Those who helped erect it are Phil March, chairman, N. H. Bruggler, Earl Merchant, Henry Reynolds, Cob Olson, W. H. Swett and Porterfield.

Gone With The Wind

Brief Bits On Storm Damage In Area

Damage at the courthouse was confined to the basement where three window panes were broken. The furnace room door was pulled off and broken, this damage evidently being caused by suction after windings were broken. Mrs. O. B. Nelson, wife of the janitor at the courthouse, had one arm cut by flying glass.

Many farmers, who were caught cultivating in their fields when the storm broke, were compelled to lie down flat on the ground for safety, while their frightened horses ran for home.

W. C. Swanson and Jerry Wright, Wayne amateur radio operators, remained at their radio sets all night Saturday until about 8:30 a. m., Sunday, relaying important messages for northeast Nebraska residents who were unable to find any other means of communication.

Workmen spent most of the day Monday removing a tree about 75 feet long and a foot in diameter from the roof of the house at 609 Logan street where Mrs. Ellen Ahern lives. Two chimneys were knocked off, part of the cornice and the roof damaged when the tree crashed upon the house.

It was reported Monday that on the Edward Meyers farm, 5 miles north and 1 mile east of Wayne, no buildings remained standing except the house.

Haystacks throughout the country had the appearance of having been nipped by some giant from the sky, who stooped to take a bite from the top of each stack. Observers say hardly a haystack escaped without having the top half blown away.

Many back yards of Wayne Sunday boasted of neat piles of firewood which ambitious residents have piled up ready to cut for their winter's supply. If Saturday's ill wind didn't blow them enough wood they cleaned their neighbor's yard of fallen trees.

REA lights went off at 4:45 p. m., Saturday, which was before the storm struck here. An REA employe was out investigating the trouble when the storm arrived in Wayne.

The roof was blown off the corner on the Fran Mellick place two miles east of Carroll.

Service Call List Changed

Plans For County Registration On July 1 Announced

The revised list of Wayne county men who will fill this county's quota for the June 27 Selective Service call was announced by the draft board Monday as preparations for the July 1 registration were being completed.

The six Wayne county men, who will report for training camp service to the board here early the morning of June 27 together with their order numbers, following: Henry George Louis, Rehling, 72; Walter Gustaf Sund, 106; Max Herman Kruger, 107; Harold Henry Jahn, 141; Forrest Loyed Anderson, 150; Arnold Carl Mau, 158.

Wayne has been assigned a quota of 19 men for the July 17 call. The men who will fill this quota have not yet been selected by the board.

Both permanent and temporary residents of Wayne county who have reached the age of 21 years since the first registration day, Oct. 16, 1940, and before July 1, 1941, are required to register on July 1 at the county selective service board headquarters in the First National bank building. This will be the only registration office in the county but it will remain open from 7 o'clock in the morning until 9 o'clock in the evening for the convenience of the youths who must register.

A selective service registrant who on registration day has more than one place of residence may choose the one he wants recorded on his registration card as his place of residence to determine the local board which will have jurisdiction over him.

Band Concert Program Is Announced

Probably the largest crowd to attend a band concert thus far this year enjoyed the program presented at Bressler Park by the Wayne Municipal band last Friday night.

The program announced for next Friday evening by K. D. Hanson, director, follows:

- "Western Spirit" March, W. D. McCaughey. The band dedicates this number to the Wayne Chamber of Commerce. "Old Favorites" Selection, Julius S. Seredy. "Enchanted Night" Waltzes, K. L. King. "Altamont" March, McCaughey. Accordion Soloist, Melvin Meyer. Melvin will play selections of his own choosing. He has promised to play several numbers including a Bohemian song, a waltz, and a popular number or two. "March, Selected. "The Pendragon" Overture, Harold M. Johnson. "Miss Trombone", Henry Fillmore. "Blue and Gold" Overture, W. D. McCaughey. "19th Infantry" March, Star-Spangled-Banner.

The storm, which struck Wayne with little advance warning about 5:30 Saturday afternoon, spread its greatest destruction at towns north and west of this city. Damage was particularly heavy at Belden and Laurel, where many homes and some business buildings had portions of their roofs swept away and windows broken by flying lumber.

Only death resulting from the series of twisters in northeastern Nebraska Saturday was that of Harold Warnke, 27, Meadow Grove farmer, who was killed when a tree fell on him near a storm cave on his farm which he was apparently attempting to reach. Mrs. Warnke, who fled into the house, was uninjured.

Chief damage at Norfolk was to the roof at the grandstand of the ball park, which was ripped off. Trees were also damaged there. Laurel was hard hit with a large section of a lumber yard roof being ripped off and hurled against glass windows in the business section a block away. A section of the roof also damaged the Laurel theatre, uprooted trees, broke windows and electric wires there and left the town in darkness.

Farm damage in the Laurel area alone was estimated at $50,000 with numerous barns and corn cribs demolished, houses unroofed and livestock killed in that vicinity and in Dixon and Knox counties. All buildings were reported demolished at the Milford Johnson farm, 4 1/2 miles southeast of Laurel; Johnson and his wife escaped by taking refuge in a storm cave. At Carroll, all telephone wires were knocked out of commission for a time.

While damage in the city of Wayne proper was confined largely to roofs of houses, several buildings at the college and hundreds of trees, many farmers reported considerable loss. Otto Rosacker was the only person reported injured seriously enough to require medical attention. He was in his farm house when the storm struck and was reaching into a cabinet to get some article when a large tree crashed into the house and severely bruised his right arm. He was rushed to a hospital here where it was found that the arm was not broken but badly bruised. His house and virtually all the buildings on his farm were damaged considerably by the storm. Probably his loss was the greatest suffered by any farmer in this area although hundreds of others had some losses.

The heaviest damage in Wayne was to buildings at the Wayne State Teachers college. Every roof on college buildings was damaged to some extent as tile and asphalt shingles were torn off by the gale, two windows were broken and hardly a tree escaped without damage. The gymnasium was damaged to the greatest extent. A Lincoln roofing company representative made an estimate of the damages Monday and repair work was launched immediately.

Part of Wayne's residents were without electricity for several hours Saturday night as lines in several sections of the city were torn down. Repair work was started as soon as possible and service was resumed by 9 o'clock on the south line but not until about 3 o'clock Sunday afternoon on the northeast line. A few homes in other parts of the city were without electricity for a time due to falling trees tearing down the lines. Workers repaired much of the damage over the weekend but it was estimated that it would require a week or two to tighten up all the lines throughout the city.

All REA power lines in this area were damaged so that service was impossible either Saturday or Sunday and calls were (Continued on Back Page)

THE labor unions have made their demands upon the railways of the United States—and through the railways upon the PUBLIC. These demands are vastly larger in proportion than any they have ever made. The economical and efficient operation of the railways is vital to the nation's defense effort. Therefore, the Western Railways present to the public the following facts:

The labor unions representing engineers, firemen, conductors, brakemen and switchmen are demanding a 30 per cent increase in wages, amounting to 190 million dollars a year—although their present rates of pay are the highest in history.

Other unions representing a greater number of railway employees are demanding wage increases ranging as high as 95 per cent—averaging 47 per cent—and amounting to 580 million dollars a year—although their present rates of pay also are the highest in history.

Thus the wage increases being demanded by the labor unions amount to 770 million dollars a year, an average increase in excess of 41 per cent.

In addition, certain of these labor unions have demanded advances in their pay not included in the above figures, and more rules for the creation of unnecessary jobs.

The situation, then, is this: The total cost of complying with all the demands made would be approximately 900 million dollars a year!

The average weekly earnings of railway employees are now 15 per cent higher than in the peak year 1929, while the cost of living is 12 per cent less.

The demands of the railway labor unions are being made when the entire nation has just been asked to make a supreme effort for National Defense.

The railways cannot meet these demands without a great increase in the cost of transportation. They exceed by more than 700 million dollars the income that the railways had left after paying their annual expenses, taxes and charges in 1940.

The railways have a vitally important job before them. They need all their resources to continue adequately to serve you and contribute effectively toward the National Defense Program.

The Wayne News Advocates

1. Formation of a Wayne civic organization with a paid secretary which will have as its sole objective the improvement and growth of Wayne; an organization through which all business firms and professional men may unite their efforts.
2. Expansion of Wayne's trade territory.
3. Co-operation between WSTC and Wayne for their mutual benefit.
4. Improved transportation facilities including all-weather roads throughout this section of the state.
5. Extension of the soil and water conservation work throughout Wayne and adjacent counties.
6. Improvement of educational facilities and standards in both rural and town schools.

United Service Organizations

The campaign to raise Wayne's share of the United Service Organizations funds will be launched this week. With this city's quota set at only $500., it is expected that the fund will be raised without much difficulty although some have expressed the belief that drives in most Midwest cities will not go over the top with the speed of similar campaigns in eastern and coastal sections. Basis for this belief is the obvious fact that there is less indication of war-consciousness in the Midwest.

Principal objection to the drive which has already appeared is that the government should finance the program since such huge sums are being expended on all other phases of the defense effort and that indirectly, the taxpayers would pay for it along with the rest in the form of higher taxes. The answer is that regulations for defense expenditures do not permit such use of the funds and the government is constructing the necessary buildings, recreational centers, in the camps, which is as far as such aid is permitted.

Proceeds of this campaign in which citizens throughout the county are participating will be used to staff and promote programs in these U.S.O. centers. The funds you and your neighbors contribute will be used to provide religious, educational and recreational activities for the trainees at the camps and for defense workers, who are also lacking in adequate opportunities for recreation of a beneficial type.

Briefly, the U.S.O. is a non-profit corporation which includes six national agencies in its program of service to trainees and defense workers. The agencies include the YMCA, National Catholic Community Service, Salvation Army, Jewish Welfare board, YWCA and National Travelers Air association. Thus, the many and conflicting campaigns and services supplied by these various organizations in the World war are being avoided so that citizens will be solicited only once a year instead of many times. It is the Community Chest idea handled on a national rather than local scale.

Goal of the national drive is a $10,765,000 fund and Nebraska's share in this has been set at $63,860.

Workers in the campaign are giving their time and effort to the cause and should receive a courteous hearing from everyone. It is hoped that a large number respond which will make large contributions unnecessary.

Roosevelt Haters

Probably no president in the nation's history with the exception of President Lincoln has been so bitterly assailed by a minority group as has President Roosevelt. Both the administration's vast programs and the many grave issues faced are doubtless largely responsible. Few persons have approved every step in the administration's program even though the vast majority favored it and the general objectives sought.

For those who are sincere in their opposition to various policies and reforms, we have only admiration. In a democracy, it is natural that there will be conflicts of opinion, that these will be aired publicly and that they are evidence of a healthy condition in the nation. Sincere and constructive criticism contributes to progress.

On the other hand, there are many who have so consistently assailed every reform, every policy on both the domestic and foreign front, almost every move made by the administration that it is difficult to believe that they have not allowed their prejudice to so obstruct their vision that they cannot see. They have not helped the nation. They have tolerated and given some lip service to only a few most general policies and then only after it has been clearly shown that the vast majority favor them. In every act of the administration, they profess to see some grave threat to liberty, encouragement of class hatred, a plunge into war, or inflation and ruin.

The public has only to recall their many predictions of disasters, which have not taken place, to realize that they are false prophets and that their complaints are the children of hatred rather than reason.

Good signs of the times in Wayne county — More building and more plans for building, more improvement projects, brighter crop prospects, more optimism, higher prices for farm products.

The board, organization or official who is not adversely criticized at times, generally is so inactive that it or he accomplishes nothing.

HEALTHY, WEALTHY AND WISE!

National Industries Weekly Review

The Nation's Leading Letter by J. E. Jones, Washington, D. C.

A SHOW DOWN ON STRIKES

Washington, D. C., June 23 — Very likely President Roosevelt has never found anything harder in all of his official career than issuing an order to the War Department to take over and break up the strike in the North American Aviation company plant in California. The President in his statement, referred to the friendly spirit of the administration towards labor unions. He has stood his ground in defending the Wagner Act and the National Labor Relations board through the past years. However, he has been poorly supported by the federal administrators of labor laws.

The President appointed the mediation board, which has made a good record considering its lack of power. It attempted to prevent the California strike, but met with defiance. The situation was so unreasonable that Mr. Roosevelt had no course open except to take over the plant.

Attorney General Jackson accused the leaders of the strike with following "the Communist party line", which he said "more nearly resembled an insurrection than a labor strike". Other comments accused the strikers with being led by reds who were not willing to support their own government and the defense program.

The public must not forget, when complaining of the CIO, that its National president Philip Murray and the executive board of the CIO demanded obedience to the President; and assured the strikers that they could depend upon the government to protect their rights. But a few bad leaders continued to defy the authority of the President.

The probabilities are that some federal body like the mediation board will be given sufficient power to settle labor disputes and enforce justice to all concerned. That looks like a sensible remedy — and it ought not to be very hard to put in operation.

Jobs For Science And Invention

In his recent Commencement Day address at Harvard college, former President Hoover called on American science to produce successful defense against airplane attacks. He asked scientists of today to match achievements of the past by creating new machines and methods to defeat the deadly war machines used by Hitler's armies.

Almost simultaneously Charles F. Kettering made a public statement in which he said that the interception of night bombers is "being licked now" in England by detection devices "now in production". He confidently predicted that submarines will be defeated by new American inventions.

Mr. Kettering, famous inventor and scientist of General Motors, is head-man of the National Inventors council, a semi-official organization that acts in connection with the United States Patent office. Kettering says that American inventors, professional and amateur, have submitted many thousands of ideas that relate to the mechanics of the war, and that of these, 75 have been judged to be of major importance and are being developed. He expresses confidence that German submarines will be driven from the seas by the development of a device that will catch them on the surface at night. "We have been working with the navy for six years", he said, referring to the research division of General Motors. "It's not going to be too hard to beat the subs." He describes German submarines as faster boats than most British ships, but says that they are not faster than American boats which are able to locate submarines riding the surface at night when they recharge their batteries. "All you have to do is to locate them when they are on the surface at night, and you've got him," said Kettering. He added "Detectors will find him when he's under water".

Three centuries ago a wise man observed that "art imitates Nature, and necessity is the mother of invention". Evidently Ex-President Hoover is a firm believer in that philosophy. Mr. Kettering knows it's so!

Gains Without Profits

Retail business reports show a steady gain in cities and villages throughout the entire country. Higher prices have also increased. Farm costs of maintaining private businesses and farms are likely to defeat hopes of bigger profits by owners.

All-Aid For Transportation

The news from Washington indicates a shortage in the kind of ships that carry oil from the fields in the Southwest to the East — and other questions relating to transportation over the highways and rails are being carefully studied in connection with the complicated affairs of today. A Michigan manufacturer observes that the transportation industry is facing the biggest job in its history, and that everything possible must be done to provide maximum transportation equipment.

The public always wants what it wants, and the government is not bashful in demanding what it finds necessary for defense purposes, and that creates a situation in which Mr. and Mrs. John Doe America and the government must get together and reach an understanding. That is today's technique in our national capital.

"However, there are many industries which are not directly affected by defense requirements", observes Harvey C. Fruehauf, whose long experience and leadership as president of the Fruehauf Trailer company, is recognized in the transportation world. "It is necessary that such industries actively employ workers not needed in defense projects", he adds, because "it is from the profits of these industries and from the payrolls of workers in these industries that the government must finance a large part of the defense program". He answers the question: "How does all this affect transportation", as follows:

"The answer is that it inevitably is going to put demands on transportation which have never before been equaled. There is not a business which does not require some form of haulage to get materials into the plant and to get finished products out of it and into the hands of consumers. Interference with transportation, whether it is by some form of restriction or shortage of vehicles, must inevitably lead to curtailment of business. This is so evident that it is unlikely that any agencies will interfere with the maximum development of transportation equipment. It is in the interest of this country that all business be active to its utmost possibility whether it is engaged in defense or non-defense projects.

"The defense projects are direct contributions to the needs of the armed forces of the country. The non-defense projects are required to furnish the wherewithal or the money to help finance defense. For this reason now is the time to look to the efficiency of transportation equipment of all types as never before. Transportation is facing its biggest responsibility in the history of the world".

Washington Locals

The War department has gone on a 44-hour a week work basis. Staggered pay days for government employees will be on four days a month instead of twice a month.

The different departments have arranged stagger-hours from eight o'clock in the morning until late at night.

A rent commission will likely be created for the District of Columbia.

New government employees are coming from everywhere, thus multiplying the forces in the departments and in war defense activities.

Oh, beautiful Washington, you are surely a mess of a place!

Not Needed For Defense

The St. Lawrence Seaway, pictured by the administration as a necessity for defense, has had a setback. The Washington opinion is that the St. Lawrence project ought to be put through on its merits, and not under the erroneous presumption that it has any place in the national defense picture.

A Dollar A Year Men

The "dollar-a-year men" in Washington are working pretty cheap for their government, but all of them are putting just as many hours as they worked before they deserted big salaries to come to the aid of their country.

Federal Justice Tells

Courts State sales taxes or the use of taxes on cost-plus-fixed-fee contractors engaged on the national defense program must not be imposed by courts, says a statement of the Department of Justice this week. At the same time the announcement said, the department would not challenge the validity of taxes levied solely on vendors and legally absorbed as part of the sales price, or non-discriminatory state taxes levied on the fees paid to contractors by federal government.

"America Builds A Bomber"

Most people have never seen a bomber, and therefore are not able to realize that it is a battleship of the air. It is as much bigger than an ordinary airplane as a warship is bigger than a Hudson river ferryboat. The airplane and automobile factories produced more than two and a half times as many bombers and pursuit planes in May of this year than they did in July, 1940. All types of planes are taking to the air in constantly increasing volume.

The Army-Navy munitions board recently found that 4,750 primary contractors were employing 28,000 subcontractors. This shows what a widespread increase in distribution of work there has been in every activity of defense.

The automobile companies have been drafted to help produce bombers. These huge arsenals of the air are very costly, and require the highest degree of skilled labor to build them. The job is so big that it cannot be measured by most of us, but the extent of the undertaking explains why automobile production will be curtailed 20 per cent beginning August 1.

The story of how raw materials have flowed from all parts of the country to be used in the manufacture of automobiles is familiar to many newspaper readers, but very few persons realize that when America builds a bomber it calls for the raw products and materials from every state.

Take Your Choice A columnist profit seeking factual information about how soon the United States will be shooting in a war found wide difference of official opinion. One official told him: "I'm not convinced yet that there will be any shooting," and another replied, "we will be in it up to our necks inside of a month!"

Tuesday and Wednesday afternoons the Wayne band, which is now composed of more than thirty pieces under the direction of Professor Hunter of the college, gave pleasing concerts to those who came to patronize our merchants on community bargain days.

It is not often that we see an undertaker advertisement, for they seem to think it is a waiting game, and that soon or late some one will have to have them, which is no doubt true. But in one of our exchanges we see where some independent undertaker is reaching out for the business which might go to some other undertaker in some of the neighboring towns. He tells of his experience and his facilities to serve in the hour of need. But the funny part of the advertisement comes in where he says everybody who has had him are perfectly satisfied with his work. We suppose they never made a kick — or gave any back talk.

Mrs. A. B. Carhart was visiting at Sioux City last week and looking after business matters.

Mrs. Henry Preston went to Oakland Tuesday to visit home folks for a short time.

Plainview people think there is oil under that place and a contract has been let for a prospect hole down to the depth of 2,000 feet. They have been quite a while getting started but now claim that work will be pushed without delay.

Bonnie and Delwyn Sorensen spent the afternoon with Jimmie Jo Corbit in honor of his seventh birthday, Friday.

Dorothy June Green of Grand Island returned to her home Friday after spending several days last week visiting Barbara Strahan.

Attend Funeral Rites

Prof. and Mrs. Albert G. Carlson and family attended funeral rites in Ceresco Tuesday for Mrs. Carlson's mother, Mrs. P. M. Pearson, who died the previous week, following a long illness.

Jason Gifford attended funeral rites at Belden Tuesday for his brother, Charles Gifford, 86. Others going from here were Max Gifford, Mrs. Cliff Penn and Mrs. Dallas Gifford.

Mrs. J. M. Strahan and Jimmie went to Winslow Sunday where they visited with Mrs. Strahan's parents, Mr. and Mrs. G. A. Mittelestadt.

Legion Nine Beaten By Wakefield

Walks, Errors Costly; Visitors Rally In Ninth

Wayne's Junior Legion team lost its opening game of the season Friday to the Wakefield Junior Legion nine, 13 to 9. A ninth inning rally won for the visiting team which was trailing when the final frame opened despite the fact that Wayne's hurler passed out 18 free trips to first during the tilt. Fifteen Wakefield players were given walks and three others were struck by pitched balls.

Herman Utecht, who did the hurling for Wayne, allowed the visitors only four hits in the game but couldn't get his dark ones over the plate with any regularity. Robert Meyers caught for Wayne.

Game In Brief

Neu and Anderson made up the battery of the winning Wakefield team. Wayne started the scoring with a single run in the first with Wakefield taking the lead by scoring two in the second; Wayne rallied in the fifth to chalk up five runs and Wakefield tied the score by getting four in the sixth. Wayne pulled ahead again in its half of the same inning, with another score and each team picked up two more counters in the seventh. Wayne was leading by a single run at the end of the eighth.

A series of errors coupled with only one hit and a few walks resulted in a five run rally for Wakefield in the first of the ninth.

Meets Emerson

The Wayne Junior Legion team journeys to Emerson today (Tuesday) to mix with the Emerson nine in the second game of the season. J. M. Strahan who is aiding Coach Frank Sullivan in handling the Wayne team says that some changes in the lineup are being made and that Wayne should be a strong contender for honors in this district despite the initial defeat.

Wind Storm Lashes Wide Area, Damaging Roofs, Lines And Trees

still pouring in Monday of breaks in highline wires and poles. Damage consisted chiefly of wire and pole breaks and trees laying across transformers. Lightning failed to cause any damage.

Phone Lines Hit

The telephone company had only three toll circuits working following the storm and although repairs were being rushed as rapidly as possible, not all lines had been placed in working order at press time Monday. Most of the damage in this area was between Wayne and Carroll and Randolph and Norfolk. No estimate of damage had been made by telephone company officials but they agreed that it was extensive and included wire and pole breaks throughout the county with the greatest number in the western sections of the county.

Roofs Damaged

The roofs of several residences were damaged by the storm and falling trees, hundreds of which were wrecked. Broken limbs lined some streets in Wayne so that traffic was halted until city workers cleared away the debris. Residents were busy Monday sawing the broken limbs and repairing damage. Some signs including that of the C. and M. grocery store were torn down by the wind. A tree crashed into a corner of the John Brugger residence and a few windows were reported broken in various sections of the city.

The storm brought with it about .70 of an inch of rain in Wayne. The gauge at the Carhart Lumber company recorded .35 of an inch on Saturday and exactly the same amount on Sunday. More rain was received north of here.
