Recreational Center for Service Men

Public Asked To Help With Project For Air Corps Cadets

With the assurance that service men are to be trained here, a meeting was called at the Baptist church Sunday night to take definite action toward providing a Service Men's center in Wayne.

The basement of the Baptist church will be completely redecorated and equipped for this purpose. A room 35 by 40 feet will be made into a game and recreational room. Another room adjoining this will be made into a writing, reading, music, and radio room. The church kitchen is conveniently arranged to serve either of these rooms. Four boys of the Baptist church who have gone into the services have sent offerings amounting to nearly $40.00. These offerings are set aside to begin the service center. The location of these rooms on the edge of our business district, and just next door to our public library will provide a most central and convenient service center to display the hospitality of the city of Wayne. Although the Baptist folk are offering their building, it is hoped that this project will be looked upon as an enterprise in which everyone should have a part. At present planning it seems that Saturday afternoons and Saturday nights will be the two periods when the center will be in most demand. The Board of Deacons and Deaconesses at the church will represent the college and city so the church has delegated to them the responsibility of acting as an advisory council for the center. H. H. Hazard, the pastor, and former director of the Christian Center of the Temple Baptist church, St. Paul, Minn., will take the duties of director and program arranging. Other pastors will be called on to conduct games, and it is hoped that both the city school and college will assist with talent for programs. Furniture that would be suitable for a living room is needed. Refreshments will be served each Saturday night as soon as the center is opened. Coffee will be provided by the church and it is planned that parents in town and throughout the county who have boys in the service elsewhere will provide cookies and cakes for the boys here. Their boys are enjoying some other service center. Surely these parents will be glad to make someone else's boys feel at home here. A Wayne business man, W. C. Swanson, has been chosen to act as treasurer for this work. Regular financial reports will be made through this paper. If there are those who wish to assist with this work call 327-LW.

Funeral services for Mrs. Ellis Jones, resident of this vicinity for 43 years, will be held at the Welch Presbyterian church west of Carroll at 3:30 o'clock Thursday afternoon with Dr. Victor West officiating. Mrs. Jones passed away Monday noon at a local hospital at the age of 79 years. She had made her home with her son, David Theophilus, for the past few years. She had been ill with heart trouble since Saturday and had been taken to the hospital a short time before her death.

The deceased was a native of London, England. Most of the past 43 years of her life had been spent on a farm near Carroll. She had been a member of the Welch Presbyterian church for over forty years. Her husband passed away some 20 years ago. Surviving her are eight children: Richard Theophilus of Cortez, Colo., Henry Theophilus of Peetz, Colo., David Theophilus of Wayne, Mrs. T. W. Beck of Ogden, Utah, Mrs. A. B. Witten of Williamsburg, Va., Mrs. C. E. Van Valkenburg of Sterling, Colo., Howard Jones of Chicago, and Roy Jones of Sioux City.

The children will be present for the funeral except for Mrs. Witten, Mrs. Van Valkenburg, and Richard Theophilus. Mrs. Dave Davis and Mrs. John Roberts of New Cambria, Mo., will also attend the funeral.

Funeral services for Henry Schmitz, a resident of Wayne county for 54 years, died Saturday evening at a local hospital. He fell about six weeks ago, fracturing a hip, and had been in the hospital for the past five weeks.

Funeral services will be held at 2 o'clock Friday afternoon from Our Redeemers Lutheran church with Rev. deFreese in charge.

The deceased was born in Germany Sept. 29, 1853. For many years he lived on a farm southwest of town but has been a resident of Wayne for the past 27 years.

His wife died in 1909. Surviving relatives are a son, Henry Schmitz, of ayne, and three daughters, Mrs. Arthur C. Mann of Wayne, and Mrs. L. H. Hese-man and Mrs. M. P. Benshoof, both of Alameda, Calif.

To Recruit WAACS In Wayne; Officer To Be Here March 31

March 31 is to be WAAC day in Wayne. Lt. Thelma Mosslerop of the auxiliary corps was in town Tuesday making arrangements for the day. She will be here again on that date and will help in a special effort being made to recruit women for that branch of the service. It is hoped that the corps will reach the new authorized strength of 150,000 within a short time. That number is equivalent to 10 army divisions and the purpose of the service is to replace men in fields where women would be able to carry on, and thus to release men for combat duty. If interested contact Mrs. S. A. Lutgen. More details next week.

Funeral Rites for Mrs. Ellis Jones To Be Thursday

Funeral services for Mrs. Ellis Jones, resident of this vicinity for 43 years, will be held at the Welch Presbyterian church west of Carroll at 3:30 o'clock Thursday afternoon with Dr. Victor West officiating. Mrs. Jones passed away Monday noon at a local hospital at the age of 79 years. She had made her home with her son, David Theophilus, for the past few years. She had been ill with heart trouble since Saturday and had been taken to the hospital a short time before her death.

The deceased was a native of London, England. Most of the past 43 years of her life had been spent on a farm near Carroll. She had been a member of the Welch Presbyterian church for over forty years. Beck of Ogden, Utah, Mrs. A. B. Witten of Williamsburg, Va., Mrs. C. E. Van Valkenburg of Sterling, Colo., Howard Jones of Chicago, and Roy Jones of Sioux City.

The children will be present for the funeral except for Mrs. Witten, Mrs. Van Valkenburg, and Richard Theophilus. Mrs. Dave Davis and Mrs. John Roberts of New Cambria, Mo., will also attend the funeral.

NOTICE TO PATRONS

Because of rationing regulations and because we are expecting a group of army students within the near future, we are compelled to discontinue service to the public at the cafeteria until further notice.—College Cafeteria.

Red Cross Offers Nutrition Course; Is Open To All Women

A nutrition course consisting of six lessons is being offered to Wayne women beginning next Monday evening. The series is being sponsored by Red Cross and is their standard course. It will include a study of food values, canning and freezing foods, point rationing and price ceilings, recipes and demonstrations.

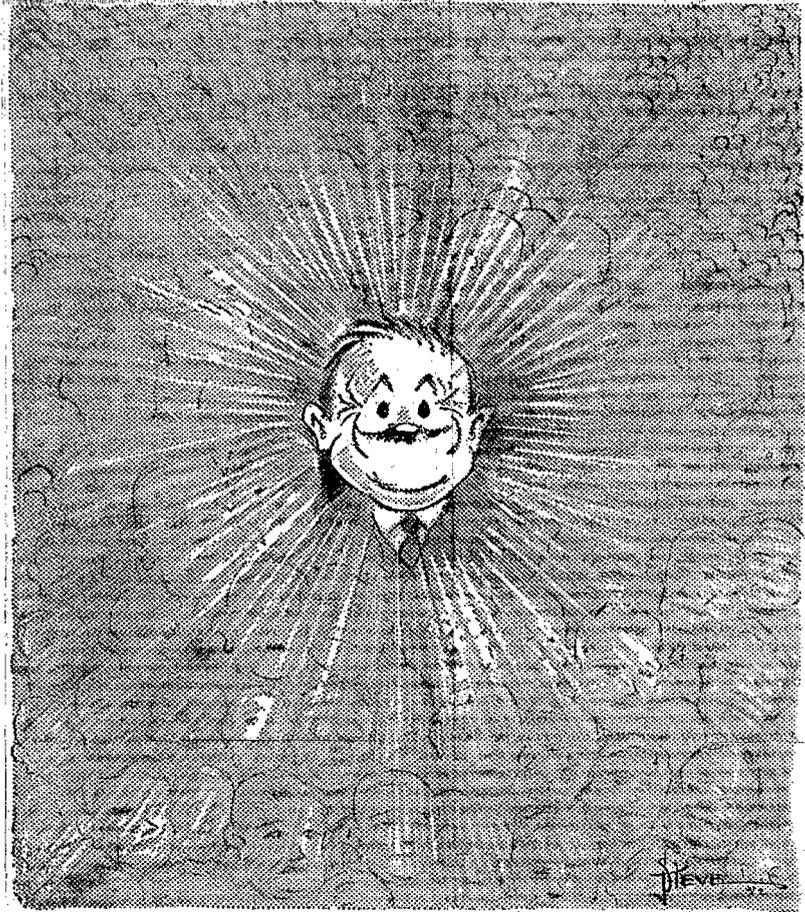

The class will meet each Monday evening during the six weeks at the Woman's club rooms at 7:30 o'clock. Miss Martha Wallace, home economist at the college, will be the teacher and will be assisted by Mrs. Ralph Cashart, a former home economics teacher.

Mrs. Clarence Wright, Wayne county chairman of the citizens' service corps is in charge of organization details. No reservations are necessary and there will be no charges. All women are welcome and urged to attend.

POSTPONE RECEPTION

Rev. Oliver B. Proett, the newly elected minister of the Presbyterian church, and his family were unable to move to Wayne Tuesday as they planned due to the illness of one of the children. A reception, planned by members of the church to honor the new pastor and his family, has necessarily been postponed from Friday evening until a later date. Rev. Proett plans to occupy the Presbyterian pulpit here Sunday as previously announced.

200 Trainees Will Arrive On April 1

Lt. Bazata Is On Campus To Help With Preparations

A contingent of 200 trainees in the air-corps will arrive on the campus of the Wayne State Teachers college April 1. Lt. A. J. Bazata, who is to be the commanding officer in charge of the training program at the college, arrived here Sunday and is working with college officials to complete plans.

This program is a part of a national movement by the army, navy and manpower commission to utilize the facilities of established institutions of higher learning throughout the country to train for the war effort.

Wayne was selected last month as one of the colleges for air corps training. The local college is especially well fitted to perform this service. The airport is being enlarged and improved for use in the program and it is expected that the trainees will get considerable flight training while here along with their study in college subjects.

RATION BOARD HOURS

The office of the Wayne county ration board will be open to the public from 10 to 12 a. m. and from 1 to 4 p. m. beginning March 31.

ORATORICAL CONTEST

The American Legion oratorical contest will be held at the college Friday morning at 10 o'clock, with contestants from various high schools in this district competing. The contest is being held in conjunction with one of the advanced speech classes and the students of this class will act as judges.

The contest is sponsored by the American Legion. Winner of the local contest will go to the state contest. The state winner will go to the national contest where the prize will be $4,000.

Contestants will give both prepared orations and extemporaneous speeches on some phase of the constitution.

BUSINESSMEN INVITED
Business and professional men of the county, members of local commercial and civic clubs, etc., who are interested in 4-H work are especially invited to attend the program and luncheon to be held at Wayne auditorium, Friday evening, March 19.

Fire Destroys House On Dangberg Farm South of Winside

Fire destroyed the house on the Frank Dangberg farm, south of Winside, Monday evening. The house was vacant, but the Kris Jensen family had been planning to move to the farm Tuesday, and already had a few of their belongings in the house.

The Jensens had been in the house during the day, doing some paint and repair work and had built a small fire for warmth. They had left without noticing anything amiss, and the flames had made great headway before being discovered by neighbors.

The Wayne fire department was called but the house was practically gone before their arrival. The loss is estimated at around $3,000.

Fenn Speaks On China at Convocation

University Student Tells of China's Place In War Effort

"China's Place in the Present War and Its Aftermath" was the subject of an address given by Albert Fenn, student at the University of Nebraska in Lincoln, before a group of Wayne college students at convocation Thursday morning. Mr. Fenn is also an instructor in Chinese language and philosophy. He came to this country seven years ago. John Kvan, president of the Y.M.C.A., introduced the speaker. Mr. Fenn began his talk with a contrast of western and oriental civilization. If I were to characterize western civilization by one word, that word would be efficiency, declared Mr. Fenn. Western civilization emphasizes

Schools Open Drive To Buy 10,000 Jeeps

THE little jeep which is serving so nobly from Guadalcanal to Africa has become the symbol of the gigantic efforts of millions of American school children in their War Savings program.

Thousands of public, private and parochial schools soon will be displaying a certificate of honor from Secretary of the Treasury Henry Morgenthau, Jr., signifying that they have paid for at least one jeep by buying $900 in War Stamps and Bonds.

Countless others will be flying the Schools At War banner awarded to schools with 90 percent pupil participation in War Savings. Ten thousand jeeps and a hundred bombers! This is the new goal of America's schools as 30,000,000 children continue their Schools At War program under the auspices of the Treasury Department and the U. S. Office of Education.

Results so far in the program reported by Dr. Homer W. Anderson, Associate Field Director in charge

Students at the city high school are off to a good start this week in their campaign to "Buy a Jeep" by purchasing war bonds and stamps amounting to $900, the price of a jeep. The campaign is being waged at this time as a send-away for two high school boys, Ray Murray and Bob Stull, who leave soon for army induction.

War Stamp and War Bond purchases may reach a grand total of $300,000,000 for the school year.

Rationing of Meat, Butter, Cheese, Etc., Will Begin March 29

Simplicity is the keynote of the new meats and fats rationing program just announced by the Office of Price Administration. Although the ration list includes a wide variety of foods, including all meats and many cheeses, as well as shortenings and salad oil, butter and margarine, canned fish and many other items, from the point of view of the housewife who does the shopping, it will really be a simple matter.

All these foods will be rationed with a single set of stamps—so the busy housewife will have to consult only one table of point value to find out how many ration points any of these foods will cost.

This latest program requires no registration of any kind. War Ration Books Two are already distributed, and when the program goes into effect, housewives will already have had a full month's experience in the use of their point-ration books in buying processed foods.

One of the few differences between the use of the blue and the red stamps in War Ration Book Two, is the order in which stamps will be declared valid.

When rationing begins March 29, the first set of stamps, marked A—worth 16 points—will be valid. Beginning on April 4, and then on each succeeding Sunday throughout April, an additional set of stamps will be validated. All these stamps, from A thru E inclusive will remain in use all month—making a total of 80 points per person for April.

Another difference in the use of the red stamps is that it permits retailers to make "change" in ration stamps when a customer finds it impossible to give the exact amount of valid red stamps when making a purchase. Only one-point red stamps of any series currently valid may be used for this purpose.

During the week of April 4 to 10, for example, storekeepers may give their customers red 1-point stamps marked A or B in change. Customers must use stamps they receive in change by the end of the month in which they are issued and before they expire—just as they must use the stamps in their own books.

As red stamps are declared valid, they may be used with complete freedom of choice by the housewife to buy one, or any combination, of the foods for which they must be surrendered.

Point values for the entire list of foods rationed will be the same in every retail store in the country—just as they are for canned goods, although point prices of different cuts of meat will be different.

Many farmers produce some of the foods included in the new ration program for the use of their families. However the government is requesting that farm families retain red stamps in their family ration books in an amount equal in point value to the foods produced and eaten at home.

When a farmer sells any of these home-produced foods, he must collect ration stamps from his customers—even if they are neighbors—on the basis of official point prices, and turn these stamps in to the Office of Price Administration.

All farmers, butchers and slaughterers must contact the AAA office for application for permits.

Crop Improvement Educational Meeting Will Be March 18th

The Wayne County Extension service invites you to attend an educational meeting on crop improvement and certification on Thursday, March 18, at 8 p. m. in the city hall at Wayne.

E. F. Frolik will discuss brome production and crop seed certification. There will be motion pictures on Nebraska hybrid corn production.

Some brome experiences will be discussed with the group. Come and bring your neighbors with you!

The Cameo club will meet Friday afternoon with Mrs. Ralph Berridge. There will be Red Cross sewing.

Army-Navy Exams Will Be April 2

Tests To Determine Eligibility For College Training

The qualifying test for the Army-Navy college training program announced in last week's paper has been extended to provide for joint Army-Navy needs.

The new plan provides for the examination of all male students who have attained their 17th and not reached their 22nd birthdays by July 1, 1943, and who have graduated or are expected to graduate from secondary schools prior to that date. It is designed to provide information useful to the Armed Forces in (a) selecting students for college training under the army specialized training program, (b) classifying all others in respect to relative trainability.

The purpose of the army specialized training program is to train, at the collegiate level, men in technical and professional skills required by the army. Engineers of all types, doctors, psychologists, linguists, physicists, mathematicians and students of foreign areas are needed in large numbers, and the army has established this program in those colleges and universities where such training can best be given.

The eligibility of an individual for the army specialized training program is not fully established until he has successfully completed the normal 12 or 13 weeks of basic military training immediately following his induction into the army. Success on the proposed test, however, will provide the candidate with a certificate of qualification which upon presentation at the time of voluntary or regular induction, will assure his assignment to a replacement training center as a potential army specialized training program trainee. If it is then determined that he is potential officer candidate material he will be assigned to an army specialized training unit as an enlisted man on active duty, receiving the pay of a private, seventh grade, to pursue a curriculum of study for which he has shown himself qualified. Individual choice of curriculum will be given serious consideration, although (Continued on Page 8)

First Aid and Water Safety Classes Being Given by Red Cross

Classes in first aid and water safety are being taught at the Wayne Teachers college, Physical and Industrial building, this week and next. Instruction began Monday. Marvin L. Hersey, field representative from the American Red Cross, St. Louis office, is giving the instruction. These courses are both designed to develop instructors in first aid and in water safety. Times for the meeting of the first aid class are Tuesday and Thursday, Mar. 16 and 18; also Monday, Wednesday and Friday, Mar. 22, 24 and 26, at 7:30 p. m., in the Physical and Industrial building. Hours of meeting for the water safety instructors course are Monday, Wednesday and Friday, Mar. 15, 17 and 19; also Tuesday and Thursday, March 23 and 25, at 3:00 p. m., in the same building at the college pool. Eligible for either of these classes are persons who have completed the Red Cross standard and advanced courses given by the Wayne county chapter or by some other chapter. Dr. L. J. Killion is the collaborating physician. Mrs. Esther Dewitz Carlson is chairman of the first aid and life saving committee, of the Wayne county chapter of Red Cross.

BLANKS TO CLASS 4-H MEN

Farm Unit blanks are being sent out this week by the selective service board to all farmers who are in Class 4-H. These should be filled out and returned to the draft board office by March 25. Anyone needing help to fill out these blanks should contact the local office.

WEEKLY NEWS ANALYSIS

Meat Ceilings to Check Black Market; Bismarck Sea Triumph Forecasts U. S. Drive to Sweep Japs From New Guinea; Small Firms Get Billions for War Work

(EDITOR'S NOTE: When opinions are expressed in these columns, they are those of Western Newspaper Union's news analysis and not necessarily of this newspaper.)
Released by Western Newspaper Union.

Even the most advanced air base in Tunisia gets its mail, as pictured above. This photo of the mailman arriving and being welcomed at an advanced U. S. air base of Gen. Dwight Eisenhower's army, should be an incentive to those on the home front to write and keep writing to loved ones no matter how far away on Uncle Sam's service they may be.

BLACK MARKET: Action on Meat

Action rather than words was the keystone of a program sponsored by the OPA and the department of agriculture to smash the black markets in meat.

First barrage laid down in this offensive was Price Administrator Prentiss M. Brown's order imposing specific retail price ceilings on meat, beginning with pork products. Second attack came in the announcement by Secretary of Agriculture Wickard of orders licensing livestock slaughterers as well as those who buy and sell livestock for slaughter.

Effective April 1, the meat ceilings were expected to check black markets and end an "unjust squeeze" on packers. Mr. Brown said they would also lay the groundwork for the start of meat rationing about April 15. Pork ceilings were to be followed by uniform regulations on beef and lamb.

When red meat rationing is undertaken the order will include bacon, butter, cheese, lard and other cooking fats.

With prices uniform throughout a community on all cuts of meat, Brown said, it would be difficult for dealers to get rid of illicit meat at higher prices.

RUSSIANS: Repeat Old History

Back over the snowy Russian steppes where Napoleon's army perished long ago reeled the retreating German legions.

While the collapse of Nazi resistance at Rzhev had been of high immediate strategic importance to the Red command it was prophetic of further Nazi reverses, for with the whole German salient west of Moscow unhinged, the fate of Orel and Vyazma to the east virtually sealed.

The rapidity of the Russian advance was indicated by the capture soon afterward of Olenino 35 miles west of Rzhev giving control of the railway running from Moscow to Velikie Luki.

While German spokesmen described the Rzhev defeat as a strategic withdrawal to shorten Nazi lines, Allied military observers saw in it a threat to all Axis defenses from Smolensk to the Baltic sea.

In the South the Russians had moved forward more slowly, impeded by the first thaws of oncoming spring. But Red forces were reported driving forward from recaptured Lgov, important railroad center west of Kursk.

WAR COST: Exceeds 43 Billion

More than $43,830,452,651 was spent for war purposes in the first eight months of the current fiscal year, it was disclosed by the treasury department.

The war department spent the most for war—$27,303,243,684. The navy spent $11,502,633,956, the maritime commission $1,685,143,286 and the war shipping administration $733,211,740.

Expenditures by the government for all purposes during the eight-month period totaled $47,600,944,727, while net revenue totaled $9,512,808,497. The government's deficit for the eight months was $38,088,682,608.

NORTH AFRICA:

Rommel in Reverse

As Allied troops continued their drive in Tunisia, it became increasingly clear that Marshal Rommel's short-lived Kasserine Pass offensive had been a gamble. If he succeeded, he would follow it up. If he failed, he would waste no time in retiring. This was emphasized by the rapidity with which American and British forces had regained the ground lost in Rommel's first push.

Reports disclosed that some units of the British Eighth army had made contact with American troops in the Gafsa area of central Tunisia after circling the Mareth line from the south and advancing through the Chott Djerid marshes which had hitherto been regarded as impassable.

American forces pressing Rommel's retreat from the Kasserine pass were reported well beyond Sbeitla on the way to the Faid Pass, the key to German north-south communications.

ABSENTEEISM: Wage Docking Urged

"Hit them in the pocketbook. If you dock their wages you are hitting them where it hurts."

This was the prescription for curbing the problem of persistent absenteeism by war plant workers proposed by Secretary of Navy Frank Knox. Testifying before the house naval affairs committee, Knox advocated remedial legislations covering both draft-age and non-draft-age workers.

A large share of the absenteeism is caused by men safe from the draft, he told the committee which was studying measures to require periodic reports to local draft boards on absentees of military age. Best results in curbing absenteeism would be to deprive such workers of earnings for part of the time they were actually at work, he added.

DRAFT: Fathers Go Soon

Draft boards will begin inducting fathers into the armed forces in many areas of the United States about May 1, informed officials in Washington indicated. These officials added that they expected drafting of married men with children to be general throughout the country by early summer.

Acknowledging that some married men with children have already been inducted, selective service officials declared that most of these had acquired their dependents after December 8, 1941. Other fathers, it was said, may not be inducted without authorization from selective service headquarters. It was predicted, however, that such authorization would be forthcoming this spring.

PIPELINES: Relief for East

Blunt-spoken Harold L. Ickes, petroleum administrator, served notice that he had decided to build a 20-inch pipeline from Texas to the Middle West, despite the objection of

PETROLEUM BOSS ICKES

Midwest senators who had urged that any new pipeline construction should be instead, from the Middle West to the East Coast shortage area. This will be in addition to the recently completed 24-inch line.

Mr. Ickes assured the Middle West senators in testimony before a committee in Washington that he also hopes to complete a 20-inch pipeline from the Midwest to the East coast this year.

Meanwhile, he insisted, building the western end of the second pipeline first would speed the job and increase deliveries to the East coast of from 3,000,000 to 5,000,000 barrels during the most critical period of the shortage. This would provide the most effective method.

CHILD LABOR: 2,780,000 Employed

Reflecting the war's impact on the nation's labor supply, a report by the National Child Labor commission revealed that 2,780,000 youngsters of less than 18 years of age are employed either full or part time in industry and agriculture.

HIGHLIGHTS . . . in the week's news

LONDON: "Take a towel with you when you go visiting" was in effect, what Britons were told in a new set of rationing regulations. In announcing towel concessions for factory and medical workers, Hugh Dalton, president of the Board of Trade, said that in future "we must be prepared to take our towel with us if we go away to stay, or if asked to do so, to the hairdresser."

LOS ANGELES: Canned baby food is becoming more popular—particularly with adults, according to Sam M. White, secretary of the Southern California Retail Grocers' association. The reason, he says, is the present rationing system. The low ration point value of canned baby foods constitute their chief appeal. A purchaser can get a 4 or 5 1/2-ounce can for one point.

Hitler in Mental Decline? Close Observers Say Yes

Reliable Reports Indicate Fuehrer Subject to Uncontrolled Emotions; German Physician Believes He Will Have Mental 'Explosion.'

By BAUKHAGE
News Analyst and Commentator.

Where is Hitler? That question can't be answered with any certainty at this writing and nobody seems to care. For more than a month, the communications from the German High Command have not borne the Fuehrer's signature. The anniversaries of two of the great events in Nazi history have come and gone, the celebrations were held with very little display in comparison with other years and entirely without appearance of the No. 1 Nazi himself. Hitler has made no public appearance for months.

It is true that communications supposedly from the Fuehrer have been made public but always through a second party, notably the speech on the anniversary of the founding of the National Socialist party. The set excuse is that Hitler is with his troops in the Russian front. But at the rate that front is moving these days, it is doubtful if he is very near it. It is quite possible that he is elsewhere or even nowhere but the interesting thing is that this man, who has managed to turn the world upside down, does not seem at all essential to the great political and military machine he has built up. It may be functioning without him and this would seem to indicate that if he is not dead, but should suddenly die, it wouldn't make much difference.

Some time ago, a report received from underground sources was received in London. It said that "Hitler either has been given an ultimatum by his generals, who pointed out his military blunders, or he is suffering from one of his hysterical fits and is in ill health as a result of his Russian reverses."

Recent Developments
What about these fits? They are no fiction but well-authenticated events. Before several witnesses he has frequently burst into tears, and in other ways given vent to utterly uncontrolled emotions. But these fits are of less importance than certain other likewise well-substantiated but not widely known developments which have taken place within the last year or two.

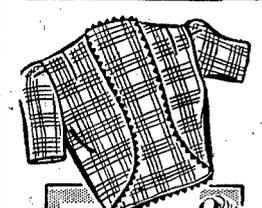

There are several stories which I heard from the lips of a man who has closely watched Hitler's career from its earliest beginning. The man is Fred Oechsner, a former colleague of mine. In fact, I was instrumental in having him sent to Berlin as correspondent for the Consolidated Press just about the time Hitler was beginning his political career.

Long before anybody else took Hitler seriously, Oechsner wrote to me: "This man is some day going to be the bull in Europe's china shop." Oechsner, who is now in Washington, told me the following story which he also repeats in his excellent book, "This Is the Enemy." As you know, Hitler was always a teetotaler. He never drank anything but some very weak beer especially brewed for his pale and he only took sips of this beverage.

Recently his habits changed. "Persons who visited him at his headquarters early in the winter told me," Oechsner says, "that he was becoming grave and irritable and that it was not uncommon for him on a cold night to drink three or four glasses of grog. He also took occasional drinks of a Bavarian liquor called Enzian which is not unlike gin."

Now Oechsner is an exceedingly reliable reporter and when he says the Fuehrer finished three grogs in an evening, I believe it—also I believe that a man unused to taking alcohol must have been higher than Berchtesgaden when he went to bed. Oechsner also said: "There is a German physician of international repute who believes that some day Hitler will have a brain disturbance of a serious nature. This physician has treated Hitler since 1921 and knows his physical condition as well as his personal life. It is his opinion that Hitler is an outstanding example of a half-trained, half-educated person with a phenomenal talent for absorbing and co-ordinating information and detail gleaned from other sources. This attention to detail and pattern, he says, is obvious in Hitler's drawings, in his speeches, his military campaigns. It is a phe-

One reason Russia is not so anxious to make peace with Finland is because 100,000 German soldiers would be released for duty elsewhere.

Twenty-two states have entered into co-operative arrangements with the Forest Service to develop a forest products marketing service for farmers.

Want a Jeep Fast? Use Glider

The air borne aviation engineers of the army air force give a demonstration of how they transport heavy pieces of mechanized equipment in the fastest possible time through the use of gliders and transport planes, at Westover Field, Mass. Here, with the nose of the glider hinged open, and a crew of four men raising the tail so that the nose will contact the ground, the jeep is driven into the fuselage for the flight.

Wounded Arabs Treated on Tunisian Front

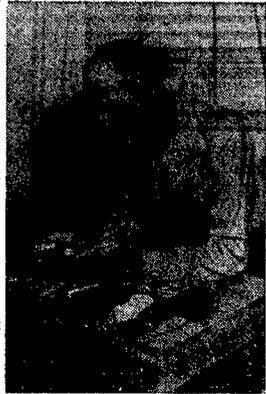

Member of an Allied medical corps administers first aid to fallen Arabs wounded by German guns during a successful raid on German-Italian stronghold of De Sened, Tunisia. Tanks and half-tracks predominated in the Allied attack.

Off to the Wars

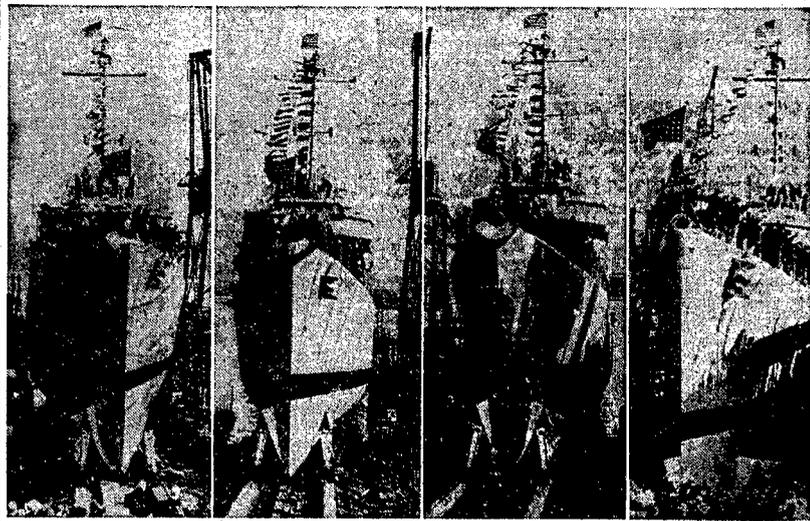

Stephen T. Early, secretary to President Roosevelt, is here shown bidding a fatherly farewell to his son, Stephen Jr., who has reported to the army for service. The elder Early served as an officer in the first World war.

Kits for Castaways

Earl Roman, fishing editor of a Florida newspaper, is shown with two of the fishing kits designed as part of the equipment of the rubber rafts carried on military and naval planes. The small kit, worn like a vest, is intended for small rafts. The large one in the can he holds is for larger rafts and lifeboats. Kits are for use to catch fish that would supply food for castaways. They were tested off the Florida keys.

Four Destroyers Join Navy in Mass Launching

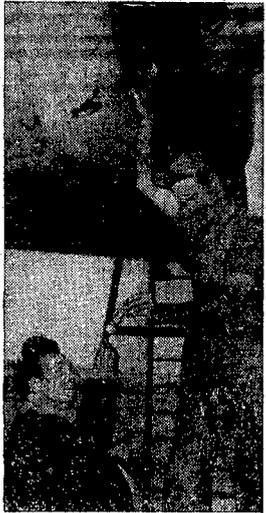

In a quadruple launching at Kearny, N. J., four speedy sea fighters go down the ways. They are, left to right, the Kidd, named in honor of Rear Adm. Isaac Kidd, killed in action at Pearl Harbor; the Turner, named for Capt. Daniel Turner, commended during battle of Lake Erie in 1813; the Thorn, named for Lieut. Jonathan Thorn, commended for his part in naval action at Tripoli on February 16, 1804; and the Bullard, named in honor of late Rear Adm. William H. G. Bullard, father of American radio.

Future WAACS, WAVES, SPARS Start Training

At New York City college's school of business, the first course in the country to train women for duty with WAACS, WAVES or SPARS has been opened. Part of the training is a "commando" obstacle course to harden the trainees. Here the girls (left) are using a springboard in jumping exercise with emphasis on landing roll to learn self-protection against injury in falling. Right: A neat twist of the wrist—that's all there is to it. Jewell Lubin and Judy Roth demonstrate the art of Judo during "commando" training in the girls' toughening course at the school.

Bennett, the plane's engineer, is talking to Staff Sergt. Frank J. Mickus, tail gunner, who hails from Chicago. They're on their Maltese airfield.

School Children Harvest Arizona Cotton

School boys and girls helped harvest the Arizona cotton war-crop this season. Here some of them discuss their work while seated on huge bales of cotton. Many turned their earnings into war stamps and bonds. Picture was taken at Phoenix, Ariz.

Man About Town:

President Roosevelt's pledge to Mme. Chiang Kai-shek (to rush full-scale aid to China) will be evident immediately after Gen. MacArthur confers with General Wavell. The cue for the finishing touches on the United Nations' offensive on Japan . . . Wendell Willkie is hob-nobbing with New Dealers in the hope that FDR may not run (which is unlikely) and that a runaway Democ-convention may nominate an anti-FDR, anti-New Deal candidate . . . The price of 4th Term support for Roosevelt (by the anti-New Deal Demos) will be the jilting of Henry A. Wallace as Vice President on the nat'l ticket . . . Dissident Southern Demos are boosting Jimmy Byrnes and Sen. Bankhead . . . The lads in the State Dep't, who have just been unmasked as the ones sending oil to Spain, are the same who kept sending scrap iron to Japan.

General C. R. Smith (of American Airlines) is on the verge of becoming head man of The Ferry Command . . . One of the newspapers is quietly checking the draft status of all known gamblers (big shots and small fry) since Washington classed them as non-essentials (something of an understatement) and ruled that all the 3As must be IAs . . . Don't be surprised if the WAACS are sent home from foreign duty. Gen. Eisenhower's biggest "problem" . . . Coal mining people hear that John Lewis will succeed in staging a 35-hour week by April 30.

Reporter Tom O'Connor, covering a speech by Capt. Eddie Rickenbacker at the Waldorf last week, wrote in PM: "Apparently attracted by the success of such word-coinage as globaloney, Rickenbacker contributed the word scummunicative to the thesaurus of Luce talk" . . . Look, mister reporter: A guy gets a little bored having his word-style called "cheap Broadwayese" in one place and in another place credited to heroes as contributions to the war effort . . . The last time scummunicative appeared in this column was at least two years ago.

Laugh of the Week in Washington: A Northern Senator hired a secretary . . . It is customary to engage one from the State that elected the incumbent . . . When anyone asked this doll where she hailed from, they were convulsed when she said: "An cums fum Mablehaid, Massachusetts, suh!"

P.S.: She has another job now, honeychile.

Harper's is bringing out a Victory edition of "Sabotage," the best-seller, at half-price, to reach the widest possible public . . . When a pal told the Stork Club owner he intended calling the joint "Sherman's Saloon," the reply was: "Nobody ever called me Mr. Billingsley until I opened a saloon" . . . Lieuts. Nat Benchley and John McLain are wearing the latest navy campaign ribbon, showing service in the South Atlantic area . . . Shades of the Revolution: Top songs with the Lorgnette Set at the St. Regis Malsonet Room are the Chetnik Song and the Soviet Cavalry anthem.

Private Papers Of a Cub Reporter:

"The British correspondents in the U. S.," wires H. Hutchinson, chairman of their committee, "regret that you should have given publicity to the draft-dodging slur implied by your comment in the column. I am sure you were not aware of the fact that nearly every British correspondent now here either came after the war began or has been home since and that all came here with authorization of appropriate military authorities. All gave pledges to return whenever called. I hope you will set the record straight for the benefit of readers and British newsmen here."

Secretary of Interior Harold Ickes' definition of a Liberal: "The word is hard to define; it represents an attitude, a state of mind, rather than a specific philosophy. Liberalism is an ideal which goes under various labels. Sometimes liberals call themselves Progressives, sometimes Democrats, sometimes Republicans, sometimes Populists. It does not matter. The label is nothing—the point of view is everything. But however we describe a liberal we generally recognize him by his deeds or words. A man's fundamental, long-range attitude towards life and the world fixes him permanently in the esteem and opinion of his fellow-men."

Bob Hope's Little Linda and her school-chum, Carol Thomas, daughter of film producer Bill Thomas, were being driven to school by Mrs. Hope, who still is tittering over the little girls' repartee. "My father," said Miss Hope, "went to the studio." "My father went to the studio, too," said Carol. "Yes," said La Hope, "but my daddy makes pictures!" "No," corrected Miss Thomas, "my daddy makes the pictures. Your daddy only works in them."

College News Brevities

Warren Noakes of the Wayne State Teachers college placed first in the men's class A division of public speaking in the state intercollegiate tournament at Lincoln the latter part of the week. Kathryn Schelly, of the Wayne college, placed second in the women's class A division of public speaking.

More than 40 girls attended the W.A.A. party in the recreation room of Student Union Thursday evening. The games, the invitations, and the initiation were all built around the theme of radio. Jeanette Dederman presided over the meeting. Shirlee Knapp, Westfield, Ia., Evangeline Clark, Washta, Ia., and Evelyn Thompson Kingsley, Ia., were initiated into the association. Helen Smith, Albion, was awarded a W. A. A. pin; and Lucille Moseley, Belden, was given a letter. Mrs. Esther DeWitz Carlson sponsored this large and active party.

Three organizations, the Y. W. C. A., the Y. M. C. A., and the Lutheran club, gave a joint program Wednesday evening, observing a student day of prayer. Frances Blazek sang the solo, "The Lord's Prayer." Lois Spease, Kathryn Schelly, Ruthann Lea, and John Kvan gave readings and invocations. Hymns were sung. An offering was taken for the benefit of the World

U.S.A. Makes Survey Of Acreages Planned For War Crop Planting

A survey of farms is being made by the United States Department of Agriculture War to determine the number of acres farmers are planning to plant to various war crops, Lee E. Sellon, chairman of the Wayne county board, announces.

The Mobilization Day meeting was held on Jan. 12 and was well attended. This meeting resulted in a better understanding of food production goals for the county. Now, that the time of planting is approaching community committees are busy planning with their neighbors for a balanced production.

In a summary prepared from a survey of early reports from 202 farms, comprising 27,013 acres of cropland, the following acreages are reported: soybeans—73 for 1942, 59 for 1943; dry beans—1 for 1942, 32 for 1943; potatoes—113 for 1942; 117 for 1943; grain sorghums—143 for 1942, 133 for 1943; corn—11,672 for 1942, 12,579 for 1943; barley—4,432 for 1942, 1,789 for 1943; wheat—63 in 1942, 43 in 1943.

Almost a 50% increase in sows to farrow is reported over last year and a 14% increase in chickens. The survey shows a 5% decrease in cattle on feed January 1.

Goals for Wayne county for the following war crops are: soybeans, 300 acres; white edible beans, 300 acres; grain sorghums including atlas sorgo for silage, 1400 acres; potatoes, 620 acres.

4-H Achievement Day Program Will Be Held Friday, March 19th

The Wayne county 4-H Achievement program will be held at the city auditorium Friday, March 19, at 8 p. m. A full program has been planned with 4-H talks, presentation of wards, entertainment and recreational games, the latter in charge of Ralph Copenhaver.

The committee in charge have been unable to arrange for a banquet, refreshments will be served with a cover charge of 20 cents per person. The committee would appreciate knowing if you plan to attend.

All 4-H members for 1942 and 1943, their parents, leaders and friends are invited to attend. Mrs. Basil Osburn is the county chairman in charge of arrangements. Other committee members are Mrs. William Evans, Mrs. Walt Simonin and Clarence Mann.

Mr. and Mrs. Foust Purchase Cleaning Plant from C. Wright

Mr. and Mrs. Ted Foust, proprietors of the Nebraska Cleaners for the past four years, have purchased the business and plant of the Wayne Cleaners from Clarence Wright. The change was effective last Monday.

Mr. and Mrs. Foust plan to combine the two plants in the location occupied by the Wayne Cleaners on North Main street.

They will operate under the name of Ted's Cleaners.

Mr. Wright will go to Garden City, Kans., where he will be associated with Reece E. McGee as business manager of his various interests. Mr. McGee will be remembered in Wayne as owner of the pipe line company that piped the natural gas into this city. Mr. Wright was at that time with the company as office manager.

Mrs. Wright and Bob will remain in Wayne until school is out.

Grade School Pupils Busy With Handwork For Junior Red Cross

From the smallest pupils of first grade, on up through junior high, students at the city schools are busy this week hunting for articles which are ordinarily considered scrap and with their ingenuity and handwork are turning them into useful and ornamental articles to brighten the days of convalescing soldiers. The projects are sponsored by the junior Red Cross and Miss Margaret Fristie, fifth grade teacher, is in charge of the program for the grades.

Each room has collected 50 cents or more for membership in the junior Red Cross. Any money over the 50 cents that has been collected is to be used to buy the inexpensive materials used to convert the materials brought by the children into articles of worth to the Red Cross hospitals.

First and second grade pupils are collecting coat hangers, making scrap books of cartoons, and snipping pieces of cloth to make pillows to be used perhaps someday as an arm rest to make a wounded soldier more comfortable.

Third grade youngsters are making ash trays and fourth graders are painting vases and sewing cotton blocks for a summer lap robe. Fifth grade boys are using the ends of orange crates and with the aid of manual training department have finished them smoothly and are making checker boards. Checkers are being cut from the ends of old broomsticks. The girls of that grade are sewing lap robes. Sixth graders are also making lap robes.

Eighth grade pupils intend to knit an afghan and will solicit their mothers and friends for yarn or the money with which to buy it.

Ten per cent of your income in War Bonds will help to build the planes and tanks that will insure defeat of Hitler and his Axis partners.

THE OLD JUDGE SAYS...

"A lot of storekeepers in town are worrying about being able to get help these days. Judge. Men are mighty scarce and getting more so all the time."

"I know. Even the big companies are having quite a job getting them. Yep, and they need 'em too. Take the beverage distilling companies for example...they need a lot of manpower. Though they're not making whiskey any more, they're doing a 24-hour-a-day job of turning out alcohol for gun powder and synthetic rubber for the government.

"Makes me think back to the days before repeal when a powerful number of people were making liquor, too...only they were a bunch of law-flouting criminals doing it behind closed doors. And the government wasn't collecting a billion dollar excise tax either. Ever stop to wonder where the government could get all its war alcohol today if it weren't for the beverage distillers?"

3 WAYS YOU CAN HELP...

A large percentage of the total production of Natural Gas now goes to war industries. These factories are working around the clock to speed the day of Victory. It is important that war industries get all the gas they need. That's why you should use your gas service carefully in your home. Follow these suggestions for the duration:

1. TAKE GOOD CARE OF YOUR GAS APPLIANCES
2. CONSERVE GAS IN EVERY WAY YOU CAN
3. AVOID WASTING GAS IN YOUR HOME

the means to a goal. You employ speed, accuracy, punctuality—every possible means to achieve a goal, but you are lacking in foresight and philosophy regarding that end you are endeavoring to achieve, said the speaker.

In contrast with this tendency, the Chinese at the other extreme, emphasize the end without giving enough attention to the means of achievement.

For instance, China has been fighting Japan for five and one-half years. That China will win ultimately, is the one thing that is paramount in their philosophy.

On the contrary, Japan has borrowed from all the world to achieve her ends. She is indebted to China for the language system used; from Britain she copies her smooth diplomacy; from America she has gained her genius in commerce; from Germany comes the pattern of her military program.

In studying China's place in the present struggle, Mr. Fenn listed five factors as being the most important. The first is space; France was unable to resist longer because of lack of space. China has four million square miles, Russia seven million, India two million. Such an extent of space is valuable to the Allies.

Mr. Fenn placed density of population as second of importance. The superiority of numbers weighs heavily in favor of China. Though they have lost 65 million men, killed, wounded or captured by the enemy, they are still able to go on.

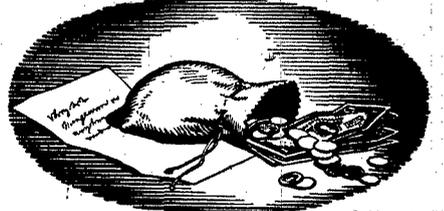

The third important factor, as listed by Mr. Fenn, is the ability of the Chinese to do hard physical labor. Fourth, is the international aid. China can give help to her allies in many ways. China is also receiving valuable aid from her friends. Both America and Britain have made large loans to China. These will be repaid with mullage, quinine and other articles.

The loyalty of Chinese is the fifth important item. The Chinese fighting men know the purpose for which they are struggling. Because of this they are better soldiers. China will survive.

In the opinion of Mr. Fenn, our victory in the present struggle will insure to at least the older generation, peace for their time. He thinks that Europe will go Communist at the end of the war and that America will be a first class country with a major voice in all world affairs.

The most important thing is for us to decide what sort of a world we want to build.

Seed Money

There's only one thing more foolish than killing the goose that lays the golden eggs. That's living up the money that has been put away to buy the seed for next year's crops.

Although G-E turbines and lamps and refrigerators don't grow from any seed you can buy at a seed store, yet any manufacturer—no matter what he makes—has a seed problem just the same. For next year's models, and improved designs, and new products—all these cost money. Money for research, and engineering, and new tools, and advertising to tell the public where a product can be obtained, and how much it will cost.

And the only place this money can come from is out of past earnings, or borrowing on the promise of earnings in the future. In other words—from seed money.

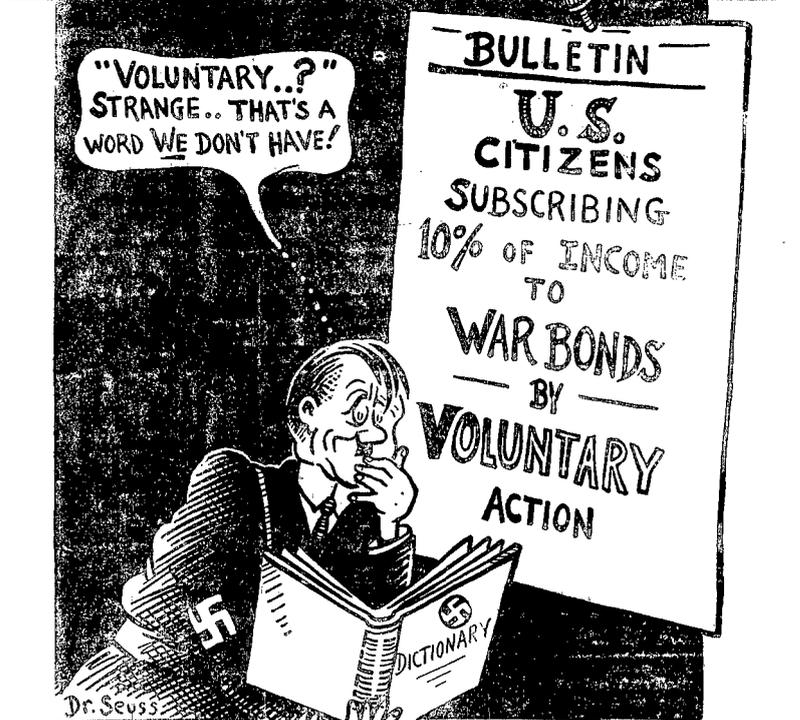

From the seed of research and engineering, planted in years past by General Electric, have come some pretty amazing crops: incandescent lamps five times as efficient as Edison's, vacuum tubes that made radiobroadcasting possible, refrigerators for the home and electric machines for industry to make important jobs easier.

Right now the crops we're growing are all of the "Victory Garden" kind—weapons that are serving with our armed forces on land and sea and in the air.

But we mustn't neglect the seed money for the future. We're looking forward to the continuance of the industrial system that will allow us to open up and cultivate other new and promising fields. So, tomorrow, look for important developments in television, fluorescent lighting, plastics, electronics. These will be familiar words in the post-war world. GENERAL ELECTRIC COMPANY, SCHENECTADY, N. Y.

DEEP WATERS By BEN AMES WILLIAMS W.N.U. FEATURES

THE STORY SO FAR: After a chance meeting and swift courtship, Will McPhail starts for Moose Bay, leaving Robin Dale to wonder how a career girl could be so completely swept off her feet.

CHAPTER III

Robin wanted, in a friendly tenderness tonight, to help heal those scars. Sitting on the edge of the narrow bunk, the letter in her hand, she remembered the lines of old pain around the Salmon Man's mouth.

She remembered his tone when he spoke of Will, understood the deep affection in him for the younger man; and she decided that nothing must interfere with that trip they meant to make together.

Next morning she was one of the late breakfasters, and the small dining saloon was almost deserted; but before she had finished, Mr. Jenkins in his checked suit appeared and sat down beside her.

"Saw you on the dock last night," he reminded her.

"Yes, I remember." He seemed nice enough by daylight, in this safe security, with the stewards about. He seemed even nicer when he said, surprisingly:

"I'm afraid you found me annoying. May I apologize? Some friends had been seeing me off. I was a little—exuberant. I hope I didn't bother you?"

She forgave him at once. "You weren't really annoying; just—friendly."

"Too friendly," he insisted. "Let's forget last night, start fresh." He asked again whether she knew anyone in Moose Bay, and why she happened to be going there; and when she said she was an artist, he assured her she would find plenty of things to paint.

She found a group on the afterdeck tossing soft little bags of sand at a perforated board and exclaiming delightedly over their scores.

The purser, a pleasant young man named Lewis, was with them; and Robin spoke to him about abandoning her plan to land at Moose Bay and continuing the cruise. He was pleased; and he introduced her to the others in the group here.

A sister and brother in their later teens, Bob and Helen Marston, were the youngest and the liveliest passengers aboard; and Helen urged Robin to join in their game; but Robin said: "Later, please? I've a letter to write first."

The letter was to Will. Mr. Lewis could mail it at Moose Bay so that Will would receive it after the White Queen had gone. She told him about meeting Angus.

"And he happened to mention that you and he were going off on this fine trip together, and I could tell how much he was looking forward to having you with him. I know if you saw me you wouldn't go."

They came in sight of Moose Bay in mid-afternoon. As the White Queen drew in toward the long dock, Robin saw through a fringe of trees a considerable town on the wooded shore, the houses all brightly painted, fresh and new. The dock itself was impressive by its length, and by the fact that three freighters lay there disgorging their cargoes.

She was on the upper deck of the White Queen, watching the rugged coast black with spruce, when Bob and Helen Marston came to the rail beside her. They were in bathing suits, slim and young.

"Bob and I are going swimming as soon as we dock, Miss Dale," Helen explained. "The purser says there's a landing stage we can swim from; says it will be right under the bow almost when we tie up. Don't you want to come?"

Robin swam well, and she was an expert diver. "That might be fun," she agreed. "Maybe I will."

"We're all ready," the boy said. "You better go, dress."

But Robin said she would wait till after the White Queen was tied up. "I want to see what the place looks like as we come closer," she explained.

She wanted, in fact, to keep out of sight till they had docked; for Will would certainly be at the dock to meet Angus, and Will must not see her.

The White Queen neared the dock, moving slow and slower. In spite of the fact that it was late Saturday afternoon, men seemed to be working everywhere.

Robin, on the boat deck, kept herself half-hidden for fear Will, waiting on the dock to meet his brother, might see her. The White Queen drew alongside, and Robin saw that they were slowly approaching a landing stage for small boats. That was where those children meant to have their swim. Beyond the landing stage, a man in a bathing-suit poised on the stringpiece of the wharf and dived—rather poorly.

A heaving line went unreeling through the air from the White Queen to the dock, was seized there and taken in, the hawser following. Robin suddenly wanted to say good-by to Angus. The gangplank would come aboard on the deck below where she stood; and she went in to descend to that deck. Mr. Jenkins came out of the smoking room as she passed the door; and he protested: "Thought you were getting off here?"

"No, I've decided to stay aboard for the whole cruise. It seems like fun."

He urged: "Say, you're making a mistake. You'd have a great time here. Stay over and let me show you the sights. You don't want to miss Moose Bay when you're so near."

"I'm afraid I do," she said, smiling a little. "I mean, I'm afraid I do want to miss it." She and Mr. Jenkins blocked the stairs; and here was Angus McPhail trying to pass. She spoke to him over Mr. Jenkins' shoulder.

"Goodby, Mr. McPhail. Thank you for telling me all about salmon. Have a fine trip!"

She would have offered him her hand; but before she could do so, he said goodby, simply, neither smiling nor rebuffing her, and descended the stairs to the deck below. Robin, Mr. Jenkins following her, moved out on the upper deck in time to see Angus McPhail step on the dock. She looked for Will to meet him, but another man who seemed to be a workman—Robin saw only his clothes, not his face—halted Angus; and Robin, not listening to Mr. Jenkins' continued urgencies at her elbow, saw Angus and this man who had greeted him go toward a decrepit automobile, get in, and drive away along the dock toward the shore half a mile away, toward the town beyond.

Robin had a moment's wonder why Will was not here. Maybe he was sick, or hurt, or something! Then she realized that Will was probably at work, too busy to come to meet the steamer. Mr. Jenkins was still urging her to change her mind. She said:

"Excuse me, I'm going to have a swim here, so I'll have to change."

She left him and went swiftly to her cabin. While she was dressing, one of the youngsters called outside her door:

"Ready, Miss Dale?" "In a minute."

The landing stage's right ahead of us. You can go along the dock and down to it that way. We'll go ahead. You come as soon as you're ready."

"Right!" Robin agreed. "Don't wait for me."

Her bathing suit was designed for swimming, reduced to its essentials; and since she was traveling with a minimum of luggage, she had no beach robe. She came out into the companionway and turned aft toward the gangplank and saw Mr. Jenkins standing there. He was talking with Mr. Lewis, but she suspected he was waiting to intercept her, so she turned back and went toward the bow, adjusting her bathing cap. She needn't go along the dock; she could just dive off the White Queen's rail. On the forward deck when she came out there, the fore hatch was open, the cargo derrick lifting some freight out of the hold, and the men stopped their work to look after her as she passed them. She had not realized there were so many men about till they all looked at her now. To get into the water as quickly as possible she climbed on the low bulwark for ward and took the air in a swar dive, arms wide, body beautifully arched, bright and slender in the sun. She met the water cleanly and went deep, thrilling to the cool sweet shock of it. She arched her back and glided toward the surface, letting her own buoyancy carry her up till her head emerged.

As she came to the surface she felt, rather than heard, a heavy splintering crash. She felt its impact through the water. Then ever with a bathing cap over her ears she heard sudden shouts, with excitement and terror in them. The people along the stringpiece of the dock above her, silhouetted against the sky, suddenly whirled and disappeared. They must have run to ward the other side of the dock. Something had happened. A great surge of water came through the forest of piles under the dock and lifted Robin and let her down again Bob and Helen Marston and two or three older swimmers of the White Queen were climbing out on the landing stage, running up to the dock level, disappearing. She swam swiftly toward the stage, swung her self up on it, followed them.

Men were packed along the opposite side of the dock, their backs to ward her, crowding, standing on tip toe, trying to see over the shoulders of men in front, looking down at the water. She touched one of them.

"What happened?" He told her, with only the briefest glance. "The crane fell over the side of the dock. Fellow in it. They're trying to get him out." He spoke almost with unctious. "But he's done for, all right."

Robin went back toward the White Queen, sick and shaken. The day was so sunny and fine and fair, the sky so blue and beautiful; yet someone had died. She dressed slowly, oppressed and miserable. She went to find Mr. Lewis.

"Did they get the man out?" she asked.

He said: "No. Not yet." The purser added: "He was Mr. McPhail's brother. Will McPhail."

When Angus McPhail stepped off the White Queen, he expected his brother Will to greet him. Will was not in sight; but Pat Donohoe was here. Pat was as ugly a man as you could meet in a nightmare, with red hair that stuck up in some places like sprouting grass; with a red face and a battered nose which suggested that it had met strange fists in its time and might again; with one ear half the size of the other; with a great scar on his upper lip—a horse had kicked him there—so that his mouth would not quite close. But he had a twinkling blue eye which made you forget the rest of his battered countenance; and he caught McPhail's hand and squeezed it to a pulp, and he took McPhail's heaviest bag and heaved it into an automobile which stood with the engine running, and he said:

"Get in yourself, sorr. Here we go."

"Where's Will?" "Waiting for you, be sure."

So Angus got in, and the car picked its way through scattered groups of men, and past piles of freight, and around switching engines, and then speeded up for the last half-mile run along the dock to the shore. There the rough new road stored them down; they bounced and grunted; and Angus thought Pat was driving faster than he needed to. But he did not complain. He wanted to see Will. Once he asked:

"Why didn't Will meet me? All right, is he?" "Sure, sorr, he's fine. Busy, most like."

"What's he doing now?" Pat chuckled. "Whatever they put him to, this thing and that. He'll make a hand, that lad."

Angus nodded, pleased and happy. He said: "I see they're unloading the rollers?" "Aye," Pat dolefully agreed. "That means the end of the job's in sight. I hate to see the rollers come. Another eighteen months and we'll be moving on somewhere else again." Pat would be engineer and navigator on this trip which Angus and Will meant to take; but he was a construction man by habit and by long love. "Here's the bunkhouse, sorr. Like as not we'll find him here."

But Will McPhail was not there. Angus, after one glance inside, said so; and Pat walked in and said in seeming surprise:

"Sure he is not, at that. I made sure he would be. We'll wait, sorr. He'll be coming in any minute now."

But if Will was not here, other men were; and one of them volunteered information. "McPhail? He was out on the pier half an hour ago, running the traveler."

Star Dust STAGE SCREEN RADIO

By VIRGINIA VALE Released by Western Newspaper Union.

THE public is cheated because Paramount doesn't always shoot Susan Hayward in technicolor; her red hair and reddish-brown eyes that almost match it are something to look at!

Visiting in New York when "Reep the Wild Wind" was being released nationally, Susan was interested in seeing old friends from Brooklyn, her home town, buying clothes, seeing the new plays, rather than being formally introduced as a successful young star.

She's remarkably pretty—without benefit of makeup, except lipstick. Clara Bow was the first Brooklyn redhead to make motion-picture history; Susan Hayward has the looks, talent and personality that should make her the second.

SUSAN HAYWARD

Michael Harvey, husky six-footer making his screen debut in "So Proudly We Hail" with Claudette Colbert, Paulette Goddard and Veronica Lake, is the third of three "youngsters" who grew up together in Atlanta to hit motion pictures.

The others are Evelyn Keyes and Dixie Dunbar. The girls beat Harvey to the screen; he stacked up a record in Broadway plays before Hollywood got him.

All of a sudden Turkey has become very important to motion-picture makers: three studios have announced that they'd do pictures with Turkish backgrounds. Columbia's is "Constantinople," Paramount's "Dateline—Istanbul," Republic's either "Istanbul" or "Ankara."

Marilyn Maxwell, Metro starlet, returned from a five-week Victory Caravan trip for work in "Salute to the Marines"—with this advice about how to rate A-1 when visiting the I-As. Be gay, wide awake, peppy and active; be sure your hair is combed, your make-up fresh, your stockings seams straight; be yourself—there's only one Hedy Lamarr! Don't wear slacks; be interested in the man, not his uniform; know how to talk; don't dish out a line—he probably knows yours better than you do.

Thirty-four-year-old Edward Dmytryk, director of "Hitler's Children," has had 20 years' experience in pictures. He started as an errand boy in Paramount's laboratory, working after school and vacations, was a projectionist when he entered college, and two years later went to Hollywood as a cutter. Three years ago he turned director.

Dick Keith, the "Bright Horizon" actor, was so well liked by the fans of another radio serial that letters piled in demanding that he marry the heroine. That was impossible, since he played a character so wealthy that, if the heroine married him, she'd have no troubles—and there'd be no more serial. The problem was solved by killing him off at the wedding ceremony.

Peggy Allenby, actress on Phillips H. Lord's "Counterspy," regrets the realism which Jay Hanna, the director, brings to his work. Arnold Moss playing a Nazi spy, had to slap Peggy, but at rehearsal the sound made by the sound effects man didn't satisfy Hanna. He and Moss went into a huddle, and when the program went on the air Moss really slapped Peggy, and hard!

Have you formed the habit of listening to "The Man Behind the Gun"? Now broadcast Sunday evenings over CBS, it brings us the war stories that are making American history, gathering them from all branches of the service; William N. Robson, who directs it, traveled some 10,000 miles and often was with the men under actual combat conditions to get background for the dramatizations.

ODDS AND ENDS—Johnny, the Call Boy, will be glorified in the "Stage Door Canteen" film as the only living trade mark. . . . Because of his outstanding performance in "The Hard Way" Dennis Morgan has been assigned by Jack L. Warner to the co-starring role opposite Ann Sheridan in "The Gay Nineties" . . . Horace Lathrop, of radio's "We Love and Learn," is playing nursemaid to five kinds of dogs—left with him when their owners went into the armed services. . . . An army machine gunner Red Skelton, star of the forthcoming "I Dood It," that in his outfit a dud is known as a shell, or bomb, that didn't dood it!

OUR LORD'S INTERCESSORY PRAYER

LESSON TEXT—John 17:1-8, 18-26. GOLDEN TEXT—"Holy Father, keep through thine own name those whom thou hast given me, that they may be one, as we are."—John 17:11.

There are some times and places so sacred that one is instinctively hushed into reverent devotion. When Christ prayed in holy intercession (as recorded in John 17) on the night before His suffering His disciples must have been lifted into the very presence of the Eternal One. It was a holy experience.

He prayed for Himself, but even more did He pray for His believing followers. To know that someone is praying for us is indeed an anchor in a time of storm, a strong help in the hour of conflict or of service for Christ.

But to know that the Master prayed for you and me—that is enough to send us, like the disciples of old, out to face an unbelieving world in His conquering name. He prayed for Himself—and He prayed for me!

I. He Prayed for Himself (vv. 1-3). He looked up and said: "Father," and then He was ready to pray. So close was He to God that there was just this simple recognition of their communion. In Christ are we not as close as He?

What did Jesus ask for Himself? At first thought it seems a little unusual that He asked

1. For Recognition of His Divine Glory (vv. 1-5).

Why would He who had just given the disciples an example of and an admonition to humility desire to have His glory manifested? Be sure it was not a matter of selfish pride. He had finished His work (for He counted redemption as complete throughout His prayer), and now the glory which He laid down when He came to earth (Phil. 2:6-8) was to be resumed.

He wants man to see Him now not only as the compassionate Son of man, but the glorious Son of God, able to save. It is right that the glory of Christ should be magnified and recognized by the whole creation. He is worthy!

2. For the Manifestation of His Grace (vv. 6-8).

The Father had given Christ the heart devotion of those who believed in Him. Note that their faith rested on the name of God (v. 6), and upon His Word which had come to them and to us through Christ.

He recognized their position and standing in Him and established it before God and man. He then prayed for them (read vv. 9-17) that they might be kept in an evil world as a testimony to the grace and power of God in the human heart.

This leads to His intercession for all believers.

II. He Prayed for All Believers (vv. 18-22).

Christians are not simply the avowed adherents to a particular form of belief, they are "sent" ones. As the Father sent Him into the world, "even so send I them into the world," said Christ.

Christ has gone to be with the Father, but He has left those who believe in Him as His witnesses, His representatives. For this they need holiness. He prayed:

1. For Their Consecration (vv. 18, 19).

For their sakes He consecrated Himself. Surely if He needed it, we do far more. It is not only His will for us, but His prayer. How wonderfully that prayer was answered we see as we look back over the intervening 19 centuries, from His immediate disciples on through the martyrs, the missionary pioneers and teachers of the gospel, yes and "livers" of the gospel too. He knew, He prayed, God answered. Are you in that blessed host of consecrated believers?

2. For Their Unity and Glory (vv. 20-26).

There is a refreshing simplicity about the Christian faith which is utterly different from all the complications which man has prepared and superimposed upon it. Essentially it is a matter of God having sent His Son into the world to be the Redeemer of men. He and the Father are one, He and His followers are one, and so we are all one. We who today believe are included (read vv. 20-23).

This is an inward unity of the Spirit, not an outward union of organizations. The answer to our difficulties is not the dissolution of denominations (although there do seem to be far too many subdivisions, too), but the uniting of all groups in a oneness of love and devotion to Christ, and a united emphasis on the gospel.

There is something more here. This unity puts Christ's followers into the place where His glory may be revealed in and upon them. It is His prayer that we should behold in our Saviour the glory which God had given Him because He loved Him before the foundation of the world.

HOUSEHOLD HINTS

An occasional application of oil will keep leather in chairs and suitcases from cracking.

It will help keep your shoes if you put them on shoe trees or stuff the toes with paper when they are not being worn. Always wipe them dry of moisture and dirt after exposure.

Grease can be removed from an iron by rubbing it with corn meal.

Here's a hint for the workshop: In filing a saw, first smoke the teeth with a lighted candle. This will make it easy to see the fresh filing and to hold the file at the right angle for the job.

Children's Shoes should be plenty large when bought—but not large enough to slip around and rub the feet. When they get too small, they should be passed on to some one else, if they are not worn out, for wearing too-small shoes when a child may cause serious foot trouble all through later life.

Rub over the inside of a cushion with hard soap before you fill it. Then the points of the feathers will not come through.

Every amateur ought to have a cold frame, if only to grow lettuce in. If seeds are sown the latter part of March there will be lettuce to eat in a few weeks, with radishes as a sort of side crop grown between the lettuce plants. When hot weather comes it will be found that lettuce grown in the cold frame will head nicely and be crisp and tender, while that grown in the open ground will mostly go to seed. This is the secret of growing good summer lettuce, and few people know it.

SNAPPY FACTS ABOUT RUBBER

Akron, Ohio had its beginning as the WORLD'S RUBBER MANUFACTURING CAPITAL in 1870 when its first rubber plant was started by Dr. B. F. Goodrich.

The switching of Dakar, French West Africa, to the side of the United States meant the establishment for the Allies of an important port for the shipment of crude rubber, among other important war essentials.

Acetylene, the chemist's answer to the war time shortage of gasoline, is serving to step up the collection of rubber in the malaria-infested jungles of Brazil. Here is a case of a synthetic product being used to stimulate the gathering of a natural product that is rapidly being replaced by synthetics in the United States.

Ordinary tires are now cured in molds at factories in 40 to 50 minutes. Before organic accelerators were developed by B. F. Goodrich it took about five hours to vulcanize a tire.

Make Slip Covers for That Unusual Chair

THIS cover was a twofold conservation measure in the most literal sense. Its purpose was not to cover shabby upholstery but to protect handsome damask from everyday wear and tear in a household where there were children. The substantial striped cotton material chosen harmonizes perfectly with the rather elegant lines of the chair frame.

If you have an especially difficult chair to cover, you will save time by fitting a muslin pattern first. Then you can snip until it fits perfectly around arms and other supports and, if you make a mistake in the pattern just stitch a patch over it and start over again. Before removing the pattern from the chair, plan the openings so that they will lap neatly and be sure they are long enough. In the finished cover either bindings or facings may be used for irregular edges.

Timely Samplers to Beautify Your Home

TWO samplers — eloquent in thought, simple in execution — combine cross stitch with outline. Shield and bell are the dominant figures on one; on the other, the flag and eagle. Each is 8 by 10 in size, and both come on one transfer Z9477.

This pattern also brings outlines for the distinctive spear type hangers—these are cut from wood and painted. A cord of red or blue adds the final touch. Grand for gifts or your own use. The price of the transfer is 15 cents. Send your order to:

Contour Farm Methods Give Best Results

Webster Finds Interesting Soil Conservation Facts

Jason S. Webster, the new farm planning technician connected with the Wayne County Soil Conservation district, has been conducting a survey of the soil conservation work hereabouts during the past few weeks. He has been contacting farmers in all parts of the county and found a widespread interest in the work of the district. Those who have already followed the recommendations of the soil conservation specialists feel that they have been greatly benefited. A number of others are planning to take advantage of the assistance that the office can give them during the coming season.

As soon as the weather is settled, Mr. Webster and Frank Lansing, also connected with the soil district office, will start laying contour lines and assist farmers in other ways to apply the various soil and moisture saving practices.

Practically every farmer who had been following the soil and moisture conservation practices recommended by the Soil Conservation District was well satisfied with the results. The results reported consisted of increased yields, reduced soil and moisture loss, saving of tractor fuel and wear on machinery, and increased income.

The main soil and moisture conservation practices that had been applied to these farms were contour farming, terracing, seeding waterways and gullies to grass, retiring steep irregular slopes and point-rows to hay and pasture, contour strip cropping, improved rotations, sub-surface tillage and better use of each type of soil.

One farmer near Carroll reported that last summer he planted corn in one field on the contour and the rest of the fields in the usual up-and-down hill manner. The contoured field averaged about 60 bushels per acre and the rest of the farm averaged a little over 30 bushels per acre. He gave credit of the increased yield to contoured field holding the water of a few rains at the vital periods last summer when the water ran off the other fields.

Many interesting brome grass stories were told, such as Mrs. Minnie Marotz's farm near Hoskins producing $70 worth of brome grass seed per acre. Also of Lyle Marotz's brome grass pasture producing over $60 worth of beef pr acre. Roy Day, northwest of Wayne, told of his experience with brome grass—"The year after I had seeded brome in a 3/4 acre hog lot, I pastured 13 sows and litters on it in the spring until the last of May. The grass was then rested a few weeks and 400 pounds of seed was harvested, and then followed by heavy pasturing the rest of the summer and fall."

Several mentioned how their contoured fields held the rain in February, which was nearly a total loss on fields not contoured, on account of the frozen ground. As one farmer described it, "The day after the rain my contoured slope looked like a large sheet of ice with the corn ridges showing through. To my surprise, when I broke some of the ice in the furrows, there was no water or ice under it. The water seemed to have seeped in to frost cracks or thawed the surface enough to soak in. That contoured field of corn last summer should be in shape for a good oat crop this summer."

Contour farming on long slopes without some extra protective measure such as grass buffer strips, strip cropping, or terracing has not been able to prevent all erosion damage of heavy rains. After having a few years experience with farming on the contour, several farmers are now asking the District for assistance in establishing some terraces to make contouring more effective and to develop a more efficient water disposal system on their farms. Some farmers plan to construct terraces this year with a plow, while others plan to use a road grader.

Ellis Mohr, near Pender, plans to construct pasture ridges or small terraces with a plow before seeding his pasture. Laurence Carlson, south of Wakefield has previously used this practice with good results.

Bernard Spittgerber, one of the Soil Conservation District Supervisors, living southeast of Winside, plans to construct contour pasture grooves in an old pasture with chisel blades on a lister. These grooves are expected to greatly reduce the run-off on his pasture.

Most of the farmers that were contacted have bladed or plowed in their gullies and water ways and seeded them to brome grass. This is one of the first practices that is recommended for farmers to follow when the district is assisting them in developing a soil and moisture conservation plan on their farms. These graded waterways provide a place to empty excess water from contoured and terraced fields where it can leave the farm without causing erosion damage.

ARMY-NAVY EXAMS TO BE HELD APRIL 2

The army will assign each candidate to the curriculum for which his aptitudes indicate him best suited.

Those students who prefer the navy program should secure from Mr. Baehr, principal, and fill out the "Admission and Identification Form for Navy College Training Program Test (V-12)." Those who prefer the army program should secure and fill out the "Admission and Identification Form for the Army College Training Program Test (A-12)." Those who have no preference may use either card, noting that they have no preference. In either case, the card properly filled out should be presented by the candidate to the supervisor at the time of the test, 9 a. m. on April 2, 1943.

All male students (subject to the limitations noted in the second paragraph) should be encouraged to take this test. Those not meeting qualifications for either army or navy college training should complete the army admission form, but the "signature of school official" should not be affixed in such cases.

All qualifications previously announced for acceptance into the navy college training program (V-12) continue to apply. For the Army all male applicants in the following groups are eligible to take the test as Army candidates: (a) High school and preparatory school graduates who will have attained their 17th but have not reached their 22nd birthdays by July 1, 1943, regardless of whether they are not attending college; (b) High school and preparatory school seniors who will be graduated by July 1, 1943, provided they will have attained their 17th, but have not reached their 22nd birthdays by that date; (c) Students who will have attained their 17th but have not reached their 22nd birthdays by July 1, 1943, who do not hold certificates of graduation from a secondary school but who are now continuing their education in an accredited college or university.

To be eligible for Officer Candidate School or the Army Specialized Training Program, a man must be morally and physically qualified, and must evidence potential officer qualifications, including appearance and scholarship records.

The qualifying test will be given on April 2, 1943, at all high schools and colleges in the United States at which there are applicants.
