

Now that rain clouds have finally located Wayne county, they seem to be holding a convention here with contributions of moisture almost daily.

Saturday's rain played havoc with business for the day but you couldn't find a Wayne merchant who was complaining.

Congratulations to the fair board on the selection of M. C. Bloss, veteran of last year's fair, as chairman of this year's event.

The retail merchants of Wayne will gather at the City Auditorium Thursday evening to decide whether or not to sponsor "Wayne Days" here.

Country Club tournament officials are claiming credit now for the heavy rain which virtually washed out the tourney.

Plans are getting underway for the 1939 Wayne county fair, which should be the biggest and best staged here in many years.

Probably few towns need a celebration and successful fair more than Wayne.

Each year brings many changes in the life and outlook of towns throughout the country.

He was state champion in both the 100 and the 220 yard dash events in 1934. He won 17 ribbons and 11 medals in athletics while in Pierce high school.

Victims Of Car Accident Are Improved

But Evangelist Still In Danger; Others Bruised

Rev. Gilbert, evangelist of Washington, D. C., remained in serious condition in a Wayne hospital as a result of injuries sustained in an auto accident Wednesday afternoon about 12 miles north of Wayne on the Laurel highway.

Other occupants of the car, which was driven by Lyle Tietfort, were Mrs. Tietfort, Rev. Ted Piper and Miss Shirley Burns, all of Sioux City.

Injuries Listed

The party was returning to Sioux City after having visited relatives in Wayne. The roads were slippery causing the machine to swerve. The back wheels crashed into a concrete culvert at the bottom of a hill.

The Beckenhauer ambulance rushed Mr. Gilbert and Mrs. Beard to the Wayne hospital where they are receiving medical care.

Mr. Gilbert suffered a broken vertebra in his neck and is partially paralyzed. The other occupants of the car received only minor cuts and bruises.

Grocers To Get $18,000

Estimate Of PWA Wages Is Announced

Wayne grocers will receive more than $18,000 from the wages of workers employed on the two projects which the Public Works Administration is assisting in constructing here, it was estimated today.

The estimate was based on recently completed findings of the United States Department of Labor as to how worker's wages on PWA projects are expended for the benefit of business in a community.

57,587 In Wages

Applying findings to the local projects—the dormitory addition at Wayne State Teachers' college and the remodeling of and addition to the Wayne City school building—Dan Farrell, jr., PWA resident engineer inspector, estimated that 57.4 per cent of the payrolls would go directly to Wayne grocers, clothing, and landlords.

Of the two projects having a total estimated cost of $193,896, it is estimated that 29.7 per cent of the total cost is paid out in wages to men actually working on the project site.

The wages paid to local workmen will be spent, in addition to the $18,000 for foodstuffs, for about $5,700 worth of clothing, $8,925 worth of housing, and $6,622.51 worth of coal, gas, electricity, water, paint, house repairs and other items necessary for operation.

You're Not Supposed To Work Sundays

You're not supposed to work on Sunday! At least the bricklayers on the college job find that the Lord is opposed to Sunday work.

On Sunday, June 4, the bricklayers, who took a four day holiday over Memorial Day, tried to make up some of the time on Sunday.

This last Sunday, June 25, they tried it again, to make up time lost while the second floor concrete slab was being poured.

This time they got rain checks after working a little more than an hour.

The bar joists will be covered with steel, a heavy paper containing a wire mesh, and then covered with a layer of concrete.

Wood joists in the rooms of the old building will remain but with reinforced concrete stairways, the old building will give safe exit in case of fire.

Bloss Selected To Manage County Fair; Chairmen Are Picked

Exhibit From Each Precinct Being Sought

M. C. Bloss has been selected by the Wayne County Fair board to manage the 1939 fair and went into action immediately after his appointment arranging for farm exhibits.

Extension Agent Chester Walters has been chosen as assistant manager and the two began a tour of the county Monday appointing chairmen to arrange for exhibits from each of the 13 precincts.

Although definite dates for the fair were not set at the first meeting of the board at the Craven Hardware store last Friday, a second meeting was scheduled for tonight at which it is probable the dates will be selected and more details arranged.

Entire County Invited

Mr. Bloss was assistant manager of the county fair last year, sharing with Dean Allen Cook the tremendous amount of work necessary to stage such an event.

William Von Seggern, who is a member of the fair board, has also had considerable experience in fair work and is expected to be of great assistance.

Mr. Bloss emphasized the fact that he hopes to make this year's fair one in which all sections and towns in the county will participate.

The county fair is usually held after the state fair, about the middle of September. However, some have indicated that an earlier date might be more desirable.

Well Represented

A preliminary check by some of the members of the board indicates that the 4-H clubs will be well represented this year with entries in the various divisions.

About 51 calves will be entered in this division. H. B. Craven, veteran of past Wayne county fairs and president of the fair board, recalled some of the fairs staged here in former years.

Members of the fair board include in addition to Mr. Craven, the following: Von Seggern, Frank Erleben, Phil Damm, Will Peters, Fred Baird, Simon Strate, G. W. Alberts and Gus Paulson.

Rain Makes Outlook For Corn Good

Wayne Gets More Than 2 Inches Moisture

Well over two inches of rain last weekend and Monday improved the crop outlook for Wayne county nearly 100 per cent.

The Saturday night and Sunday downpour reached the 1.64 inch mark on the rain gauge, making it the banner rain of the season and equalling the total rainfall here during the month of May.

Downpour Needed The heavy downpour Saturday, which was followed by another good shower Sunday morning, was just the type of rain which has been needed by the crops in Wayne county.

The rain started early in the evening and clouds hovered over the city much of Sunday, most of the moisture had an opportunity to soak into the ground.

Summer weather returned Monday, but late Monday afternoon clouds gathered again and there was more rainfall which continued at intervals Monday night.

Crops Benefit The rain will be of great benefit to crops throughout this section of the state and will also help eliminate the grasshopper menace which was becoming a serious threat.

School Projects

Wayne has ample reason to be proud of its educational facilities and is clearing the way for their future progress through building projects now underway at both the Wayne State Teachers college and the Wayne City school.

While there was considerable opposition to the latter project because of the expense involved the majority favored the program when the test came at the polls and the school board has wisely decided to take advantage of the large savings offered in the form of reduced interest by making the bonds pay out in 15 years instead of 30 years.

Adoption of this quick payment plan will necessitate a half mill increase in the tax levy for the next few years but the reduction in the total sum which the taxpayers must expend for this project makes it well worth the additional immediate burden.

Wayne is taking advantage of the financial assistance offered by the WPA to build up its educational systems. There have been no useless expenditures, simply to take advantage of the use of federal money.

As long as such a policy is followed here, there is little room for criticism for the city will benefit in years to come for its investment in educational facilities. That much the past has demonstrated.

Foreign Markets

The frequently voiced complaints of republican senators and representatives, found in the Congressional Record, that the American farmer's foreign market has disappeared during the Roosevelt regime, bears investigation.

Just where these solons are obtaining the facts on which to base this accusation is somewhat of a mystery, although frequent repetition of the charge has led many to accept it.

In the first place, the Bureau of Agricultural Economics, a non-partisan authority, recently released complete figures showing that the value of farm exports in 1938 showed a gain of 4 per cent over the prosperous year of 1937 and 25 per cent over 1932, the last year before the Roosevelt administration. A larger than average domestic supply, coupled with the reciprocal trade agreement program and occasional shortages in foreign countries are listed as chiefly responsible for this unusual showing.

United States farm exports have increased nearly 20 times as rapidly since 1934 to countries with which United States has concluded trade agreements as have exports to non-agreement countries.

Exports of grains in 1938 showed the greatest increase over 1937 of any group of agricultural commodities, a gain of 129 million dollars. Exports of fruits showed a gain of 16 million dollars, tobacco 21 million and exports of pork and lard a gain of eight million.

Meanwhile, other countries have been attempting with some success to reduce the amount of necessary imports through the use of substitutes and by developing their home supplies. In view of these facts, it seems that the charge that the American farmer's foreign market has disappeared is premature, to state it mildly. It appears also that the reciprocal trade agreements are the answer which must be credited to the present administration.

Commendation Deserved

Wayne county officers during the period from July 1, 1937, to January 5, 1939, received a word of praise for the efficient manner in which their records were kept from State Auditor Ray C. Johnson in a letter to The News.

After listing the county officers, Ray C. Johnson, state auditor, advised The News that the audit had been completed and a copy of it properly filed with the county clerk, where any citizen of the community, who is interested, may examine it.

Most of the officers during that period were retained by the voters and are still in office. These include County Treasurer James J. Steele, District Court Clerk Frank F. Korff, County Judge J. M. Cherry, and County Sheriff James H. Pile. Others listed are County Clerk Bertha Berres and County Superintendent Pearl E. Sewell.

It is a pleasure for The News to circulate this information. When an officer is found to have violated his public trust, the facts are screamed at the public in large headlines. This is probably as it should be, but credit and a word of commendation should also be given county officers who are found to be conducting their offices in an honest and efficient manner. Wayne county is particularly fortunate in having such officers both at present and during the term covered by the audit.

What Editors Say---

Worst Trade Barriers

State Engineer A. C. Tilley came back from the trade barrier conference at Denver convinced that the most vicious of these barriers is the sales tax. He got his information from the representatives from Kansas and other states which have such taxes and which border on states which are without them. It stands to reason that buyers will cross over into the states free from such taxes and that the merchants in the taxed state will lose accordingly.

National Industries Weekly Review

The Nation's Leading Letter by J. E. Jones, Washington, D. C.

Washington, D. C., June 26—A spirit of give-and-take is hastening proceedings in Washington, and the administration entertains a good deal of hope that it will get congress "out of the trenches" in July. A few face-saving "reforms" will be affected by congress in tax schedules "without lowering the total tax base." That was the President's position from the beginning — and he wins.

Congress has taken a lot of reefs out of the President's sails, but the latter has "taken it standing," and with considerable more diplomacy and co-operation than heretofore. The White House splits about 50-50 with "political enemies in congress."

Up-to-date the so-called "Presidential authority" has not been trimmed to any extent—the Administration having carried its appropriation bills through with usual success.

Sensible Conclusions
American automobile management will take pride in the approval of the industry by the Federal Trade Commission's report to congress.

The relations between the public and the industry appear to have been thoroughly investigated with the result that many of the questions which started out as idle gossip became involved in the official study of the manufacturers. It took 3,500 pages to cover price fixing, allowances for used cars, the relations between the automobile companies and dealers, and other subjects included in the report.

The public has heard a great deal about unscrupulous financing companies that have preyed upon automobile purchasers, but the accusing finger is pointed by the commission against independent and fraudulent financing companies which had no direct connections with the automobile industry itself. Quite naturally a lot of sharpers entered the financing game and thrived until they were exposed. Many of them were driven out of business.

The Temporary National Economic Committee likewise gave the industry a clean bill of health recently, after a thorough in-

There can be no doubt whatever that Nebraska profits by the Kansas and Colorado sales levies and will continue to do so as long as it continues its present policy and the adjoining states continue theirs. Efforts have been made in the past and will be made in the future to fasten sales tax laws and cigaret tax laws upon the people of Nebraska, but they have thus far failed and should fail in the future.

Such laws not only constitute trade barriers, but they are unfair in that they do not tax in proportion to ability to pay. The laborer who has nothing except the wages he is able to earn and a few household furnishings, may have a large family, while the man with a big income may have no dependents. ### quary into automobile patents.

The public estimates will likely agree with the sensible conclusions reached by the Federal Trade, and—practically assented to by the monopoly committee.

The Federal Trade report says: "Consumer benefits from competition in the automobile manufacturing industry probably have been more substantial than in any other large industry studied by this commission."

The industry itself couldn't claim better than that, not even when one of its leaders observed that "the best service we can render to the greatest number is the highest service we can render to ourselves."

That also is a substantial appraisal and a sensible conclusion. Human, International Tragedy

How especially true today is the philosopher's statement that "in the midst of life we are in death," for about us everywhere the instruments of man's genius hurl him through space at a speed which paces the stars! How close to the infinite do finite creatures skirt and swirl, live and die gloriously and sometimes tragically!

Within a month three United States aviators pointed the noses of their planes eastward across the Atlantic to be seen no more by man. Brave, intrepid or foolhardy souls, as you will, but gallant withal. They were in the headlines for a day but the tragedy of their passing did not grip the nation.

How different was the story of Francisco Sarabis, Mexico's Lindbergh, whose record-breaking, non-stop flight from Mexico City to the New York World's Fair made him a worthy brother of Icarus, landing as he did with less than one gallon of fuel and in a down wind at a speed of 120 miles an hour. This was high drama, a thrilling show by a master. By this performance he established his place in that brotherhood of the brave o'er all the earth. Coming when he did at a time of strife and difference between our two nations his spirit and his performance were doubly welcome for they helped to clear away the fogs of misunderstanding which have made unhappy the lot of two great peoples.

Full of the realization of the success of his mission and with the multitude's cheers ringing in his ears, Sarabis prepared for his long flight to see his Mother—the eagle's return home bringing the plaudits of the brave of the world to lay at her feet. The long flight called for an adequate gasoline supply—an overloaded plane—a flash through the air and stark tragedy to a brave man and his on-looking wife and son.

Just as the human tragedy touched all hearts so does the resulting international tragedy disturb all minds. This latter tragedy rests upon a wholly absurd but nevertheless substantial belief in Mexico that sabotage by jealous Americans wrecked Sarabis's plane. No grown-up in his right mind would even think much less make such a serious charge. But many Mexicans believe it and in retaliation American tourists cars, schools, homes and even the United States embassy are being attacked or threatened.

In this case the wrongfully accused must overlook the manifestations of a deeply-hurt, prideful people who knew beyond all doubt that their eaglet was equal to the world's best. He was. What they, in their hurt, cannot see or understand is that the best flier in the world cannot make an overloaded plane ignore the laws of gravity.

Mexico's hurt should help us as a nation better to see, understand and make allowances for her noble as well as her ignoble qualities. And when the hurt is gone her fantastic charges of sabotage should make all right-thinking Mexicans bow their heads in shame.

Toward Greater Security

Last November one large industrial corporation announced income security and lay-off benefit plans for 1939 by which, through use of the corporation's resources, eligible employees might stabilize their incomes despite the fluctuations in production schedules that are occasioned seasonally by fluctuations in consumer demand. Now this same corporation has just announced an extension of its present group life-health-accident insurance plan to include hospitalization and surgical benefits for participating employees.

Employees participating in the extended plan will be assured of hospitalization benefits of $4 a day to run as long as 70 days for a single disability. Included, also, are benefits toward defraying costs of surgical operations up to $150 for a single operation, as well as payment of certain specified hospital services. The corporation will assume a share of the costs as it does in connection with the basic insurance plan. Contributions of participating employees for the additional protection will be at the rate of 75 cents per month.

"In introducing these additional features to its Group Insurance Plan, General Motors gives practical recognition to the desirability and workability of co-operative efforts of this type," Alfred P. Sloan, Jr., chairman, said in making the announcement. "The basic plan, now participated in by 98 per cent of all eligible employees, indicates that General Motors men and women will welcome this opportunity to strengthen their protection against unforeseen contingencies."

Housing And Slum Clearance

The Housing program of the Government has been given approval by the Senate, passing the Wagner bill, doubling the loan authorizations by the Housing Authority to $1,600,000,000. The country apparently approves the housing plan, and with the election a long way off, the legislation will likely be approved.

Lindbergh's Testimony

The testimony of Colonel Charles A. Lindbergh given before a Committee of Congress in May has just been made public, and it is creating broad comment. Colonel Lindbergh told the committee that although he had recently made a survey and study of airports and airways in the United States and European countries that he did not wish to be considered as "an expert", in as much as he had not qualified as such in the last five years, "because he had not had time to specialize in the subject".

However, America's Air Ace gave it as his opinion that our country should increase the strength of our Air Corps and add to our research facilities. "Most important of all to us is the matter of quality", he said, "and there we should be ahead of any other country, because of the advantage of our national position. We are the most fortunate country in the world in that respect".

In the midst of all the warnings of eminent danger, it is certainly refreshing to find Lindbergh living up to all the estimates and traditions of his career, still thinking with a mind that does not become excited, or cause him to speak carelessly.

No one knows the war situation better than Colonel Lindbergh—and yet he is unafraid, and apparently does not believe that the United States will be involved in any of these European wars.

It has shown a steady if slow growth and its prospects as a county seat town, the home of the Wayne State Teachers college and located a considerable distance from any large city so that it has a large natural trade territory, are bright. But it must forge ahead if it is destined to be the shopping center of this particular area; it must expand its trade territory as rapidly and as extensively as possible. It cannot rest on its reputation and expect other towns of about the same size to do likewise. A united movement by its merchants and leaders could accomplish far more than one individual or institution. All would benefit directly or indirectly and if it happens to benefit your competitor Bill a little more than it does you, you certainly have lost nothing that Bill has gained.

After writing the above we recalled that we promised when this column was launched to keep from editorializing in it, but our excuse, in this case, good or bad, is that it does deal directly with Wayne on Parade.

State FSA Families Cut

Live At Home Plan Reduces Total Needing Aid

A reduction of 2,650 during May in the number of Nebraska farm families receiving grants from the Farm Security Administration is largely the result of these families' concentration on a "live-at-home" program, L. A. White, state FSA director said today.

At meetings held in each county earlier in the year, families receiving grants worked out individual plans for using every means to raise as much food and livestock feed as possible. Carrying out these plans resulted in a reduction of the grant load from $109,522 in April to $88,294 in May, White said in his monthly report.

"Rehabilitation, not relief, is the chief role of the Farm Security Administration in Nebraska," the FSA director said. "During May the FSA made 283 standard loans totaling $276,484 to help farmers put into operation carefully worked out farm management plans. The raising of gardens and feed acreage for livestock figure largely in these plans. The whole purpose of the loans is to 'help the farmer help himself.'"

More than 900 supplemental loans totaling $252,457 were also made during May for additional productive units such as milk cows, brood sows and other subsistence livestock to strengthen farm plans. Cooperative and community service loans amounted to $14,036, making a total of $542,977 loaned by the FSA in Nebraska during May for rehabilitation purposes, White reported.

During the month the FSA received 960 repayments amounting to $76,899. There were 35 repayments in full. Livestock or livestock products provided most of the repayments, according to the FSA director.

White said a number of the district supervisors had commented on the large number of young farm people who are seeking some way to begin farming for themselves.

Wm. Finn left Wednesday for Chicago. He plans to return the latter part of this week.

Just look at the row upon row of never-ending spiral bars in this new Life-Saver Tread. Then you'll understand why it acts like a battery of windshield wipers, sweeps the water right and . . . forces it out through the deep grooves, making a DRY TRACK for the rubber to grip.

Yes, sir, the new Goodrich Safety Silvertown with the Life-Saver Tread will stop you quicker, safer—on a wet pavement—than any tire has ever stopped you before! That's why a "Silvertown Stop" can easily be a life-saver to you on slippery rain-drenched roads.

CMTC Quota

Is Increased

Young Men Urged To Rush Applications

The quota of young men to be trained in the Citizens' Military Training Camps of the Seventh Corps area this summer has been increased by the War Department, according to an announcement made today by Major General Percy P. Bishop, Commanding the Seventh Corps area.

This means that we can now give the benefit of this valuable training to more young men, said General Bishop, and I hope that all who are interested will apply at once, for applications must be considered in the order in which they are received.

Of special interest to young men who will attend these camps is the fact that the new streamlined Infantry drill recently announced by the War Department will be put into effect in the CMTC camps also.

Camps will be held at Fort Leavenworth, Kansas, July 8 to August 4, and at Fort Crook, Nebraska, Fort Des Moines, Iowa, Fort Lincoln, North Dakota, Fort Snelling, Minnesota, and Jefferson Barracks, Missouri, from July 11 to August 9. A camp at Camp Joseph T. Robinson, near Little Rock, Arkansas, will be held from July 20 to August 18.

All necessary expenses in these camps are paid by the government. Transportation to and from camps is furnished, in addition to food, uniforms and medical and dental attendance. All who are interested should apply to the CMTC officer, Federal Office Building, Omaha, Nebraska, or to a local representative of the Military Training Camps Association.

46 Compete In Country Club Event

Sioux City Golfer Takes Top Honors

Despite the heaviest rain of the year, the annual Country Club golf tournament was held Sunday with 46 entries, including 22 from other towns, participating.

More than a hundred entries had been expected but the heavy downpour kept the majority at home and handicapped those who entered. The tourney was changed into a medal play event due to the delay in starting golfers on their 27-hole journey around the course.

Bard Is Winner
Bard of Sioux City captured the first flight prize with 109 for the 27 holes. Hagen, also of Sioux City, was second with 112 and Rasmusson, third, with 115. Carl Wright and Bill Beckenhauer led the Wayne entries in the first flight, tying for fourth place with 117.

Jimmy Hein of Lincoln captured top honors in the second flight with 122. Allen Landers of Norfolk was second with 123 and Judge Wenke of Stanton third with 125.

The Wayne entries came into their own in the third flight where Don Wright shot 134 to nose out Alden Lewis by a point. Lloyd Gildersleve of Hartington was third with 137.

Fourth flight went to Dr. Lewis of Wayne, who chalked up 136 while Alexander of Sioux City was close behind with 137 and Henry Schultz of Stanton trailed the latter by one.

Klinner of Sioux City took first honors in the fifth flight with 152 and Clarence Wright of Wayne was second with 153.

Other Leaders
Other Wayne entries in the first flight who made creditable showings, conditions considered, were Jim Morrison, 119; F. Milliner, 123; Fred Dale, 124; Russell Larson, 125; Howard Furlong, 125, and Bill Coryell, 129.

Carl Wright won a special tourney prize for having his second shot closest to the pin on the ninth green.

Cards Plan Omaha Camp

Local Baseball Players May Get Try-Out

Aspiring young ball players of this section will be given an opportunity to determine whether or not they have a future in professional baseball when the St. Louis Cardinal organization holds a try-out camp at Fontenelle Park in Omaha beginning Monday, July 10. The camp will last approximately a week.

The try-out camp was announced by Robert L. Finch, vice-president of Cardinal minor league clubs, who stated a number of well-known Cardinal scouts will be assigned to the try-outs to pass judgment on the players who attend. The scouting personnel will be announced shortly, Finch said.

On behalf of his organization, Finch extended an invitation to boys between the ages of 17 and 23, who believe they have the ability to play baseball professionally, to attend the camp. To receive try-outs, Finch said, boys merely have to present themselves at Fontenelle Park at 9 o'clock the morning of Monday, July 10, bringing their shoes, gloves and uniforms. The only requirements are that out-of-town boys must finance their own trips to Omaha and their living expenses while here.

No fee is charged boys who attend. Try-outs, Finch explained, will probably entail a stay of three or four days for out-of-town boys. Boys signed to contracts will be refunded their expenses incident to attending the camp.

Double-Header Scheduled For Sunday In Wayne

The Wayne City baseball team has a double-header scheduled for Sunday afternoon at the Wayne Fair Grounds.

The first game, which is slated for 2 o'clock will be with the Hoskins team. The Winside CCC camp team will clash with the local nine in the second game.

Two Wayne Women In Golf Tourney

Mrs. Heney, Miss Smothers Are Competing

Woman golfers from eleven northeast Nebraska towns are entered in the tournament. Golfers from Norfolk, South Sioux City, Stanton, Madison, Tilden, Wayne, Plainview, Creighton, Orchard, Clearwater, O'Neill, Hartington and Neligh are competing for the championship of the best woman golfer in northeast Nebraska.

Mrs. Heney has been winner of the title three times and Miss Smothers is a first class golfer. Last year the tournament was held at Norfolk with Mrs. Matt led the Wayne entries in the first flight, tying for fourth place with 117.

Qualifying rounds of the tourney started at 9 a. m. Monday. A luncheon was served in the park at noon after which the matched playing began.

The annual banquet and business meeting was held at the Methodist church in Neligh Monday night. The tournament will be concluded Wednesday.

Legion Nine Loses Pair

Pierce Keeps Wayne In Cellar, Winning 19 to 4

The Wayne Legion Junior baseball team remained in the cellar by dropping its fourth straight game to Pierce, 19 to 4, Friday. The game was played at Pierce and was marked by plenty of errors against the local players.

Maybe, the new uniforms which the boys wore for the first time in the Pierce game were responsible. At any rate the local players were all off form and never threatened to overcome the lead which their opponents collected.

Last Tuesday, the Wayne team was swamped by Madison to the tune of 10 to 0. However, the first two games of the season were lost only due to seventh inning rallies by their opponents.

A shift in the schedule has been made, resulting in the team playing both games next week away from Wayne. They will journey to Norfolk Tuesday and to Madison Friday. Madison was originally scheduled to play here Friday but the change was made due to other events scheduled for the same date there.

FHA Will Continue Loans On Existing Homes

Persons planning to get one of the 5 per cent Federal Housing loans on their home will be interested to learn of a recent favorable action in Washington. Frank S. Selby, vice president of the National Company, Omaha, making F.H.A. loans all over Nebraska, announces that congress has just amended the Act so that F. H. A. loans will continue to be made on homes now standing, as well as on home that are to be built.

Mr. Selby said, "For a time the government had planned to stop F. H. A. lending on everything but new homes. Now, we are happy to say, congress has amended the act so that a person can continue to use the fine service of F. H. A. for financing the purchase of an existing home, or refinancing the home he already owns at 5 per cent for a long term of years at low monthly payments.

"Applications for F. H. A. loans from people of Nebraska more than doubled in May over May last year. This shows that the public now has a better understanding than ever of the favorable terms being offered under this plan."

Don Wightman, and John T. Bressler, jr., of the First National bank of Wayne are the local brokers here, taking applications for Federal Housing loans.

BEATRICE FABER

SYNOPSIS: Cora Jordan breaks her engagement to Joe Milton for the third time and confesses to her father...

Chapter Six

"I don't know what to say Bill," Cora whispered. She clasped her hands. "Ah Bill, after such a lovely time, to end it so horribly as that, getting married like any cheap drunk—I think it's the first time I've ever been ashamed of myself."

"Look, Bill, my father is a wonderful man."

"Look, Bill," she began a bit breathlessly, "my father is a wonderful man. When she burst into life, she'd promised Dad never to—well, climb up the wrong tree. Did Bill get it? Bill did. And would he go down and see him with her? Bill would indeed. After all, wasn't he her old pal?"

"And so to get back, father, we're going to do whatever you want us to do. Meaning—shall we get an annulment now or shall we wait a little while?"

First Lady Urges Open Door To Refugee Children

Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt approves of opening America's doors to refugee children. The President's wife believes the restrictions governing their entrance are "fair and wise" and that it would be "shameful" if the United States did nothing to aid them.

Oil Executive Warns Business To 'Stop Crying'

"Industry for the last 10 years has been over in the crying room—always complaining, always sending some one to Washington, always getting up and telling what's wrong with the Roosevelt Administration," declared Frank W. Lovejoy, general sales manager of the Socony-Vacuum Oil Co.

Brewers' Self-Regulatory Program Praised

J. A. McEachen, a member and former chairman of the State Liquor Control Commission, praised the self-regulatory program of the Nebraska Brewers and Beer Distributors Committee at the first anniversary meeting of the organization at Omaha.

Never has the committee asked the commission to pull its punches because of any license, either big or little. We know that sometimes illegal conditions exist that cannot be proved or that are too expensive to prove.

Miss Norma Jean Grant spent several days last week visiting at the home of her grand parents, Mr. and Mrs. Ray Grant at Laurel.

Miss Marilyn Clancey of Sloux Falls, S. D., came to Wayne last Wednesday to spend three weeks at the home of her grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Baker.

Highlights Of Farm News

Weekly Farm Review

By Chester Walters
Wayne County Extension Agent

Thrashing Machine Notices

With the small grain harvest starting soon, Wayne county farmers are again reminded that thrashing machine and combine operators must obtain their thrashing machine notices and have them posted on their machines before they are put in operation as provided by the Nebraska weed law.

W. L. Klatt, state weed supervisor, and Agricultural Agent Chester Walters also urge farmers and machine operators to take special care to see that combines and thrashing machines are properly cleaned after leaving infested fields and before entering uninfested weed fields. In this way, they say farmers can co-operate to prevent the spread of noxious weeds in fields.

The notices can be secured from Wayne Extension Service office in the courthouse. Inspectors from the State Department of Agriculture will soon visit counties to see that the machines are posted and properly cleaned.

State Sheep Show

The annual statewide Sheep show will be held on the Nebraska state fairgrounds on August 4, it was announced this week by Prof. M. A. Alexander at the college of agriculture. Wayne county farmers interested in sheep should keep this date in mind.

4-H Club Camp

The dates have been set for the 4-H club camps. The north-east Nebraska counties will again hold their camp at the Ponca State Park. The dates for this camp are July 10-11-12.

Any boy or girl who is enrolled in a 4-H club is eligible to attend the camp. The club leaders have the health certificates and enrollment blanks. Each member who is interested in attending camp should contact his leader as soon as possible. It is necessary to know the number who plan to attend so that arrangements can be made for transportation. The camp fee will be $2.15 per member. This amount includes eats, lodging, and everything except transportation. The charge for transportation will be a few cents per person.

Included in the program are lectures and pictures which will be presented by the state patrol. Mr. Guy Davis of the Extension Service will give lectures and instructions on photography. Mr. Ralph Copenhaver will be in charge of games and recreation. There will be "hikes" through the park and campfires at night. A history of the building of the Ponca State Park, vesper services, handcraft work, music appreciation and discussion sessions will be other highlights of the camp. Other Extension specialists who will be at the camp are Mrs. Christensen, E. Thor and Doris Gray. For any further information, contact me.

Grasshoppers

A great deal of bait has been spread during the past two weeks. Many farmers have reported excellent results. At present, there have been 115,000 pounds of poisoned bait spread in Wayne county. There are still millions of hoppers but we have also killed millions of them. It should be remembered that every time we kill a hopper, we not only stop it from eating but also from laying eggs.

Pasture - Livestock

Plans are to visit the P.F.L. co-operators in the near future. We are anxious to see who has the most satisfactory pasture program and why. A summary of the final reports of 1500 co-operators will be published by the state extension service this fall.

Crops-Soils Field Day

Due to the heavy rain at Lincoln last Tuesday, the program was necessarily changed. The trip to the agronomy experimental farm was omitted.

The day started out with an identification contest. Twenty-five weeds and grasses were displayed on a table and a great deal of interest was shown by the many farmers who participated. The identification work was handled by Dr. T. H. Goodling, Elvin Frolik and G. T. Webster.

Dr. K. S. Quisenberry gave an account of the experimental work that is being carried on in an attempt to prevent rust epidemics in the future. (A more complete account of his talk as well as those of other speakers on the program will be found in another story on this page dealing with the program.)

raska. Since the Barberry has been nearly all eradicated in this state—and we are quite a distance from the Kansas line we should be more nearly free from rust. The southern counties may be infested from rust spores blowing in from Kansas, where the Barberry or host plant for rust spores has not been eradicated.

Mr. J. C. Russell gave a report on the work that is being carried on in soil moisture conservation. Experimental data shows that at least one-fourth inch of moisture is lost when we use a mold board plow in moist ground. Mr. Russell questions the desirability of turning the ground over. They have designed a blade affair which runs beneath the surface, loosens the soil, kills the weeds and does not turn the soil over. Thus a moisture saving is effected. Mr. Russell also expressed the belief that we may have been wrong in the past when the farmer who plowed all trash under and left the surface bare was called a good farmer. The recent heavy rain at Lincoln afforded an opportunity to see what the trash mulch would do. The two inch rain was practically all held where the trash was on the surface; where the trash had been plowed under, the runoff was 75 per cent of the amount that fell. Perhaps, the man who leaves the "whiskers" sticking out is the "best farmer". In case our rainfall should increase to 30 inches per year, we would want to again plow dry so that our fields would dry. Again, we hope this is necessary.

Dr. Keim listed bindweed as Public Enemy No. 1 and Lewis Evans, who is employed by the U. S. Department of Agriculture and has charge of the bindweed experimental work at York, Neb., gave a short report on progress. For large acreages he recommended clean cultivation and for small areas the use of sodium Chlorate.

Mr. D. L. Gross, extension agronomist, discussed soy beans in Nebraska. Disadvantages mentioned were that there are no markets in parts of the state and where alfalfa hay can be grown it is superior to soybeans for hay.

Mr. Gross pointed out that in other states soy beans are not considered a competitive crop of corn and wheat but as a crop to complete the rotation. In Illinois and Indiana soybeans are used in many cases instead of oats. They are a crop which will enable the farmer to grow a "high protein feed"; they are resistant to chinch bugs and fairly drought resistant.

Home Missionary Meeting Delayed

The Woman's Home Missionary Society of the Methodist church will not hold a meeting this week as previously scheduled but will meet again early in August.

Hundreds Of Farmers At Field Day

Experts Give Advice On Many Problems

Several hundred farmers—most of them driven out of their fields by rain—were at the college of agriculture at Lincoln Wednesday for their annual crops-soils field day.

The trip to view the experimental crop work at the agronomy farm in the afternoon was cancelled due to rainfall, and the day's activities settled down to a talking session.

A 2-inch rain on the agronomy farm—just east of Lincoln—eliminated any chance of visiting the experimental plots there Wednesday. More than the normal crowd was in attendance at the morning session in the Student Activities building. Included were vocational agriculture instructors, in Lincoln for their annual conference.

Optimism Rules

Optimism reigned concerning the corn outlook. Most of the farmers reported considerable rainfall Tuesday night, although the moisture evidently missed some places. Emil Polnick, Saline county agricultural agent, said 3 inches fell at Wilbur, while Herman Ebers, Seward county farmer reported but a quarter inch. F. H. Hecht, who came all the way from Curtis, termed crop conditions in the South Platte area improved.

Ralph Godtel, Clay county farmer, won himself the choice of 2 bushels of Nebred wheat or 25 pounds of switchgrass seed as he topped honors in the grass and weed identification contest. Second was Raymond Etmund of Roca. Godtel scored 96 out of a possible 100 points—missing but one sample.

Dr. T. H. Gooding described field bindweed as Nebraska's public enemy No. 1. If bindweed infestation has been headed off 20 years ago, the problem would not be nearly so great today, he said. That Nebraska farmers are "weed conscious" was evidenced as Dr. Gooding exhibited many different weeds.

Dr. K. S. Quisenberry told the crowd about the causes, effects and cures of rusts in wheat. Orange and blackstem rust are often confused he said, although each has very definite characteristics. He outlined four different controls for the rust—none very easy. They included barberry eradication, cultural practices, chemicals, and resistant varieties.

Prevents Rust

The farmers were told that it has been demonstrated that sulphur dust scattered on wheat plants will prevent rust infection. This has been used rather widely in experimental work and to a limited extent by farmers.

"The final solution to the rust problem will be the development of resistant varieties", Dr. Quisenberry declared. "Unfortunately there are no stem rust resistant varieties of hard red winter wheat yet available for Nebraska. Nebred and Turkey, white not resistant, will probably suffer less loss from stem rust than will Nebraska 60 and Cheyenne".

Concerning spring wheat, the agronomist said rust resistance has been a major project in the improvement for the last 20 years. As a result, many resistant varieties are now available, some of which may be used in northwestern Nebraska. Until recently, epidemics occurred on the average of about one in ten years and with winter wheats, it was felt that other hazards were more serious.

An increased acreage of soybeans in Nebraska was seen by D. L. Gross. Installation of two new soybean processing plants in Nebraska has helped stimulate production and Gross indicated an acreage in 1939 two to four times the normal acreage for the state.

The speaker said he hoped Nebraska farmers will not become interested in soybean hay. Although it compares favorably to alfalfa in feed value, it is more difficult to cure and normally yields less than alfalfa. Concerning yields, Gross said soybeans have yielded about 15.5 bushels per acre over a period of 30 years at the Nebraska college of agriculture.

G. T. Webster told the farmers that the 1939 co-operative variety test program is the most extensive of crop testing ever undertaken by the college of agriculture. One or more crop variety demonstration plots have been planted in 81 counties or county agent districts. Corn is receiving more intensive testing than any of the other crops.

County agricultural agents and the agricultural college also have many sorghum tests throughout the state, Webster said. A total of 104 sets of seed were sent to agents this spring from which were planted from one to four variety plots with about 19 varieties in each set. In addition, there are official tests.

Dr. F. D. Keim appeared optimistic about the future of Buffalo grass for farm and city lawns in one of the feature talks of the morning. He reported how a lawn on the campus, spot-sodded in May of last year with small pieces of Buffalo put 18 inches apart, had completely sodded over in but a few months.

"I think we are just beginning to realize the possibilities of this grass for lawns", said Dr. Keim. "Naturally, we have much to learn from a practical standpoint but there is no doubt but what its use will continue to increase in Nebraska. Using it, of course, is not all a bed of roses as there are disadvantages".

Dr. Keim said it is virtually impossible to buy buffalo grass seed and success has not been too great where lawns have been established by seeding. He recommended rather the use of little squares of sod for lawn purposes and letting them spread out rather than seeding at the present time.

FSA Releases Harvest Funds

Money From Mortgaged Grain Sales Available

The question of releases of money from sales of government-mortgaged grain is bobbing up all over Nebraska now that the 1939 harvest is getting underway and Wayne and Pierce counties, are no exception, Ray L. Verzel, county Farm Security Administration supervisor, said today. Like most counties a considerable number of its farmers are harvesting a crop this year solely because they co-operated in the FSA rehabilitation loan program. Government loan collection policies have been approved by state FSA director, L. A. White, and the regional office, and were discussed by Mr. Verzel.

The FSA will follow sound business methods to assure continuation of the program's effectiveness. Costs will be held to the minimum and every effort made for the 1939 harvest to improve borrowers' circumstances.

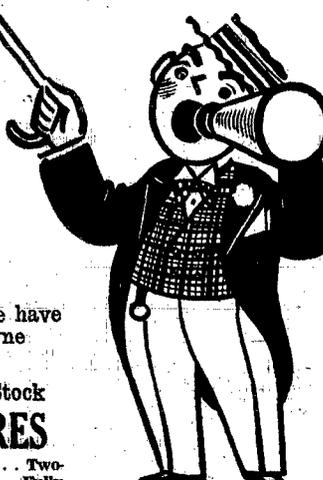

"Rehabilitation borrowers have been able to put in a crop and stay on their farms because of farm plans financed by FSA loans", Mr. Verzel said. "Cutting costs and paying debts are evidences of good planning, and will show up in this harvest".

The FSA will release funds realized from sale of crops from the borrower to pay necessary current harvesting expenses. These funds, together with increases from livestock and livestock products, are considered farm income subject to release to pay debts, the supervisor explained. The FSA cannot approve expensive harvesting practices, and if the family can do the work itself cash outlays for outside labor will not be approved. Trading work among neighbors when possible is considered much more desirable than hiring threshing crews.

No recommendations will be made as to where or to whom the crop shall be sold; however, the FSA will inform a borrower of what his co-operative marketing benefits would be if a sound co-operative agency is operating in his territory. Borrowers' grain may be sold when threshed or stored for a reasonable time in a public elevator bonded as a warehouse, but it cannot be stored for prolonged periods for the purpose of speculation.

As a special service to grain buyers the FSA will furnish lists of borrowers as a safeguard against unauthorized sales of mortgaged property. The supervisor warned, however, that the lists might not be complete and urged buyers to investigate if they think the grain might be mortgaged. As further protection to buyers they will be asked to make checks payable jointly to the borrower and to the FSA. The agency can in no way guarantee payment of borrowers' debts. Creditors or prospective creditors are welcome to contact the local office if they wish to determine any point not already clear to them.
