President Roosevelt is taking his time about nation-wide rationing of gasoline. The opposition to gas rationing in the Middle West has continued to mount as the eastern newspapers press the argument that rationing in the west will afford more gas for the east.

The same newspapers are endeavoring to explain why the western states are furnishing so much more scrap-rubber than the eastern centers of larger population and greater number of cars. It now seems likely that the extension of the rationing program may come later, probably not before fall, but all predictions on any proposition now are without substantial basis. Nobody knows the what nor when about anything with events moving so rapidly. The senate committee seems about to enforce action on the making of synthetic rubber from grain alcohol, but the big oil companies are using all their pull against it. Donald Nelson may "purge" some in the WPB who are charged with delaying action.

Congress again broke all records for war appropriations by passing the largest bill of all, for $42 billions.

Were we not in a great World war, there would not be such measures before congress. The grand total of war appropriations is now $202 billions. Some of this great sum will be expended before 1945 and 1946. Should the victory be obtained before then, some will not be expended at all. Included in the new bill are $12,400 millions more for lend-lease operations in money and war equipment.

The lend-lease fund, have not been going out as rapidly as their great amount would seem to indicate. Of the original $7 billion authorized in March, 1941 less than half has been spent. The total now available for lend-lease operations exceeds $60 billions. Up to June 1, less than $400 millions of munitions had been shipped. There are great quantities of planes, tanks and other equipment now waiting for the ships to take them overseas.

The large appropriations, based upon estimates of future needs for winning the war, cause considerable misapprehensions. To some, the appropriations apparently indicate that congress has delayed action. Frequently, newspaper columnists publish statements which create such impressions. Particular stress is laid upon the first year of the war and "before Pearl Harbor". As a matter of fact, there were over $56 billions available appropriations before 1941, and only $16 billions had been expended before Japan made its famous attack. It has taken time to turn our great industries into production of war materials. Over $15 billions have been spent on new industries and plant expansion since July, 1940. Even now, thousands of industries, including plane, tank and munitions, are being completed. The recent bill of $8 1/2 billions for the Navy will require still another $1 1/2 billions for expanding ship yards.

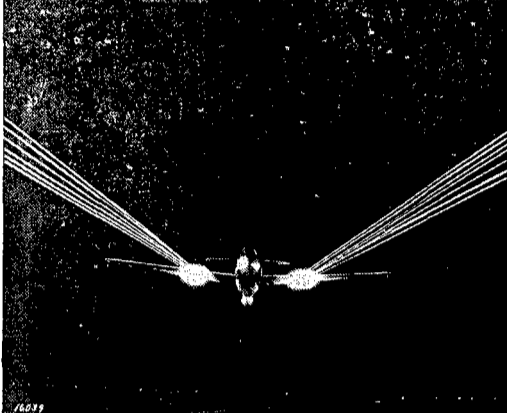

For the fiscal year, commencing on July 1, 1940, the appropriations for war purposes, aside from plant expansion, were $26 billions. For the recent fiscal year the amount is $110 billions. For the next fiscal year, 1943, there will be available $66 1/2 billions. Such sums are beyond comprehension, but they illustrate in a broad way the scope of the wars in which we are engaged.

To meet even in part these great amounts, the new revenue measure is receiving its finishing touches in the Ways and Means Committee, which has been working on it since in December. It proposes to add $6 billion more in taxes, and to bring the total annual government revenues to about $27 billions. Bond sales are expected to add $12 billions more and leave some $30 billions of needed money to be financed through the reserve banks. The new revenue bill is likely to come into the House during the week of July 13th.

Under the ancient rules by which the House of Representatives has done business for more than a century, the members of the House will not have much to do with the schedules in the new tax bill. It will likely be brought in under a special rule, which will provide for a few days of general debate on provisions that the Ways and Means committee have been considering for months. That special rule may also preclude any amendments excepting those which may be offered by the Ways and Means committee. Then the bill will be brought to the "yes" and "no" vote as it is, and without change. Members will have a choice of voting for it, or of voting against it, and a negative vote will mean opposition to any new taxes with which to carry on the war. If the bill were defeated on such a vote, the Ways and Means Committee would then undertake to draft another measure. That is the arbitrary manner in which big tax bills have been passed in the House under all administrations for years. The reason given by those who defend such procedure is that if amendments were permitted, no tax bill could be completed and passed in the face of so many divergent opinions and proposals.

Circus Will Show Here

Al G. Kelly And Miller Brothers In Wayne Saturday

A circus is coming to town, which is always glad tidings for the youngsters and the oldsters, too. It will be the first circus to show in Wayne in several years and will show here at the Wayne Ball Park.

Originated way back yonder in the days of the Romans, the circus has survived all opposition until today, here in America, it is recognized as one of the most popular forms of amusement.

One Of Cleanest, Best
The Al G. Kelly and Miller Brothers circus billed for one day in Wayne on Saturday, July 12, is one of the cleanest and best circuses now on the road. Organized 25 years ago, it has grown in size and popularity until today, it is recognized as one of the best. Exhibiting under a mammoth waterproof tent in two rings and one center platform, a program of circus acts is presented by some of the best circus performers.

Opening with a grand entry pageant, two hours of clean amusement is presented. Acrobats, aerialists, trapeze performers, wire walkers, contortionists, jugglers, all vie with the trained elephants, camels, elks, lions, bears, horses, ponies, mules and dogs.

Performing Elephants
Among the many features this year are 'Mena' and 'Teeny', two of the largest performing elephants in America. 'Mena' in Ring No. 1 and 'Teeny' in Ring No. 2 will positively exhibit two performances rain or shine, according to circus officials, who urge that you forget the cares of the world, be a kid once more and see the circus.

Wanted—25 boys and girls to work for passes. Be on circus grounds at 6 a. m. circus day—Al G. Kelly & Miller Bros. Circus.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Exleben are expected to return to Wayne this week after visiting their daughter, Mrs. Louis Baker at Rantoul, Ill., and their son, Irwin Exleben at Syracuse, N. Y.

FSA Families Will Help Fight Fires

A fight against the hazards and losses from fires is to be carried on in Wayne, Pierce and Stanton counties by all families participating in the Farm Security program, according to Ray L. Verzal, county FSA supervisor. Mr. Verzal has urged all families on the FSA list to cooperate with the Farm Fire Loss Prevention program.

"No farm family can afford to take the risks of carelessness in matters of fire prevention, much less those families who have been engaged in an uphill fight to regain lost security and credit," Mr. Verzal said. "I'm sure members of FSA families will be ready to serve as fire wardens or in any other way in their communities when opportunity is offered."

Mr. Verzal referred to a bulletin received from William E. Ledbetter, labor relations specialist in the FSA regional office at Lincoln. The bulletin said it is estimated that the average cost of a farm fire is $800. Throughout the country the annual total cost of fires in rural communities last year was estimated at $25,000,000. Total annual loss of life through farm fires is around 3,500 persons.

Farm fires are more serious than ever just now, Mr. Verzal said, because new materials for rebuilding cannot be obtained.

Ledbetter's bulletin said that in Nebraska last year, 709 farm dwellings and 186 barns burned, and there were 21 deaths and 70 people injured as a result of fires.

HEROES DAY

IN WAYNE
Friday July 17

What You Buy With WAR BONDS

The Garand semi-automatic rifle, which is the standard issue today for the U. S. army, is superior to the old Springfield rifle in many respects. We literally need millions of these fast shooting powerful rifles to equip our army. They cost $85 each and are being manufactured at the rate of one a minute. They fire sixty 30-calibre shells a minute.

Every one of the 40,000,000 employed persons in America could easily buy one of these rifles for the army. Not that we need that many, but the reserve could go into shells and other much needed supplies. Buy more and more War Bonds and top the quota in your county by investing at least ten percent of your income every pay day.

This is America—this view you see from your window. America is the green lawn that stretches to the sidewalk; it's the street in which small boys play the baseball game they should be having in the playground; it's the rows of comfortable small homes, many of them newly built; it's Wayne's back yards on Mondays where hang so many family washings.

You can find America in the thousands of parking lots and the millions of cars that cover them—more cars than in any other nation in the world. You can find America in the crowded public conveyances where men and women read a free press that gives them news. You can listen to America over family dinner tables. Or over millions of feet of telephone wire—from Ed Corey's ring-box, two - longs - and - a - short, to the conference hookups in any big business office. Or you can hear it from early morn to after midnight in the pulse of heavy traffic, the movement of industry.

America Is First. It sets the pace for the world to follow. It leads the way in living standards, in luxuries, in production—in all kinds of progress. It moves at a tempo scored 165 years ago by the signers of the Declaration of Independence. "Life, Liberty and the Pursuit of Happiness..." America holds the answer to satisfactory living.

Believing this and wanting to preserve these American heritages, Wayne merchants are uniting in observance of American Heroes Day, honoring our home town heroes of all wars by buying the armaments to win this war through the purchase of War Bonds and Stamps. They join in urging YOU to help make it a glorious tribute to our heroes, breaking all records in the sale of Bonds and Stamps.
