

It required several arrests to do the job but the city judges deserve congratulations on enforcement of the ordinance banning fireworks in the city limits.

It was a game Fourth, too, throughout the nation with the death toll reaching only slightly above the 300 mark—a decline of which the nation may be proud.

Apparently local republicans are going to get much more fun out of the primaries than the democrats who failed to file candidates for such important offices as County Commissioner.

Sweet news for all families planning some canning and local grocers is the announcement elsewhere on this page that this county is to receive an extra allotment of sugar which will be shared by all applicants in the form of extra certificates.

Several members of the county fair board went to Oakland Monday evening to attend a meeting of the Northeast Nebraska Fair Managers Association.

Indications are that the 4-H boys and girls who have been working for county fair awards will not be disappointed this year by having the fair cancelled at this late hour.

The 1942-43 Wayne City Directories were delivered to all homes in Wayne Monday morning. If you failed to receive your free copy, please call at The News office for it within the next few days.

The Wayne Players are due the congratulations of the community not only on the financial success of their most recent production, which was presented last Tuesday evening and made possible the purchase of a $100 bond by the play's sponsors.

John Moore and Dr. R. L. Stuart in the leading roles were ably supported by Mr. and Mrs. Henry Ley, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Reynolds, Willard Wilcox, Ted Foust, Wilbur Ahlvers, Dr. F. M. Gracey, Mr. and Mrs. Ed Stipsky, Harold West, Ted Hook, Dr. John Moore, Ed Larson, Lee Bratten, Frank Harnish and Joe Spolsky, Jr.

Rev. Most Resigns As Pastor Here

Year Of Study At Fremont Will Begin Sept. 1

Rev. W. F. Most, pastor of Our Redeemer's Lutheran church in Wayne for the past six years, notified local church officials Sunday of his resignation from this pastorate effective Sept. 1.

Reverend Most explained he is resigning to spend a year completing his education and will enroll in Midland college at Fremont this fall.

Reverend Most has a year of resident work to complete before receiving his AB degree, and will get his BD degree from Western Seminary at Fremont as soon as he receives his AB since work was previously completed on the degree but it could not be conferred prior to the other degree.

The popular Wayne pastor attended Martin Luther Seminary and College and took music courses at the University at Lincoln before accepting his first pastorate which was at the Windsor Trinity Lutheran church, where he served for five and a half years before coming to Wayne.

Our Redeemer's Lutheran church has enjoyed a remarkable growth under Rev. Most's guidance. When he came here only about sixty families were members; now 160 families, a total of 550 souls, are affiliated with the church.

Many improvements in the church building have also been made. Just last fall a new church basement was constructed and an extensive interior redecoration program was carried out.

While working on his degree at Fremont, Rev. Most will work part time and do supply work at churches on Sundays.

Death Takes W. Jacobsen

Funeral Will Be Held Wednesday At Our Redeemer's

Funeral services for Wilhelm Jacobsen, who was taken by death Saturday, will be held at 2 o'clock Wednesday afternoon at Our Redeemer's Lutheran church with Rev. W. F. Most officiating.

Wilhelm Jacobsen was born April 24, 1878, in Kispersdiek, Morckirch-Westerholz, Germany. He died at an Omaha hospital where he was rushed Saturday after becoming critically ill.

The deceased was the son of August Jacobsen and Anna Christine Bush, was baptized in the church in Boil and confirmed March 31, 1895, at the Evangelical Emmanuel Lutheran church in Coleridge, Nebraska.

At the age of 12, he came to this country with his parents and located in Omaha. Later he moved with his parents to a farm 7 miles north of Wayne, which was his home until three years ago this spring.

Bank Deposits Continue Steady Climb in Wayne

Another healthy gain in both deposits and assets of Wayne's two banks is reflected in the statement of condition as of June 30, 1942, published elsewhere in The News.

The two banks which registered great gains at the time of the last previous call, April 4, showed the trend is continuing in their latest statements. Deposits of the two combined climbed from $1,980,754.76 in April over the two million mark to $2,117,249.60.

Assets of the two combined went from $2,195,964.55 in April to $2,333,074.67.

County Fair Here Likely

Final Decision Will Be Made At Meeting Tonight

While the meeting of the county fair board to decide definitely whether or not the 1942 annual fair would be held or cancelled was postponed from Monday night until tonight, it was believed virtually certain that the fair will be held.

Several members of the county fair board went to Oakland Monday evening to attend a meeting of the Northeast Nebraska Fair Managers Association.

The county fairs at West Point and Bloomfield, which rank with the Wayne county fair as the three largest in northeast Nebraska, will be held as usual. A few smaller fairs are expected to be cancelled.

Several outstanding attractions have already been booked for the county fair here and it is expected that more detailed arrangements will be completed at the meeting here tonight.

Miss Lucille Kiepkie went to Mitchell, S. D., Saturday for the week end.

Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Berridge and daughter returned home last week from a two weeks vacation in Colorado.

Mrs. A. W. Ross returned home Tuesday from Chicago where she visited for the past two months.

County's Scrap Rubber Pile To 46 Tons Now

Wayne county's scrap rubber pile tipped the scales at nearly 46 tons Monday afternoon, C. C. Stirtz, chairman of the campaign in this county, announced.

Mr. Stirtz was confident that his early prediction that this county would contribute a total of 50 tons of scrap rubber to the nation-wide campaign will be upheld.

The campaign, which was extended by President Roosevelt when the nation-wide response lagged, is not slated to close officially until Friday, July 10.

Mr. and Mrs. Larry Brown and family are in Holdrege on a two weeks vacation.

Eckert Is Killed In Plane Crash

Training Crash Victim Took First Flight Course Here

Ensign Alvin Davis Eckert, 22, who was killed in a navy plane crash Saturday near San Diego, Calif., received his civilian pilot training at the Wayne airport.

Word of his death was received by friends here and relatives in Sioux City and Anthon, where he lived most of his life.

A telephone call from his bride of six weeks stated that the fatal crash occurred while he was piloting his plane in formation. He was reported to have been flying with Ensign Herbert Dale Candiff when their plane crashed into the ocean during a routine training flight.

Neither body had been recovered when word of the tragedy was received.

Ensign Eckert's brother, Ensign Fred L. Eckert, also well known in Wayne having attended college here and employed by the Hiscox Funeral Home, was at Pearl Harbor when last heard from.

Ensign Alvin Eckert enlisted in the navy air corps about a year ago, taking his preliminary training at Corpus Christi, Texas, and Jacksonville, Fla., where he was married in May three days after receiving his wings. He was back in Wayne on a visit late in May and left from Sioux City to report for final training at San Diego on May 28.

County Will Get Special Sugar Bonus

Allotments To All Families For Canning Increased

Wayne county residents will receive a special sugar bonus or allotment for canning purposes the first of August through special permission obtained from state rationing headquarters by the county rationing board.

This special sugar allotment is in addition to the ration wide sugar bonus on regular ration stamps effective within the next few weeks.

Additional certificates will be mailed all county applicants for canning sugar, who have already obtained their certificates for canning sugar on or about August 1.

Those who have not yet received their certificates, all of whom are urged to obtain them at day-long sessions of the board at the auditorium Wednesday, will receive on that date certificates as provided by sugar regulations, enforced in this county in the past, or a limit of nine pounds per farm family and seven per city family member.

Reason for the request of the board for this special additional allotment is that numerous complaints have been received that while the Wayne county board was strictly enforcing the regulations, boards of most other Nebraska counties were giving much more liberal allotments.

The situation was explained to state authorities who decided on this method to equalize the amount of sugar granted for canning throughout the state.

Meanwhile, more than a score of women had been obtained by the Wayne Chamber of Commerce including many volunteers to assist the board in handling all applicants for sugar for canning who have not already received their certificates.

Those who paid county filing fees for other state offices here were Ray R. Larson, republican, for railway commissioner and Phil H. Kohl, democrat, for secretary of state.

Candidates filed by the democratic party as delegates to the county convention include Kathryn Lou Felber, Dr. Walter Benthack, Mrs. J. M. Strahan, Fred Dale, J. J. Ahern, W. C. Coryell, Mrs. E. J. Huntemer, Martin Ringer, W. D. Noakes, Minnie Strickland, Rollie W. Ley, Henry E. Ley, Mrs. F. I. Moses and A. L. Swan. (Two will be elected from each precinct).

Candidates filed by the republican party as delegates to its county convention include Russell W. Bartels, T. S. Hook, Henry Arp, Don S. Wightman, Elmer Phillips, Walter H. Brede-meyer, John M. Petersen, Gus A. Paulsen, B. W. Wright and Mrs. Irvie Reed. (Number to be elected varies but considerably more than democrats since based on vote cast last election. More names are expected to file since the above which were filed before the deadline for the filing of office candidates are not sufficient).

Another meeting of representatives of the towns opposing the application of the C. St. P. M. and O. Railway to substitute tri-weekly for daily service on the Wakefield-Crofton and Wayne Bloomfield branch lines will be held at Laurel Thursday night.

A public hearing on the case will be conducted by the state railway-commission in the district courtroom in Wayne at 9 o'clock Wednesday morning, July 15.

Those who paid county filing fees for other state offices here were Ray R. Larson, republican, for railway commissioner and Phil H. Kohl, democrat, for secretary of state.

A public hearing on the case will be conducted by the state railway-commission in the district courtroom in Wayne at 9 o'clock Wednesday morning, July 15.

An organization, headed by F. P. Voter of Laurel, heads the opposition to the railway's application.

Doh Strahan and Robert Dale are leaving Friday for Fort Des Moines, where they are entering training in special work which will be completed this fall at Northwestern University.

The re-election of Frank Erxleben, republican, commissioner for the First District, Burr Davis, republican, as county attorney, and F. B. Decker, non-political, as county superintendent was virtually assured as the deadline for the filing passed Thursday evening with the incumbents listed above as the only candidates for these offices. Of course, names may be written in at the primaries, but their names will be the only ones appearing on the primaries' ballots.

William A. Crossland of Wayne, who is completing his first term as the 16th district member of the legislature, faces three opponents in his race for re-election to this non-political office. They are Otto C. Weber and Henry Hoppe, both of Schuyler and W. A. Brown of Stanton.

However, all other candidates for county offices face opponents in either the primaries on August 11 or the general election in November.

The race for county clerk holds the spotlight in the republican primaries with four candidates seeking the office now held by David W. Needham, republican, only incumbent whose term expires who failed to file for re-election. Strangely enough while four republicans are seeking the post, not a single democrat filed for that office so the primaries will decide the winners, unless a 'write-in' campaign, which is generally unsuccessful, is launched.

The republican candidates for that office in the order in which they filed are Claude L. Wright, present county assessor, Howard M. James, W. H. Rees and Clarence A. Bard.

The office of county treasurer proved the second most popular in the county with J. J. Steele, incumbent, the only democratic candidate, and Carl Nicholasen and Jean A. Boyd seeking the republican nomination.

Election of a republican county sheriff is also assured as no democrat filed. The primaries race will be between James H. Pile, incumbent and Earl Wade.

The primaries will serve only as a questionable test of strength in the other races since each party has only one candidate. William J. Misfeldt, republican incumbent, will be opposed in the general election for Third District county commissioner by Tom Fryor, democrat. Frank F. Korff, democrat incumbent, will be opposed by David J. Hamer, republican in the race for clerk of the district court. Marie Brittain, democrat, and Alex Jeffrey, republican, are the candidates for county assessor.

A. G. Sydow and Edward Grubb are the only two who filed in the races for directors of the Wayne County Rural Public Power district. They run on a non-political ticket.

The Russian Cathedral quartet, composed of the four lead soloists from the Siberian Singers, who have appeared twice in Wayne, and who as the Russian Cathedral Singers have been frequently heard in transcribed programs from radio station WIAG will appear at the college auditorium on Thursday evening, July 9, in a program of Russian liturgical and folk music.

Russian church music has been the admiration of the world, and many consider it to be the most marvelous choral music known to man. Those who have heard it can never forget the power of those poignant, wonderful melodies which pierce to the depths of human emotions. The soul knows no mood which cannot find an echo and healing in the marvelous melodies of the Orthodox Christian Church of Russia.

Their leader, Nicholas Vasilieff, has gained an international reputation, both for his own beautiful singing, and for his qualities as a choir and chorus director.

Two Directors To Be Elected On Friday

Mail ballots have been sent to all landowners in the Wayne County Soil Conservation District for the election of two directors for the district to be held on Friday, July 10, it was announced by the board Monday.

With the withdrawal of Willie Hansen as a candidate, only three names, two of whom are to be elected to serve terms of four years each, are left on the ballot. They are C. A. Bard, Delf Kai, jr., and Albert Watson.

While an effort was made to mail ballots to all landowners, it is possible that one or more was missed. If so, they may obtain ballots at the SCS office in Wayne or vote there between the hours of 1 and 9 p. m. on election day, Friday.

George Fox and Herman Dinklage are recent additions to the list of county farmers who have signed SCS agreements.

Some of those who were born in this country and went back to Japan a few years and underwent the Shinto instructions are called "kibes". The House Committee on Immigration and Naturalization is working on the problem presented by these cases of divided allegiance.

Debate on the 42 billion dollar War department appropriation bill developed that about a third of our army will be in aviation in the future. The report on the bill indicates that our enlisted strength in the army will be over 4,500,000 persons during the present year.

One military expert in debating the gigantic funds for the War Department, predicts that the time will come, due to modern warfare, when all water surface craft will be outmoded and long range bombers—land based—will be the most effective weapon. He predicts that they will even replace the airplane carrier which is now replacing the battleship. He states that the airplane carrier is as vulnerable a target as is the obsolete battleship.

Recognition of war contracts is bringing back hundreds of millions of dollars into the federal treasury. From the day Albert Engel of Michigan learned that out of an expenditure of 800 million dollars for cantonments, about 250 million dollars were actually wasted, congress has had several committees investigating expenditures. The result is that the navy investigators have reported that about half a billion dollars have been turned back into the treasury and the army investigators report that 1 billion, 337 million dollars will be turned back into the treasury as a result of renegotiation of contracts.

Richard J. Hesse of Hartington and Karl R. Liewer of Osmond took the Congressional Designation Examination preliminary to U. S. Military Academy nomination, in October, 1941. They were competing with a number of other young men from the Third District for nomination to fill one vacancy at the Military Academy accredited to the Third District in 1942. These two men ran, within one-third of one per cent, a dead heat for the top grade in the competitive examination. Hesse's slight margin gave him the principal's nomination. Liewer was named first alternate. Both qualified, mentally and physically for admission but Hesse's principalship admitted him and there was no vacancy for Liewer. Under legislation which recently passed the congress, the Third District is entitled to the appointment of one additional cadet to the Military Academy to enter in July, 1942. Karl Liewer, a candidate who has already qualified for admission to the Academy will fill this vacancy.

Another vacancy at the Military and Naval Academies will be accredited to the Third District in 1943 and around September first, applications will be accepted from young men throughout the Third District who wish to participate in the preliminary competitive Congressional Designation Examination early in October, 1942.

We should remember, however, that these groups are using the exigencies of war to promote their actual goal of permanent prohibition.

DOING A GOOD JOB

For four years the Nebraska Committee of the Brewing Industry Foundation has been telling beer dealers to "clean up or close up"—and it has been getting excellent results.

The Committee has recommended that the state liquor commission not renew licenses of beer dealers found to be operating beyond the law.

As a result, J. A. McEachen, member of the liquor commission, recently told the committee "we're proud of you."

So, licensed operators do not constitute a problem in Nebraska. It is the unlicensed "spike joints" that cause trouble. Self-regulation should be given every encouragement.

SPECIAL SALE AT PRIVATE TREATY EIGHT WAYNE COUNTY FARMS

[Owned by Fremont and Lincoln Joint Stock Land Banks]

We have recently sold a few farms in this field. We are anxious to dispose of the remainder of our properties in Wayne county, but if not earlier sold, we now plan to include them all in one auction sale to be held in Wayne in late July or early August. If acquainted with our lands, submit an offer, even though you may need some additional time on the earnest money payment. If not familiar with them, consult the list, make an inspection and an offer to W. J. Boomer, Stratton Hotel in Wayne, or direct to this office.

2. Expansion of Wayne's trade territory.
3. Co-operation between WSTC and Wayne for their mutual benefit.
4. Improved transportation facilities including all-weather roads throughout this section of the state.
5. Extension of the soil and water conservation work throughout Wayne and adjacent counties.
6. Improvement of educational facilities and standards in both rural and town schools.

County Politics

Just why candidates for county offices should run as candidates of either the republican or democratic parties when their official duties have no relation to the issues which are linked with the parties is a mystery.

The News, which supports the democratic party in national and state politics, believes that the interests of Wayne county and its citizens may be served best by the election of the most qualified candidates on either the democratic or republican ballots to county offices. Some offices, such as that of county superintendent and state senator, have already been made non-political. Others have not but in some cases, we believe that the republican candidates for county offices are better qualified and would serve this county and the taxpayers better than any of those seeking the democratic nomination; the reverse is true in some other cases where the democratic candidate holds the same advantage over any of the candidates for the republican nomination.

Throughout the campaign, The News will strive to present both sides of the picture and will support candidates which seem best qualified in character, experience, ability and willingness to give this county the most economical and efficient administration.

Invisible Greenbacks

An article on "Invisible Greenbacks" written by Harry Sherman and published in the July Fourth edition of The Saturday Evening Post describes the way inflation will come in this country if we are fools enough to let it and supplies another most important reason, if any should be needed, for the purchase of more and more war bonds and stamps. It is well worth the serious consideration of every American, we believe, and for that reason we are quoting a few highlights from it.

"By failing to buy War Savings Bonds, with money we can spare for that purpose, we are continually forcing the United States Treasury to create new money with which to pay its war bills.

"There is a stark truth with such grave possible consequences that every adult in the land must be made to understand it, and soon.

"This new money we force the government to create is not paper money. Meticulous economists dub it 'new commercial bank deposits' created by extension of bank credit to the Government.

"The one important thing for laymen to understand about these 'new bank deposits' is that they will buy anything that printing press money could buy. They may fairly be dubbed, for short, 'invisible greenbacks'.

"The catastrophic German inflation of the twenties had its beginning in just such government-borrowing-from-the-banks.

"The key fact... is that when we individuals buy Government securities, we use dollar bills or bank deposits that are already in existence. But when the commercial banks buy Government bonds, new bank deposits are created.

The writer goes on to explain that in this country the dangerous increase in money, runaway inflation, will not come from a flood of printing press money as it did in Germany because our business is conducted almost wholly with checks but it will come if we allow an enormous increase in money to pile up in the form of invisible greenbacks. The war effort must and will be financed with bonds or invisible greenbacks.

There are many other reasons to purchase even more bonds and stamps than you can afford, such important reasons as supplying the guns, tanks, planes and supplies for our fighting men and the selfish one of building up funds on which you receive interest to buy the many new and improved products which cannot be bought now but will be on the market following the war.

But, if there was no other reason than to prevent runaway inflation in this country, it would be ample.

The Picture Shifts

News from the nation's widely scattered war fronts shifts from bright to dark shades and back again with amazing speed these days. This much seems certain, however, and that is that the war will likely continue at least another year.

Those who envisioned a quick and successful conclusion of the conflict as soon as America's industrial machine reached top speed failed to consider the time required to get vast quantities of these supplies and Uncle Sam's huge army of fighting men into action on the various fronts. Only an internal collapse in Germany or Japan would end the war speedily and while there are hopeful signs that this may not be too long delayed, hope of immediate action seems only wishful thinking.

For the vast majority of Americans who are not in our fighting forces, a long war means greater and greater sacrifice and a temporary lowering of our high standard of living. The picture is far from bright for the immediate future but it is generally agreed that after the war we will enjoy an even higher standard of living than in the past.

Congratulations

All members of the cast and its directors deserve the congratulations of the community on the excellent presentation of the "Wayne Players" mystery play last Tuesday evening. The affair was a success both from the standpoint of the profits realized by its sponsors, the Woman's club, which will use them to purchase a war bond, and the excellent entertainment which pleased the crowd. It should be remembered that members of the cast gave liberally of their time, rehearsing night after night, to provide the entertainment as a public service. They received not one cent for their efforts; in fact, preparing for the play involved some expense for each of them. They gave an excellent performance and deserve a vote of thanks from the community.

National Industries Weekly Review

The Nation's Leading Letter by J. E. Jones, Washington, D. C.

ECONOMIC HIGHLIGHTS

We are at last beginning to feel the colossal changes war has forced on the economic and social life of the nation. And, in the next six months or so, changes in a far greater degree than anything we have yet experienced will inevitably take place.

It should be clear to everyone by now that the American standard of living, which has been infinitely luxurious by comparison with that of most of the rest of the world, will be largely abandoned for the duration. This year, our national income will be the largest in our history. But the amount of money which the people will have to spend for goods and services will be down to the lowest depression levels and perhaps lower. There are three principal reasons for that. First, and most important, is the tax burden, which will be felt in the lowest income groups, and will reach staggering proportions in the middle and high income groups. Second, War Bond purchases, whether voluntary or enforced, will take a substantial part of everyone's remaining income. Third, the price level is far above that of 1932 and 1933.

For the most part, we have not yet felt any particular lack of "luxury goods." While manufacture of such goods was stopped some time ago in most lines, stocks on hand have kept store inventories adequate. Soon it will be impossible to buy a refrigerator, an automatic heating plant, a radio, an office machine and ten thousand and one other items, unless you have a first-class priority rating, and the item is needed for a purpose directly connected with the war. Rationing of public transportation services may make pleasure travel impossible. And it is generally expected that a card-rationing system, similar to that now in effect for sugar, will be extended to other foods, to clothes and to many additional necessities.

Whole professions are being virtually wiped out. For example, there is the plight of the salesman. There is no need for his services if his industry is engaged in war work. If his industry is not in war work, its production is swiftly declining and he has less and less to sell. These people are being absorbed by war industry, for the most part. After the war they will face another difficult problem of readjustment.

Some high government officials, such as Vice-President Wallace and Undersecretary of State Welles, have made interesting speeches of late, which cast a light on this nation's world destiny. It is said that we will be the leaders in stabilizing the world after the war, and in maintaining order. But it is also said that our program will not be imperialistic in the traditional sense. Past imperialism has been based on subject peoples and nations. The Whole industries are in the same position. The mortality, for instance, in the businesses which have been built up about the automobile—service stations, repair shops, roadside restaurants, resorts, etc.—is great, and before long it will be tremendous. All their proprietors and employees can do is to close shop and get a war job. There is no place for their businesses in the war picture.

The face of American communities of all sizes is changing swiftly. Gigantic war plants are being developed in sections where there was little industry before. In many defense areas, population growth—unprecedented in its rapidity—has created an exceedingly severe housing and transportation problem. These problems have not yet been adequately solved, and they will grow worse. They constitute a major headache to governmental authorities.

The population trend from country to city is intense. Agricultural workers, attracted by the big wages paid by war industry are literally leaving the farms in droves. The farm operator can't get enough labor, and even when he can, he must offer wages that in many cases are beyond his ability to pay. This has offset a good part of the benefits of increased farm income.

The foregoing simply illustrates a few of the almost revolutionary changes that are occurring in this country. And they illustrate, by inference, what our post-war problems will be. Authorities in both business and government seem convinced that none of the problems are insoluble. They know that there will be many mistakes, many errors in judgment. But they believe that, after the war, this nation's incredible industrial plant will be able to provide jobs for all employables, and will in time bring the general standard of living to a level well beyond anything we have known. It is a healthy sign that, even as we grapple with the immense problems of war, we are thinking ahead to the peace to come.

Some high government officials, such as Vice-President Wallace and Undersecretary of State Welles, have made interesting speeches of late, which cast a light on this nation's world destiny. It is said that we will be the leaders in stabilizing the world after the war, and in maintaining order. But it is also said that our program will not be imperialistic in the traditional sense. Past imperialism has been based on subject peoples and nations. The new kind of imperialism, as Mr. Wallace puts it, is to be based on equal peoples, working together toward a common goal of peace and security.

If, as seems likely, this nation escapes wholesale bombing and invasion, we will have the only effective production plant on earth when the last shot is fired. Destitute nations will look to us to help them to their feet. It is a challenging prospect—and a gigantic opportunity.

As time goes on, your retail stores will have a changed appearance. There will be less goods on the shelves in many instances. Some items will vanish altogether, and some will be extremely scarce. In time, widespread rationing of a large number of necessities may be put into effect. These are the inevitable result of war's enormous demands on America's productive resources.

But there is one thing that will not change in your retail store—and that is its management's ambition to serve you to the limit of its ability. Tomorrow, as in the past, it will be seeking ways and means to earn your patronage.

In addition, retailing is now carrying on some extremely important special activities on behalf of the consumer. It is conferring with manufacturers and others in developing suitable substitutes to take the place of priority goods and materials. In the food field, retailers have taken the lead in promoting the National Nutrition Program—a program which is backed by the government, and whose purpose is to help build a stronger, healthier country. In every sound activity of consumer welfare, retailers are almost at the forefront.

War will force immense changes in the home life of the American people. We will have to forego most luxuries, and use a minimum of many necessities. Retailing's job is to help us in making these difficult adjustments in our living standards.

THE DOCTOR IN WARTIME

A short time ago, an American Medical Association official observed that doctor calls might have to be "rationed" for the duration. The reason behind this is the immense number of doctors being called for service in the military forces. According to army heads, thousands more will be needed in the future.

American medicine is rising to this emergency with its typical spirit. Retired doctors are coming back into harness, and taking over the practices of younger men who have joined the army and navy. Other doctors are working harder, and serving an increased number of patients. And during this difficult period, the patient himself can help keep medical practices at the high standards to which we are accustomed.

Don't waste your doctor's time. Don't ask him to make a house call when you are perfectly capable of going to his office. Don't make his visits a social occasion, and expect him to sit around and visit for an hour after he gets through treating you. If, through your thoughtlessness, the doctor is forced to dissipate time, someone who urgently needs his attention may have to go without.

American medicine can serve both the armed forces and the civilian population with efficiency if patients will co-operate.

STOP WHOLESALE SMEARING

Business is making a good record in this war. The public knows it and business executives know it. There is not going to be much charity for a few selfish operators who spoil that record by seeking to grab what they can out of the war. Government, on its side, when it punishes the malefactors, owes it to the country to avoid scrupulously any suggestion of "smearing" all business and industry for the fault of a few.—The New York Times.

UNDERGROUND DRIVE TOWARDS SOCIALISM

In some "ultra-progressive" circles, a campaign has been started to force government operation of the railroads, on the grounds that this is necessary to the success of the war effort. The arguments for this end consist of a curious and subtle mixture of misstatements, half-truths and misinterpretation of facts. As part of the campaign, criticism is being directed at Federal Coordinator of Transportation Eastman, despite the fact that competent authorities consider him able and unprejudiced, and his past record completely belies the intimation that he is a "tool of the railroads" or anyone else.

In all probability, this campaign is not honestly designed to advance the war effort at all, but is, on the contrary, designed to use the camouflage of war necessity to make possible the extension of state socialism to one of our greatest private enterprises. No industry has done a better job in meeting war demands than the railroads. Incredible quantities of freight are being moved without serious delay or congestion. Shipper-railroad cooperation has produced miracles of efficiency. Every so-called "transportation crisis" has been met with great success.

You don't have to take a railroad man's word for that. The other day, Admiral Spear, Chief of Transportation, U. S. Navy, said: "It is a source of satisfaction to be able to state that... the railway officers of the United States have shown the very best cooperation in their efforts to meet our demands." Brigadier General Gross, Chief of Transporter, U. S. Army, said: "Night and day the rails have been on the job, consistently meeting the increasing difficult requirements for service... We of the Army look to railroad men with every confidence in their ability to meet the test."

The American people should be on guard against any effort to extend arbitrary bureaucratic control over any of our vital industries. This new underground campaign against the railroads is part and parcel of a determined effort being made by individuals in this county who desire political concentration of power over individual free enterprise in order to bring about widespread socialism under the guise of war exigencies.

RESPONSIBILITY OF PRIVATE ENTERPRISE

"We must win this war if we are to recover the liberties that have been suspended and we must win an enduring peace if we are to retain them," said the president of the National Board of Fire Underwriters, recently. "A great responsibility rests on the shoulders of private enterprise. In addition to helping win this war it must justify its right to existence by constructive action and adaptation to such necessary changes of operation as may develop in the days that lie ahead. Management must not shirk its responsibility in furnishing leadership to uphold and retain the right of every free citizen to carry on his business and activities as a free agent, subject only to those restraints that are necessary or desirable for the common good. There can be no true liberty in this or any other country unless private enterprise enjoys the right of such freedom. The future of our country as we have known and loved it depends upon the continuation of a national policy which recognizes and upholds the soundness of this basic conception."

I'LL TUNE OUT THE ALKA-SELTZER ANNOUNCEMENT

Don't—THAT'S THE MOST IMPORTANT THING YOU'LL HEAR TONIGHT

"When statements about Alka-Seltzer are made over the air, please, please believe them."

Mrs. Oma Catherine Jones

MILLIONS suffer less from Headache, Acid Indigestion, Distress of Colds—"Morning After" and Muscular Fatigue because they have heard—and believed—Alka-Seltzer radio announcements. To these millions, the relief obtained by the use of Alka-Seltzer is worth far more than the genuine enjoyment they get from the broadcasts.

The most important parts of our radio program, both to you and to us, are the commercial announcements. Once you have tried Alka-Seltzer you believe you will agree with us. But try Alka-Seltzer because it is an unusually effective medicine not because you enjoy the radio programs.

WHY ALKA-SELTZER IS SO EFFECTIVE

The pain-relieving analgesic in Alka-Seltzer is in complete solution, ready to ease the distress as soon as you swallow it. The pain-relieving action is made more effective by alkaline buffers. The alkalinizing elements in Alka-Seltzer reduce excess stomach acidity.

Get Alka-Seltzer the next time you pass a drug store.

WHAT ARE WE FIGHTING FOR

The Four Freedoms

No. 2

FREEDOM OF WORSHIP

AMERICA stands as the world's greatest monument to Religion and to Faith. However, unlike most monuments, it is one that was never built. It is a living monument that has grown.

Our country was founded because a band of freedom-loving people insisted on the right to go about their daily lives thinking and believing and worshipping openly according to their own conscience and not according to the dictation of some arbitrary authority. Consequently, there can be no place in America today for even the thought of any social order that would impose upon or hamper the individual's spiritual beliefs.

The sacredness of the individual's right to worship in his own way is forever instilled in all real Americans and in their children. Respect for this right and tolerance for the other fellow's beliefs are principles that form two of the staunchest pillars of our Democracy.

The preservation of religious freedom as one of the inviolable rights carried America through the hardships of early colonial days, through the sacrifices of the War of the Revolution and through the troubled days of the first Federal Government. Always it has been faith in the Divine and devotion to individual freedom that have kept our country moving steadily ahead to the place of leadership among the nations of the world and now to the task of saving them.

Approximately two hundred thousand religious organizations and churches of some two hundred and fifty different faiths bear witness to the freedom and the vitality of Religion in America. Its teachings and its practices have influenced our people to live better and more useful lives, not just for their own sake, but for their fellowmen and for their country. Religion asks that the individual treat his fellowman as his brother and to be an example to him. All real Americans realize what this freedom of Religion means to us as individuals and as a nation and will safeguard it everlastingly for us and for all the world.

These sentiments are presented to you through the co-operation of the following leaders of
