Tournament Being Played This Week

Trinity, Winside, and Coleridge Win In Early Games

Holy Trinity of Hartington, Coleridge, and Winside emerged victorious in the 3 games held Monday evening in the Class B district tourney.

In the first game Coleridge beat a completely outclassed Metean 44-16. Coleridge meets Holy Trinity in the quarter-finals at 7:30 p. m. Thursday, Winside led Belden at the end of the first quarter of the second game 14-5. Winside's second string played the second quarter drew a bye, at 6:30 Thursday.

The outstanding game of the evening was between Holy Trinity and Sacred Heart. Both teams were really in there to win and put on a good exhibition of basketball. Sacred Heart led 13-9 at the end of the half, but the second half was nip and tuck all the way with the lead changing five times. Trinity grabbed the lead in the last period and managed to hold it till the final gun. Score: Holy Trinity. 27; Sacred Heart, 24.
Last night Hartington played Wynot, Launel played Stanton, Pilger played Carroll, and Prepplayed Randolph. No scores were available on these games at press time.
The semi-finals will be held Friday night and the third place and championship game Saturday.

Selectees Are Accepted For Armed Services

The following selectees have been accepted for service and inducted into the army at Fort Crook: Robert Nichols, Wilmer Ellis, Dale Powers, Ralph Hachmeier, Eugene Gray, Leon Hupp, Paul Harrington, Jr., Leon Von Seggern, Lloyd McNatt, Jr., James Killian, Donald Denbeck, Harold Sievers.

PREP BEATS EMERSON

Wayne Prep won over Emerson last Friday night 36:35. Prep held a 15 point lead at one time, but during the second half a hard fighting Emerson team tied up the score. Wayne pulled ahead again though, and Emerson failed to close the gap. Both teams were semewhat handicapped by playing on a slippery floor that had been waxed for a dance held previously.

Farm Machinery Repair Schools Will Be Held

Two Farm Machinery Repair and Adjustment Schools will be held in Wayne county next week by the Extension Service states Walter R. Harder, county agent. The first will be held at Carroll on March 1 from 1:30 to 4 p. m. in the Carroll Community Hall. The second meeting will be at Winside March 2 from 1:30 to 4 p. m. in the old city hall. Carlton Zink, state extension engineer, will be in charge of the instructional program which will include demonstrations on the adjustment and repairs of some of the major farm machinery, such as tractors, combines, hay balers and corn pickers.

Every farmer as well as the farm workers should be interested in these meetings in order to ed in these meetings in order to get the most service from the present supply of farm machin-ery. Farm women and farm boys and girls who may opecate farm machinery in 1943 may find these schools especially worth-while.

Tin Can Salvage Starts in Wayne

C and M Grocery, Larson's Food Market City Grocery, the Council Oak store, Russell Grocery, Safeway and Central Meat Market have been named as receiving agencies for tin cans, P. L. March, county chairman of the salvage committee sali last wek. Housewives are urged to start saving their cans and to turn them in at any of the above named stores. Cans should be prepared by washing and drying, removing label, cutting out top and bottom of can, then crushing can. These steps are essential. "Reason for our delay in get."

The Farm Security Administration, on the basis of its survey, reported that these families, constituting 7.6 percent of the 6,097,000 farm opthese families, constituting 7.6 percent of the 6,097,000 farm operators listed by the 1940 census, increased their milk production by 1,419,000 pounds or 36 percent of the total increase for the nation. This was a 20 percent increase over their 1941 production, compared to a three percent increase made by all farmers. All of this increase may not have been, of course, a net increase since some of the cows purchased in 1942 by FSA borrowers would have been milkd by their original owners.

Significant increases by Farm Security borrowers also were shown for other warneeded food crops. In terms of their own production the year before, these 1942 increases ranged from 20 to 106 per cent. In terms of the nation's total increase, they also contributed 27 per cent of the nation's increase in dry boans and 10 percent of the total increase in eggs, chickens, and peanuts.

New Chapel Will Be Dedicated At Methodist Church

Methodist Church
Dedication services for the new Wesley chapel in the Methodist church will be held next Sunday, with services for the adult membership at 4 o'clock in the evening and a meeting of the youth organization scheduled for 7:30 o'clock in the evening. What has been known as the lecture room of the church has been refinished and fitted as a chapel with a present seating capacity of over sixty. This will be increased later. The chapel will be used for regular Sunday evening meetings of the young evening meetings of the young people and for other small group people and for other small group meetings.

The room is fashioned on the model of the first chapel by John Wesley in the Old Foundry-Methodist church in England, simplicity of its arrangement is very effective with white cross and altar with kneeling rail against maroon background. The floors have been refinished and new carpet laid, Floors have also been refinished in the foyer of the chapel and the choir room. A new cabinet has been installed in the choir room. Additional improvements are also being made in the basement and include redecoration and the installation of new equipment in the children's department.

Mr. Wolff told of his experiences in Europe and in this country while on tour. He was a week end guest at many English parties, he sald, and invariably the conversation would turn to Germany and the British would ask him if he knew what was going on in his native country. However, when he told them what he knew of political developments, they only laughed and insisted that Hitler was incapable of being a real menace.

insisted that Hitler was incapable of being a real menace.

The Gestapo always kept a close watch on his travels and he was under suspicion for disloyalty to the Nazi movement.

"The Gestapo," declared Mr. Wolff, "are the devils and the beasts of the earth. Thre is nothing human about them."

In 1936, when Mr. Wolff returned to his native country, he was taken up before the Gestapo for questioning. For 5 hours he sat before them in silence before they began questioning him. Then, there followed 7 hours of inquisition. They demanded every detail of his movements. When they asked him in what language he sang, he repiled that he used German, English, French and Ifalian with the idea that music belonged to an international language, He was warned that he must use German, that there was to be only one language and that the whole world must learn German. He was released without being sent to a must learn German. He w leased without being sent concentration camp.

Young people in this country take too much for granted, Mr. Wolff thinks. If only they could see what has happened to youth under Nazlism, they would better appreciate the blessings which are theirs under democracy. The old culture of Germany has been completely done away with in the education of their youth. There is now a whole new culture and it is composed of poison, hate, revenge.

In marked contrast to the young people of his native country, Mr. Wolff has found the youth of America open minded; He has been in 45 states giving concerts, many of them in army camps. ## Ready for Zero Hour

Ready for Zero Hour
Only a continuance of the traditional African rainy season and the necessity of waiting until stores of supplies were sufficient, had prevented the long-awaited Allied offensive for final control of Tunisia.
Signs and portents had pointed unmistakably toward an early showdown. The elevation of Dwight D.
Elsenhower to the full rank of general and his appointment as supreme commander in Africa had indicated a centralization of command preparatory to decisive action. At the same time Secretary of War Silmson had predicted the imminence of full-scale fighting in Tunisia and had warned the American people to prepare for heavy casualties.

Axis forces had been completely cleared out of Tripolitania, and the British Eighth army after a short rest had resumed movement by storming into southern Tunisia along the constal road over which Marshal Rommel's retreating army had passed. When Rommel turned at last like an animal to fight back, Montgomery's men were ready for him. And although the Nazi commander threw in tanks, infantry and artillery, the British pounded his positions mercilessly.

RED RESURGENCE: Regains Lost Ground

Regains Lost Ground
Prophetic of Rostov's fall had been the Russlans' capture of Novo-cherkassk, for in wars past and present any army that took the gateway town of Novocherkassk had always succeeded in taking Rostov.
How far the Nazis' fortunes had receded since their peak at Stalingrad last autumn might be seen in the spectacular gains in territory recorded by the Russians. From Orelon the north to Voroshillovgrad and Rostov on the south, the Reds had already regalined most of the territory they had lost in the German offensive last spring and summer.
Nor did the Red tide show signs of ebbing. Ahead lay the rich granery of the Ukraine which Hitler had hoped to hold. To the south ley the remains of the Nazis' Caucasus army trapped and facing possible dismemberment.

say, however, in some vases, this will be the actual effect.

Whatever the effects on agriculture and influstry may be if the bill passes, it will sink the present Manpower commission program without a trace and with all hands on board.

There is plenty of public appeal in the Kilday measure—the argument that it is more important to keep the family together than to fill quotas for industry or the army and the navy, the argument that there is no authority in the Selective Service act to do what the Manpower commission order is aimed to achieve, namely, to state what job a man is to hold. And that side of the argument has particular appeal in a congress exceedingly jealous of its pre-rogatives, sworn to prevent usurpation of its powers by the administrative branch.

A Prediction

Last week, I reported the prediction by a keen observer of this whole problem to the effect that one more desperate measure would be attempted by the Manpower commission before it would be forced to set wasn't at mass bombling attack, the Doolittle raid was by no tracking facilities, the paside for some other agency. Today they must spend from two to four hours daily standing in queues in front of their local food shops, hoping to be able to cash in their ation tickets before the meager stocks are exhausted.

For two years the authorities have ronibited the sale of any materials containing cotton, wool, rayon, linen or silk. The wearing of prewar kimonos by women also has been outlawed, on the theory that their riotous colors are out of keeping with the grim times. Consequently Lapanese women today clothe themselves in the only material available to them—artificial cloth made from wood pulp. They soon discovered, to their chagrin, that this material disintegrates when washed, won't had a press and is a haven for every species of woodboring insect.

In order to simplify production of ready-made clothers for women manufacturers now are limited to one standard pattern and only three sizes—small, medium and large, into which every figure has to be fitted second, demanded.

One can knagine, however, how union labor would like to see khaki and navy blue manning the stamping machines and the lathes beside the workingmen in civvies. Labor's objection to the bill was expected from the first.

And so we have a four-way clash; Legislators, Manpower commission, Military, Labor.

Once more, a labor deat.

More than in any other nation at war—with the single exception of Soviet Russia—the women of Japan are today carrying the main burden of fighting on the home front.

The war work of Japanese women has released at least 2,000,000 ablebodied men for military service. Probably another 2,000,000 men have been made available for vital war production jobs because women have replaced them in nonessential positions.

Japanese women once were among the world's heaviest users of cosmetics but today extremely few Japaneses women appear in public with painted faces. Most of them probably would like to use a bit of powder, rouge and lipstick but these can no longer be purchased in Japan. The generation of Japanese girls growing up during the war may not miss their permanents and lipsticks because they can no longer see west-ern beauty standards in American motion pictures. But something more vital was lost when Tokyo banned the showing of American films.

INDIVIDUALISM—SYMBOL OF DEMOCRACY
By an ironic twist of circumstances, modern war proves beyond argument that individual initiative is the key to victory and progress.

Captain Eddig Rickenbacker savs: "Once võii put a bov

Captain Eddie Rickenbacker says: "Once you put a boy in a foxhole, he is on his own. Once you drop a parachute trooper behind the enemy's lines, he is on his own. The youth in the cockpit of a fighter, in a tank, on a commando raid, is always on his own. The 'ruggol individualist,' as a political symbol, may have few friends, but God help us if we can't recreate him on the battlefield and the factory floce." The nation that does not have rugged individualism on its sade will lose the war.

This stank truth must come as a shock to the political sharp-shooters who have been busy right here in our own country kicking the props from under a system that was founded on the supremacy of the individual. Captain Rickenbacker is a product of that system. He fought as a soldier, willing to give his life that the system might live. He helped to ploneer the automobile and aviation industries. He has time and again taken 'dhânces, as a soldier and as a businessman, because he could envisage a bright future, not just for himelf, but for his family and all the other families of America.

The future he has pictured through the years has not taken its lustre merely from the prospect of comfort and security. Eddie Rickenbacker is a typical rugged individualist. For him there is no future junless his right to take risks, to think up new ideas, to do things on his own hook and reap a fair reward, is safeguarded and, encouraged.

The United States was built by men like Rickenbacker. They came across the plains in ox-drawn wagons, fought Indians, due in the earth for go'd, developed farms. They discovered, invented and produced their way to the highest standard of living in the world. At the present moment, they are the men who own operate and work the coal and metal mines, oil wells, power plants, railroads and factories that are turning out the weapons for other "rugged individualists" on the battlefront, who will win this war.

Above all else, this war is being fought to keep the future bright for the descendants of these millions who believe in themselves as individuals. Those who think and act otherwise are running contrary to the character and tradition of this country.

History shows that military defeat is usually preceded by a collapse on the home front. Such collapse inevitably follows a breakdown in the supply of civilian necessities.

Nothing is mose essential to the successful conclusion of a war than an efficient distribution system to meet civilian necess. This country has such a system. Hundreds of thousands of retail merchants scattered throughout every county in the United States, are working day and night to have food, clothes, and all commodities, always available for the civilian population. Through their various trade organizations, they are cooperating with government in all phases of the price stabilization and cationing problems. They are spending millions of advertising dollars explaining to consumers the need for regulatory measures and how to comply with them. Where gaps in the rules exist, the merchants often ask voluntary cooperation of customers to prevent nardship. Who has not seen the makeshift placards requesting consumers to ilmit their purchases of certain items? Government rulings cannot possibly cover every emergency, any more than they can materially soften the grim realities for the merchant.

Consumers seldom see evidence of these realities. They don't stop to think that back of the cheerful exterior of the modern store are sleepless hights for managements that must cope with nightmares of compileated rules, restrictions, price squeezes, labor shortages, staggering taxes and other problems without precedent.

It is doubtful if the public, or most merchants, fully realized the vital character of service which the distribution industry was destined to render in a total war economy. But they are finding

FOR THE DURATION ONLY

In spite of war regulations governing the operation of industry, it is still up to private management to produce the goods. The oil industry is a case in point. It is virtually under military control. And yet, as one government official points out: . The industry is still supply of oil for the war. That responsibility cannot be assigned or escaped by the industry, and both management and labor have a share in the responsibility."

For the duration, all other private enterprise faces a similar obligation. It must continue to carry the responsibility of production under unprecedented government domination. When the war is over, that domination must end.

OUR NEIGHBORS HEALTH

Few people realize how medical progress, such as has been made in the thited States during th past generation, is being extended to the other American countries. Not only in commerce, but in health must North and South America be closely allied.

The publications of the Pan-American Union and the Pan-American Sanitary Bureau indicate that certain problems of the South American nations, which may be as much scientific as economic, demand the aid of their North American neighbors for ultimate solution.

Good health is fundamental to human progress. The downfall of many a nation may be definitely related to malaria, plague, cholera or smallpox. Fortunately, the United States has been able to stamp out most of the great plagues which best the rest of the world. Through philanthropic and other agencies it is giving its help wherever possible to ald other nations in meeting these hazaeds.

If we can help bring to other countries some of the blessings.

giving its help wherever possible to aid other nations in meeting these hazards.

If we can help bring to other countries some of the blessings that have fallen to this nations as the result of a tireless, independent, self-sacrificing medical profession, we will be greatly benefiting oursives. To illustrate, plague that is prevalent in Java, India and China, has been detected among rodents in the far west of the United States. It was carried here years ago on ships from the Far East. The mosquito that carries yellow fever has been found in airplanes flying into the United States from other countries.

A progressive and watchful medical profession, and the constant interchange of information from the health officials of all the American people.

Congress is struggling with the problem of how to make ection of tremendous taxes easy on the taxpayer. The answer imple, it can't like done any more than a major operation can made a major affair.

By those who have liked the books of Josephine Lawrence, her new book. There is Today, will be eagerly sought. As you will remember Josephine Lawrence has written, If I Have Four Apples, A Good Home With Nice People, But you Are Young, and many others. In all her books she deals with some social problem. This one,There Is To-day, tells about an ordinary young American couple who are faced with the problem of wheth er to snatch what happiness they er to snatch what happiness they can before service calls or to postpone marriage for the uncertain duration. They finally decide to marry with the draft staring them in the face, crowd their happiness into the months that remain before the dreaded hour when Andy is called. Scrimping and saving to make ends meet, their baby is born just a few days before Andy is industed. meet, their baby is born just a few days before Andy is inducted into the service. That charity begins at home and that young couples are entitled to marriage and a share of happiness in spite of the war is the theme of Miss Lawrence's realistic novel of America today.

Telephone Workers Are Prepared for War-Time Emergencies

Providing telephone service is a round-the-clock, all-weather job. Service must be protected against storms, fire, explosions and other disasters. When service is interrupted, it must be restored as quickly as possible.

In emergencies, the telephone usually carries the call for help. Often lives may depend on getting the message through. Service in emergencies is part of the day's work in the telephone job.

With the nation at war, every community faces the possibility of serious emergencies. Whatever may come, telephone workers are prepared to do everything possible to serve the public. They are better able to serve in war-time emergencies because they are used to meeting emergencies in time of peace.

JESUS RESTORES LAZARUS TO LIFE

LESSON TEXT—John 11;32-35, 38-44 GOLDEN TEXT—"I am the resurred on, and the life."—John 11:25.

Suffering, sorrow and bereave nent are so common in our day that his lesson is peculiarly appropriate. Life, even to the Christian, finds its ull measure of things which hurt and grieve. Many ask: "Why must a follower of Christ, bear such

The answer is, that while the believer is not "of the world," he is "in the world," and here he must meet the problems of life, including the evils to which the flesh is heir because of sin. The fact that Jesus is our Friend and our Saviour does not exempt us from human sorrow, but it does assure us of the needed grace to bear the trial and makes us ready to trust Him even in life's darkest hour.

A carrie, the friend of Jesus, was sick. The home in which Jesus had found rest and fellowship was in deep trouble. Jesus was no longer in Judea. In haste, word was sent to Him of His friend's illness. But He

Him of His friend's illness. But He did not come.

Why does He delay? Such is the heart-cry of thousands today who call on Him in their hour of trouble. The purposes of God we cannot fully understand. We need only to trust Him and abide His time.

Notice that His failure to respond at once to the message of Lazarus' sisters did not mean that He had deserted them (John 11:4-6). Nor did it mean that He had denied them His help (v. 7).

Above all, note that He came. He always does. Jesus has never failed any child of His. The time and the manner of His answer to our prayers may not conform to our opinion of what should have been done; but let us remember that we know only in part. He knows all. Let us trust Him. Job, in his darkest hour, said: "Though he slay me, yet will I trust in him" (Job 13:15).

The steps from sorrow to victories lev; in this story are three in act remains that death is the enemy cance unit isn't a trifle is this orange dessert—if you want something pretty special for that day of a special dinner. This is simple for you can use leftover cake or sponge cake:

may to temper its cruel blow, the fact remains that death is the enemy of man. It came into the world as the result of sin (Rom. Si.12), and only in Christ is it "swallowed up in victory" (I Cor. 15:54). Until the glorlous day of Christ's returning, when the redemption of the body will be complete (Rom. 8:23), death will continue to bring sorrow to the heart and tears to the eyes. But let us not fail to notice that as the friends of Jesus, we do not sorrow alone. "Jesus wept" (v. 35) with Martha and Mary. We know that He weeps with us in our trying hour. He is the "friend that sticketh closer than a brother." He is the one who gives grace to meet the deepest sorrow, and to bear it with grace because of His tender fellowship.

II. Fatth and Hope (vv. 38-40).

Set cups in pan of warm water and place in oven. Bake in a slow (325-degree) oven until knife comes out clean when inserted in custard. Remove cups from pan of water immediately. Serve hot or cold.

Kathleen Norris Says:

Grow Up to Your Troubles

"She goes back at night, or rather in the mo where she can loaf and gossip and give impro-nun soul and personality."

NE of the strangest phenomena of warfing en who have tremendous bur-dens of change, separation, grief to bear are facing them heroically, and those whose problems are just the normal ones of our faulty human liv-ing are making more fuss than ever.

"As if the war wasn't enough!" these people say. As it the war wash t enough!" these people say. After which they detail the dreadful facts that there is a leak in the library ceiling, that Jim's telegram couldn't go to his mother this Christnes for the first time eighteen years and that Ethel lost her new mink coat.

One woman I know demanded sympathy from a large circle of friends because, at the age of 64, she had to have artificial replacements of her teeth. "It'll change her appearance so, and she was always so pretty!" walled her loyal admirers. And upon meeting they asked each other: "Have you heard about poor Elinor? Isn't it awful? They aren't soing to leave a tooth in her head."

other: "Have you heard about poor Elinor? Isn't it awul? They aren't going to leave a tooth in her head." Another woman is heartbroken because a building has been put up on the river side of her city house and her view is partially destroyed. You can still see some of the trees and a strip of sliver water, but not as you did see them twenty years ago. The worst of it is that Phil had a chance to buy that lot for a song, and didn't!

Grieved Over Lost Pearls.
Still a third case is that of a girl who lost a string of pearls. They were real pearls, given her on her eighteenth birthday thirty years ago. They had been her grandmother's. The string was weak and Carrie wore them downtown to have them restrung. But when she got to the leweler's they were gone. I met her last week and in the course of a casual chat she suddenly burst out about them again: "When I think of grandmother's pearls, that I had right here in my hands..." were real pears, given her on the eighteenth birthday thirty years ago. They had been her grandmother's. The string was weak and Carrie wore them downtown to have them look beyond the evident fact of the deadness of her brother and see God's glory in his resurrection. Thus faith assures us that those who believe in Christ have more than the comfort of His sympathizing presence—they have a sure hope (read I Thess. 4:14-18).

Sorrow and unbelief would becloud our faith and thus rob us of our thope. Martha needed to have her if atth stimulated by the gracious twords of the Lord; and the site triumphantly put her hope in the triumphantly put her hope in the life in the Christ of God. Once we recognize Him as God, we have no hesitation in believing in His miract tulous power.

HII. Christ and Resurrection (vv. 14-14).

Majestic and authoritative are the words of Christ, "I am the resurrection and the life" (v. 25). He it was who gave life; for was Hen of the curious and the properties of the lord in the levinning with God"? And words of Christ, "I am the resurrection and the life" (v. 25). He is if office, has an ideal home and a beauwas who gave life; for was He not i'in the beginning with God"? And is it not said of Him, that "all things were made by him" (John 1:2, 3)?

Paut tells us that "by him all things consist" (Col. 1:17). He is the only one who could say: "I lay down may life . I have power to take it up again" (John 10:17, 18).
So it can rightly be said that if we have Christ we have everything
—both in this world and in the world to come. But if we do not have Christ, we have nothing; we are without God and without hope. "He that believeth in me, though he were dead, yet shall he live" (v. 25) is the promise of Christ to us. Let us

ONE PLUS ONE

ONE PLUS ONE
Why is it, that the more you have to do, the more you can do? A married woman who works can usually manage to get her housework done in the few minutes she has left at the end of the day. When she gives up her, job to devote all of her time to her housework, it takes all of her time. One reason may be, that the busy woman sees her job (or her housework) as a lot of separate tasks and doesn't worry too much about the total. "One plus one," you know, is far less plus one," you know, is far less terrifying than "two." Why not try it yourself when you feel you have too much to do?

sleeps until four at least. Perhaps twice a week she walks across town, she is a great walker, and shares our six o'clock dinner with her father and me. Also she sometimes drops in on Donna; she is very fond of the baby. Perhaps once a month, on her free Tuesday, she comes to take me to a movie.

"But what ELSE does she do? We have no idea. She has never been

"But what ELSE does she do? We have no idea. She has never been expansive with us; we don't know who her friends are, where she usually dines, how she spends her money. It seems a foolish waste to have those girls sharing a $45 rent, when there are three empty bedrooms up stairs in our house, and good 'bus lines to the factory. After all, Emily is our child, still to us the dear baby whose coming caused such all, Emily is our cana, some according to dear baby whose coming caused such delight to uncles and aunts and mother and father, and we cannot quite abandon her to what may be a most foolish and reckless course! That er and father, and we cannot quite abandon her to what may be a most foolish and reckless course! That any fine man will want to marry a gun-turret worker in blue denim slacks is incomprehensible to me, and of course I wish marriage for her, and the happy life of a normal woman. Both Doctor and I are losing sleep over it, and think and talk of little else. I am wondering if you cannot give me some argument that will bear weight with Emily, convince her that until she married the best place for her is at home."

My argument my dear Laura Parker, would be directed toward you rather than toward Emily. It think you are the one who is making the foolish mistake. From what you unconsciously reveal in this letter I gather that Donna, the younger daughter, was pretty and popular, which Emily obviously is not. Donnant 18 danced and laughed herself at 18 danced and laughed herself at 18 danced and laughed herself into an entirely suitable marriage with her father's partner, and produced a fine grandson in record time. iittle Donna and-her-baby.

Emily Develops Own Life.
Emily is human, and she's jealous.
She doesn't want to be just that rather plain smart older daughter of the Parkers, coming home at night to set the table, glance at the paper, listen to the radio. She's hard at work now, important work, she's surrounded by other workers, all in dead earnest. She goes back at night, or rather in the morning, to her own little place, where she can loaf and gossip and give impromptu suppers, and develop her own soul and personality.

Entertal to be just that "The Girls He Left Behind."

The March of Time's "One Day of War—Russia, 1943" is probably the best decumentary film that has come out of this war. That was the apinion of Walter Graebner, their war correspondent, when he saw it in Moscow. His adventures in getting it to the MOT's New York office would make an exciting mystery film. Once, when he looked for the cans of film, they had disappeared! He waited in Teheran for a duplicate print to be flown to him, and the plane was forced down on the way. The African offensive broke, and he had to cover it. When the film finally reached Cairo the Egyptian customs refused to pass it, till he talked them over.

John Gerfield isn't finding his midget aus mobile so cramped since he workey in Warner Bros. "Air Force"—he spent most of his time in an improvised tail gun position in the Flying Fortress Mary Ann. Mary Ann is the heroine of the picture.

Gig Young put his heart and soul into his portrayal of the co-pilot of "Air Force's" Mary Ann, which depicts the air war against the Japs from the days of Pearl Harbor. His father-in-law and close-friend is a prisoner of the Japanese.

The "Town Hall Club" of Boston The "Town Hall Club" of Boston bestowed scrolls on Bud Abbott and Lou Costello, calling their NBC humor "earthy," and hailing it as having "helped to unify Americans in our war effort by supplying democratic laughter with which to form a bond of wellbeing among our people." Uncle Sam is author of the Book of the Month for March. It will be entitled "Life With Mother" or "Through the Grocery With Pen and Pencil." . . .

It will have action, excitement, drama and plenty of mystery. But no romance unless it is possible for a love affair to develop during an argument with a groceryman.

There will be a foreword by the department of justice. And an appendix by the same people.

It will be read by more people than "Gone With the Wind," "Cross Creek," "Uncle Tom's Cabin" and "East Lynne," But they will have more trouble understanding it.

It will be linked up with more battles than "Napoleon's Memoirs" and "The Founding of the West." And it will combine the best features of Burpee's Simple Arithmetic, the Nursery A B C Book and "How to Diet With Federal Co-operation."

Publication date March 1. Available at all rationing beards. And you can't get it through a circulating library, madame.

It's the new 1943 model Point System Ration Book in technicolor. In the ladies think they had film with the last book wait till they wrestly with this. We intended to have on book editor review it, but we found him disqualified. He had just swapped "Van Loon's Lives" for nine cans of tomatoes and was of fering anything in the library for a dozen bottles of catsup.

So we'll have to review it briefly. It's a snappy fast moving thing in old blue, the action sevolving around 48 coupons of various values ranging from one point to eight. (And no point for goal after touchdown.)

On the old book you could win only on a knockout, but with this one you can win or lose on points.

It's going to complicate life for people who can't count fast. You can bring along a public accountant but remember, he can't have mustard or jam.

The corner delicatessen store is going to be a fine place to brush up on your arithmetic. Shopping for groceries wasn't so had before but from now on it's strictly an upper brackets routine.
