

The Office of Price Administration has acted to check the rapidly rising cost of live cattle by limiting top prices which beef slaughterers and wholesalers with unduly high individual ceilings may charge for the dressed product. The price which any packer or wholesaler may now charge for choice or grade AAA steers and heifers will be 25 cents a pound, regardless of the fact that his previous individual ceiling under the original beef regulation may have exceeded these limits. Maximums also set in similar fashion for the lower grades of beef in the new amendment No. 6 became effective October 1. However, OPA officials emphasized that packers whose ceilings under the beef regulation were less than the new top maximums cannot raise their present ceiling prices.

In a move to save rubber and tires, the Office of Defense Transportation has ordered the speeds of all rubber-tired vehicles in the United States limited to 35 miles an hour. Governors of all states, directly and through the Council of State Governments, will be requested to put a 35-mile limit in effect in their states by proclamation or otherwise, and to call upon state and local officials for strict enforcement. The new wartime speed limit became effective October 1 for all vehicles except those operated by common carriers in scheduled regular-route service. For vehicles in the latter group—trucks and buses operated on regular schedule over regular routes—the order becomes effective October 15. The effective date was advanced with respect to such vehicles to give carriers time to make necessary adjustments in their operations.

Members of the selective service system will be allowed necessary gasoline to drive their cars between their homes and the places at which selective service work is carried on, if they receive government compensation for such travel. Also, members of local War Price and Rationing boards will be allowed gasoline needed to drive their cars to and from places of work.

Train schedules have now been frozen. In a move to intensify further the conservation of passenger train equipment, the ODT issued an order "freezing" as of October 4 all railway's passenger schedules in the country. The order includes even mixed trains which carry both freight and passengers.

The attorney general has authorized the immigration and naturalization service to grant temporary admission to Mexican agricultural workers when the need for them is certified by the United States Employment Service. The attorney general's order implements an agreement between the United States and Mexico, announced simultaneously in both countries on August 6, 1942, whereby unskilled Mexican farm labor may be temporarily imported into this country under strict regulation and control to meet wartime agricultural labor shortages, particularly in the Southwest.

The War Production Board has announced that the 10,000,000 or more pounds of manila cordage which was frozen in the hands of dealers by General Preference Order M-36 will shortly start moving to production and fighting fronts. Approximately 67,000 wholesalers and retailers of manila rope will receive inventory report forms from WPB's redistribution branch. In filling out and returning these forms, owners must report their inventories of manila rope and cable, 3/16ths of an inch in thickness and larger, in lengths of 200 feet or more and indicate their willingness to sell their stocks to the government. The government purchase program will complete the operation of which the freeze order was the first step. The Metal Reserve Company, 155 East Forty-fourth Street, New York, is prepared to pay, for such rope as is required, 10 percent more than the net price which prevailed in the market in which the rope was purchased.

Mrs. Jennie Schrumpt spent the week visiting with her sister, Mrs. Gertrude Bayes at Winstate.

Two Killed In Army Bomber Crash Here Early Sunday Morning

Engine Trouble Caused Huge Bomber To Crash South East Of Wayne

The reality of war came forcefully to this community early Sunday morning when the large P-24 Consolidated bombing plane "Liberator", came crashing to earth on the A. G. Bressler farm four miles southeast of Wayne. Bombers from the Sioux City base had been circling overhead in the early hours of the morning. At 8:45 people living south of Wayne noticed this bomber develop engine trouble. As the plane started its descent, four members of the crew parachuted to earth. Time did not permit the adjustment of the landing gear and the giant bird crashed into the earth, killing two members of the crew instantly and seriously injuring a third; while two members escaped injury.

The crash was reported to the local fire department. Martin Ringer and Pim Pile were among the first to appear on the scene. Nearby farmers worked frantically with axes to release the injured men; the escaping gas making the work more hazardous. The fire boys roped off the big winged bird as hundreds of cars from all directions brought a crowd as if by magic. People stood in awe as they watched the unusual spectacle. As the crowd pressed forward, the fire hazards made it necessary to order all cars and people off the field. During the remainder of the day a continuous stream of cars came from far and near bringing people to get a view of the wreckage.

The two men killed were: Lt. Howard Austin, 26, son of Mr. and Mrs. H. F. Austin, of Lincoln, Neb., and Lt. James B. Sleigh, 23, Orange, Mass.

Others were Lt. M. J. Sanny, University Heights, O., Lt. William H. Jones Houston, Texas, Staff Sgt. Joe G. Herzog, Stanton, Conn., Staff Sgt. J. S. Hansen, Pocahontas, Idaho, Staff Sgt. Roy F. Beyer, Fish Haven, Idaho, Sgt. Alfred H. Williams, Linwood N. C., Sgt. Paul L. Berry, Stephentown, Ky.

Before noon, officers of the Sioux City base arrived and took over the guarding of the plane. A large salvage truck arrived Monday noon to remove the plane.

The news of the crash spread like magic. The topic was on every lip, many early reports being erroneous. Comments by local people on Monday brought out the deep emotional reaction resulting from the tragedy. The people as a whole have become more war minded and conscious of the need for an all-out support of war activities.

Sheriff James Pile reports the splendid spirit which prevailed and the helpfulness of nearby farmers and townspeople who responded so generously in every way. Just a word and tools, material and assistance was at hand. Such response is to be highly commended.

Oct. 4-10 Fire Prevention Week Here

To Push Scrap Collection As Fire Prevention Factor

Nebraska and the Nation will observe Fire Prevention Week from October 4 to 10. The Office of Civilian Defense and the Nebraska Advisory Defense Committee are cooperating wholeheartedly in the Fire Prevention Program.

Governor Griswold suggests that this is the logical time to pile all that scrap metal, old rubber, and discarded woolen clothing where it can be hauled to a collection center, or be sold to a junk dealer. Fire is one of our most destructive saboteurs and a very large per cent of fires are started among rubbish allowed to accumulate. Cooperation with your country by doing away with all fire hazards, and at the same time help the men at the front by salvaging all the scrap you can find while cleaning up your premises.

A fire cost you and your country and pays Hitler & Company.

Homer Scace Suffers Fatal Heart Attack

Dies Suddenly At Sidney, Nebr. On Saturday

The entire community was saddened when word was received that Mr. Homer Scace had passed away suddenly Saturday at Sidney, Nebraska, when he suffered a heart attack.

Homer Stephen Scace was born in Chicago, Ill., Oct. 8, 1885, and was therefore aged 56 years, 11 months and 25 days. When he was four years old, his parents, Mr. and Mrs. S. B. Scace, moved to Wayne, Neb., and here he has resided ever since with the exception of one year of home-staying at Phillip, S. D. During his boyhood and youth he attended the city grades and high school, the old Wayne Normal and the State Teachers College.

He was married Feb. 14, 1911, to Miss Alice V. Everett of Lyons, Neb. They became the parents of two children, Mattie Everett Scace and Homer Everett Scace.

Besides his wife and children he leaves one brother, Charles E. of Lusk, Wyo., and four sisters, Mary Schofield, Kimball, Theo. Corbit, Wayne, Edna Petz, Lusk, Wyo., and Lucille Tegley of Lander, Wyo.

Mr. Scace served as senior clerk at the Wayne Post Office for six years, resigning because of too close confinement indoors. For many years he was a building contractor in Wayne and vicinity. He went to the Sidney Ordnance Depot as a construction engineer in June and had been there until his death last Saturday.

Mr. Scace has always been an outstanding citizen and a real friend of the youth of the community. He was the first Cub Scoutmaster in Wayne and there was always room in his home for their entertainment. He was devoted to his family, home and community and as city engineer did a great deal to help beautify Wayne's parks and streets.

Funeral services were conducted at the Presbyterian Church on Tuesday morning at 11 o'clock. Rev. W. F. Dierking, officiating. The Mason's were in charge of the service at the cemetery.

Pall bearers were Walter Bressler, Harry Craven, Herman Lundberg, Paul Mines, Martin Ringer and Burret Wright.

Out of town people attending the services were Chas. Scace of Lusk, Wyo., Mrs. Henry Petz, of Lusk, Wyo., Mr. and Mrs. R. E. Bills of Omaha, Mrs. Romaine Gillispay of Columbus, and Mattie Scace of Lead, South Dakota.

Everyone Is Urged To Collect The Scrap Before Snow Flies

Wayne County is very busy gathering scrap before the snow comes, after which it will be impossible to gather the smaller bits.

Many men, women and children are helping. Truckers are very busy because gathering scrap are added duties and much of their time is donated, therefore it is impossible for the trucks to come just when we think they should.

An intensive drive is being made to gather all this scrap by the 17th. If they do not get your scrap pile on that date, plans are being made to get it some time later.

Don't become rash as a farmer did the other day. The trucks didn't come just on time as he thought they should so "he dumped it into the silo and covered it with ten feet of dirt." Now then, scrap in the silo with dirt on it is just what Hitler wants. We wonder if the farmer realized how much more easier it would have been to bring that scrap to town, rather than using the energy to bury the iron.

Sgt. Pat Hensley of Salinas, Calif., who was here visiting his brother, Ed Paden and friends, left for Omaha Tuesday where he will visit other relatives.

Miss Lorraine Miner Wed To Robert Wright Saturday Evening

They will make their home in, Sioux City where Mr. Wright is employed in the advertising department of the Journal.

30 Men Left For Service Last Friday

Nine More Men From Wright County Enlisted For Service

Another scene in the great war drama took place Friday morning at 9 a.m. when two busses slowly left their station at the postoffice corner, carrying some thirty of Wayne county's best young men to training camps. A quiet group of citizens, friends and relatives had gathered to wish them Godspeed on their way in answer to their country's call. In the group were representatives of families now having men in the service and those who are soon expecting a call, all sharing in the cause—the preservation of the rights of free men.

The scene Friday morning is but one of thousands of similar groups taking place in every part of United States as well as most parts of the world; all praying for the wellbeing of their loved ones who go out in defense of their country.

The sacrifice of the boys who go into service is given in full measure. Their life becomes one of intensely vigorous action, every moment of time being occupied. Those left at home are left with memories. Their many thoughts occupy long hours of days—and nights.

One common sentiment prevails, all are anxious to see the war persecuted to a vigorous close so that the world can return to the pursuit of life and happiness.

The roster of the boys leaving includes:

Harry Drevsen, Harvey Podoll, Donald Quinn, Louie Jensen, Earnest Spahr, Willis Meyer, Glenn Albrecht, Scottie Thompson, Edward Grove, John Roberts, Edwin Morris, Robert Olson, Horace Oliver, Robert Clark, Leo Stephens, Warren Austin, Clarence Giese, Alfred Sievers, Roscoe James, Oliver Reichert, George Farran, DeLloyd Meyer, Willie Kay, Lawrence Friedenbach, Edward Prescott, Melvin Miller, Donovan Barton, Dale Brockman, Leon Buckendahl, Melvin Oliver Coulter.

The following boys have enlisted recently in the armed services: William Hugliam, Walter Bleich, Wayne Straight, Charley Bard, Robert Sievers, Harold Fischer, Edwin Gustafson, Allen Hayek, Darrell Harrison.

Fall Opening Variety Show Big Success

$345 In War Stamps Purchased At Show; Auction Called Off

The annual fall opening at Wayne last Thursday was in most respects, a decided success, although the community auction failed to measure up to expectations, while the other events did so in a large way.

The Wayne high school band gave a very acceptable account of themselves when they entertained one of the largest crowds ever assembled here for such an event. Viewing the latest in dress and other fall needs proved to be of real interest to the crowd, following the unveiling of the windows at eight o'clock.

The high point of the day occurred at the auditorium when an octet, and the Wayne Players entertained a packed house. Chamber of Commerce Secretary Swett, in a happy vein, introduced the "Wayne Strollers," eight handsome men in formal attire. They pleased the audience with their delightful interpretation of popular old songs. The melodrama, "He Hain't Done Right By Nell," gripped the audience from the first. The hearty response of the audience brought out the best in each and every player. Mrs. Henry Reynolds as the heroine, "Little Nell," delighted the audience. Mr. Reynolds as Jack Logan, the miller, played the hero's part in traditional form. Miss Heylum as Granny Perkins, kept her finger on the pulse of the community. Willard Wittse as Hilton Hayes, the villain, lived the part. Miss Lolly Wilkins, by Mrs. Clarence Wright Miss Vera Carlton, from the city, Miss Ruth Ross, and Burrett Carlton, her father, the wealthy mill owner, all played strong supporting parts.

At the close of the play, the audience joined in singing "America." The entrance receipts purchased $345 in War Stamps. All the details of this big event showed careful planning under the sponsorship of the Chamber of Commerce.

Wildcats Tie With Wesleyans 6 To 6 Here Friday Evening

Nebraska Wesleyan and Wayne Teachers, two well matched football teams, battled it out to a tie on the college field here Friday evening.

Wayne held the upper hand for fifty-eight minutes with the Plainsmen of Nebraska Wesleyan, when a fumble gave the Plainsmen their chance to tie the score.

Wayne scored first after a series of running plays had carried the ball to the Wesleyan twenty yard line. On a wide end run around the Wesleyan right end Bud Best scored standing up. However, the Wayne team was penalized for holding on the play. After failing to gain on two running plays, a pass to Best in the end zone scored a touchdown. The place kick by Witch was wide.

The number of reserves the Plainsmen were able to put into the game made their efforts felt as the game wore on and after fumbling away several promising drives they were finally able to push the tying score across with but one minute of play remaining.

For the Wayne team, Best, Westphal, Page, Cunningham, Bordener, Kozisek, Wenbourne and Akins played bang-up ball. Best is rapidly improving at end but shows the newness of this position has not worn off.

For the Plainsmen, Wesley, Poe, Miller, and Mercer were outstanding.

Hay Stack Burned At Ed Nieman Farm

At the wee small hour of 3 a.m. Thursday morning the fire department responded to a fire call at the Ed Nieman farm six miles west and a mile and a half north of Wayne. A stack of hay near the buildings burned and the fire company prevented the fire from burning the buildings.

Political leaders of the two old parties are beginning to measure their strength as November election draws near.

At the present time it appears as though the complexion of Congress will not be changed very materially.

One of the most interesting developments in politics this year is Senator Norris' acceptance of petitions by 16,000 voters of Nebraska, putting him in nomination as an independent to succeed himself in the November election.

Senator Norris has been an "independent" since the first day he entered the lower house.

It would seem to be time for congress and the treasury to call in all the responsible tax experts they can find.

Our present higher tax structure already offends badly against that fundamental concept. Long before another 13 billions a year can be added it will have become an insupportable old man of the sea.

CART BEFORE THE HORSE. There has been talk in Washington of an army of from ten to fifteen million men.

Assuming that fifteen workers must be left behind for every man in the armed services, an army of ten million men would require a home force of civilian workers behind the lines of 150 million.

With 8,000,000 more hogs to be marketed this year, it is more important than ever before to put on fast gains so that your hogs will be ready for the early market.

Probably the figure for those left behind is too large, but if only ten workers are needed for every man in the home line this nation will be sorry taxed to manpower when the army reaches five million.

A careful survey of national manpower and a proper allocation of men seems to be needed if we are to have an effective fighting machine.

Washington Digest 'Little Nations' Skeptical Of Future Peace Terms

Oppressed Countries Fear That Hatred or Indifference to Them Will Dominate Proposals When War Ends.

By BAUKHAGE News Analyst and Commentator.

WNU Service, 1343 H Street, N-W, Washington, D. C. Like voices crying in the wilderness the little nations of the world are supplicating America. They have been searching our oratorical declarations of the peace aims of the United Nations to see just how much we have, actually, promised to "the little people." And they are not sure at the present writing that it is very much.

Sooner or later the United States must go on record in black and white, in simple, straightforward English, as to what we can offer besides glory and honor and gratitude and sympathy for the men and women who have already felt the yoke of war.

I had that brought home to me the other night. It was nearly three o'clock in the morning. The slim, earnest gentleman opposite me with the slightly foreign accent had lost track of time and it seemed as if the ancient clock on the bookcase was discreetly muffling its chimes. I was in no hurry for I knew I was hearing the soul of a nation speak.

"You must remember," my companion was saying, "there are just two kinds of nations in the world today, the big ones and the little ones. And the little ones whose borders are not now the scene of actual fighting or those that are still battlefields or may soon be—all are filled with fear. Most of them have already felt the boots of invaders. And they fear that the great machine will roll over them again, that they will be obliterated and that when the peace comes, they will be forgotten. The big nations will make the peace."

The next day I read the statement out of the Finnish legation that "Finland wants to stop fighting as soon as the threat to her existence has been averted and guarantees obtained for her lasting security."

At about the same time, there was made public in London the proposals for revising the constitution of the government of the Netherlands empire which would advance the autonomy of the Netherlands East and West Indies and other possessions.

I had already heard a Hollander from Java state in most emphatic terms that plans would be carried through to give the Javanese an equal standing with all other citizens of the Netherlands empire after the war. He pointed to the fact that one Javanese had already held the post of foreign minister in The Hague before the days of the invader.

The Finnish statement and the Dutch intentions are both evidence of how those two small nations are trying now, to assure the "big" democracies that regardless of present conditions they only seek to maintain, or where it has to some degree been lacking, to attain, the democracy which they claim is as sincere as ours, whether they are under the oppressors' heel, as Holland is, or are maintaining a lopsided, precarious neutrality like Spain, or even fighting against one of the Allies like Finland. (Finland is not at war with any country but Russia.)

I think it is also evidence of the growing certainty of the part of the small nations, even those surrounded by Nazi bayonets, that it is only a question of time until the United Nations will triumph. And they are afraid that war hatreds or indifference to the fate of the little nations will dominate the peace. They are afraid most of all that the United States will withdraw from the scene as we did after the last war leaving only a blueprint for peace, the League of Nations, and no power to enforce its decisions.

The Atlantic Charter to them is not a very specific document.

News Paper Man—And War Hero

You have no idea how many farmers are in the aviation corps. Neither had I until I talked with a small town boy. I have mentioned him in this column before. It was an interview I had with Sergt. Robert Golay, printer's devil and hero of the first American unified flight over enemy territory in Europe—the now famous raid over Holland on July fourth for which young Golay, aerial machine gunner, with others, was decorated.

Golay is now instructing other small (and large) town boys in the art in which he has become proficient, technically he is an "armor-er" or so started on his military career. Before he went into the army, Golay was a newspaper man—a small town newspaper man, which means an "all-around" one. Not just a reporter—an all-around newspaper man on the Fredonia Daily Herald. Bob was a composer on the floor, was getting pretty good with a linotype machine. Of course, like all newsmen in a town of five thousand he sold a little advertising, collected bills, made out statements, wrote sports and covered an occasional wedding. He was trying to make himself a newspaper man so that later he could work his way through Kansas university.

The Background

A printer has to be nimble-fingered. He has to be precise. Bob wasn't thinking of that when he decided to get into the war. What he really was thinking of was all those flights in barnstorming planes that he had taken at the county fair and anywhere he could get when he had the two dollars for a ride. He was thinking of the Schneider cup races and the other flights he had followed, of Byrd's trip to the Antarctic and the stories of Lindbergh's early career.

But naturally he asked the advice of his boss, Ben Hudson, who is publisher of the Herald. Hudson is a veteran of World War I. He served in the infantry. I don't know, but maybe the air corps is as far as you can get from the infantry among the combatant forces, Hudson recommended the former. So Bob went to Chanute Field in Illinois and signed up. He soon became an armorer and went to England as part of the aviation ground force. Gunners have to know about guns and be able to demonstrate. Bob could. Gunners have to volunteer for the job. They aren't assigned. Bob did it and was accepted.

That's how he happened to be in the turret when the U. S. air corps unit made its first independent raid over occupied Europe.

And because of "coolness" under enemy fire, they gave him a medal and a pair of gunner's wings.

Golay is going to have a tour of duty instructing for a while. When he doesn't know. He'll be glad, he says, to go anywhere in this "wonderful world"—he's ordered, "but" (and there was a serious look in his brown eyes in spite of the smile, when he said it) "I'm a small town boy and I like it."

"Like being back home," said Sergt. Robert L. Golay when he obliged the photographer by returning to the type case he gave up for a machine gun.

WPA Nursery Schools

Six million dollars, earmarked by congress in the 1942-43 WPA Appropriation act for extension of WPA nursery schools, will make possible the release of more than 50,000 women for vital war work, according to Mrs. Florence Kerr, WPA assistant commissioner.

"In peacetime, WPA nursery schools were limited to children of low-income families who could not afford to pay—even a small amount for child care, but in response to the more urgent demand, emphasis for some months has been placed on service to children in war production areas," Mrs. Kerr explained. "Without nursery school service, it would be impossible to utilize the labor of many women who today are performing tasks essential to the war effort. Parents who are making good wages pay for this service in the WPA nursery schools to their children on a sliding scale commensurate with their ability."

The current program, initiated in 1933, today serves about 55,000 children in 1,250 nursery schools, Mrs. Kerr said. Approximately 300 locations in defense areas, where large numbers of mothers have entered industry, already are being benefited. Mrs. Kerr estimates that some 1,200 additional nursery schools will be established for children of working mothers by the end of '42.

Success for Dinner—Savory Stuffed Peppers (See Recipes Below.)

Flavor's the Thing

Ever notice how ever-so-good foods run in combinations of three flavors? There's the steak, french fried potatoes and pie combination. Or, you can have fried chicken, gravy and biscuits as a three-some.

At one time or another you've all tried lamb chop, peas and mint jelly combination, or a melted cheese, toasted bread and grilled tomatoes plate luncheon. Now other foods are joining the victory parade and new dishes are joining hands at the table to blitz their way to food fame. The nutrition rule which is rapidly gaining popularity is the one which says that if you miss one food combination at one meal, you must pick it up at another meal so you'll get all the energy units you need these busy days.

That's why today I'm offering you combinations of food which contain nutrients easy to miss if you're not careful. Take iron, for instance. Iron is a mineral that has a big job to do for your system. It sees to it that your energies don't lag and guards against anemia and general digestive disturbances.

Biggest job of all that iron does is to see that your body gets all the oxygen it needs by making enough red blood cells to go through that 7,000-mile long circulatory system that will replenish with oxygen and carry off the poisonous carbon dioxide which is another word for the oxygen after you finished using it.

Now the thing about iron is that it's difficult to find it in a great many foods. You can see how important it is because you need it every day. You'll find iron in eggs, whole wheat cereals and oatmeal, for instance. Suppose you skip these things at breakfast. That means you've got to pick up iron in one of the other two meals, for instance, by having some iron-rich food like liver, heart, oysters, greens, dried fruits. Do you follow?

That's why today I'm including several iron-rich foods so you will be sure not to miss a day without having something with iron.

Browned Oysters. (Serves 6)

- 1 quart oysters
4 tablespoons butter
1 1/2 tablespoons flour
Juice of 1 lemon
Salt, pepper
Worcestershire sauce

Remove oysters from juice and drain. Dredge in flour and brown in 2 tablespoons butter. Remove from pan and set aside. Make a brown sauce by blending remaining butter with flour. Add juice from cooked oysters, lemon juice and sauce. Pour over oysters and serve.

Lynn Says:

Survey Notes: A nutritional survey by a large firm reveals the following interesting bits of information: that we are the best fed country in the world, but as a whole do not know enough about eating as wisely as we should.

Of the 11,582 interviews made, it is found that about 27.7 per cent of the families are eating more protective foods than two years ago. Marked increases were made in the consumption of citrus fruits.

Most women like to cook, it goes on to tell, three out of four in the first thousand like to cook, 11.6 per cent like to cook occasionally, and about 10.8 per cent "not at all."

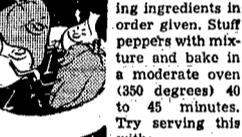

Families are fed—at least 68 per cent of those interviewed—what women think are good for them: Then 58.5 per cent are fed what the family likes. Cost of food affects 42.19 per cent, and variety influences 28.2 per cent.

Baked Stuffed Peppers with Tomato Sauce

Pears Baked in Honey Beverage
Recipe Given

Here's a recipe suitable for lunch or dinner, read delicious and healthful by iron-rich molasses:

- Baked Stuffed Peppers. (Serves 6)
6 large green peppers
1 pound chopped beef
2 cups bread crumbs
3 tablespoons minced onion
1 cup canned tomatoes
2 tablespoons pure, dark molasses
2 tablespoons melted butter
1/2 teaspoon salt
1/4 teaspoon pepper

Remove seeds and membranes of peppers and parboil in salted water 10 minutes. Combine all remaining ingredients in order given. Stuff peppers with mixture and bake in a moderate oven (350 degrees) 40 to 45 minutes. Try serving this with:

- Tomato Sauce.
2 tablespoons butter
2 tablespoons flour
1 No. 2 can tomatoes
2 large onions, sliced
3 cooked carrots, diced
1/4 cup pure, dark molasses
1 can green peas, drained
1 green pepper, diced
1/2 teaspoon salt
Dash of pepper

Saute onions and pepper in butter. Push to one side of pan and mix flour with butter. Add tomatoes, molasses, and seasonings and cook, stirring until thickened. Add carrots and peas. Cook about 5 minutes.

When you talk about the mineral, iodine, you might as well ask about the I.Q., for this is the mineral that directly affects mental alertness. In addition to that, iodine prevents simple goiter and also affects how you tip the scales.

Rich in iodine are seafoods, so make a point of including them in your menu often. For example:

- Shrimp Casserole. (Serves 6)
3 cups 1/2-inch bread cubes
2 cans shrimp
1 1/2 cups grated cheese
3 eggs, slightly beaten
2 cups milk
1/4 teaspoon salt
Pepper
Paprika

Place layer of bread cubes, shrimp and cheese in casserole. Repeat until all are used. Combine beaten eggs with milk, and add seasonings. Pour over mixture in casserole. Bake in a moderate (325-degree) oven about 45 minutes.

In addition to containing iodine, shrimps also have about 17 other valuable minerals. Then, combining the curly pink shrimp with milk and butter, you have a real health-giving dish that's good to eat besides, as this:

- Shrimp Soup. (Serves 6)
2 tablespoons butter
2 tablespoons flour
Salt, pepper
1/4 teaspoon celery salt
1 quart milk
1 can shrimp
Few drops tabasco sauce

Combine melted butter and flour. Add seasonings, then stir in milk gradually. Drain shrimp, add liquid to white sauce mixture and cook stirring constantly until thickened slightly. Break shrimp into small pieces and add with tabasco sauce. Heat. Serve at once.

BRIEFS . . . by Baukhage

A pinch in refrigerated storage space is predicted in some areas of the United States.

When the French lost their impatience they lost the war. They were willing to sit behind the Maginot line. When the Japs lost their patience they lost the battle of Midway. It's a poor rule that doesn't work both ways.

Gasoline rationing is credited with the reopening of Howlett Hill, Syracuse, N. Y. church for the first time in 20 years—except for intermittent occasions. The officiating minister explained that the clergy can get gasoline "while many of the persons in the outlying districts who are in the habit of attending our churches may not be able to do so because of the rationing."

Price Administrator Leon Henderson Says

Oil users face a chilly winter unless oil burning equipment is changed to coal. Mr. Henderson disclosed that the oil rationing program will be geared to a daytime temperature of 65 degrees under average weather conditions, compared with temperature of 70 to 72 degrees maintained in most homes.

Why change a lot of expensive heating equipment? Let us insulate your home— school house— or place of business with PALCO WOOL and maintain a 70 to 72 degree temperature with the same amount of fuel as you would use for a 65 degree temperature in a home that is not insulated.

PALCO WOOL is not a new product on the market nor just a home insulation material. PALCO WOOL has been thoroughly tested for refrigeration and is used exclusively by Frigidaire for their Frozen Food Locker plants. The Cliff Johnson Frozen Food Locker Plant in Wayne is one of them. The U. S. Government has chosen PALCO WOOL for many of their permanent army camps. A few that we are familiar with are Rapid City, Sioux Falls, and Sioux City.

PALCO WOOL reduces fire hazards because it will not burn— it is odor proof— moisture resistant— vermin repellent, being distasteful to rodents and insects— keeps heat in in winter and heat out in summer. Over a period of just a few years PALCO WOOL will pay its own way in the saving of fuel. PALCO WOOL is permanent with no service upkeep.

Come in and see us about a time payment plan where-by you can pay for an insulation job with the money that you save on fuel.

BEST BUYS FOR WOMEN SHOPPERS

This week we bought a number of Sample Coats at a good discount and we have marked them to sell to you at the same savings.

They are all sizes 13 to 16 and among them are several pretty plaids and novelty coats that girls like best.

There are also a good many dressy type coats in black and colors for size 14 to 16 women.

These coats are grand bargains at $13.75 & $15.00. At $3.95 and $4.95 you will find here some remarkable attractive "Best Buys" in dresses.

Smartly styled spun rayons that you can wear for any daytime occasion. Rayon crepes that are copies of new fall higher priced dresses — and "hot" numbers in plaid and plain combinations that the younger set go for. We alter them too so they fit perfectly and don't charge extra for the service.

Your best buy in dress hosiery today is Munsing's Full Fashioned Rayon at $1.19. They look about as sheer and fine as Nylons. They fit perfectly — and they really will wear.

Maybe you have had bad service out of rayons you have bought — a lot of folks have. But they were not Munsing Rayons. We know what service these hose will give — our girls here at the store have worn them for the past six months and found them the most serviceable hosiery they ever had, and that don't except Nylons. You try these Munsing Rayons — We'll guarantee you'll be satisfied.

Of course we carry cheaper Rayons for common wear — they are nice looking and hundreds of women and girls wear them to save their finer hose — they are only 39c pair.

You can make some "Best Buys" in curtains if you'll come before our spring purchases are all gone.

There are very nice cottage sets at 79c to $1.25. Lace Panels at $1.00 to $1.25 and Ruffled Curtains at $1.00 to $1.50 which are just as nice in style as any of the new fall curtains.

Here is an extra-ordinary "Best Buy" in extra large size part wove plaid blankets. They are 6 ft. wide, 7 ft. long, thick, heavy, blankets — with fine wide satzen bindings — in several pretty colors.

They are slightly imperfect but the imperfections are barely noticeable and in no way damage the wearing qualities.

Because they are seconds we get them cheaper and so do you.

Our allotment this season was four cases only. For the past several years we have been selling many more than four cases of this great blanket bargain. So buy early and make sure of the fine saving this special low price brings you. $3.95

Best Buys in underwear for those who require part wool or all wool in union suits of any description. We do not carry in stock all the different styles but the Munsing Wear Co. do, and we can get you anything you want quickly?

Velvet Corduroy, 36 inches wide in bright red is a best buy for girls skirts — jackets — dresses. A rayon corduroy 38 inches wide in wine and military blue is a best buy for skirts and suit dresses at 79c a yard.

THE Secret OF THE MARSHBANKS
BY KATHLEEN NORRIS

CHAPTER IV

Mrs. Porter was a stout, soft, pretty woman of seventy-four. Some physical difficulty, perhaps not more serious than her weight itself, made it inconvenient for her to ever walk more than a few steps at a time. She took a drive every day, she could get to the bathroom for the comfort of a long, leisurely bath, and every morning she moved to her favorite chair in a sunny bay window or beside an old-fashioned fire.

As Dovey Glashell, Mrs. Porter had had an adored, flirtatious, giddy, girlhood. Hers had been the generation that twined flowers in hair and danced kid slippers to pulp at formal balls. Upon marrying the richest and most eligible young man in a city full of mining and railway, banking and land barons' sons, she had flashed upon a stunned group of friends the news of a prospective European honeymoon trip with her bridegroom.

Emma was indispensable; she kept the whole enormous machine running; she knew where business papers were, and what the lawyer came about, and when to call the doctor. But there was nothing soft, friendly, companionable about Emma, and at the telephone or when it came to special shopping she was grimly inadequate. Also, she was a monotonous and disinterested reader. Mrs. Porter had a large mail; she had long been unequal to it, and had employed unsatisfactory girls to act as secretary from time to time with wearying results.

Cherry began her duties with the trembling feeling that by no chance could her lines have fallen permanently in such pleasant places. To be able to creep away from the world that in one brief encounter had hurt her so terribly and to hide herself here, with a lovely room for her own, a houseful of books for company, amazing meals served at regular — or indeed, irregular — hours, and only a gentle, sweet, helpless old lady to amuse seemed too good a fortune to be true.

From this she passed to a sort of exultation that she had succeeded. She answered the telephone and wrote letters and drove out in the park in her new brown coat and becoming brown hat, in a pleasant quiver of feeling herself liked and needed and approved.

The third phase came only after several weeks, and was one of doubt, boredom and weariness. She wanted exercise and interest and companionship; she wanted a sense of living; instead she was like a girl caught in a dream.

Outwardly, it was all easy and delightful. Cherry came into her employer's room not earlier than half past ten o'clock every morning, not later than eleven. Mrs. Porter only lost sight of the girl for brief intervals thereafter until ten o'clock at night. Cherry had immediately discovered her appetite for flattery and had innocently gratified it in their first days together. Now she had to pay the price for this concession with constant pleasantries.

"I like you because you're so frank with me, Cherry," Mrs. Porter said to her once. "I told Emma that you were a blunt little thing and she was afraid I didn't like it. But I do! I love people to be absolutely frank with me."

With her first sight of Emma, Cherry had had the feeling that the long years since last they had met were as nothing and that she was a little girl of seven again, living in a small tiled house with a patio and a fountain, and running in and out of the bedroom where her mother lay always in bed. A thousand details, half forgotten until now, had rushed back to her, and she had longed for the moment when she might talk freely to Emma of the past.

"To include any exercise at all in the twenty-four hours she formed the habit of rising early and taking a long walk about the streets or into the eucalyptus-shaded roads of the Presidio before breakfast."

In the freshness and sparkle of these winter mornings life seemed exhilarating enough. But after her breakfast the warmth and torpidity of the Porter mansion enveloped her again like a stupefying drug.

"I wonder," she wrote Anita, "how long this would go on? Emma—that's my old nurse, you know—has been in one job or another like this for years and years. Well, anyway, I got my first pay yesterday and I'm going to buy myself a hat. I saw on Polk street. My love to everyone, Madeleine especially, and Elizabeth and all the Sisters and girls."

One day Cherry had an adventure. It came on a quiet, foggy afternoon when all the world seemed dull and quiet. Cherry was driving with Mrs. Porter when her old companion said suddenly, "Look there—wait a minute—stop him!"

Automatically obeying these instructions Cherry seized the speaking tube and Merryweather drew up at the right-hand side of the road.

Then the girl saw that two bay horses carrying a man and woman were pacing along one of the bridle paths.

—and that the woman was Fran Marshbanks and the man Kelly Coates.

In response to old Mrs. Porter's gesticulations, and her voice at the window she was energetically lowering, the riders came close to the car and Fran gave Cherry her second-careless smile and nod, and Kelly saluted her by touching his cap with his whip. He was presented to Mrs. Porter, and as the two women fell into a discussion of the list of patronesses for a series of concerts, he rode around the back of the car and chatted with Cherry at her own opened window.

"Well, Miss—I have to call you Cherry, I've forgotten the other name—" he began.

"Oh, do!" said Cherry, the dull park breaking into sparkles, the white winter sky turned June.

"Cherry then. What have you done to yourself? You look like another woman!"

"It's my hat," said Cherry. The Polk street creation was on her head, a picturesque hat that came far down over the streaked gold and brown of her hair.

"It's more than your hat," Kelly assured her. "You've washed your face, too."

Her laugh rang out; he had not heard her laugh before, and as it had impressed Judson Marshbanks at the convent a month or so earlier, it impressed the younger man now as being extraordinarily fresh and pleasant.

He looked at her a long time, thoughtfully. Or, at least, it only for a few seconds, it seemed a long time to Cherry. She felt the warm color in her cheeks and the slow beat of her heart.

"I suppose that's true," Kelly said at last in a surprised tone.

"I'd read about girls making their debuts," Cherry pursued, warmed to the very soul by his attentive, half-sympathetic and half-amused look, "and orchids and all that. But somehow, just that night, to see her so safe and so happy and having such a wonderful time when I was homesick and tired and I knew I looked so awful..."

"Well, of course," he agreed quickly, as she paused in a sort of shame and embarrassment. "Amy, you mean?"

"Amy's not having such a wonderful time," he said. "It's all comparative. She thinks other girls are having a slightly better time, and that drives her wild. Mrs. Marshbanks, Fran, was speaking of it just a few minutes ago, and saying what fools girls are!"

"Oh, girls are fools all right," Cherry agreed meekly, and as the man laughed she laughed too.

"Mr. Coates," old Mrs. Porter said, breaking into the conversation and leaning across Cherry to catch his attention.

"Frances has promised to bring Amy to dine with me two weeks from Thursday, and I want you to come too."

"I'm a dead loss at dinners," Kelly said, laughing. "You'll never ask me again."

"Well, we'll see about that," said the old lady, in high feather. "But you come, now! My nephew George's daughter, Dorothy Page-Smith, is going to be here—coming up with her mother from Santa Barbara, where they tell me she's been breakin' all hearts, and I want her to meet Amy and some of the other youngsters."

"Jud may not be here; he gets back from Portland tonight," Fran said, "but he may have to go right back again. So Mr. Coates will acquire me. I'll guarantee him."

"And you tell Mrs. Dickson to get Mary Trainer and Lizzie Block on that committee!" Mrs. Porter adjured her vigorously.

"I will. I've not been going to the meetings, more shame to me," said Fran, "but I'm going tomorrow and I'll do what I can."

"And you tell 'em Cherry'll send them my check for two hundred."

"I'll tell them." Fran did not say anything about the generous size of the donation. And Cherry fancied that her employer looked just a little dashed and disappointed as the riders cantered away on the bridle path again.

"We none of us understood," Mrs. Porter said then, in her sweet, wistful voice, "why Judson Marshbanks married Frances Unger—she's a very brilliant girl, but I don't think she's pretty, and she's twenty-two years younger than he is. Seems so strange!"

This was as near as Cherry ever had heard her come to criticism or unkindness, and she smiled at her interrogatively.

"That doesn't sound like you, Mrs. Porter," she said, with the simple daring that she knew well the old woman liked. "You always say such nice things about everyone."

"Well, I hope I always do, my dear, but somehow that girl always does seem to me outlandish. And I loved his first wife, Mary Lee Carey. She died—oh, ten years ago. Her mother was Sophy Laquelle, French family here—lovely people."

Mrs. Porter's proposed dinner party for a chosen dozen of the debutantes took on an increasing importance as the days went by, and, by the debutantes' mothers and families, was by degrees developed into a much larger affair. It was a long time—perhaps twenty or twenty-five years—since entertaining on a large scale had taken place in the old Glashell mansion, and the newspapers made much of it, and many were the friendly offers of assistance to Cherry's employer as the plan got daily under way.

The original twenty girls swelled to a score, to thirty, for there were many who must not be forgotten, and at least forty eligible young men were asked to join them. Then certain favored and intimate elders were included to save the hostess the least effort, and in no time at all caterers had come in to set tables and decorate them and prepare a sumptuous meal for one hundred guests; florists arrived with palms and ropes of chrysanthemums; newspaper men and photographers gave the house no rest; a five piece orchestra was engaged, and Mrs. Porter remained in bed all day, getting herself completely rested and ready.

To Cherry's eagerness and inexperience and hunger for excitement all this was satisfying beyond words. She was everywhere; she helped with everything.

In the midst of the flurry the guest of honor, Dorothy Page-Smith, arrived with a formidable mother as escort, and took possession of one of the big rooms on the second floor. This alone would have supplied Cherry with pleasurable interest, for Dorothy was a harmless, indeed a seemingly half-witted little creature who turned to Cherry at once as being the only other person of anything like her age in the house, and in a babyish lisp consulted her about her gowns, her hair arrangement, her beaux and the possibility of her having anything but a "wotten" time in a place where she just didn't know one "thingle thole."

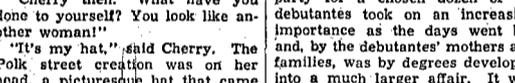

The day of the party was overcast with a cold rain spattering down.

At seven o'clock, trim and demure in her blue dress with the silver buttons, Cherry went into Mrs. Porter's bedroom to find Emma and Ferny busily getting the old lady into a magnificent robe of silver and blue brocade, decorating the beautiful curls of her rich white hair with diamond butterflies and preparing her with a preliminary cup of tea and chicken sandwich for the evening's frivolities.

She had at first planned to go downstairs tonight, to be installed majestically in some great chair, to welcome her guests herself. But this seemed at the last moment too great an effort.

Nature has arranged that the brain shall be mapped out into definite departments, and overlapping is discouraged. One part of your brain deals with the sense of smell, another with the sense of sight, and so on. Roughly speaking, the right side of your brain governs the left side of your body, and vice versa.

By heredity and training you are right-handed? That means that the left side of your brain looks after your writing with your right hand. If the right side of your brain encouraged your left hand to write as well there would be waste of effort.

People who naturally can write equally well with right or left hand are seldom successful in life.

CONGRESSMAN

Karl Stefan

Candidate For Re-Election

Representing a farming district, Karl Stefan has concentrated his efforts on farm legislation, on the ground that unless farming prospered, business would fail.

During his entire time in Congress, he has fought to give the farmer the lowest interest rates enjoyed by industry.

Karl Stefan is one of the factors of the farm-to-market road movement which resulted in money being appropriated for secondary or farm-to-market roads.

His vote broke a tie in committee which resulted in getting appropriations for parity payments for farmers.

On June 18, 1942, he introduced the Congress bill providing for the production of rubber from alcohol made from farm products.

He has been an advocate of the War Relocation Authority program. Several times, this program has been blocked by his efforts.

He has been a persistent worker for rural electrification. Congressman J. E. Rankin, democrat, chairman of the public power bloc in the House, wrote Congressman Stefan: "I am writing to thank you most heartily for your support of my amendment for the allocation of $100,000,000 for rural electrification. For your vote on this amendment, you owe me the gratitude of every farmer in America and especially of every woman who resides in the rural districts."

He is author of the amendment to make drought a major catastrophe and to provide relief to drought stricken farmers.

He made it possible for some parts of Nebraska to receive U. S. Weather Bureau flash flood warnings.

Congressman Clarence Cannon, democrat, chairman of the committee on Appropriations, says of Karl Stefan: "No man in either house has rendered such signal service to Agriculture, and particularly to the farmers of Nebraska."

These 4000 purchasers have now paid upwards of $10,000,000 on their contracts. In fact a lot of them are anticipating their contract payments; are paying the balance they owe faster than their contracts require and are doing so out of current earnings. Some have even retired their contracts in full. Yes, out of current earnings! We are proud of their success!

To those interested in farm ownership

From time to time, tenant farmers and others have told us they planned to buy an Opportunity Farm as soon as they were able to do so. Improved farm conditions have no doubt placed many of them in a financial position to carry out this ambition.

To these people and to others interested, we are pleased to say that we still have a good selection of Opportunity Farms available at reasonable prices. We shall be glad to show you the farms we have for sale in your community.

WHAT IS AN OPPORTUNITY FARM?

An Opportunity Farm, to earn that name, must have adequate, sound, well-planted, weather-tight buildings; improved soil, with good drainage; and expertly planned crop rotation. Every farm is a going concern.
