Whether you live in the city Wayne or the county, you'll Banquet To Launch 1941 Plans Here

All Members. Wives Urged To Attend C. Of C. Event

Whether you live in the city of Wayne or the county, you'll find plenty of events here this week at the Wayne Auditorium which should be 'Must Attend' on your calendar, Tonight (Tuesday) the farm bureau is holding its annual meeting and party there. Thursday night is the President's Birthday Ball to raise funds for the nation-wide fight on infantite paralysis, half of which remain for emergency use in this county, and Friday night is the first annual membership dinner of the Wayne Chamber of Commerce. Next week, the auditorium will be used four consecutive nights for the Legion's annual Town Team basketball tourney. The many who suggested increased use of the auditorium for community events at the recent clinios seem to be getting prompt action. With the program for the coming year mapped and ready for presentation to the membership plans for the first annual membership banquet of the Wayne Chamber of Commerce were being rapidly completed this week. The banquet will be held at the Municipal Auditorium at 6:30 Friday evening.

An excellent program has been arranged and all members are urged to make an effort to attend. Their wives are also corrolarly invited and the program has been planned in the hope that it will prove both interesting and entertaining for all.

The city dads confess to this unintentional good deed performed for the railroad company here. When someony noticed water flowing along South Main street in the vicinity of the railroad tracks, it was assumed that one of the city's water pipes had broken and was leaking. Workmen were speedily ordered to start directing or and remain the context and the ward with Water to start directing out and remain. musical selections by the college octet and the college quartet: Highlights of 1940" by Carl Wright, past president: "Go. Leo Dailey, who is well known in. Wayne and who is general secretary of the Sloux City Chamber of Commerce, will be toastmaster.

Program Outlined Workmen were speedily ordered to start digging out and repairing the trouble. Nearly a day's labor was expended before the source of the trouble was discovered and then it was found that the problem belonged to the railroad rather than the city since it was one of the company's pipes connected with its water tower which was leaking. The city dads think they rate at least a thank you note from railway officials.

Bill To Repeal

Carroll also participated in the hearing.

It was emphasized also that even though it should be decided that the bureau had accomplished some good work in setting up a 10-year program, that task has been accomplished and there is no valid reason for continuing the expense of maintaining the board. This was the attitude of those who believed that all efforts of the board had not been wasted and that some of its recommendations should be adopted.

two bills under consideration, said that the planning board, without statutory basis, was first established in 1934 by Governor Bryan. In 1935, Governor Cochran kept the ball rolling and the legislature then appropriated $15,000. In 1937 the legislature gave the board statutory standing and appropriated $15,000 plus the unexpended balance.

"During its existance", said Lambert, "$70,000 was appropriated $15,000 spent to Jan. I, 1941. The 10-year building program probably was a good piece of work although I suspect it cost ten times as much as it should have cost".

City Accepts Proposal To Avert Suit

Sewage Disposal Plant Expense May Be Averted

Settlement of the injunction suit filed several months ago by the Connecticut Mutual Insurance company against the City of Wayne without the necessity of the city building a sewage disposal plant appeared likely as a result of tentative acceptance by the city council of a substitute proposal by the company.

Company's Offer

The council's action resulted in delaying the hearing on the suit, which was originally scheduled for last Monday, pending final arrangements to carry out the new agreement. The company proposed that it would withdraw its injunction suit, which would have prohibited the city from dumping its sewage into the creek, providing the city would have the bend in the creek, which now causes it to flow near the buildings on the

Kiwanians About Legislature

Fred Berry gave an interesting and well received talk to the Way-ne Kiwanians Monday noon on the subject of the Unicameral legislature, its origin, purpose and procedure.

In discussing the budget which will be presented to the legislature this week, Mr. Berry said that three-fourths of the legislature's time is taken up trying to figure out the budget and only one-fourth of their time is free for general legislation.

Three-fourths of that one fourth time allotted for general legislation.

District Law May Be Simplified

It seems that a sewage disposal plant will likely not be necessary now. The company has reduced its demands to straightening out the creek in the vicinity of the damaged farm, a task which will be far less of a strain on the city's purse and will provide work for many unemployed in this area as soon as the weather permits.

Chickenpox, diptheria, influenza, measles, meningococcus meningitis, mumps, pneumonia, poliomyelitis, rubella (German measlys), scarlet fever, septic sore throat, smallpox, typhoid fever, and whooping cough.

When a Board of Health having jurisdiction is satisfied that a person who has suffered from any of the foregoing named diseases is no longer a source of danger to others, it shall see that the following procedure as to terminal disinfection is carried out before such persons, or premises, is released from placard or quarantine.

First: The patient and those in contact shall be bathed with an antiseptic solution. This should be done by bath of warm water and soap, then washing of the body with a mild antiseptic solution. Bichloride of mercury in strength of 1 to 5000 is recommended for this purpose, care being taken that patient does not get the same in mouth or eyes.

Second: Everything in the sick room or that has come in contact with the patient and that is of no special value (papers, magazines, clothes, wooden toys, etc.) should be burned.

Third: Before removal from patients' room, washable clothing, linens, used by patient and by those in contact shall be immersed in a 2 per cent solution liquor cresolis compound U. S. P. 5 per cent solution carbolic acid, or an equivalent disinfectant, and remain in such solution for half an hour, then boiled for half an hour.

Fourth: Blankets and other articles presenting free surfaces and not too thick can be made safe by exposure in the open air to direct sun rays for three or four days, or sufficiently long to get fully twenty-four hours of direct sunshine. Such articles as rugs, carpets, etc. treated in the same way should, in addition, be brushed with a 2 per cent solution iquor cresolis compound U. S. P., a b per cent solution carbolic acid, or an equivalent disinfectant.

Fifth: Thorough washing of the wood work, wood and metal furnishings with hot water and soap, combined with disinfection through the use of a 2 per cent solution lead of door knobs, open c

Banquet To Launch 1941 Plans Here

All Members, Wives Urged To Attend C. Of C. Event

With the program for the coming year mapped and ready for presentation to the membership, plans for the first amual membership banquet of the Wayne Chamber of Commerce were being rapidly completed this week. The banquet will be held at the Municipal Auditorium at 6:30 Friday evening.

The Importance of aiding in the infantile paralysis fight is too bovious to require emphasis and the generous response of Wayne in past years will doubtless be repeated this year. The Chamber of Commerce membership banquet should also be well attended as it is of importance in that it will launch the program of community activities for 1941, which was mapped from suggestions of the members voiced at the recent community clinics. An excellent program has been arranged and all members arrunged to make an effort to obtain 100 per cent representation of both the members and their wives, a telephone campaign was launched by the directors' wives to urge all members' wives to attend. Members of the ticket committee, including Carl Wright, Clarence Wright, Armand Hiscox, L. W. McNatt, Chet Walters, J. R. Milgestions of the members are tranged and all members are tranged and all members are tranged and the program has been planned in the hope that it will prove both interesting and entertaining for all.

Excellent Program

The ticket sale should be completed early this week so that serving arrangements may be made. Members who have not been contacted are urged to call at the Chamber of Commerce office or to notify any member of the ticket sales committee listed above so that they may be supplied immediately.

The city dads confess to this unintentional good deed performed for the railroad company here. When someony noticed water flowing along South Main street in the vicinity of the railroad tracks, it was assumed that one of the city's water pipes had broken and was leaking. Workmen were speedily ordered to start digging out and repairing the trouble. Nearly a day's labor was expended before the source of the trouble was discovered and then it was found that the problem belonged to the railroad rather than the city since it was one of the company's pipes connected with its water tower which was leaking. The city dads think they rate at least a thank you note from railway officials. musical selections by the college musical selections by the college octet and the college quartet: "Highlights of 1940" by Carl Wright, past president; "Go Forward With Wayne In 1941" by Russell Larson, president, and the principal address by Mr. Carroll N. ported out favorably with the unanimous vote of the state's legislative committee on government for its passage after a one-sided argument on the measure Friday.

Delegations from many sections of the state, the largest of which was from Wayne county and neighboring cities, attended the hearing at Lincoln to urge repeal of the bill creating the board. The educational recommendations of the board were the chief target for attack although some other phases of the board's work and expense were also under fre.

Wayne Group Active

A large group from the city of Wayne attended. Russell Bartels, chairman of the legislative committee of the Wayne Chamber of Commerce, and Rollie W. Ley were spokesmen for the local delegation. Representatives from Laurel, Concord, Dixon and Carroll also participated in the hearing.

It was emphasized also that even though it should be deedded that the bureau had accomplished and that as one good work in setting up a 10-year program, that task has been accomplished and there is no valid reason for continuing the expense of maintaining the board. This was the attitude of those who believed that all efforts of the board had not been wasted and that some of its recommendations should be adopted.

This same committee also reported out, with amendments, L.B. 15, a bill requiring legislative confirmation of code appointees. When the administrative code came into being some years ago it was the intent to require confirmation and it was done for a time. Then along came an executive results of the service of the service of the county draft board explained that although 18 board explained that the county in the county of this number had fall to pass the examination, one of the board had not been wasted and that some of its recommendations should be adopted.

Ever since its inception two and a half years ago, the Nebraska Brewers and Beer Distributors Com-mittee has adhered closely to the principle of Selective Service, by siding enforcement authori-ties in eliminating law violators from the indu-try's beer retailing ranks.

This Committee is going "right ahead" with its constructive program of Self-Regulation in 1941, determined more than ever that retail beer estab-lishments in Nebraska operate in the public interest.

You can be of inestimable service, too, in this sincere campaign to improve conditions surrounding the sale of beer, by giving your patronage only to law-abiding dealers, and by reporting any violations to enforcement officials or to the undersigned Committee.

Cedar County Losses 1.301

Cedar county's population dropped 1,301 during the past decade, according to final figures announced this week by the federal census bureau. During the same period five cities and towns in the county gained residents, four lost population and one remained exactly the same.

The final 1940 population of Cedar county was 15,126 compared with the 16,427 persons counted in the county in 1930. The loss is attributed chiefly drought and economic conditions which forced many people to leave their farms and seek livelihood elsewhere.

Cities and towns which gained population between 1930 and 1940 we're Hartington, with 120 more residents than ten years ago, had the largest numerical gain.

Population losses were recorded for Belden, Laurel, Magnet and Randolph. The 1940 population figure given for Obert was 112, the same as was reported ten years ago.

Wendell Willkie Wonders

Millions of republicans who only a few short weeks ago were cheering Wendell Willkie as the perfect candidate for president are now singing an entirely different tume. The change in the melody, which followed the GOP leader's support of the lease-lend bill and his visit with President Roosevelt and Secretary Hull before departing for London, leans heavily on the silly side and would be highly entertaining if the American people were not so greatly and rightly concerned about the serious business ahead.

The Chicago Tribune, for example, was ready a few days ago to read Mr. Willkie out of the party and Thomas C. Alford, Kansas City Star correspondent, charged that resentment of congressional leaders was reaching fever heat as many felt they had been sold down the river by the titular head of the party. Some even expressed the view that Mr. Willkie should organize his own party and such leaders as Congressman Charles Halleck, who nominated Willkie at Philadelphia, and Congressman Joe Martin, who conducted his campaign, were pictured as being sadly disillusioned.

Why Mr. Willkie's present course should prove such a shock to his former political playmates, we fall to understand. Surely, even though naturally they failed to admit it, they could see during the campaign that his philosophy was largely a 'Me Too With Reservations' one. Why should they expect him to change today?

For that matter, we fail to see how his visit with President Roosevelt could result in the least harm to the nation. If it wounded their vanity a bit, who cares, so long as the nation may benefit by an exchange of views by the two leaders of this nation's two great parties. The fact which so many republican leaders seem unable to remember is that the campaign ended last November when the people spoke in convincing enough fashion to remove any doubt about whom they wanted to lead them in these hectic times. The fact which so many republican leaders seem unable to remember is that the campaign ended last November when t

If the Kansas City Star writer correctly interprets the cause the chief resentment against the former perfect candidate in that he crushed their hopes of building a major issue with Mrosevelt on the question of his seeking dictatorial powers (maybe ur recall a few million words on that subject during the camaign) rather than on the right and wrong of providing aid total.

Britain.

Obviously there are grants of power and authority in the bill which if abused endanger seriously our rights under a democracy. Whether they are all necessary to supply all the aid to Britain which we should give, we seriously question. Some modification of these will likely result before the bill is adopted, many of them with the consent of President Roosevelt. This much we do know, however, that President Roosevelt has not abused similarly great grants of power in the part. That is one of the major reasons he was returned to office to guide this nation through the perilous months ahead.

was returned to office to guide this nation through the perilous months ahead.

Mr. Willikie is more to be admired than condemned by his refusal to become a part of such a partisan conspiracy to reopen the wounds of the past campaign. This nation needs unity of purpose as never before; this does not mean that there should be a ban on constructive criticism. In fact a thorough study of major moves is essential even though time is an important factor.

Attention should be paid the warnings that this nation is heading for war and that more might be accomplished for democracy throughout the world by remaining aloof. The issues are so complicated and the demands of the times so great that doubtless greater centralization of authority is a necessity. It is difficult for the average person, whose knowledge of the situation abroad and the underlying purpose behind the various measures and policies is necessarily not as complete as that of the nation's leaders, to make a fair appraisal of conditions. Blind following is not the way of a democracy but in times of stress greater dependence must be placed on the judgment, of those in official positions.

President Roosevelt has been tested during other times of stress and has not been found wanting. It is fortunate that the nation today has the benefit of his experience and guidance and if Mr. Willkie continues to do his share in contributing to national unity, the nation will not be greatly concerned if some republicans in an effort to keep alive the fires of hate, ignited during the last ballot campaign, until the next general election.

Conscription

With February quotas for military training throughout the nation being sharply increased, conscription officials anticipate that the lines of marching men will grow steadily during the next few months. Preparation of camps to handle these new troops has delayed conscription but the real effects of the drastic measure will be felt increasingly during the next few months.

Wayne_county's quota-for-February is seventeen, which will take all the volunteers and—make the first dent in the list of those who are being called by the numbers. Others, who are not well down on the list, should begin their preparations for a year in training because it is likely that their call will not long be delayed.

The Legislature

Due to the fact that the national war crisis is so grave, the problems confronting the unleameral legislature are receiving less general attention than they deserve. While watching the national crisis, we should also keep an eye on what is happening in Nebraska. In fact, we have a greater voice in state legislature and in many respects an equally great stake as in the major issues being faced at Washington.

Radio has accomplished wonders and we enjoy our favorite programs as much as anyone but we fail to understand just why some advertisers resort to such ridiculous statements and stunts in their commercials. For instance, there's the candy bar about which they raye and sigh; the loan company which advises young married couples to rush down and mortgage their possessions and future rather than delay-their honeymoon or almost any other desire; and the gum which it is said has become so popular that friends now greet each other by exchanging this delicacy. We wonder if results wouldn't be just as satisfactory if the commercials remained in the vicinity of reality and common sense.

The legislature is in session, congress has reconvened! Hang onto your caps, here we go again!—St. James Plaindealer.

A terrific business collapse is quite generally predicted after the war. But we hasten to add, a terrific business collapse was also predicted after the election.—Redwood Gazette.

Whether or not you personally liked the tone and purpose of the President's dramatic "all out for Britain" speech, one thing can be said for it. It cleared away any doubts that may have existed concerning this Administration's war policy. It eliminated the last semblances of our theoretical sextending the said of the policy. It eliminated the last semi-blances of our theoretical neutral-ity. It placed us definitely beside England as an active ally, ready to give her almost anything and everything she may need to pro-secute the war against the Axis powers. It administered a hearty slap in the face to Japan, by re-claring that China too was help-ing to defend American views Senate leaders like Wheeler and Clark will make a strong effort to have congress disavow at least part of the Roosevelt ald. England program — for example, they will oppose the transfer of more U. S. fighting ships and airplanes to the British flag. They will also attempt to stiffen the Neutrality Act, which at present is largely a dead letter. It seems to be true that the new congress is as much opposed to war for this country as was the last — even though the majority of the members are extremely pro-British. There will be many a red-hot battle in congress' word-scarred halls during the coming scarred halls during the coming months.

In the meantime, it may prove that one result of the speech will be greatly increased Nazi attacks on the staunch British Isles— the purpose being to reduce Eng-land before U. S. ald can be ma-

Most of us don't give much thought to the retail industry. We take it for granted. We know that the stores are always ready to force us — that their shelves are filled with the luxuries and necessities we want. Retailing today is a miracle, of efficiency. Behind the particular stores we patronize lies an intricate, superbly developed system which has no counterpart elsewhere in the world. That goes for the chaim store, the progressive independent store, and the super-market. All of them want our trade — and all of them are striving to do a better pob, and to give the consumer more for his money.

Nimety per cent of the people queried said that the federal government should take steps to prevent such strikes. Only ten per cent said No.

Of the union members queried, 83 per cent favored federal action, as against 17 per cent which opposed it. A large number said they always had believed in labor's right to strike, but now thought the emergency justified temporary limitations of this right. National defense, they observed, overshadows all other considerations.

The poll also asked how strikes should be prevented. Seventy-nine per cent of those answering favored compulsory arbitration by the government.

This poll undoubtedly represents the collective oplinion of practically all the people of this country, including thoughtful workmen. It is a bitter conscripting tens of thousands of young men and paying them a dollar a day, and offering their lives to the country, a radical segment of labor that is being paid the highest wages in history, and working the shortest hours, forces strikes for more.

Most significant fact produced by this poll is the attitude of union workmen. They, no less than the public at large, are overwhelmingly opposed to strikes in defense industries. This bears out the opinion that the majority of working men are sincerely or working the sincer and damag

Most significant fact produced by this poll is the attifude of union workmen. They, no less than the public at large, are overwhelmingly opposed to strikes in defense industries. This bears out the opinion that the majority of working men are sincerely particulte, and want to work for their country's defense — and that the recent strikes have simply been forced on them by a small number of racketeers and malcontents. The labor leader who falls into that category — and there seems to be too many-of-them these days — is the worst enemy the honest worker has.

The service they render the public has resulted from free competition — which is the American way of doing business. In this country, any man has the right to open a retail store. He has the right to take customers away from his competitors if he can.
He has the right to try new ideas, new imnovations, new sales techniques. And those rights are the consumer's best guarantee of a doesn't last long.

Think of that next time you go shopping. Remember that nowhere else in the world has retailing reached so high a peak of efficiency and service. The person who lives in a tiny town gets the

the person who lives in a great city. That's how merchandising, in all its many branches, serves its country.

Captain cut the engines (for we had been motoring because of calm) and I started reeling in! Those rods and reels are plenty big but let me tell you, I can readily not that they have to be. I had to use both hands and twist a half turn at a time, while holding the rod between my legs! After what seemed hours the end of the line got close enough for us to get a gilmpse of the fish! Since we couldn't find the gaff with which to land him, we had to use the landing net. By this time the fish was pretty well "played out" and didn't kick up much more of a fuss.

It was about six o'clock when we returned to the ship. The drive back through Balboa was very cool and pretty, the lights having just been turned on along the streets and a full moon out. As usual there were a lot of planes in the sky. Now we saw that an 80 or 90 pound turtle was not designed to be caught by a gaff in a life boat! We were trying to figure how we were going to get the gaff loose and left the turtle go away alone instead of with the life boat and us trailing him into the deep, when the gaff bard slipped off the hard undershell of the turtle! Down he went and we returned to the boat emptyhanded and discouraged. After hoisting the life boat once more on board, we started the engine of the yatch and motored through the calm water.

A little later we saw another turtle floating along a little ways ahead. We were determined to 'do or die', by golly, so with Cap

Prep Cagers Beat West Point, 36-30

Sixth Victory In Eight Starts
Won; Whip Wakefield

The Wayne Prep cagers defeat-d the West Point High Cadets, and wayne rep cagers defeated the West Point High Cadets, 36 to 30, in a fast, rough and thrilling game here Friday evening during which the lead shifted several times. It was the sixth victory in the eight contests played by the local team this season. Wednesday evening, the Preptam downed the Wakefield-Trojans at Wakefield, 37 to 18.

Returning to the close contest here Friday, Dale Bloss led the winners by chalking up nine points while Beckenhauer set the pace for the visitors, accounting for ten points. The score was tied at 19 all at the half.
