. A victory in this game would give Wayne an excellent chance for at least a share of the championship honors. A record crowd is expected at the College gym for this tilt.

Wayne's chances for a victory over Peru appeared to be greatly increased by two defeats suffered by the league leaders during the past week, while the Wildcats retained their firm hold on second place.

Coming along rapidly during the past few weeks, Coach Jim Morrison's Wildcats may upset the old dope bucket again and whip the powerful Peru cagers, who appear at present to be the class of the league.

On Feb. 25, the Wildcats face Hastings college and then travel to Peru for a return game on March 3, a battle which may decide the championship.

Wayne High Beats Fast Indian Team

Thrills Aplenty For Fans As Game Goes Extra Period

Wayne high school defeated the strong Winnebago Indian quintet last Tuesday night at the City auditorium in a game which was not decided until an extra period was played.

A fast battle from the opening whistle until the tie which ended the second half was finally broken in an extra period with two free throws, it offered the spectators plenty of thrills. Fitch and Seymour tossed in the free throws which won for the local quintet, 27 to 25.

Starting the game in their usual fast style, the Indians were leading at the half, 12 to 9, a margin which they increased early in the third quarter only to be later overtaken and defeated by a fighting Wayne team.

Wayne's second team also defeated the Indians' second squad in another close game. Wayne took a substantial lead early in this game which nearly disappeared as the Indians began hitting the basket.

Between halves Lightfoot Blackfish, a 9-year-old Indian from Winnebago, gave three tribal dances.

Mr. and Mrs. J. S. Horney plan to return to Wayne Friday from Seattle, Wash., where they have been visiting at the home of their daughter, Mrs. A. L. Monkin. They visited Mr. Horney's brother, Otis Horney at San Francisco on their way home.

Joe Lutgen leaves this week for Grand Island.

Wayne Creamery Cagers Win Title

Wisner Beaten By Wide Margin In Tourney Finals

Winning both the semi-final and final tilts by decisive margins, the Wayne Creamery cagers captured the championship of the Legion's second annual Town Team tournament Thursday night.

Wayne's lone entry in the event, which opened last week only to have the final evening's games postponed due to a severe storm and blocked highways, demonstrated clearly that it was entitled to the tourney honors by defeating West Point and Wisner.

Wisner won its way into the finals by beating Pender, 37 to 27 after Wayne had eliminated West Point, 52 to 30. West Point captured the third game of the evening between the two losing teams, 43 to 34, and the Wayne Creamery quintet crushed Wisner with the same ease it defeated all tourney opposition by the score of 57 to 26.

Only a small crowd witnessed the final games of the tournament as many believed the games had been postponed again due to the heavy snow.

Score of the championship game and the game between the two defeated semi-finalists follow with the tourney's title contest listed first:

Wayne Prep Wins Cage Tourney

Local Team Defeats Others By Wide Margins

Wayne Prep's speedy cagers crushed all opposition in the basketball tournament at Carroll last Friday and Saturday to win the championship easily.

The Wayne team had little difficulty in defeating their opponents even in the finals, which they won from Winside Saturday night, 47 to 29, or in the semi-finals earlier the same day, when they eliminated Coleridge, 44 to 29.

Wayne opened its tournament play by swamping Randolph by the one-sided score of 40 to 5, Friday night. Laurel was the second victim of the champions, who took this game the same evening, 46 to 27.

Teams, competing in the tourney in addition to Wayne Prep, include Sholes, Belden, Carroll, Magnet, McLean, Coleridge, Laurel, Randolph and Winside.

The large trophy, donated to the tournament champs by Carroll high, was presented to Wayne Prep by M. C. Bloss of Wayne. All tourney games were played in the Carroll Commerce hall.

Tourney Drawings Scheduled

Pender Will Substitute For Walthill Here

Tournament drawings for the Class B basketball event at which Wayne high will be host, will be made and pairings and brackets arranged Wednesday afternoon at the high school building here. The tourney will open either March 1 or 2 and close with the championship battle on March 4.

Only one change in the list of teams originally scheduled to compete here has been made during the past week. Pender will substitute here for the Walthill team, which has been transferred to the West Point meet.

Other teams slated to compete at Wayne are Allen, Coleridge, Decatur, Emerson, Hartington, Holy Trinity, Homer, Laurel, Newcastle, Ponca, Randolph, Wakefield, Wayne Prep, Winnebago and Winside.

Several strong teams are included among the entries and one of the best Class B tournaments in the state is assured. In fact, the Wayne tournament is one of only two with a full 16 teams entered. This will be the third time Wayne high has been host.

Interest Greater
That interest in the event here is greater than in most towns is demonstrated by the fact that two years ago, the Wayne tourney led in gate receipts and last year, despite much unfavorable weather, it ranked third in the state.

In addition to the usual first prize, Wayne high is offering a second prize award in the local tournament. E. W. Smith, superintendent of schools, is tournament director and Gayle B. Childs, principal of the high school, is assistant.

All games will be played in the City auditorium.

Mrs. R. J. Kingsley and daughter, Barbara Kay, joined Mr. Kingsley in Wayne Monday, Feb. 14, coming here from Wellington, Kans., where they spent the past few weeks with relatives after leaving Shawnee, Okla. They are residing at 303 East Third street.

Miss Ruth Ringland returned to Denver, Colorado, Sunday.

260-300—$7.75 to $7.85.
300-340—$7.50 to $7.65.
Sheep—6500.

F. Lambs—25 lower.
F. W. Lambs—$8.50.
Weather Report: Omaha and Vicinity: Fair. Continued cold. Cloudy Tuesday.

Wayne High Faces Tough Tourney Slate

No 'Breathers' On Schedule For Class A Event

Wayne high will have no 'breathers' on its schedule in the Class A tournament at Norfolk, a report on the drawings made there Saturday reveals.

It will open its tourney campaign against Fullerton at 3 o'clock Thursday afternoon, March 2. The winner of this battle will meet the team which wins the Albion-Bloomfield contest an hour earlier.

The tourney will open with Ainsworth and Neligh clashing at 12 o'clock and Wisner and Madison will meet in their opponents an hour later. The winners of these two contests will mix at 6 o'clock Friday afternoon and will meet the Wayne-Fullerton and the Albion-Bloomfield clash winner. Semi-finals in this bracket will be at 2 o'clock Saturday afternoon.

Pierce and Sioux City will open play in the second bracket at 4 o'clock Thursday afternoon while Valentine and O'Neill will clash at 7 o'clock. The winner of these two contests will battle at 8 o'clock Friday night.

St. Edward and Newman Grove meet at 8 o'clock Thursday night and Plainview and Norfolk an hour later with the winners in each case clashing at 9 o'clock Friday night for the honor of meeting the champion of the other four teams in the same bracket at 3 o'clock Saturday afternoon.

The semi-final losers are slated to clash at 7 o'clock Saturday night and the championship battle will be an hour later.

Wayne High Beats Wakefield

Second Team Loses Contest By One Point

Wayne High's basketball team crushed the Wakefield cagers, 33 to 18, last Friday night.

The game was never in danger as Coach Morris' team had little difficulty getting the range to more than double the score. Berry led the scoring for Wayne with 11 points to his credit while Seymour accounted for nine and Granquist added eight.

Wayne's second team lost a close contest by a single point, 21 to 20, in a preliminary game, which furnished more thrills for Wakefield's fans than did first teams' contest.

The Cornhuskers of Wayne also dropped a close battle to Future Farmers of America team by two points. The score was tied at the end of the regular period and an extra period was required.

Wayne high meets Plainview there next Friday night and will compete against leading teams throughout this section of Nebraska the week following in the Class A tournament at Norfolk.

What Is City's Greatest Need Today?

Improvement project for the school, which we will have soon. We also need more co-operation in work for the benefit of the community.

Russell W. Bartels—"What Wayne needs most is a thoughtful analysis on the part of all its citizens of the factors which govern community prosperity and growth, and to rekindle the spirit of adventure and courage and the will to effectively shape the destiny of the community."

S. B. Whitmore—"This town needs a Real Estate Owners organization, membership to be restricted to owners of business or residential property. It should be a business organization, not a pink tea club. Its purpose would be to secure a better class of occupants for business property and reliable occupants for residential properties. A uniform scale of rentals could be planned according to location and value. Taxes could be checked, and the spending of tax money would become something of interest to all. Undesirable business, and undesirable residents could be kept out. After all Wayne is a better town, why not keep it that way?"

Miss Chichester Becomes Bride Of Leo Finn

Saint Mary's Parsonage was the scene of a pretty wedding Saturday morning, February 18, at 11 o'clock when Miss Wilma Chichester, daughter of Mrs. Bertha Chichester, of Wayne, became the bride of Leo Finn of Platte Center, Neb., son of Mr. and Mrs. Matt Finn of Wayne. Rev. Father W. Kearns performed the ceremony before immediate relatives and friends.

The bride wore a grey suit, blue blouse and blue hat, with black accessories. She carried a bouquet of red roses.

Miss Esther Chichester, sister to the bride was her attendant and wore a blue suit with copper color accessories. She carried a bouquet of red and white carnations.

Mr. John Brugger of Wayne, attended Mr. Finn.

Following the service a wedding dinner was served at the Hotel Stratton.

The young couple will reside at Platte Center where Mr. Finn is an instructor in the high school.

FEBRUARY COOKIES

Whether we're actually giving a party or not—we like to take some notice of our February birthdays by serving something festive and suggestive of the day. If we have any heart-shaped molds—we'll try to serve a red gelatin salad or a red gelatin fruit dessert in these molds on St. Valentine's Day. And on February 22, we'll no doubt serve a cherry dessert or a Washington Pie garnished with Maraschino cherries. One of the pleasantest ways to recognize any of these days is to have some cookies on hand, decorated especially for the occasion. They add a holiday touch to the simplest family supper when they are served with fruit sauce. The children will be thrilled to find them in their school lunch boxes. While, if you are having company, they will be perfect with ice cream or an elegant satiny Blanc Mange that's garnished with fruit. And it goes without saying that you'll be proud to offer them with tea or coffee when callers arrive in the afternoon or evening.

For such occasions I know of nothing better than the following Butter Cookies which can be made for either St. Valentine's Day or Washington's birthday. They are rich buttery cookies with a delightful eating quality.

Butter Cookies

- 1 cup butter
- 1/2 cup sugar
- 1 egg
- 1 cup lemon juice
- 3 cups all-purpose flour

- 1/2 tsp. baking powder
- Almond or Pecan halves
- Glazing

- 1 egg yolk
- 1 1/2 tbsp. water

Cream butter, add sugar gradually and cream thoroughly. Add well beaten egg and lemon juice. Sift flour once before measuring. Sift flour and baking powder together and add to creamed mixture, mixing well. Roll out on cloth-covered board (with flour rubbed into cloth to keep dough from sticking) to a thin sheet about 1/4 inch thick and cut with small cookie cutters into various shapes: hearts, diamonds, rounds with scalloped edges, etc. Press 1/2 almond or pecan into the top of each cookie. If a glaze on cookies is desired, beat egg yolk and add water. Brush this over the tops of the cookies. Bake 10 minutes in a moderate oven, 350° F. Amount: 9 dozen small cookies 1 1/4 inches in diameter.

Valentine Cookies

Cut cookies with heart-shaped cutter. Brush them lightly with a little egg white which has been whipped up to a foam. Then sprinkle with red sugar. Or cut cookies with round cutter and place a tiny red candy heart in the center of each cookie. Or cut dough with two heart-shaped cutters, one smaller than the other. Lay a smaller cookie heart on each of the larger ones and bake each pair as one cookie. When baked, ice the smaller heart with red icing.

Washington's Birthday Cookies

Decorate cookies with bunches of cherries or hatchets. Cut small round cherries from red candied cherries and place them on the cookies in groups of three, with little stems of green angelica or green citron and a leaf or two at the top of the cluster of three cherries. Little candy hatchets can be placed on some of the cookies. Or cookies can be cut with a hatchet-shaped cookie cutter.

Flower Cookies

Color dough pink or yellow as you mix it. Cut cookies with little scalloped cutters. This gives a petal effect, and bits of candied orange peel can be used for centers of yellow cookies or little rounds of yellow gum drops. Brush these flower-shaped cookies with egg white and sprinkle with pink or yellow sugar before baking. Flower and rosette shapes can also be made by forcing the dough through a pastry tube. Bits of candied cherry or angelica can be pressed into the centers. Or dough can be brushed with slightly beaten egg white and sprinkled with colored sugar.

With Mrs. Stratton

Mrs. E. O. Stratton entertained Cameo members Friday at a desert-bridge. Mrs. R. K. Kirkman won high score prize and Mrs. Willard Wiltse consolation. Mrs. L. W. Jamieson entertains in two weeks.

Mrs. Grant, Hostess

Mrs. Maurice Grant is entertaining this afternoon at six tables of bridge in honor of twenty-four Laurel women.

With Mrs. Zeplin

Mrs. Paul Zeplin entertained 500 members Friday afternoon. Mrs. Eve Thompson won high score prize, Mrs. Albert Bastian second and Mrs. Walter Phipps traveling prize. The hostess served. Mrs. P. G. Nelson entertains in two weeks.

Exchange Teacher Addresses AAUW

English Homes Being Prepared For Next War

Basements of homes in England are being reinforced with steel and other steel shelters built for protection against high explosives and gas, according to Miss Kathleen Staines, English exchange teacher at Wayne college, in her talk following the A. A. U. W. dinner at the Methodist church last Thursday evening. Possible evacuation by children and others who do not need to be in danger spots is also being studied.

Casterton, where Miss Staines teaches when in England, is in one of the danger areas, although it is removed from busier parts of the country. Dr. Mary Honey, of Wayne college, is instructing there this year. It presents a fascinating picture of green and gray,—grass on the lower levels and ferns on the higher; divided up, down and across with gray stone walls.

Miss Staines told members of the Wayne branch of the A. A. U. W. and guests that world conditions could be easily improved if people of all nations became better acquainted. Prejudices, through better understanding, might be erased.

Miss Marie Hove and Mrs. C. R. Chinn were chairmen of the program and the former introduced Miss Staines. On the hostess committee were Miss Beatrice Fuller, Mrs. W. W. Smith, Mrs. Clara Heynum, Miss Louise Kimmel, Mrs. H. D. Griffin and Miss Frances Davis.

Virginia Shelton, accompanied by Jean Laurence, sang. Tables were attractive with red tapers and placecard favors in Valentine motif.

AAA MEET SLATED

The Agricultural Adjustment Administration will have a meeting at Garfield Precinct Dist. 55, Tuesday evening at 8 o'clock. This meeting was originally scheduled for Feb. 16 but was postponed because of last week's storm.

Farmers Are Urged To Help

Herman Podoll, county chairman of the Agricultural Adjustment Administration said that all farmers wishing to comply with the 1939 farm program should be ready to work out their farm plans, with the reporters when they call at each farm. This would eliminate unnecessary delay and aid both the administration and the farmers.

Power Lines To Serve Pierce

Extension Of Wayne County's Project Planned

Wayne's power district may be extended into Pierce county, which has no individual rural electrification project and could be well served from this county's lines, according to Henry Moeding, superintendent of this district.

Much interest has been shown in Pierce county in the proposed extension and at a meeting held at Osmond on Feb. 8, arrangements were made for a survey of farmers in the northeastern section of that county to check on the number of customers who desire to be served. A good response has been encountered by survey workers, who organized at Osmond Monday night for Logan, Plum Grove, Thompson and South Dry precincts. The following night workers met at McLean and extended the survey to Eastern and Allen precincts.

If the power district is extended as now appears probable, Wayne will remain as headquarters for the project, Moeding said.

A. G. Sydow, president of the Wayne county district, Moeding, and Lyle Marotz, Ed Grubb, Lawrence Ring, Jack Swigard, and Albert Watson, all directors of the Wayne district, attended the general meeting at Osmond.

Mr. and Mrs. Russell Preston and Mr. and Mrs. Henry Preston were in Sioux City Tuesday visiting Mrs. Earl Preston and baby at the Methodist hospital.

HONOLULU

ADAPTED FROM THE METRO GOLDWYN MAYER PICTURE

SYNOPSIS—Brooks Mason, glamour boy of the screen, and George Smith, Hawaiian planter, look so much alike that they exchange places (at Brooks' urging) and George is mobbed by the actor's fans in New York while Brooks, on a liner bound for the States, is discovered at Hawaii, meets Dorothy March and Millie De Grasse, dancers, on ship board, and is immediately attracted to Dorothy. George, attempting to evade the fans in front of the Hawaiian Hospital in New York, is discovered and mobbed so that he returns again as a patient.

Chapter Five

PEACE IS WHERE YOU FIND IT

It was night on the promenade deck of the Honolulu-bound liner. The music of the ship's orchestra, playing a love song, came faintly to the ears of Brooks Mason masquerading as George Smith, the Hawaiian planter, and Dorothy March as they leaned over the rail.

"Tomorrow when we land," Brooks was saying with uncalculated enthusiasm, "I'll take you up to see my pineapples." Dorothy laughed, and he asked, "What's so funny about pineapples?"

"Excuse me," she said, still laughing lightly. "Pineapples — it's used to be etchings!"

But Brooks was intent upon making an impression. "It's a beautiful plantation. I've been told."

"Lots of... pineapples?" teased Dorothy.

"Pineapple bushes, pineapple trees, pineapple vines, pineapple —"

"Wherever you look there's pineapples!" interrupted Dorothy.

orchestra, despite its national fame and was amused by Millie's eccentric dance, and applauded the tributes of Jeanette MacDonald and Nelson Eddy given by two film players on board. He waited impatiently for Dorothy's part in the program. She had not told him what her specialty would be and he, shifted uneasily in his seat when the orchestra leader announced:

"Out of the mysterious East comes a potentate — a King who swings his way into the hearts of his people. The king of rhythm — Bill Robinson, the first gentleman of Harlem! Make way!"

And it was Dorothy doing her imitation of the famous colored dancer! He was amazed and delighted at her easy grace, the accuracy of her imitative steps, the fluidity of her movements, her mastery of the dancer's changing expressions.

It was a beautiful sunny morning when the liner came alongside the Honolulu pier. Crowds of natives and whites waved and shouted to friends and acquaintances on the ship; a native band was playing; beach boys and girls were singing lustily, decorated with the traditional leis. It was the Hawaiian welcome accorded to every incoming ship, but to Brooks and Dorothy and Millie, standing at the rail, it was strange and heart-warming. Native boys dove into the water to retrieve the pennies cast overboard by passengers.

"I'm out of pennies," said Brooks. "What do you think they'll do for this?" He selected a silver dollar from the change in his hand.

"I don't know what they'll do, but give it to me and I'll dive into a bowl of noodle soup!" said Millie.

"Is everything ready for landing, Millie?" asked Dorothy.

"Yes, everything, except I haven't packed the silver dollar."

"Come on then. We'd better hurry."

She turned to Brooks with a questioning, "Tonight?" he repeated softly.

"No," said Brooks softly, "wherever I look there's you! I didn't realize it, but I guess I've always wanted to meet a girl like you."

"That's funny — my mother told me that some day I'd meet a man like you."

Brooks was pleased. "And what did you say?"

"I said I'd be careful."

"Well, that's one for you! I'll have to admit it."

"Tell me," said Dorothy dreamily, "about Hawaii — the real Hawaii that you know so well. I just can't describe it. He hesitated a moment. "Is this your first trip to Hawaii?"

"Yes."

"It's the most beautiful place you ever saw," Brooks sighed in relief. He turned away from the rail, and there, staring him in the face was a large poster describing the island. Smiling ruefully, he gazed at the poster, his eyes gazed over the waters, listening enraptured. "Sunny days — romantic nights," read Brooks, "where gentle breezes sway spreading palms against the sky of the softest blue, where the stars and the moon gleam through the vast pineapple patches... where —"

A man in white trousers and a dark coat came through the swinging salon doors, waiting to open. There was a small sign on the other side of the door and Brooks continued reading: "Where life preservers are used or the seat!..."

"What?" said the puzzled girl, awakened from her reverie.

"Where..." Brooks gulped. "Well, that, my dear, is Hawaii — the real Hawaii as only I know it."

"I wonder," and there was wistfulness in Dorothy's voice. "I'll know that way — staying at the hotel and working in the Fiesta Room. People who live like that never get to see the real Hawaii — you know."

"But you will!" cried Brooks eagerly, pressing his arm tightly against hers.

Dorothy March, aside from being a very charming and attractive young woman, was a dancer whose reputation was spreading throughout the country, so of course she and her partner, Millie De Grasse, were asked to take part in the ship's movie star ball and entertainment for the benefit of the disabled seamen's fund.

Brooks was delighted at the opportunity of seeing her, a professional dancer, and the night of the entertainment found him in the front row of auditors. He paid but little attention to the questioning "Tonight?"

"Tonight!" he repeated softly. An unkempt, hairy, slow-moving young man standing beside a small, open roadster in the street in front of the pier, turned to a large dog on the seat beside him as Brooks came from the pier, followed by a steward carrying his luggage.

"There's the boss, Skipper," said the man. "Guess you'll be glad to see your old master again, won't you, old boy?"

The dog beat a tattoo on the seat with his tail, and the man got out of the roadster, a big welcoming smile on his face. Brooks walked right past him. "Hi, there!" he called, amazed, ran after him and grasped his hand.

"Oh hello!" said Brooks vaguely, and started on.

"Hey, George!" cried the puzzled young man, "it's me, Wally, the dog that works for you. Remember?"

Brooks turned hastily back, smiling broadly, seized Wally's hand and shook it until it hurt.

"Wally! Wally for the love of Mike, I didn't recognize you!" he looked him over. "You've had your hair cut."

"No, I haven't!" exclaimed Wally, with a suspicious glance at the dog on the seat. "George Smith was out of his mind."

"Well, then, maybe it's because I had mine cut," Brooks joked, and laughed at the joke. He tipped the dog on the head, and Wally put his baggage in the roadster.

"Old Skipper's been missing you a lot."

"Oh, yes... Sweet old man, the Skipper," sent him a post-card from every town I went to."

Wally stopped short and gazed at him amazed. "You been drinking?"

"Oh, just a snort." Brooks stretched out a hand to pat the head of the dog on the seat. But the dog stopped wagging his tail, bared his teeth and began to growl. Brooks stepped quickly away from the car. "Well, Wally, you take the baggage in the roadster. I'll walk."

"The kid that copped?" Wally's eyes all but popped out.

"Is it? Oh, yes, I forgot." Brooks climbed into the car and the dog started to go for him.

"Lie down, Skipper. Lie down!" commanded Wally.

"Yes, lie down Skip —" Brooks, realizing that Skipper was his dog, began to laugh, and Wally was convinced he was either completely drunk or nuts.

One of two men who had been standing nearby nudged the other. "There goes George Smith!"

"The kid that copped $50,000 from old man Grayson?"

"Yes, and I think he's going to get away with it. He's engaged to Grayson's daughter, and Grayson doesn't want any publicity."

CHURCH NOTES

Wednesday, Feb. 22 is the first day of lent—40 week days and six Sundays for special glorying in the articles and activities of this mighty faith of ours—in memory of the passion of our Lord. Who is so perfect, that he does not need a season such as this for putting his house in order!

We will want to go to the Services in our Church more often and more regularly. We will probably practice some self-denials. We will make a special effort to bring others to Christ and His Church.—"That is keeping Lent!"

Rev. Most

Don't forget to send that special invitation to your friends and relatives, to be present at Our Redeemer's "Golden Jubilee" on Sunday, April 16.

Choir rehearsal is to be Wednesday at 7:30 P. M. at Our Redeemer's Lutheran church.

An official board meeting of the Methodist church will be held Monday, Feb. 27, 7:30 P. M.

Methodist choir rehearsal, Prof. John R. Keith, director, will be held at 8 P. M. Wednesday.

On Sunday, Feb. 19, Rev. Carl Bader, of the Methodist church spoke at 11 A. M. on "The Other Prodigal Returns", and at 7:30 P. M. led the Fireside Circle discussion on "The Holy Spirit: Fruits and Roots".

Wayne Scouts Entertain Dads

News Briefs From College Training School

Dads went back to their boyhood days Wednesday night at a party given by Wayne Boy Scout troop 174. They participated in games along with their sons and then were entertained by a play presented by the scouts. After the program, the scouts served lunch to their dads.

The freshman class of the college training school was in charge of the convocation program Wednesday. Pupils of John R. Keith presented musical numbers.

Harry Siman will address the training school during convocation Feb. 22. His topic will be "George Washington's Life".

Seven students whose names appeared on the college honor roll are alumni of the college training school. They are: Eleanor Owen, LeRoy Anderson, Quentin Whitmore, John Kyle, Jean Hunter, Arline Collier and Arthur Gulliver.

Debate Team To Tournament

80 Teams To Compete In Hastings

The Wayne high school debate team, accompanied by Mervin Fedderson, debate coach, goes to Hastings to one of the largest debate tournaments in the state, Feb. 24 and 25. Schools of Kansas, Colorado and Nebraska have been invited. Eighty teams have entered. Wayne has taken part in this tournament for several years.

The four members of the two teams attending will leave Wayne on Feb. 23 and return Feb. 25. They have not been definitely selected yet but will be chosen from the following students: Marion Vath, Wilmer Ellis, Kenneth Gamble, Hall Harrington, Ray Larson and Elvin Swinney.

The remainder of the debate squad goes to Crofton on Saturday, Feb. 25 to attend an invitational practice tournament, consisting of Robert Haas and the two members not chosen to go to Hastings.

The "C" debate team met the college prep negative team in a debate before the International Relations club at the College auditorium Monday night.

The third annual invitational tournament, of four rounds, at Morningside College, Sioux City, Iowa, was held Saturday, Feb. 18. Luncheon and a banquet was served to all invited squads. The team attending from Wayne high school consisted of Marion Vath, Wilmer Ellis, Kenneth Gamble, Hall Harrington and Ray Larson. The topic for the above debate is: "U. S. should establish an alliance with Great Britain".

Named Health Unit Director

Dr. Rogers To Have Charge Of Four Counties

Dr. E. A. Rogers, formerly a practicing physician at Paxton, this week assumed the post of director of the four county demonstration health unit which has headquarters in Madison to serve the four counties of Madison, Stanton, Wayne, and Pierce. Dr. Rogers takes the place which has been filled by O. Wiberg, sanitarian of the unit, since the resignation of Dr. J. T. Googe last fall.

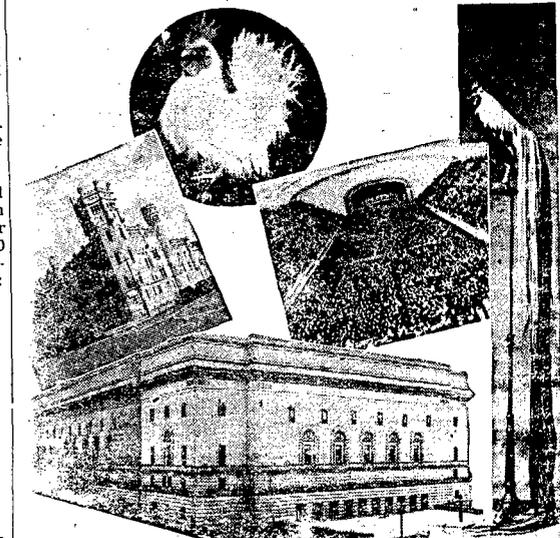

Mr. Wiberg, who has been acting head of the unit since the resignation of Dr. Googe, who came to Madison when the unit was opened, will now devote full time to sanitation work in the four counties covered by the unit.

Work of the district will be carried on in the same manner as in the past. Dr. Rogers stated Wednesday after moving to Madison with his family. The four staff nurses and one senior nurse will function in the same manner as they have worked thus far. Their locations will not be changed, he said.

The unit is one of four in Nebraska set up with the cooperation of the federal government. Each of the units covers several counties and the city of Madison was selected as headquarters of the work for this four county area because it is the seat of the most populous county in the unit.

Dr. Rogers returned to Nebraska this month from Ann Arbor, Michigan, where he spent a semester studying public health at the University of Michigan. He was accompanied here by Mrs. Rogers and their daughter, a year and a half old, and son, four and a half.

World's Poultry Congress Comes to the U. S. A. for the First Time

The World's Poultry Congress which meets every third year comes to Cleveland, Ohio, July 28 to August 7, 1939. This is the first meeting held in the United States and probably those active in the poultry industry will all be gone before it comes back again. About 60 nations usually participate in the Congress. Every operation in the industry on nest to table will be shown. Every known breed of fowl will be on display. Scientists from all parts of the world will participate. Over 7000 square feet will be utilized to house the exhibits. The building upper part of the above picture is the Hall of Youth for the junior activities. Also shown the Cleveland Public Auditorium, exterior and interior, where many meetings will be held and where part of the exhibit will be housed. Two visitors shown are a Polish fowl and a Japanese long tailed fowl. A membership costing only $1.00 entitles the visitor to attend all sessions of this Congress. These memberships must be bought in

Grade School Notes

FIRST GRADE

On Friday, the first graders had a vegetable lunch consisting of three vegetables, scalloped corn, tomatoes and sweet potatoes. Each child brings his own sandwiches and fruit and a penny for each vegetable served.

Junior Childs re-entered the first grade after a long absence spent in Blair visiting his grandparents.

County superintendent of schools Decker, visited the first grade Thursday afternoon.

SECOND GRADE

The second graders wrote original stories last week, about playing in the snow.

Phyllis Foster and George Martens received perfect scores on tests covering the 150 words in spelling.

A new unit of work in the study of the postoffice has been started by the second grade. They are constructing a postoffice in the room.

For story period, children are telling stories over a play radio.

FOURTH GRADE

In their spelling contest, the two chairmen were Marjanne March and Herbert Reese. On Marjanne's side, John Addison had high score. The high scores on Herbert Reese's side were earned by James Morse, Stanley Stratton, David Carhart, Paul Bramhall, Lloyd Russel and Billy Heine.

Our citizenship club is working diligently to earn cherries in the cherry tree. We have many good citizens in our room.

Next week's issue will show high score in arithmetic and reading.

SIXTH GRADE

Washington and Lincoln shields decorate the sixth grade room.

The sixth graders are studying about Rome's Siege on Carthage. There is a desk black list on the board. This is for the students who do not keep their desk tops clean.

JUNIOR HIGH

Seventh and eighth grade pupils who have completed the penmanship unit for this period, are making designs with movement exercises. The best of these will be exhibited at the fair next fall.

Delbert Jensen, Maxine Johnson, Carolann McClure, Jesse Horrell, Robert Eining, Rodney Love and Bonnie Faye Kugler have recently earned gold stars by completing the first six units in a satisfactory rating.

Frequent excursions are being made to the Castle of Good English. Eighth grade pupils recently were permitted to visit the rooms of Infinitives, Gerunds and Participles. Seventh graders have visited five rooms, the latest being Subject and Predicate. The sixth grade, also, has visited the rooms of Sentence Recognition, Punctuation and Capitalization. Both sixth and seventh grades are working hard on Parts of Speech and hope to be admitted as guests in that room soon. The eighth grade is taking up Simple, Complex and Compound Sentences, and when the unit is finished, will enter their names as visitors of that room.

The eighth grade arithmetic class studied the various ways of sending money safely and the advantages of each method.

The eighth graders are designing borders in art class.

The junior high girls had a Valentine party last Tuesday. Games were played. Each girl brought her own lunch which was served in the sixth grade room. The girls presented Miss Tassemyer with a large box of candy. Valentines were exchanged.

Mrs. O. R. Bowen and Mrs. F. O. Miller went to Lincoln Thursday to visit at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Knox Jones. They will also visit at Omaha from where Mrs. Miller will leave for her home at Portland, Oregon.

WAKE UP YOUR LIVER BILE

Without Calomel—And You'll Jump Out of Bed in the Morning!

The liver should pour out two pounds of bile into your bowels daily. If this is not flowing freely, your food does not digest. It just decays in the bowels. Gas builds up, your stomach is flat, you get constipated, your whole system is poisoned and you feel sour, sunk and the world looks punk.

A mere bowel movement doesn't get at the cause. It takes these good, old Carter's Little Liver Pills to get these two pounds of bile flowing freely and make you feel "up and up". Harmless, gentle, yet powerful in making bile flow freely. Ask Carter's Little Liver Pills by name. 25 cents. Stubbornly refuse any "biling" else.

Sentinels of Health

Don't Neglect Them!

Nature designed the kidneys to do a marvelous job. Their task is to keep the flowing blood stream free of all excess waste matter. The set of living, healthy kidneys is constantly producing waste matter that must be removed. If the kidneys fail to function as Nature intended, there is retention of waste that may cause body-wide disease. One may suffer nagging backache, persistent headache, attacks of dizziness, getting up nights, swelling under the eyes—foot, leg, scrotya, worn out.

Frequent, scanty or burning passage may be further evidence of kidney bladder disturbance.

The recognized and proper treatment is a diuretic medicine to help the kidneys. It is Doan's Pills. They have had more than forty years of public approval. Endorsed by the majority of leading physicians. Sold at all drug stores.

Rev. I. N. Demy says:

I have found nothing in past 20 years that can take place of Dr. Miles' Anti-Pain Pills. They are a sure relief my headache.

Sufferers from Headache, Neuralgia, Toothache, Backache, Sciatica, Rheumatism, Lumbago, Neuritis, Muscular Pains, Periodic Pains, write that they used Dr. Miles' Anti-Pain Pills with better results than they even hoped for.

Countless American wives would no more do of keeping house without Miles' Anti-Pain Pills than I could do without sugar. Keep a box in your medicine cabinet. It will save yourself needless suffering.

Livestock In Nebraska Increases In Numbers And Value

Comeback Being Staged By Industry

But Totals Still Below 10-Year Average

The livestock industry is staging a comeback in Nebraska, the livestock report released Monday by the U. S. Department of Agriculture reveals. Numbers of all livestock in this state excluding chickens are 7.3 per cent above a year ago but still 37.7 per cent below the 1927-36 ten-year average.

Even a greater increase is shown in their value, which including chickens is 14.6 per cent above that of a year ago and excluding chickens is 15.1 per cent above last year and only 17.5 per cent below the 10-year average.

Numbers compared to a year ago follow: Horses, 93 per cent; mules, 95 per cent; all cattle, 103 per cent; milk cows, 103 per cent; swine, 125 per cent; sheep, 98 per cent; chickens, 114 per cent.

The total number of all livestock excluding chickens is 6,291,000 head as compared with 5,865,000 a year ago and 9,484,000, the 10-year average. The total value of all livestock including chickens is $186,661,000 against $162,845,000 a year ago. The value of all livestock excluding chickens is 179,087,000 against 155,534,000 a year ago and 217,112,000, the 10-year average.

Tractors Cut Horses, Mules
There are 486,000 horses on farms against 523,000 head a year ago, a decrease of 7 per cent. The 1927-36 10-year average is 719,000 head. The average value is $82 against $67 last year and $58.42, the 10-year average. The total value is $30,010,000 against $35,024,000 last year and $42,030,000, the 10-year average.

Mules total 68,000 head against 61,000 head last year, a loss of 5 per cent. The 10-year average is 84,000 head. The average value is $81 against $87 a year ago and $72.44, the 10-year average. The total value is $4,702,000 against $5,326,000 and $6,787,000, the 10-year average. Tractors have replaced horse and mule power to the extent that there is almost one tractor to every two farms in the state.

Numbers of all cattle are estimated at 2,909,000 head against 2,824,000 head last year, a gain of 3 per cent. The 10-year average is 3,246,000 head. Numbers are approaching normal for the state as a whole but some areas are far below normal and others are above normal. The average value is $38.60 against $32 last year and $34.03, the 10-year average. The total value is $112,412,000 against $90,485,000 last year.

Milk Cows Gain
Milk cows, which are included under all cattle, total 648,000 head against 629,000 head a year ago, a gain of 3 per cent. The 10-year average is 716,000 head. The average value is $56 against $48 last year and $49.87, the 10-year average. The total value is $36,288,000 against $30,192,000 last year.

Hogs are estimated at 1,998,000 against 1,598,000 head a year ago, a gain of 25 per cent. The 10-year average is 4,428,000 head. The increased production of feed grains last year as compared with previous drought years is making it possible for farmers to get back into hog production. Under normal conditions hogs are second only to all cattle in farm income. The average value per head is $13.40 against $12.30 last year and $11.61, the 10-year average.

Sheep totaled 840,000 head against 859,000 head last year, a loss of 2 per cent. The 10-year average is 997,000 head.

The total number of chickens is 12,624,000 against 11,077,000 last year, a gain of 14 per cent. The average value per bird is 60c against 66c last year. The total value is $7,574,000 against $7,311,000 last year.

Numbers of cattle, sheep, hogs, milk cows and chickens in the U. S. were larger but numbers of work stock continued to decline.

County Has Record Snow Of Winter

folk Thursday night, when that town was reputed to be the coldest in the state. However, the mercury dipped to only four or five below in Wayne.

Motorists experienced considerable difficulty driving Thursday and Friday but by Saturday the main highways and the city streets had been cleared by workmen, aided by rising temperature.

Snow Of Value
The snow was worth far more than the inconvenience it caused in benefit to the crops as moisture is needed and, as it failed to drift, the water soaked into the ground will be of inestimable value. A check showed about 10 inches of snow had fallen Thursday noon and another two inches was added during the afternoon and evening.

Temperature Chart
Charles W. Long, government weather recorder at Wakefield, prepared the following interesting chart for The News, comparing the temperatures for the past week with those for the same dates a year ago. The high and low figures listed first in each case are for 1938 and those listed second are for this year.

	1938	1939
Feb. 12	44 and 34	47 and 8
Feb. 13	25 and 13	46 and 15
Feb. 14	25 and 7	43 and 4
Feb. 15	22 and 14	32 and -4
Feb. 16	26 and 13	15 and 6
Snow, 7 inches	Snow, 10 in.
Feb. 17	15 and 4	40 and -16
Snow, 4 inches
Feb. 18	13 and 13	44 and 14
Feb. 19	22 and -14	49 and 8

The above chart shows that this year there has been a much wider variation in the temperatures than the same week last year with the mercury going both higher and lower daily. Roads were blocked for about three days last year following the heavy snow on Feb. 16 and, although the snowfall was heavier this year, majority of the highways were blocked for only a few hours due to failure of the snow to drift.

John Gabler Of Winside Is Taken By Death

John Gabler, 95 years of age, a resident of Winside for more than 50 years, died there at the home of his son, A. C. Gabler, Monday afternoon after a two weeks illness. A funeral service will be held at Winside Wednesday afternoon and burial will be there. Mr. Gabler is survived by four sons, William, George, John and A. C. Gabler, all of whom reside at Winside; two daughters, Mrs. Pauline Rehms of Winside and Mrs. Florence Curry, wife of former Congressman Curry, of Washington, D. C.; and several grandchildren.

State Farm Boys, Girls Win Highest 4-H Honors

mong her friends, Margaret was the Nebraska girl's room 4-H champion in 1937. Graduating from Sidney high school in 1936, she took part in many interscholastic and community activities. They include singing in the high school glee club, Sunday school teacher, active in Farmers Union activities and is now honored queen of Job's Daughters Bethel of Sidney.

Clyde Althouse of Cass county is one who does not believe in putting all "His eggs in one basket". In 4-H work since 1928, he has fed baby beaves, produced turkeys, kept farm records on his father's farm, produced hogs and sheep and raised corn. During his 4-H career he has fed 24 baby beaves and raised 1,575 turkeys to maturity. At the close of his eleventh year in 4-H he had earned 34 achievement certificates and made approximately $3,200 on his projects, including prizes. As a result today he has a start in the purebred Hereford business and has a flock of breeding turkeys. Last fall Clyde showed the grand champion 4-H fat barrow at the Ak-Sar-Ben which served to climax his 4-H career.

Diversified Efforts

Harold Stevens of Perkins county is another who has diversified his efforts. He first joined a 4-H pig club back in 1932. He has carried on his swine work each year since that time and now has 16 purebred Duroc sows and pigs as a part of his herd. An inventory of his livestock assets shows in addition 3 purebred Southdown sheep, 6 high grade Hampshire sheep, 5 cows, 1 yearling heifer, 4 purebred Hereford calves and 3 horses and 1 yearling colt. This livestock is valued at $917. Young Stevens now serve as president of the Perkins county Rural Youth club, has been on a state championship 4-H crops judging team. He has served not only as a 4-H member but also as a local leader for two years.

Winona Francke, the Lancaster county girl, is 19 years old and has been in 4-H work eight years during which time she has won many major honors. At present she is a freshman in the Nebraska college of agriculture. Winona has put her training into practice as she has complete charge of the home during the summer months. A Lancaster county 4-H health champion, she has been enrolled in canning, sewing, cooking, poultry, girl's room and clothing clubs. She has canned 2,212 pints of all kinds of canned products with a total value of $191.11. In addition she has prepared 6,330 recipes, baked 297 loaves of bread and helped prepare and serve 2,120 meals. In sewing she has made 285 garments and articles at a total cost of $335.82. Her five years of poultry club work netted her a profit of $231.06.
