

Four Wayne golfers are making their annual excursion to Texas to pursue the elusive golf ball on the best links available in the southern section of the Lone Star state.

This plan for a five-county food stamp setup offers many benefits for all participating and will be a feather in the cap of the young Wayne Chamber of Commerce if it is landed successfully.

A brief verbal battle over the comparative value of handbills and newspaper advertising in publicizing farm sales alone broke the quiet of the sub-zero weather during the past week but even it failed to melt much snow.

Junior Jensen, who hails from Wisner and is now pounding the pavements in Wayne between classes selling ads for the Goldenrod, has worked out a novel arrangement for being awakened at 6 a. m. without benefit of alarm clock.

The recent cold wave froze the ambitions of most Wayne youths who were going to the aid of Finland in its war with Russia.

Speaking of battling, the politicians are now beginning to launch their verbal bombardments, even invading this section of the state.

Looking on the GOP side of the fence, it appears now that Thomas E. Dewey has a long lead on his fellow republican president.

19 Private, 158 Public Placements Are Made In County

Accomplishments of the Nebraska State Employment Service in Wayne county and throughout the Norfolk district, which includes 13 counties, during 1939 are summarized in the annual report of the Norfolk office.

Table with 2 columns: Category and Value. Includes Private Placements (19), Public Placements (158), Total Placements (177), New Applications (133), Active Applications (163), Renewals (348), Personal Visits (729), Unemployment compensation claims taken for Nebraska in these same 13 counties (1,440).

Average placements per month for the three year period, 1937-38-39 have been 213; average new applications per month over the same period have been 176.

City's Debt Is Reduced To $276,000

Liabilities And Assets Of Wayne Compared By Mayor

The City of Wayne, which has an assessed valuation of $1,800,000, has reduced its liabilities to a total of $276,000, according to the figures compiled by Mayor Martin Ringer.

This total of $276,000 compares most favorably with the peak bonded indebtedness of Wayne, which once amounted to $835,000.

City owned assets include the following: 11 miles of paving costing $925,000; light plant and equipment, $168,560; water works and mains, $42,786; old City Hall, $9,000; auditorium and equipment, $85,000; library and contents, $18,000; fire fighting equipment, $5,000; four parks, $15,900; testing station and ground, $4,000; cash in various funds, $20,000.

Other assets, which are not directly owned by the city of

Tax Question Is Debated

Kiwanians Hear Proposals To Broaden Tax Base

"Should we have a broader tax base?" was the question discussed at the Kiwanis club luncheon Monday noon at Hotel Stratton.

All candidates for governor have expressed themselves as being opposed to a tax change in Nebraska, yet the Nebraska taxes committee claims that a large percentage of taxes are delinquent.

Mr. Kirkman discussed the hidden taxes. He listed the taxes a man in retail business must pay as: personal tax for stock and fixtures, tobacco tax, narcotic tax, social security, unemployment tax and income tax.

Mr. Berry said that out of every dollar, 20 to 25 cents goes to the support of government of some kind.

The high school senior girl winning state honors in the fifth annual good citizenship pilgrimage contest to be conducted this spring will receive a free trip to Washington, D. C., when the continental congress convenes there in April.

The Wayne D.A.R. is inviting high school students to participate in the district contest to be held at the city school Saturday, Feb. 17.

Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Brinkman attended the funeral of William Schorman at Emerson Wednesday afternoon.

Last Community Sing Scheduled

The last community sing, sponsored by the Wayne churches, will be held at the City Auditorium Sunday evening.

Five County Group May Obtain Federal Food Stamp Benefits For Area

Butler Urges FDR Not To Enter Race

Candidate For GOP Ticket Raps New Deal Here

Appealing to President Roosevelt to eliminate himself definitely as a candidate for re-election, Hugh Butler of Omaha, candidate for the republican nomination for the United States senate, delivered an address in the interest of his candidacy at the regular meeting of the Wayne Men's club Wednesday night.

Mr. Butler predicted that such an announcement would clear the political air and restore confidence so that industry would use funds which are now inactive in the banks of the nation and thereby furnish employment to millions.

Raps New Deal

While stating that his speech was not intended to be a partisan one, he criticized adversely the New Deal on several accounts.

He advocated removing crop planting restrictions in drought-stricken areas like Nebraska while preventing some of the southern states from using acreage taken out of the production of other crops for the raising of corn.

He criticized the attitude of some federal agencies toward those farmers who have government loans; stressed the need of protecting Nebraska sugar producers from foreign competition; praised establishment of research laboratories for Nebraska farm products, a program which he favors expanding and urged that assistance be given irrigation projects in the state.

High School Citizenship Contest Will Be Held Here

The club voted authority to its board of directors to make a contribution to Finnish relief. Don Wightman presided in the absence of the president.

Few School Contest Prizes Still Unclaimed

A number of letters have been received from pupils of school districts winning prizes in the school vote contest, thanking the merchants co-operating in the contest and the Wayne News for prizes received.

Congratulations

Terry Leon, a nine pound, four and one half ounce boy was born to Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Wehrer of Wayne, at a local hospital last week.

C. Of C Is Investigating; Plan Explained

Efforts to organize a five-county group to obtain the federal food stamp benefits for this section of northeastern Nebraska were launched at a meeting Thursday night at Norfolk.

The five counties which would be included in the proposed stamp setup are Pierce, Knox, Madison, Wayne and Stanton.

Chief objective of the plan is to make use of farm products of which there are a surplus and which are denied to those without funds for their purchase.

Its operation may be best explained through an example. Take a WPA worker who under the present setup would be paid $20, and would spend about $15 of that amount for groceries, leaving only $5 for other purchases such as clothing and fuel.

Wildcats Trim Hastings And York To Remain Atop Both Conferences

Nitz Breaks Tie To Capture Close Contest; Wayne Stages Second Half Rally To Beat Visitors

Coach Jim Morrison's Wildcats added two more victories to their basketball record for the season last weekend, nosing out the strong Hastings college quintet at Hastings, 49 to 47, Friday night and then returning to Wayne Saturday to take their second win over York college, 35 to 19. The Wildcats thereby remained at the head of both the NIAA and the Nebraska Collegiate conferences.

The Hastings battle was bitterly and evenly fought from the opening whistle until Nitz tipped in a goal in the last five seconds of play to give the Wildcats their two point winning margin.

Nitz Sets Pace
The Wildcats took the lead in the first half but Hastings came back strong and tied the count at 47-all with the aid of seven points credited to Bill Trupp. Nitz, who won the game for the Wildcats, also led the scoring for Wayne. He accounted for 13 points. Marvel set the pace for Hastings, collecting a total of 15 counters.

The Wildcats meet Midland here tonight and face the strong Peru team there Friday night.

Although Wayne won over York by a wide margin in the contest here Saturday night, the battle was closer than the score indicates. The two teams were tied at 14-all at the half.

Tighten Defense
Then, the Wildcats tightened their defense to hold the visitors to a single field goal during the last half while they continued to bolster their score. Gother, cen-

Laurel To Vote On $3,000 Bond Issue

A $3,000 bond issue will be submitted to voters of Laurel at a special election to be held as soon as necessary arrangements can be made, it was decided at a meeting of the village board Tuesday evening.

This bond issue has been decided necessary to complete a $7,000 WPA project to make improvements of the water system of Laurel. The present water supply is not up to the requirements of the National Board of Underwriters who set the insurance rates for every town. A test by a representative of that organization was made last fall and it was reported that the pumps were not delivering the required amount of water. The board now given time to remedy the situation but has found it impossible with its present equipment.

Barnett Home Damaged By Fire Thursday

Firemen answered a call to the Harry Barnett home during Thursday's sub-zero weather to extinguish a fire in the roof. Frozen pumps hampered the work so that hand extinguishers had to be used. The fire started up again during the morning and firemen made another call to the Barnett home. A hole was burned in the roof before the fire could be extinguished.

Wayne High Upsets Dope To Defeat Sioux City Cagers In Thrilling Game

Large Crowd Sees Spectacular Cage Battle Here Saturday; Meet Norfolk There Friday

In one of the best basketball battles staged here in recent years, the fast Wayne High quintet, which is setting the pace in the Northeast Nebraska circuit, upset the dope bucket and whipped the strong Central High team of Sioux City in a spectacular battle, 22 to 17, here Saturday night. One of the largest crowds of the season witnessed the fray.

Meanwhile, Wayne High retained its lead in Northeast Nebraska league, where it is undefeated with only two games remaining. The local quintet will clash with Norfolk at Norfolk Friday night and then journey to West Point a week from tonight.

Powers Nabs Lead

From the opening whistle until late in the third quarter, it appeared to be another victory for Central High, which was just returning from defeating Lincoln high at Lincoln. Until that time, Wayne was trailing the Little Maroons. Then, Powers connected and sent the home team into a one point lead, the score being 15 to 14. It was the first of four field goals for which Powers was responsible during the game.

In the final quarter, first one and then the other team took the lead, matching shot for shot. Freeman sank a long one to give Sioux City a 18 to 15 edge only to have Berry tie the count with a free toss and Powers regain the lead by connecting with a tip-in after missing on a long shot. This gave Wayne 18 to 16 for the visitors.

Fitch increased the advantage a point with a free toss but Larson, star Central forward, collected on a free throw to make the count 19 to 17. Seymour added another free shot to the local cagers' count and Powers connected with a one-hander to boost the final score to 22 to 17.

Central Takes Lead

In the initial quarter, Central took an early lead as Stevens and Larson accounted for goals while Wayne garnered only one point through a free toss by Johnson. However, Wayne's defense tightened somewhat in the second quarter, which closed with the Sioux City team holding a four point margin, 12 to 7.

Wayne's shifting zone defense had its effect in forcing the visitors to depend upon long shots, while Powers and Myers led the attack which shifted the margin from Sioux City to Wayne.

Powers' four fielders topped the scoring for Wayne while Fitch, guard, played an outstanding defensive game. Larson paced the Sioux Cityans with eight points.

The box score follows:

New 4-H Forestry Records

Nebraska 4-H Forestry club members proved again last year that tree plantings will survive even in the most unfavorable years with the proper care. That fact is brought out in a report received this week at our office from Earl Maxwell, junior extension forester at the University of Nebraska Agricultural college.

Top honors for an individual club in tree survival last year go to the North Divide 4-H club of Furnas county; while Perkins county takes top honors for tree survival among all Nebraska counties with three or more 4-H forestry clubs.

Six members of the North Divide club, led by Allan Harlan and Max Fleming, raised 239 trees out of 243 planted — a survival of 98.3 per cent. And 34 members of five clubs in Perkins county raised 2,155 trees and shrubs out of 2,533 planted — a survival of 85.1 per cent.

Other individual clubs with better than 90 per cent of survival of trees planted last year include the Thrift Foragers, Saline county, 97.8 per cent; Four L club, Franklin county, 97.3; County Line Forester, Thayer county (last year's champions), 94.2; Best Again, Otce county, 90.1.

The 10 high counties with three or more clubs include Perkins, 85.1 per cent tree survival; Franklin, 77.3 per cent; Saline, 75.6; Nuckolls, 73.8; Fillmore, 73.1; Douglas, 73.0; Garden, 72.8; Hayes, 72.8; Kearney, 71.6; Thayer, 71.3. Last year set new high records from the standpoint of number of 4-H forestry members in Nebraska (2,653); number of clubs organized (226); number of counties with clubs (60); and number of tree and shrubs which these club members planted or helped plant (83,000).

Average tree survival for all Nebraska 4-H clubs last year was 65.6 per cent considered a good figure in view of the unfavorable conditions last year. Although somewhat lower than the survival in 1938 it was much higher than the survival in 1936 and 1937.

Anyone who is interested in belonging to a forestry club is invited to come to the Farm Bureau office, or to send us a card. Each member of a club which is organized before February 15 will be given 25 trees without charge. 4-H members who belong to forestry clubs study the different varieties of trees, planting, and care of the trees and proper planning of a windbreak. In some cases, forestry club members have studied conservation and restoration of wild life in connection with their tree studies.

Snow Ridges Save Moisture

Snow ridging was suggested to Wayne county farmers this week as a means of saving moisture from this winter's snow for plant use next spring or early summer.

Ivan Wood, extension engineer at the University of Nebraska Agricultural College, informs County Extension Agent Walters that the North Dakota Agricultural college has done some interesting work along this line.

The process consists of building ridges of snow on the farm garden or on other ground where it is desired that moisture be stored. These ridges are made with an "A" frame or snow plow built with a couple of pieces of plank and drawn by a team of horses. The ridge is put entirely around the outer edge of the garden and several cross-ridges are built. The ridges cause snow to drift and it has been possible to collect drifts 3 or 4 feet high in this way.

In the spring when the snow is melting and contains a great deal of moisture it might well be pushed onto the garden with a buck-scraper or ordinary wheel scraper, Wood suggests. By snow ridging or actually piling snow on the garden it may easily be possible to store up 4 to 6 inches of moisture in the subsoil for production of early vegetables. There is a great advantage in listing the garden area so as to produce a rough surface to hold the water from the melted snow.

The importance of conserving moisture from the snow is emphasized by the fact that examinations of the subsoil early this winter indicated virtually no moisture down to the fourth foot. Even under favorable conditions it will be difficult to produce crops this year without favorable rainfall during the spring and summer, the agricultural engineer comments.

Snow, as it ordinarily falls, contains about 1 inch of moisture for 10 inches in depth but packed snow may contain 1 inch of moisture for each 3 inches in depth.

Extension Circular 769, "Irrigation of the Farm Garden", available without charge at the county extension office, contains additional suggestions for conserving moisture.

In some sections and in at least one case in Wayne county, snow farming has been practiced in fields.

Time To Test Seed

Several farmers have brought in samples of seed to be tested at the state seed laboratory. This is a free service available to all farmers. Both germination and purity tests are made. All work is under supervision of Mr. Ray Kinch, the state seed analyst.

Anyone who wishes to bring samples to the Farm Bureau office may do so and we will send the samples to Lincoln for testing. Some people do a very good job of testing their own seeds. If this is the practice, probably the old "rag doll" tester is most satisfactory. The important thing is that a good representative sample of all seed should be tested before it is planted.

1940 Grasshopper Prospects

There will probably be more grasshoppers hatched in Wayne county in 1940, according to the report of the grasshopper adult and egg surveys received here at the Farm Bureau office.

The results indicate 45 per cent more eggs were found by the entomologists in Wayne county when they made the survey, in the fall of 1939 than in 1938. Co-operating in the state-wide survey was the Department of Entomology at the University of Nebraska college of Agriculture and the Bureau of Entomology and Plant Quarantine of the U. S. Department of Agriculture.

The statewide survey showed the egg population in November 1939, to be between 10 and 20 per cent less than a year earlier but the center of population had changed greatly. Excepting Scotts Bluff, Morrill and Banner counties, the counties in the western part of the state in general show a marked decrease in number of eggs and the same was true of southwestern counties. Farther east, the reverse was largely true.

Thus Harlan, Dawson and Custer counties showed some increase in the numbers of eggs and in a broad band running from Webster and Thayer counties on the south to Cedar and Burt counties on the north and east, egg counts were fully as high and many counties markedly higher than in the fall of 1938.

O. S. Bare, extension entomologist who reported the results of the surveys, said that everything indicates that while many counties show a reduction in grasshopper eggs, nearly all counties have enough to make an organized control campaign necessary. Many counties will require more extensive control work than in 1939.

He also commented that it was very noticeable the greatest increases came in counties that were slow in getting the control work started in the spring, or in which the farmers failed to co-operate until the grasshoppers were doing very serious damage and the time for most effective poisoning had passed.

WPA Provides Many Valuable Improvements; 72 Employed Here Now

Fair Grounds, College

About $4,000 worth of WPA labor has been expended on improvements at the Wayne county fair grounds and the Wayne State College has obtained its share of WPA work including construction of three concrete tennis courts; completion of the Willow Bowl and new athletic field. The football field was sodded, old Terrace Hall removed and its heat tunnel rebuilt and a basement built in the Physical Education building. Most recent projects are the new brick garage, and shop and a Y.W.C.A. shelter house.

In addition to all these major projects, Mayor Ringer pointed out that there have been scores of minor ones on which WPA labor has been employed such as cleaning the streets of snow, installing minor sewer and water projects, removal of fences, unloading and hauling materials.

NOTICE

All Egg Producers

You know the provisions of the new egg law which is in effect. When it became effective, we thought that it would be impossible for us to buy your eggs satisfactorily and with justice to you, the producers.

Now, we have altered our previous decision not to purchase eggs in the future direct from the producers.

We will make arrangements to buy them and will do all we can to help the producers in the future as we have in the past.

So, bring your eggs to us and we will try and pay you the BEST MARKET PRICE possible. We always have in the past and we will continue to do so.

We will pay according to the market and the present market is strong. We are paying 17 cents now and may pay even more.

So that you may receive the best possible price and help us pay more for your eggs, try to have them weigh not less than 35 pounds to the case.

SO BRING US YOUR EGGS!

Four Wayne golfers are making their annual excursion to Texas to pursue the elusive golf ball on the best links available in the southern section of the Lone Star state.

This plan for a five-county food stamp setup offers many benefits for all participating and will be a feather in the cap of the young Wayne Chamber of Commerce if it is landed successfully.

A brief verbal battle over the comparative value of handbills and newspaper advertising in publicizing farm sales alone broke the quiet of the sub-zero weather during the past week but even it failed to melt much snow.

Junior Jensen, who hails from Wisner and is now pounding the pavements in Wayne between classes selling ads for the Goldenrod, has worked out a novel arrangement for being awakened at 6 a. m. without benefit of alarm clock.

Speaking of battling, the politicians are now beginning to launch their verbal bombardments, even invading this section of the state.

Looking on the GOP side of the fence, it appears now that Thomas E. Dewey has a long lead on his fellow republican president.

Accomplishments of the Nebraska State Employment Service in Wayne county and throughout the Norfolk district, which includes 13 counties, during 1939 are summarized in the annual report of the Norfolk office.

City's Debt Is Reduced To $276,000

Liabilities And Assets Of Wayne Compared By Mayor

The City of Wayne, which has an assessed valuation of $1,800,000, has reduced its liabilities to a total of $276,000, according to the figures compiled by Mayor Martin Ringer.

This total of $276,000 compares most favorably with the peak bonded indebtedness of Wayne, which once amounted to $835,000.

Tax Question Is Debated

Kiwanians Hear Proposals To Broaden Tax Base

"Should we have a broader tax base?" was the question discussed at the Kiwanis club luncheon Monday noon at Hotel Stratton.

Supt. N. F. Thorpe introduced the speakers, Prof. O. R. Bowen, R. K. Kirkman and Fred Berry.

Sales Tax Advocated "All candidates for governor have expressed themselves as being opposed to a tax change in Nebraska, yet the Nebraska taxes committee claims that a large percentage of taxes are delinquent", Prof. Bowen said.

Mr. Kirkman discussed the hidden taxes. He listed the taxes a man in retail business must pay as: personal tax for stock and fixtures, tobacco tax, narcotic tax, social security, unemployment tax and income tax.

Looking on the GOP side of the fence, it appears now that Thomas E. Dewey has a long lead on his fellow republican president.

Butler Urges FDR Not To Enter Race

Candidate For GOP Ticket Raps New Deal Here

Appealing to President Roosevelt to eliminate himself definitely as a candidate for re-election, Hugh Butler of Omaha, candidate for the republican nomination for the United States senate, delivered an address in the interest of his candidacy at the regular meeting of the Wayne Men's club Wednesday night.

Mr. Butler predicted that such an announcement would clear the political air and restore confidence so that industry would use funds which are now inactive in the banks of the nation and thereby furnish employment to millions.

Raps New Deal

While stating that his speech was not intended to be a partisan one, he criticized adversely the New Deal on several accounts. He stressed the importance of agriculture, admitting that the drought had played a role in bringing about present conditions but also laying a share of the blame on the doorstep of present agricultural policies.

He advocated removing crop planting restrictions in drought-stricken areas like Nebraska while preventing some of the southern states from using acreage taken out of the production of other crops for the raising of corn.

He would also help feeders and farmers through distributing to them at a fair price government corn now held in storage.

Aid Finnish Relief

He criticized the attitude of some "Federal" agencies toward those farmers who have government loans; stressed the need of protecting Nebraska sugar producers from foreign competition; praised establishment of research laboratories for Nebraska farm products, a program which he favors expanding and urged that assistance be given irrigation projects in the state.

The club voted authority to its board of directors to "make a contribution to Finnish relief. Don Wightman presided in the absence of the president.

High School Citizenship Contest Will Be Held Here

The high school senior girl winning state honors in the fifth annual good citizenship pilgrimage contest to be conducted this spring will receive a prize trip to Washington, D. C., when the continental congress convenes there in April.

The Wayne D.A.R. is inviting high school students to participate in the district contest to be held at the city school Saturday, Feb. 17. Mrs. J. G. Miller is in charge of the contest for 10 towns, assisted by Miss Hazel Reeve and Miss Coral Stoddard.

Schools to be represented in Wayne by one senior girl chosen by instructors of each school are Wayne city, Wayne prep, Carroll, Emerson, Homer, Pender, Thurston, Wakefield, Walthill, Winnebago and Winside.

Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Brinkman attended the funeral of William Schorman at Emerson Wednesday afternoon. Mr. Schorman, a resident of Emerson vicinity for 43 years, who died at the home of his son, George Schorman Sunday of last week, was a close friend of the Brinkmans.

C Of C Is Investigating; Plan Explained

Efforts to organize a five-county group to obtain the federal food stamp benefits for this section of northeastern Nebraska were launched at a meeting Thursday night at Norfolk. The Wayne Chamber of Commerce was represented at this meeting by a delegation of local grocers headed by Chris Lueders and will send additional representatives to another meeting to be held at the Chamber of Commerce building in Norfolk Friday night.

The five counties which would be included in the proposed stamp setup are Pierce, Knox, Madison, Wayne and Stanton. The stamp plan has been highly praised in the communities in which it has been tested and is now being extended to several other sections.

Objectives, Operation

Chief objective of the plan is to make use of farm products of which there are a surplus and which are denied to those without funds for their purchase. In its operation, it also serves to materially increase the aid received by all families on relief, WPA workers, the groups receiving direct cash relief such as the blind, the aged, dependent children, and in fact all certified to relief, whether direct or through jobs.

Its operation may be best explained through an example. Take a WPA worker who under the present setup would be paid $20, and would spend about $15 of that amount for groceries, leaving only $5 for other purchases such as clothing and fuel. If he

Prayer Day Services Set

Women Of All Denominations To Hold Union Meeting

Women of all denominations will take part in the annual World Day of Prayer to be observed at a union all day service Friday, Feb. 9, at the Woman's club rooms at the City Auditorium.

The service will open at 10:30 a. m. with the theme "In Quietness and in Confidence Shall Be Your Strength".

Following morning devotionals the women will serve lunch. Coffee will be furnished by the women of the Baptist church. Business meeting and election of officers for the coming year will be held after lunch. The first afternoon meeting will begin at 1:30 and continue through the afternoon.

Special music is being arranged. Mrs. H. Hanscom will lead the singing, accompanied by Mrs. W. Swanson.

Mrs. Carlos Martin is president of the Wayne association. Mrs. F. L. Blair is vice president and Mrs. Claude Wright, secretary-treasurer.

Few School Contest Prizes Still Unclaimed

A number of letters have been received from pupils of school districts winning prizes in the school vote contest, thanking the merchants co-operating in the contest and the Wayne News for prizes received.

Most of the prizes have been given out but a few still remain unclaimed, due perhaps to the extremely cold weather since the contest ended. The News would appreciate it if teachers would make arrangements to call for their prizes as soon as possible.

Among the major prizes remaining are three K-D whisks, won by Bernadine Meyer, Dist. 26; June Rasmussen, Dist. 50; and Blanche Johnson, Dist. 54; a complete basketball set won by Frances McGill, Dist. 53 and a croquet set won by Rosemary Neely, Dist. 78. There is also a $5.00 trade certificate for M. Elsie Tingel, Dist. 49.

Swett Picked As C. Of C. Secretary

Sioux City Man To Take Charge Here Feb. 15

Winthrop H. Swett, who for the past five years has been business manager of the combined public and private relief offices of Sioux City, which co-ordinated all the relief work in that city, was unanimously elected secretary of the Wayne Chamber of Commerce at a special meeting of its board of directors Saturday night.

Mr. Swett will resign his present position to take active full time charge of the Chamber of Commerce work here on Feb. 15. He will move here with his wife and two children as soon after that date as convenient.

Highly Recommended

Mr. Swett comes to Wayne with the highest of recommendations and has received wide experience in numerous fields closely allied with Chamber of Commerce work which the directors believe qualify him to do an outstanding job here. In accepting a year's contract at $2,000, he emphasized the necessity of all members of the organization continuing their co-operative efforts in behalf of the program to benefit Wayne.

The first secretary of the new civic organization was chosen as

Wayne Man Seriously Hurt In Snow Plow Mishap

Catching his arm in the fan of the back motor of a rotary snow plow while clearing state roads near Madison Friday morning, Bob Headlee of Wayne suffered serious injuries.

The large bone of his arm below the elbow was cut into and the smaller bone broken.

Immediately after the accident he was rushed to a Madison doctor, who drove him to a Norfolk hospital. His condition is good, according to his brother-in-law, Everett Hoguewood.

Mr. Headlee, formerly of Ponca, came to Wayne a year ago and has been living at the Hogue woods.

Death Claims Mrs. Cross

Resident Of Wayne For 50 Years Dies Here

Mary Geneva Cross, 83, who has lived in Wayne fifty years, died Wednesday evening at 9:45 at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Guy Root. In 1938, Mrs. Cross suffered a broken hip in a fall but was able to be around again until recently when she suffered a stroke from which she failed to recover.

Mrs. Cross was born Dec. 25, 1856, at Brooklyn, Iowa, to Peter and Lydia Mears. She came to Wayne county while a young girl, with her parents. She was united with the Baptist church.

In 1885 she married L. O. Cross. Two children were born to this union, Mrs. Root and Mrs. Frank O. Davis, both of Wayne.

Her parents, two sisters and two brothers preceded her in death. She leaves her daughters, eight grandchildren, two great grandchildren, three sisters, Mrs. Lydia Benson of Everett, Wash., Mrs. Jennie Stallish of Madison, Neb., Mrs. J. M. Cherry of Wayne, one brother, William Mears of Wayne.

Funeral services were held from the Hiscox Funeral Home Saturday at 10 a. m. Rev. Bader conducted the services. Burial was in Greenwood cemetery.

107 Farmers Given Loans

$124,133. Is Loaned By FSA In Wayne County

The Farm Security Administration loaned $124,133.25 since 1935 in Wayne county to 107 county farmers who were unable to obtain commercial credit, reports Ray L. Verzal, FSA rural rehabilitation supervisor for this county.

87 standard loans, based on diversified farming plans, comprised $117,413.25 of that amount. In addition there were 12 supplemental loans totaling $2,075.00 and 8 totaling $4,645.00 for joint purchase of community services and for participation in co-operative associations.

Mr. Verzal said that his office records show that during 1939 FSA loan funds purchased 26 horses and mules; 61 cows; 17 other cattle; 21 swine; 19 sheep; and 1,284 head of poultry for borrower's farms.

Soundness of the balanced farming plans, which stress livestock and livestock products as steady income producers and are required of all FSA borrowers, is indicated by the fact that $21,577.26 has been repaid on FSA loans in the past 12 months. Of the 197 repayments made during 1939, eight were in full.

Willingness of farm families who had been receiving emergency grants to follow the lead of borrowers in making extra efforts to provide as much of the family living as possible directly from the farm, has enabled many of them to get along without grants this winter. A year ago 6 farm families were receiving emergency grants; at present no families receive grants.

Mrs. Ole Hurstad Mable and Henrietta attended the funeral of Mrs. Hurstad's niece, Clara Morstad, at Sloan, Iowa, Thursday. Mr. and Mrs. E. A. Hurstad of Valley stopped in Wayne on the same day enroute to Miss Molstad's funeral.

Mrs. Craven Dies Monday At Lincoln

Prominent Wayne Woman Mourned By Host Of Friends

Mrs. Harry B. Craven, prominent resident of Wayne, who had been critically ill in a Lincoln hospital since a week ago Thursday, died there Monday evening. Funeral arrangements were not immediately available.

Mrs. Craven, whose serious illness saddened the entire city, showed some slight improvement following two blood transfusions Wednesday, but was reported in critical condition since Saturday. Mr. Craven, prominent pioneer businessman, and her daughter Mrs. William Kingston of Chicago, were with her in Lincoln during her fatal illness.

She became ill about the first of the month but her condition was not believed to be serious until shortly before she was taken to Lincoln by ambulance.

Mrs. Craven, who was Maude Reynolds before her marriage, was active for years in both church and social circles and leaves hundreds of friends in Wayne and vicinity. She came here as a girl with her parents and attended school in Wayne. She was a member of the Methodist church.

Survivors include her husband, and two daughters, Mrs. Kingston and Mrs. Merrill Whitman; a sister, Mrs. Jean Gildersleeve of Wayne; a sister, Mrs. Charles Bebe of Portland, Ore.; a brother, Delos Reynolds of Fremont; and a sister-in-law, Mrs. Jessie Reynolds of Wayne.

Death Claims Mrs. Oliver

Woman Suffers Fatal Stroke At Farm Near Wayne

Death came suddenly Friday evening for Susan Smith Oliver, 63, who had been keeping house for her four sons on a farm southwest of Wayne. Mrs. Oliver, who had been ill several days last week but apparently had recovered Friday, suffered a stroke as she was going about duties in the yard of her home. When she failed to return to the house, her body was found in the chicken house.

Mrs. Oliver was born Feb. 26, 1876, at St. Edmund, England. She came to America with her mother, Mrs. Eliza Smith, at the age of ten years. She was married to William Oliver Feb. 12, 1896, and had resided in Wayne county since that time. Four sons were born to this union, Charles, Horace, William and John.

Mrs. Oliver was baptized in the Baptist church of Wayne but for the last ten years had attended the Lutheran church, first at Winside and lately at Our Redeemer's Lutheran church of Wayne. Her outstanding quality was kindness and friendliness toward all acquaintances.

Since her husband's death on June 2, 1913, Mrs. Oliver had been keeping house for her sons, who were engaged in farming.

Besides her sons, there are no survivors.

Funeral services were held at 2 o'clock Monday at Our Redeemer's Lutheran church, Rev. W. F. Most officiating. The Hiscox Funeral Home was in charge of arrangements. Mrs. Howard Kahler, Mrs. Ed Bahe and Minnie Denkinger, accompanied by Mrs. Martin Ringer, sang.

Chris Hansen Claimed By Death

Chris Hansen, son of Mr. and Mrs. Hans Peter Hansen, was born at Roskilde, Denmark, Feb. 28, 1886. He died on Jan. 25 at the home of his daughter, Mrs. I. W. Johnson at Oakland, Iowa, after a lingering illness, at the age of 73 years, 10 months and 29 days. He was baptized and confirmed in the Danish Lutheran church in Roskilde, Denmark. He came to America at the age of 21 and arrived at Blair, Neb. in March, 1887.

Several years later he came to Wayne county. He was united in marriage to Margaret Conradine Sundahl on April 13, 1894. They resided on a farm near Winside for 15 years. They moved to Colorado where they resided eight years, returning to Winside where they again lived for three years. In 1920 they moved to a farm in South Dakota. In 1923 they moved to Coleridge where they made their home until 1934. Since that time he has made his home with his children. Much of the time with his sons, Nick and Clarence of Winside. His wife passed away July 17, 1934. One son and a brother also preceded him in death.

Survivors are three daughters: Mrs. Ed Kalin of Coleridge, Mrs. Martin Madsen of Sioles and Mrs. I. W. Johnson of Oakland, Ia.; two sons, H. N. Hansen and C. S. Hansen of Winside; thirteen grandchildren and three great grandchildren. Funeral services were held Sunday at the home of his daughter, Mrs. Kalin and at the Immanuel Lutheran church in Coleridge with Rev. Nelderwimmer in charge. Burial was in the Coleridge cemetery.

Swett Picked As C. Of C. Secretary

The most qualified of the many applications received after careful investigation by a committee of three members including Ted Hook, Russell Larson and John Carhart. The committee members made a special trip to Sioux City recently and corresponded extensively before making their recommendation to the board.

Prominent Sioux City leaders credited Mr. Swett with doing an outstanding job in co-ordinating all the relief work of the government, state, city and numerous local agencies there. There he is in charge of the central office, directing a force of between 25 and 30 workers as well as working with the directors of these various units and persons of virtually all classes. He also worked with the Sioux City Chamber of Commerce and was highly recommended by Leo Dalley, secretary, and other officials of that organization as well as civic and business leaders in that city.

Previous Experience

His previous experience also should prove most valuable in his work here. He served for several years as advertising manager of an eastern concern, has worked as a salesman and was an auditor in the employment of the government several years ago.

He has been interested for sometime in Chamber of Commerce work and believes that Wayne offers an opportunity to be of real service and make a most creditable record in this field. In accepting the position, he also volunteered to devote a few days to organization work here before Feb. 15. He will attend the next meeting of the board of directors, scheduled for Feb. 12, and will probably be in Wayne prior to that date to confer with some of the officials of the organization so that the program may get underway with a minimum of delay.

As both Carl Wright, president of the Chamber of Commerce, and Russell Larson, vice president, left on their annual excursion to Texas Sunday, Russell Bartels, temporary secretary, was selected to preside at the next meeting and to purchase necessary office equipment for the Chamber of Commerce headquarters which will be located at present in the building occupied by the Cavanaugh Insurance Agency. This building will be shared with A. T. Cavanaugh.

Mr. Wright urged all committee chairmen to submit their detailed budgets to the budget committee by next Monday so that the committee could co-ordinate them and make its recommendations to the directors at their next meeting.

The Wayne News Advocates

1. Formation of a Wayne civic organization with a paid secretary which will have as its sole objective the improvement and growth of Wayne; an organization through which all business firms and professional men may unite their efforts.
2. Expansion of Wayne's trade territory.
3. Co-operation between WSTC and Wayne for their mutual benefit.
4. Improved transportation facilities including all-weather roads throughout this section of the state.
5. Extension of the soil and water conservation work throughout Wayne and adjacent counties.
6. Improvement of educational facilities and standards in both rural and town schools.

WPA Projects

The summary of WPA projects in Wayne, prepared by Mayor Martin Ringer and published in The News last week, reveals that this city has received thousands of dollars worth of improvements. Few will deny the value of any of the major projects nor the fact that they were carried out at minimum expense to the City of Wayne.

Credit for the selection of such improvements is due the city council, which planned them for the WPA. They are projects which were needed, if not immediately, certainly in the near future. Many will contribute to the services, conveniences and recreations enjoyed by the citizens of Wayne for years to come.

More important is the fact that they furnished work to hundreds of men, who otherwise would have been forced to depend upon charity. The material costs have been kept at the minimum; most of the expense going to labor, supplying jobs and a bare living for local depression victims.

While it may be true that some WPA projects in other sections of the country have not been planned with sufficient care or were not needed, the charge does not hold true here. We can judge the works program, both the WPA and PWA, largely by their accomplishments in Wayne and Wayne county. Measured on such a basis, it is difficult to see how the relief problem could have been better handled than through such a system.

Probably there have been some abuses, but the critics of the two agencies are indeed egotistical if they believe they could have managed such a vast program without some mistakes.

Chief critics of these two agencies would unload the cost and responsibility of providing relief for the unemployed on their respective communities. Some communities might handle the problem equally well; others would not. All agree that the unemployed must be aided, but could all towns and cities, even though they were willing to do so, finance adequate relief programs. The need and the means of answering that need are not always present in the same measure in a community; in fact, the opposite is more often true. Under the present system, the projects are properly supervised and the need answered on a more general and satisfactory basis.

Need Evident

If there were any who doubted the need of a Chamber of Commerce in Wayne or that there would be sufficient work here to justify employment of a full-time paid secretary, we invite them to check the list of suggestions for beneficial projects submitted by the standing committees at their initial meetings.

The vast majority of these suggestions are well worth serious consideration. The need of acting on many of them soon is obvious. Others will have to wait. They do demonstrate, however, that there will be ample work for not only the paid secretary but also as many committee members as are willing to help.

If even a fraction of these proposals are carried out successfully during the next 12 months, the cost of organizing and maintaining the Wayne Chamber of Commerce will be amply repaid in benefits. Many of these fruits of the organization's work will be enjoyed by those who are not members of the organization as well as those who are.

Sub-zero weather outlived its welcome in Wayne this month, the severity of the frigid waves breaking past records. While it doesn't keep us any warmer to know that the weather has been unusually severe in all sections of the country, if there is any truth to that old saying about misery loving company, just think about the people in the South.

Some sections there are getting heavy snows for the first time in years and suffering is more acute than it is here due to the fact that they are not prepared for this brand of weather. Here, the majority of homes are built to withstand the sub-zero blasts and are equipped with proper heating facilities. Not so in many southern states, where they are battling really cold weather now for the first time in years.

'Please, Mr. President'

"Please, Mr. President, say you will not run for re-election" seems to summarize the campaign speeches of GOP hopefuls.

Hugh Butler, who is seeking the republican nomination for the senate, described to the Wayne Men's club Wednesday night how essential it was that the President eliminate himself from the race promptly. This statement would in some magical fashion restore confidence so that the money with which the banks are now loaded would flow freely into business and industrial channels, the millions of jobless would be re-employed and our major ills would thus be cured. Just how Mr. Butler arrives at these deductions would require the services of Sherlock Holmes and the United States secret service but it's a beautiful picture.

Equally desirable but no more likely is his proposal to increase the farm aid in Nebraska and eliminate it in states which enjoyed more favorable weather and better crops in the last few years. Just how any senator could convince his fellow senators, representing those other states, that such action should be taken remains another mystery.

But campaign promises have always been easy to make and difficult to fulfill regardless of who makes them.

PRESIDENT GETS CAMPAIGN REPORT

WASHINGTON, January—Keith Morgan, National Chairman, and members of the Committee for the celebration of the President's Birthday tell President Roosevelt at White House conference that drive for "Fight Infantile Paralysis" funds is being speeded up in every state. "March of Dimes" contributions are rolling into the White House in a steady stream. Chairman Morgan's report declared that over 10,000 celebrations will be held in honor of the President's 58th birthday, Tuesday, January 30, when the drive will reach its climax. Last appeals are being made to every one to contribute something to the fund to fight the crippling disease. Those with the President are (left to right) District Commissioner George E. Allen; Col. B. Walker Wear, of New York, Assistant National Chairman; George V. Riley, and Keith Morgan, National Chairman of the Committee for the Celebration of the President's Birthday.

Economic Highlight And Trends

Socialism On A Grand Scale

The recent proposal, made by a prominent senator, that the United States government go into the insurance business and sell annuity policies up to $100 per month, seems to have met with the strong opposition of the American press.

Typical editorial comment came from the Dowagiac, Michigan, News, which said: "Why not leave life insurance to the life insurance companies? Or else why not take over all business and let us become employees with no worries about business-getting or payrolls. Let's be socialists or let's not. Let's not." The Colorado Springs Gazette observed that acceptance of the proposal "would mean government banking on a scale resembling state capitalism." The whole pressure now is to get government out of business, not to plunge it in deeper". The Los Angeles Times said, "It would be only a step from that to government-writing of life, accident, fire, marine and automobile insurance policies and taking over the whole vast insurance field. Its entrance there would be just as logical as its going into the annuity business". The Detroit Free Press summed up a long editorial with this succinct comment: "The annuity proposal appears to be just another manifestation of the itch to socialize this country . . ."

There might be some justification for the proposal if the insurance industry had failed to provide the American people with adequate protection. But the truth is that, under our system of private enterprise, we possess far more insurance of all kinds, on a per capita basis, than the people of any other nation. "Socialized" insurance — which is the only proper way to describe the senator's plan — would be a mighty long step in the direction of ultimate socialization or political domination of all business.

Banks And Borrowers

The old argument that the country's banks are no longer able to adequately satisfy the nation's credit needs, and that, as a result, there must be more government-sponsored credit, has fallen on evil days. For today's evidence overwhelmingly proves that the banks, as a whole, are doing a superb job in serving legitimate borrowers.

A survey made by the American Bankers Association covers the experience of 6,000 commercial banks (41 per cent of all banks in the country) during the first half of 1939. These banks made almost 5,750,000 new loans during that period, for a total of more than $10,000,000,000. They renewed more than 5,600,000 old loans, for a total of better than $7,618,000,000. They made 127,000 mortgage loans, totaling over $412,000,000.

This adds up to 11,500,000 credit extensions — for a grand total of more than $18,114,000,000. And that money was loaned by less than half of the country's banks. If the remaining banks had a similar experience, and there is every reason to believe they did, total loans in the six-month period reached the astronomical figure of approximately $45,000,000,000 — an amount which exceeds our present national debt.

It is a telling point, developed by various other surveys, that the banks in late years have been unusually successful in their efforts to serve small business. A resolution adopted last October by the National Small Businessmen's Association, said: "We oppose the use of national credit for subsidizing insolvent business. We believe that there is no demand for legitimate bank credit that our banks are not eager to meet".

Reports such as this should go a long way toward liquidating the various misconceptions that have risen concerning the role of banking in our economic life. No bank refuses a loan because it wants to. It refuses loans when it must — because legal restrictions and the obligation of the banker to the depositors who own the money he manages, make refusal unavoidable. It looks as if the only loan requirements banks are not meeting today are those where the potential borrower hasn't the requisite credit or business standing — loans, in other words, which would probably never be paid back.

Economic Highlights

Happenings that affect the dinner pails, dividend checks and tax bills of every individual. National and international problems inseparable from local welfare.

If you want to make a congressman turn white, sneak up behind him and shout loudly, "What are you going to do about taxes?" The demand for a concrete tax and debt policy which really gets to the bottom of our tangled fiscal situation, is growing rapidly. The public, which for some months has been occupied with European affairs, seems to be turning its attention again to our own domestic problems. The publicists and the columnists have been pointing out that there isn't much we can do about Europe, and that we have plenty to keep us busy at home.

There is a good chance that tax questions will pretty much hold the spotlight this session. The administration's defenders and opponents are unlimbering their artillery. But it won't be a purely partisan fight. For there is no general agreement within either major party as to just what the workable solution is.

Curiously enough, in that this is definitely a spending administration, the economy bloc leaders are generally democrats. Senators Harrison and Byrd are perhaps the strongest advocates of genuine government expense reduction. By and large, the influential southern group of senators and representatives, mainstays of the party during its lean years, support them. But, as yet, the group has had no really definite program to offer.

On the other side of the fence, republican spokesmen talk a great deal about economy. But it looks as if they are on the skittish side when it comes to getting down to the facts and figures. Senator Taft and Thomas E. Dewey, presidential aspirants both, endorsed economy in general terms but have refused to propose a definite program. There is no great mystery as to why this should be so about these men or any others with political ambitions. Politics being what it is, successful candidates are usually vague and cautious candidates. The electorate will applaud economy as a general principle. But, as a rule, it is the first to raise a rumpus when the cuts are felt at home.

What all this amounts to is that the chances of anything big being done to solve the tax and debt problems — during 1940 are remote. This is a general election year. Both parties want a short session, and both want to avoid having to place themselves too definitely on record as to major issues — with the single exception of the war issue, on which all seem agreed that we must remain neutral. So the odds favor a relatively evasive policy for both democrats and republicans. All officers of the government admit that our fiscal policy gets more involved daily, all admit that it must eventually be faced. But few really want to face it in a general election year.

When the historians write the story of this war, they will have many a knotty problem to unravel. One of the most interesting will deal with Italy's current policy. She is supporting the Finns against Germany's economic ally, Russia. At the same time she recently announced that she still stands firmly by the Rome-Berlin axis. The only way you can get much sense out of that is on the supposition that Mussolini has decided to keep his country out of war at all costs, while cementing her influence in the Balkans.

Also interesting is recent British-French policy toward Russia. For years Allied statesmen were kept awake nights by the fear of a Russo-German alliance — tall tales were told of the supposedly indomitable Red Army. Today England and France are actively helping Finland so far as is possible, and have thrown their whole moral weight behind the little nation. And, say correspondents abroad, it looks as if the Allies are no longer afraid of Russia joining Germany in military action. Some even say that the Allies might welcome this, as it would open a new front — the Allied high command apparently thinks it would be suicidal to attempt to storm the Siegfried Line.

One reason for this may be Russia's military showing in Finland. The Red Army, according to military experts, is a flop. Its troops poorly trained, equipped and disciplined. And its airplanes and motorized equipment have fallen far short of the advertisements. An efficient army, such as the German or French, they say, would have taken Finland in less than a week.

Plan Against Fire
Conflagrations are rare. And that indicates one of their worst dangers. It is so uncommon for a whole community to be destroyed by fire that few plan in advance against the chance. Not until the ordeal of horror is over, and rows of homes and business establishments lie in smoking ruins, do we remember what should have been done.

The National Board of Fire Underwriters has issued a bulletin dealing with conflagrations, and the proper advance precautions that can be taken to check their destruction. Most vital, of course, are local fire fighting facilities. This doesn't mean fire engines only — it means water supply and hydrants and mains and hoses. On top of that, neighboring communities should have plans for aiding each other in case of need. Many of the great conflagrations of the past were stopped from doing even greater damage by the prompt dispatch of help from towns and cities in the same area.

Precautions of this character are as vital for the small town as for the great city. The destruction of a village is just as ruinous to its inhabitants as the destruction of a big factory town to those who live and work there. In a number of states, signal progress has been made in developing rural fire fighting departments located where they may quickly answer calls from a wide area. That should be done on a nation-wide scale.

Last, but not least, remember that vigilance will prevent most fires, small as well as great. Care, backed by knowledge, is fire's worst enemy.

"Crime" Doesn't Pay

The "left wing" seems to be largely dominating the customer advisory business. There are a number of services whose ostensible purpose is to scientifically compare competitive products, and to advise the reader which are good, bad or indifferent. Some of them, at least, are apparently operated by "people whose viewpoint is heavily colored by radical social prejudice. These services often go to ridiculous extremes in denouncing nationally known articles produced and sold by reputable manufacturers, and distributors.

The upshot is that such services are defeating their own purposes. The American consumer isn't stupid. He knows that no product can long sell by virtue of advertising alone — if it is to survive, it has to be good. And he knows too that under pressure of the free competitive system, both manufacturers and retail distributors are bending every effort to give the consumer the best service. A "gypped" consumer soon learns to buy another product and patronize another store.

A reader of some of the consumer advisory services could come logically to the opinion that we Americans are the worst fed, worst clothed and worst served people in the world. The exact opposite, of course, is true. And businesses which attempt to exploit and cheat the public don't last long.

Waterways And The Farmer
In a recent address, Senator Clyde M. Reed of Kansas, exhaustively discussed the question of inland waterways. What he had to say is of unusual public interest, in that it comes from the representative of one of the principal farm states.

"Inland waterway transportation is not low cost transportation," he observed. "It is the highest cost transportation as compared with the highways or the railroads. The only reason for lower charges is the subsidy paid by taxpayers out of the public treasury. Without such subsidy, inland water transportation could not exist for a month.

"The important thing is whether we are going to continue to tax the whole people for the benefit of a comparatively small number of people. Are the cities and trade centers located off the rivers to be not only taxed, but additionally penalized by lower freight charges given their competitors located on the rivers? My answer is, No.

"I would not undertake to say that no case can be found where some individual farmer may have secured a slight benefit in the price of his grain because of subsidized river transportation, but I do make the flat declaration that farmers as a whole have not profited a cent by the billions of dollars spent on 'river improvements'."

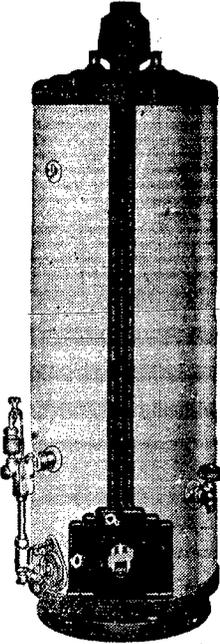

Senator Reed then suggested that "there should be vested somewhere in the government the duty to pass judgment upon the transportation necessity of inland waterway expenditures before they are made". In the name of the harassed taxpayers, sound transportation, and the real welfare of farmer and manufacturer, that should be done.

They will visit Miss Hazel Mitchell, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Mitchell, at Amarillo, Texas and Mrs. Bonnie Schaeffer, also a daughter of the Mitchells, in Oakland, Calif. Mrs. Maynard, a daughter of the Mitchells, will sail with her husband for the Philippines on Feb. 14.

Senator Miller Files For GOP Nomination For Governor

Another native son, Senator A. L. Miller, distinguished as a physician, successful as a businessman, noted for his technical knowledge of irrigation, and with an enviable record as a student of good government records, has filed for the republican nomination for governor.

Dr. Miller was born on a homestead in Pierce county, Nebraska, in 1892. This was his home until he graduated from medical school. He taught rural school for two years.

After being discharged from the enlisted medical reserve corp, Senator Miller located at Kimball, where he practiced medicine and surgery. He soon won recognition in his profession. He is a fellow in the American College of Surgeons, and is now president of the Nebraska State Medical Association.

The study of advanced methods in government has always been a hobby with Senator Miller. He served as mayor of Kimball, member of the school board, commander of the local American Legion, district governor of the Lions organization. He is a methodist, 32nd degree Mason, member of the Eastern Star, and the Knights of Pythias lodge. He has traveled extensively, studying governmental systems. He has given time to investigate Nebraska county government, as well as analyze systems in other states and countries. He has served twice in the unicameral legislature, and was a member of the labor, education, and revenue committees.

Candidates For Baptist Pastor Here Considered

The pulpit committee of the Baptist church is considering candidates to fill the position left vacant by Rev. J. A. Whitman. A selection will be made soon.

At the farewell dinner in the church parlors served Sunday of last week for Rev. and Mrs. Whitman, a testimonial of appreciation for the services of Rev. Whitman was read. A gift was presented to the Whitmans.

Rev. and Mrs. Whitman and two children left Tuesday for Boulder, Colo., where they will visit before going to their home in Moscow, Idaho. Mrs. Whitman's mother and brother, Mrs. J. T. Harris and Buddy of Boulder, who arrived here Monday from Pennsylvania, accompanied the Whitmans to Colorado.

Miss Jones In Publicity Work

Miss Maxine Jones, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C. A. Jones of Belden, is now employed by the Retsama Film Productions, Inc., in Hollywood, Calif. She is the only woman employed in the publicity department of the Retsama company. Miss Jones was employed by the Omaha World-Herald before leaving for California last fall.

She is also a former employe of the Wayne News and attended Wayne State Teachers college.

*$1356.00 A DAY!

Nebraska's beer tax collections for 1939 averaged more than $1,356.00 a day—brought the state a total of $495,242.80. That's why thinking Nebraskans are enthusiastic about the State's brewing industry and the self-regulatory program that is safeguarding it!

Over 90% of the state beer taxes collected in Nebraska are used for public welfare work. Every Nebraskan who buys beer can help us protect this important revenue by supporting only those retailers who operate in the public interest—those who observe the law and refuse to permit abuses.

Wayne High Cagers Lose To Norfolk

Panthers Break Victory String Friday Night

Wayne High's basketball team was handed its first defeat of the season Friday night after five victories, when it lost a hard fought battle to the Norfolk High Panthers, 30 to 21. The game was played at Norfolk.

The Panthers took an early lead, which Wayne was never able to overcome. The score at the first quarter was 11 to 5; at the half, 13 to 7, and at the third quarter, 21 to 13.

Two comparatively newcomers to the Panthers lineup supplied most of the punch. Don Barry played only part of the game but was high scorer with four field goals to his credit and Bud Eckert was second high for Norfolk with three baskets.

Outstanding Players Seymour and Johnson were outstanding in the Wayne lineup with the former accounting for seven points, a third of the total which Wayne scored. Johnson was handicapped by a leg injury and played only a part of the game, during which he made two field goals to share honors in this department with Fitch.

The Panthers got away to a fast start when B. Bridge dropped in the first of his five free throws and Warner followed quickly with a field goal. Berry started the scoring for Wayne with a free toss. While Norfolk increased its margin rapidly, Fitch made Wayne's only field goal in the first period and Berry and Seymour found the basket on free throws to increase Wayne's count to 5 while the Panthers had boosted their total to 11.

Eckert's field goal and charity tosses by Seymour and Powers accounted for all the second period scores.

Reduce Margin Seymour's pair of free shots coupled with two goals by Johnson reduced Norfolk's margin in the third quarter to six points the score at the end of the period standing at 21 to 15.

The Panthers started clicking again in the final quarter with Berry collecting several baskets and stretching the home team's lead to 30 to 18. The scoring closed with Meyer collecting three points for Wayne.

In the preliminary battle, the Norfolk Reserves swamped Wayne's second string, 40 to 3.

Coach Elwood Morris' team is scheduled to meet West Point there tonight and will play its next home game a week from tonight when Hartington invades Wayne.

Five County Group May Obtain Federal Food Stamp Benefits For Area

decided to participate in the stamp plan, which is optional for WPA workers, he would receive $10 worth of orange stamps for $10 of his $20 plus $5 worth of blue stamps, given free with the orange stamps and his remaining $10 in cash. Thus, he would still be able to purchase through the use of the stamp $15 worth of groceries and have $5 instead of $10 left in cash for other necessities. Thus, the person on relief benefits and the relief payroll in the participating counties is materially increased so more money is turned directly into the channels of trade, benefitting both grocery stores and other lines of business.

Distribution Changed

Heretofore food for clients on direct relief has been obtainable at local commissaries. Distribution of surplus commodities has been made direct to needy families. When the stamp plan goes into operation, these previous methods of distribution will be abandoned. Relief clients will obtain their food from retail grocers direct with all grocers in the cities and towns in the group of five counties participating.

Under the stamp plan, the client on relief can go to the local grocer and select what he and his family need. Heretofore, they have had to take what was handed out, maybe a dozen grapefruit, when eggs, flour, bacon and other necessities might have been more acceptable. Instead of having these commodities trucked in and doled out, the distribution will be handled through the local grocery stores.

Orange stamps can be used to obtain all foods and household articles usually bought in grocery stores and blue stamps will be used only for surplus commodities. Stamps cannot be used for liquor or tobacco.

Surplus Commodities

The surplus commodities, as listed for March 1, will include butter, eggs, raisins, apples, dried prunes, onions, dried beans, fresh pears, wheat flour, whole wheat graham flour, cornmeal, hominy grits, rice, oranges, grapefruit, pork products including lard. Other items will be designated from time to time.

Stamps, blue and orange, are issued in books of 25-cent denomination. There will be books containing both orange and blue stamps, twice as many orange as blue and there will be books containing only blue stamps.

Once in the possession of the relief client or WPA worker, stamps are virtually equivalent to cash. They cannot be sold or exchanged, however, but must be expended for food and household articles at grocery stores. Empty stamp books must be returned to the station before new ones are issued.

In order to assure consumption on a fixed amount of surplus commodities, one of the aims of the plan, a minimum expenditure of stamps per person per week will be designated.

While approval of the plan for the five county setup is by no means assured, it is believed that tial aspirants. Dewey may not be too acceptable to some factions of the party but he does have a bit of color, which other GOP candidates sorely lack, and could probably garner far more of those precious ballots than the rest. He also makes pretty speeches, centering his fire on unbalanced budgets, spending and taxation. His figures are probably accurate but his memory is faulty. He forgets to mention that most of the indirect taxes which he lashed were adopted during republican regimes.

Do not forget the President's ball tonight. Receipts will help kayo infantile paralysis.

Congratulations to Wayne's new C. of C. secretary. If appearances and past records mean anything, Mr. Swett will do a great job for Wayne!

City's Debt Is Reduced To $276,000

Wayne, are valued in round figures as follows:

Eight churches	$80,000
Courthouse	$50,000
Postoffice	$50,000
School	$100,000
State Normal	$1,000,000

Total $1,280,000

Utilities Pay

The great value of Wayne's municipally owned light and water plants is shown by a comparison of total earnings and operating expenses during the last fiscal year. The total earnings during the fiscal year amounted to $62,936.30 compared with operating expenses of $34,059.90, leaving a profit of $28,876.40.

The greatest need at the present time, according to city officials, is for a sewage disposal plant. However, action on this project may be left to a vote at the next city election. Such a plant would cost about $50,000.

Present plans are to finance the project, which would serve both the City of Wayne and the Wayne State Teachers college, include:

Government grant	$25,000
WSTC contribution	$10,000
City bonds	$15,000

Such a project would increase the city's bonded indebtedness only the amount of the bonds and interest on them, the major expense being handled through the government grant and the college.

If there is sufficient demand in the counties that it can be obtained. More details of the setup will be worked out at the meeting Friday, after which it is probable that a campaign will be launched throughout the five county area for its adoption.

Wm. A. Crossland spoke at the 11 o'clock service Sunday morning in the Laurel Methodist church. His topic was "John Wesley".

Barren And Protected Fields Near Wayne

The two pictures, which were obtained by The Wayne News through courtesy of the Winside CCC soil conservation camp, tell their own story. The top picture shows how barren fields suffer from erosion due to melting snow and spring rains while those in which there are Russian thistles as pictured below are well protected against all types of erosion.

The top picture, taken south of Wayne, shows a field where practically all of the snow has blown off and drifted along snow fences, leaving the bare dry ground exposed. Last year's crop was removed for feed leaving the field unprotected.

Barren fields such as this suffer severely from erosion due to melting snow and spring rains. Wind erosion will also take its toll.

Recent experiments have shown that considerably more moisture is lost by evaporation from barren fields than by land protected with some type of vegetative covering, such as a straw mulch, small grain stubble, and corn stalks. These experiments also show that when rain falls on barren soil it forms the surface of the soil into a dense pasty mass about 1-5 of an inch thick, causing most of the water to run off, resulting in severe sheet and gully erosion. When the same type of soil was protected by some type of vegetative covering this condition was prevented and the moisture soaked into the soil much faster because the surface remained in an open sponge like condition. Yields of following crops were also a great deal higher on the land that had been protected by vegetative covering.

Most farmers know by experience that stubble fields are among the last to dry out to a working condition in the spring, during normal years.

The picture below taken on a nearby field shows the snow holding capacity of Russian thistles. No snow fence was needed here, as no drifting has occurred. Snow has not drifted on highways south of thistle fields this winter.

Fields like this are well protected against all types of erosion. The thistles will also prevent surface evaporation due to spring winds.

Fields that were burned over last fall have lost practically all of the snow that fell on them.

Some farmers plan to do everything possible to prevent burning their thistle fields this spring. A few plan to roll their thistles down with a land roller so that they can be cut up with a well weighted disk.

Mr. Ray Chillcoat who lives one mile northwest of Stanton worked out the answer to his thistle problem last summer. He explained how late last summer when his thistles had grown to full size, but were still green, he had thoroughly chopped them up by contour disking.

"At first," he said, "I thought my thistles were too big to do anything with, but I decided to try disking them. I weighted my disk down with five sacks of dirt and went over the field three times with my disk set rather straight. I was surprised at the way it was possible to cut the thistles, and work them into an excellent mulch.

Feeding And Care Of Chicks

Copies of the new revised Extension Circular 1456 are available at the Wayne County Farm Bureau office.

The circular is written in an interesting question and answer form. Some of the questions are: How many chicks should be brooded in a unit? What kind of litter is best for the brooder house? What is the proper temperature for brooding chicks? These and many more important questions of chick raisers are answered in this extension circular.

The following formula is given as a good ration for chicks.

Wayne Super Service Joins Nation-Wide Drive To Make Motorists More Safety Minded Than Ever

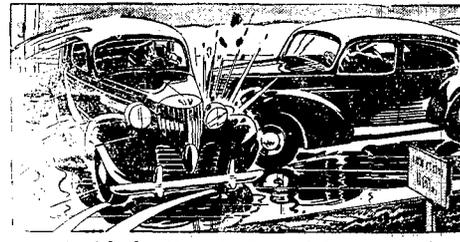

By C. C. STIRTZ

It is all very well to promote Safety on a nation-wide scale, but when all is said and done, Safety, like Charity, begins at home. Real Safety starts when the motorists in the community make up their minds to do just a little bit more than is demanded of them to make our streets and highways safer for the other fellow. If we do, we'll be only too happy to 'Lose a minute and save a life'; we'll be glad to 'Step on our speed urge instead of our gas pedal'; we'll wholeheartedly agree that 'Children should be seen, not hurt!'

'Next to driving courteously in accident prevention is well-conditioned equipment. Last year tread-bare tires were responsible for thousands of life-endangering skids. Wet, slippery pavements, a sudden jamming on of brakes, and away goes the car—completely out of control!

'These are things that can be avoided. A visit to the service station will quickly fix any mechanical defects. And as for skid protection, the new Goodrich Silvertown will give you the quickest non-skid stops you've ever had on any road. That's because the new kind of tire automatically sweeps wet roads dry—so dry that you can actually light a match on its track. And whether roads are wet or dry, Silvertowns at all times give you that other great life saver—Goodrich blow-out protection.

'Remember, too, the tube on your mobile tire is just as important to you as the tire itself. A good tube and a good tire, mean long uninterrupted safety, service and economy. That's why we recommend that you equip your Silvertowns with Goodrich Seal-o-matics—the tubes that 'never let you down' because they self-seal punctures as you ride. For Safety tomorrow get this 'perfect' Goodrich motoring combination today.'

's of local accidents that happened during the past year have been avoided by safer driving and safer equipment.

Trees Are Free

The Clark McNary Act makes trees available to anyone willing to plant and care for them. While there is no charge for the trees, it is necessary to pay the cost of packing and shipping. This charge is one cent per tree.

A wide variety of trees is available. The orders will be filled at the nurseries in the same order that the orders arrive at the state office. The advantage of having an order in early is that it will be filled before the supply of any variety has been exhausted.

The varieties available are: Russian Mulberry, American Elm, Cottonwood, Green Ash, Honey Locust, Chinese Elm, Hackberry, Box Elder, Soft Maple, Russian Olive, Caragana, Austrian Pine, Bull Pine, Jack Pine, and Red Cedar.

The application blanks are available at the Wayne County Farm Bureau office. See next week's paper for "Suggestions on Tree Planting".

Wayne County Club Members Win State Prizes

From a large number of 4-H club members throughout the state, Esther Schroeder and Alfred Sievers were selected as winners of trips to 4-H Club Week. The award includes meals, lodging and transportation.

Last year, a total of 185 4-H members were selected from the entire state. Other members and leaders who paid their own expenses, increased the number to 300.

Club Week consists of a full week's program. The group has the opportunity of hearing prominent speakers, of taking sight seeing and educational trips through the state capitol, stores and factories.

Leonard Roberts was the only Wayne county club member to win a trip last year. The award is based on the individual's record as a 4-H club member. This included the projects they have carried; the number of years in club work, the quality of their work, judging, and exhibiting activities within the club and community activities. The county records are submitted to the state office where the final selections are made.

The source of expense, in most instances, is some individual, company or organization who pays the cost of the trip. The selection of winners is always made by the 4-H club officials.

The trip won by Alfred Sievers was made possible by the Sioux City Stock Yards company. The Omaha Chamber of Commerce gave trips to the six most outstanding Nebraska girls in Girls' Room 4-H clubs, one of the six is Esther Schroeder.

Alfred Sievers is a member of the Wide Awake Pig club at Wakefield which is led by Charlie Pierson. Esther Schroeder's name is among the members of the "Pleasant Valley" Girls' Room club which is under the leadership of Mrs. Will Back.
