WAYNE REPUBLICAN

CORNERSHOP — E. BAKER & T. THOMAS

Kalamazoo, Mich., Oct. 10, 1890.

College Notes

Prof. Pitt's chapel is an elegant and practical and no student fails to visit it often.

Miss Gwendolyn, a former student at the University, has been engaged to teach piano and Modern dancing.

After three days' hard practice he now looks like a girl from the school of the advertising case of 1901.

Mr. Knott of Oregon, a man of great experience, has Friday morning his first very welcome speech at the meeting.

Miss Gertrude Knott, graduate of the college, has just returned from a trip to Europe. She is a daughter of Mr. Knott, the experimentalist of the dancing class, and is now lecturing on other subjects, her lecture being "How to Get Success in Teaching the English Language."

The two lectures will be given at the Auditorium on Saturday evening.

The grand opening of the new building of the University, which is to be used for the education of men, was to have been on Oct. 10, but the date has been postponed.

One half of the money is to be raised by the students, and the other half by the faculty.

Mr. Knott, who is the author of "Practical Education," has been invited to speak at the opening.

The Wayne Polytechnic and the Kalamazoo Normal schools have also been opened.

No one seems to know exactly what the new building is to be used for.

It is to be a dormitory, a
