There are other factors in the election of the American people which have been opposed to annexation and are still. But it will have to come eventually. Geography and political considerations. Yet it is a large majority wish for it. The United States has shown that they do not get any farther and they get a large practical experience in world government.

The republican state convention will this fall start the old time battle again. Some of the old time issues will be brought forward. The party knows what it has had to do and what it has done. It has shown that it is capable of doing more than it has done in the past. It has shown that it is capable of doing more than it has done in the past.

MRS. FORRESTER

CHAPTER XI

There was a knock on the door. Mrs. Forrester opened it and saw a young man standing there. He was dressed in a suit and tie, and he looked nervous. "Come in," she called.

"I'm sorry to bother you, Mrs. Forrester, but I have a letter for you from Mr. Jones. It's very important." The young man handed her the letter. Mrs. Forrester opened it and read it. Her face turned pale.

CHAPTER XII

Mrs. Forrester was sitting at the table, looking thoughtful. The letter from Mr. Jones had troubled her. She was trying to figure out what to do next.

"I don't know what to do," she said to herself. "Mr. Jones's letter is so confusing. I need to talk to someone about this." She looked at her watch. It was late in the afternoon.

CHAPTER XIII

Mrs. Forrester had decided to go to the office. She needed to see Mr. Jones and talk to him about the letter. She was feeling nervous about the whole thing.

"I'll go now," she said. "I need to see Mr. Jones." She picked up her hat and coat and went to the door. She looked back at the letter in her hand.

CHAPTER XIV

Mrs. Forrester was sitting at the table, looking thoughtful. She was trying to figure out what to do next. The letter from Mr. Jones was still on her mind.

"I don't know what to do," she said to herself. "I need to talk to someone about this." She looked at her watch. It was late in the afternoon.

After the party, and for the first time since the evening, she felt lonely and desolate. She had been so busy with the party, and now she was alone. She looked at the clock. It was late in the evening.

"I don't know what to do," she said to herself. "I need to talk to someone about this." She looked at her watch. It was late in the afternoon.

"I'll go now," she said. "I need to see Mr. Jones." She picked up her hat and coat and went to the door. She looked back at the letter in her hand.

CHAPTER XV

Mrs. Forrester was sitting at the table, looking thoughtful. She was trying to figure out what to do next. The letter from Mr. Jones was still on her mind.

"I don't know what to do," she said to herself. "I need to talk to someone about this." She looked at her watch. It was late in the afternoon.

READY SALE OF AMERICAN WARES IN EUROPE.

The Old World's appetite for the goods of the United States is growing. American goods are being sold in every part of the world. This is a great success for our country.

"I don't know what to do," she said to herself. "I need to talk to someone about this." She looked at her watch. It was late in the afternoon.

"I'll go now," she said. "I need to see Mr. Jones." She picked up her hat and coat and went to the door. She looked back at the letter in her hand.

CHAPTER XVI

Mrs. Forrester was sitting at the table, looking thoughtful. She was trying to figure out what to do next. The letter from Mr. Jones was still on her mind.

"I don't know what to do," she said to herself. "I need to talk to someone about this." She looked at her watch. It was late in the afternoon.

of the kind as ending the conflict.

The President's course has been a success. He has shown that he is a strong leader. He has stood up for the people of this country. He has done what he should do.

MRS. PINKHAM TALKS ABOUT "CHANGE OF LIFE"

Women are often the victims of this wonderful revolution in the economy of their little blood—Mrs. Watson. This How She Was Helped.

Read this letter from Mrs. Della Watson, 40 West 4th St., Cincinnati, Ohio. Dear Mrs. Pinkham, I have been using your medicine for some time during the change of life, and it has been a blessing to me. I can cheerfully recommend your medicine to all women, and I know it will give permanent relief. It is worth the price to relieve my sufferings.
