W. L. Robinson, of Carroll, was in Wayne Saturday doing business between showers. He reports a good business in insurance and loans and is a hustler after business—a fellow has to hustle to catch any business in dry weather these days.

Last year at this time it was so dry and hot that crops were dispaired of. This year it is so wet and backward weather crops are threatened with some damage everywhere and ruined in some places. Up here in Wayne county we can stand it a long time yet, but we would feel grateful for a few weeks fairly dry weather.

D. C. Carroll and his mother from Dixon passed through Wayne Saturday morning on their way to Columbus where Mrs. Carroll will remain in the Sletter's Home. Her health is badly broken. John Gillen drove over with them and returned in the afternoon when it was raining properly. If there is anything John likes better than rain it is rain water.

Notes From Our Neighboring Towns

John Connelly and wife went to Wayne on Wednesday morning and from there they went down on the Elkhorn to fish. Tom Cook, of Wayne was in town over Sunday.—Wakefield Republican.

Edward Lundberg, of Wayne, was in Pierce Tuesday on business. Mr. Lundberg is one of the enthusiastic and hustling young republican workers of Wayne county and has a promising future before him. He is a student of the law department of the State University.—Pierce Call.

A little daughter, aged ten years, of Mr. and Mrs. G. H. Albers, of Wayne county, while playing in the haymow last Sunday fell through a hole and alighted on the edge of the manger beneath. She sustained painful bruises and contusions, which Dr. Riley was summoned to alleviate on Monday. Miss Edith Snodgrass returned home to Wayne yesterday. Maesters Bruce and Alban Emley accompanied her for a visit. Miss Blanche Schutte left for Wayne Wednesday to attend the Normal college. She will teach the coming year in Wayne county.—Wausa Chronicle.

Miss Jennie Waddell returned Monday to her home at Hoskins after a couple of weeks visit with friends in the city. She was accompanied as far as Wayne by Miss Lillian Jacobsen. We understand that we were misinformed last week in the report that A. C. Grace had accepted a position with the hardware firm of Satt & Hanson. Mr. Grace was holding down the position only temporarily and will be succeeded shortly by a young man from the southern part of the state. Mr. Grace has instead accepted a position as manager of the Blenkison Bros. lumber and hardware business at Shoes, and will remove with his family and household goods to that place in a few days.—Wausa Gazette.

JUDGE KOHLSAAT'S DECISION:

Briefly stated, the defendants are neither descendants of nor successors to Jones Chickering, the source of complainant's rights. They are at best remote relatives. So far as concerns Chickering & Sons, they are strangers. Can there be any doubt in the mind of a court but that defendants deliberately and for the purpose of appropriating wrongfully the trade name and good will of complainant, and not with the intention of using their own name in a proper way, assumed and heralded to the public a name which, when used in connection with the piano business, had no other purpose than to wrongfully bring to themselves, and deprive complainant of its property in, the good will and trade of the public which complainant and its predecessors had been more than 80 years in accumulating? There is no doubt in my mind but that such is the case. It is true that defendants have conducted themselves shrewdly and with an attempt to keep within the limits of the law; but courts will strip off such covering when evidently used as a veil for the concealment of fraudulent acts toward the public or toward an individual. The defendants, Chickering Brothers, are engaged in a dishonest use of their own name, such a use the law will restrain.

From the New York Music Trades of June 28, 1902. The proof, therefore, that Messrs Chickering & Sons right were being infringed upon by Chickering Bros. must have been overwhelming to have induced a man of the conservatism and standing of Judge Kohlsaat to render the decision which he has. Virtual v. who decision puts Chickering Bros. and all their agents out of business. It closes Chickering Bros. factory and deprives every one of their agency of the right to sell a Chickering Bros piano whatever. It is not merely the unscrupulous dealer who has been trying to sell a Chickering Bros. piano on the specious and lying plea that "it is the only piano made by a Chickering" who is cut short in his work by this decision; it is every dealer who is today endeavoring by fraud and misrepresentation, by trading on the reputation of some honorable and long established concern, to cheat the public into paying a large price for a cheap piano.

For lowest prices on the genuine Chickering write Johnson's Furniture Store, Norfolk Nebraska.

The democratic party will advertise for an issue if one does not turn up in a short time. The situation is getting a little desperate.

Deitrich offered his services to state republican central committee but the latter declined to accept them. That is how Deitrich stands with his party in Nebraska.

Will Robinson make his campaign on national issues? If so, someone please tell us his subject. The democratic party will also be pleased to get a tip, as the whole gang down at headquarters are desperately short on issues. Here is a chance for Robinson to get away up to the top of democratic fame if he will discover a national issue.

McCarthy will be there when the time arrives to test before the world to a court of the intelligence of the American people, whether, "we, the people" are a sovereign power, or "we, the people," are vassals only, to corporate power. Teddy, our president, has forced the issue, we support our president by electing a congressman to support him and represent us. Will our hearts be next Teddy? Yes! McCarthy will be there.

Brother Perkins of the Newcastle Times is a receptive candidate for the nomination from the Dixon county republican convention should they see fit to call upon him to serve the county in the capacity of county attorney. Mr. Perkins is a quaint humorist as well as an able attorney and will tickle the voters on his canvass quite as much as would the original Ed Perkins have done had Eli turned to politics. Here is luck to you Brother D. W. A.

It is a disgrace to the one who would drag religion into politics and attempt to create a sentiment that Roosevelt is anti-catholic or treating the Catholics unfair in any way by his firm policy in regard to the Friar land question in the Philippines. If it is done as an insinuating expedient by those who are against the administration and the republican party, it will prove a boomerang that will cut both ways when it come back to the guilty projector. The leading catholics of the United States indorse Roosevelt in this matter.

We want Mickey and Thompson, McCarthy and Robinson to accept an invitation to be present at our street fair in September and address us on subjects more or less political. We are going to have one of the biggest times in the history of the town and this will be a good time to meet an unusually large number of Wayne county people and her guests from other towns. It can be a joint debate as it were, the respective sides will be accorded full scope to yell for their representatives, and the presence of the above named honored gentlemen will be a gratification to our city.

The Plainview Republican says some people are anxious to know if McCarthy is an Irishman or a Scotchman. Mac is an American boy. He was born in Wisconsin and never used the blarney stone nor blew into a bag pipe. He has an abundance of back bone and has nerve to give away. He has never been coaxed, threatened or bridled into doing wrong. He has always been on the side of the plain people for he is a plain fellow himself. McCarthy is a good example of hard working, energetic American citizen that is always found at his post of duty. Such men make America famous.

The corner on corn was released by the Gates crowd July 16 and the price was declined nearly 25 cents from the unnatural and unjustified price of 90 cents which was forced to squeeze the "shorts." Those throughout the country who put money into corn just before the drop were caught hard and are the losers who pay the two and one-half million dollar rake-off the corn gamblers pocketed. It was a deal on corn available for delivery and up to a certain grade. The Gates crowd did not care to repeat Young Phillips' error in trying to carry their deal on into September corn and take chances against the bumper crop we will surely produce. We can't corner sunshine and rain.

In its write-up of the fusion congressional convention at Columbus Tuesday the World-Herald says "Robinson had no opposition, both conventions practically conceding that he was the strongest man to make the race at this time." Thus the World-Herald lightly passes over the fact that Robinson did have opposition in the person of R. A. Tawney, of this place, whom the populist convention nominated as their candidate for congress, but who withdrew on the third ballot because the democrats were insistent. But anyone who has closely followed the World-Herald during the life of fusion in this state will see that it has at all times been ready to assist and uphold the democratic party at the expense of the populists.—Pierce Call.

Chairman Griggs of the national democratic party has postponed the meeting of the congressional committee that was to meet July 25th, while they hunt up "where they stand," or something "turns up" that they can use as an issue. They are so at variance among themselves that they do not know where they are at and the longer they wait the worse matters become. Free silver, imperialism and now trusts the least of "Coin" Harvey's trio of democratic bugaboos, has slipped away from them or been settled by the trend of national affairs. Senator Dubois, a prominent democratic leader, "lets the cat out of the bag" when he said that "Roosevelt had jumped the claim." It is certain that while the democrats have done nothing but talk anti-trust or Teddy has gotten after 'em in earnest and the democrats are hard up for an issue just now.

The freight handlers and teamsters strikes in Chicago are over, the men—labor unions lost both. The railroads won every point. The lessons of this strike out to be applied. Are we as a people to be subjected to recurrences of these strikes forever? Will no way be found to settle them? The strikers demanded only a trifle, one-fourth to one-half cent an hour. It would not make them much better off, and the loss of several weeks' time by reason of the strike would not recompense them financially if they won the strike and received the advance. Recognition of the unions was the point at issue really and that is the point at issue in every place when a strike is on and to break the unions is the course of the various corporations standing against the demands of these men. It has come, or is coming soon, to the crucial test of strength between labor and capital and the rights of both can not be protected when their contending interests are for supremacy and not for mutual welfare. In the Chicago strikes the railroads lost little comparatively, they will handle in the aggregate nearly as much freight as if there had been no suspension by reason of the strike, the congestion of freight will pass over their lines in a greater volume until they are caught up again with their work. They are not great losers. It is the people of the country who suffer when a thing like this occurs, the producers of perishable products, the consumers of raw materials in manufacturing and the thousands forced into idleness and loss by something over which they had no control. It is no more right that the labor unions of the country should dictate to the capital of the country as to what wage it should be paid than it is for the capital interest to use its power to crush labor. They can pull together in harmony and each earn a profit—each is of no use without the other. To appoint a board of arbitration in a state like Illinois has, without power to do more than offer its services and to be told by the one side or the other: "there is nothing to arbitrate," is to make the arbitration board a farce. As a fixed principle in the economies of industry, capital has no right to be idle debarring anyone of its use by reason of boarded wealth or idle property, nor has labor a right to strike and refuse to make capital invested, safe and productive, as well as earn for itself the percentage of profit due to continuous employment. Labor unions as fraternities are all right, as monopolies of labor they are wrong. What we need in the United States, when all men are guaranteed "equal rights," is a safeguard for the general public against those who claim the "right" to do anything and everything under the general term "equal rights" by setting up the defense that anyone else has an equal right to do so if he wishes; and then we presume too much upon what are our rights under our constitution framed in good faith and a century in advance of the present conditions. We need the constitutional "equal rights" defined to date by a judicial congress which shall give a number of the pending questions grown to immense proportions and exceeding constitutional given "equal rights." Congress should define when labor may and should be employed and guarantee the protection of the government to capital when so used, it should also define the rights of labor to assert its rights but not to strike and the one or the other, labor or capital, refusing to refer to a court of arbitration the dispute, to be denied the protection guaranteed by the constitution which gives it both its rights and its protection. The arrogance of capital in refusing to arbitrate and the loss to a thousand industries and to labor itself on account of strikes would thus be avoided. We are a people of ample resources to create a remedy for this usurpation of perverted constitutional rights.

A Medal Due Burlington Cunningham.

The Indianapolis Journal of May 14 gives a long article from which we quote a short extract concerning our fellow citizen, B. Cunningham. At time of the above date, the unveiling of the Indiana Soldiers Monument with ceremonies grand and impressive it was hoped to have Mr. Cunningham present to assist in the ceremonies and bear the colors. He was a member of the famous "Nineteenth" who fought with undying glory at Gettysburg July 1, 1863 and left there more of their comrades than survived the awful rain of lead and iron. The Nineteenth Indians, as part of the First Brigade (better known as the "Iron Brigade," First Division, First Corps, was the advance picket on the night of June 30 at Marsh Creek four miles from Gettysburg, in a heavy rain they made a hard march and arrived at Gettysburg at 11 a. m. July 1, getting into action at once, on the right where they did heavy fighting. In the afternoon lines were reformed and they were placed on the extreme left at the edge of McPherson's grove which was the pivotal point in the lines and which the "Iron Brigade" was ordered to "hold at all hazards." At 3 o'clock the rebel line moved forward in perfect line. The Journal says:

A DAY OF SLAUGHTER.

Here was shown the sort of mettle of which the members of the Nineteenth Indiana were made. After the days of hard marching, the night on picket, the forenoon's battle, the hours spent in watching a tornado of shot and shell being prepared for them, knowing that they were really outnumbered, without support of any kind on their left, they were told to stand. They held their fire until in close range; then for one hour not a rebel got across Willoughby until ordered back. They were getting a heavy fire on the flank, and many were to be annihilated or captured. They fell back, fighting all the way. Loading and deliberately firing, each soldier at his man, they fell back to where some other troops had made a barricade of a rail fence. They fought there until there was not a rebel flag flying in front of them. From there they were ordered to Cemetery Hill, Burlington Cunningham, of Company K, was color bearer, made such because he rescued the flag in a charge at Antietam. In the morning just before the charge on Archer's brigade, a staff officer rode by and said: "Do not unfurl the flag, it is not yet time to do so." The battle line was forming and he saw the flag in the hands of Cunningham. "Abey, pull the shuck," and swung the flag to the breeze. In the first volley a shower of bullets fell about the colors and Cunningham fell, shot in the side, and lay unconscious for hours where he fell. Some one said, "Abe (A. J. Buckles), drop your gun and take the flag," the line began pushing forward and capturing Archer's line. The flag passed Willoughby run some distance in this charge. Buckles kept some distance ahead of the line waving the flag. Lieutenant Colonel Dudley, in words quite emphatic, said, "Come back with that flag!" The regiment was ordered back across the run. There they stood until the afternoon afternoon charge. In the meantime Cunningham had recovered so much that he took the flag again. He was supposed to have been killed. When the charge of the rebels was made in the afternoon, at the command "Attention!" Cunningham stood up, but was stricken down by a bullet in the right leg, and lay there until three lines of rebels passed over him. About this time Buckles was shot through the shoulder and disabled. Patterson McKinney was also wounded while carrying the flag. When the regiment was ordered to fall back, some one said to Captain W. W. Macy: "The flag is down." He said: "Go and get it." The reply, with an oath was: "I won't do it." Captain Macy then ran back and pulled a man off of it and caught up with the regiment. He was being assisted by Second Lieutenant Crockett East, of Company K, in putting it in a shuck, when Lieutenant East was shot dead, bearing the flag to the earth. Captain Macy, carrying the flag from the field when Sergeant Macy and Asa Blanchard came up and demanded it. Macy said that Blanchard would not rashly, "No, there have been enough men shot with it now." Blanchard then appealed to the colonel who said to Macy: "Let him have it." Three men died under those colors that day. B. Cunningham twice wounded could carry the flag no farther. "Abe" Buckles, now a judge of the supreme court at Fairfield, Cal., wears a medal of honor awarded him by Congress for valiant services that day. We would be pleased to see on the breast of the other survivor of the two remaining color bearers of the "Iron Brigade," a medal that would be a recognition of the services that helped make one of the greatest days in American history, a victory for the stars and stripes.

J. A. Kelley relates an experience similar to that which has happened in almost every neighborhood in the United States and has been told and re-told by thousands of others. He says: "Last summer I had an attack of dysentery and purchased a bottle of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy, which I used according to directions and with entirely satisfactory results. The trouble was controlled much quicker than former attacks when I used other remedies." Mr. Kelley is a well known citizen of Henderson, North Carolina. For sale at Raymond's Pharmacy.

Lyons' First Saloon.
Lyons, for the first time in the history of the town, has a saloon, so the Lyons Mirror says, one having been started July 11. That paper says: "The claim of the saloon men is that there will be less liquor drunk here with a saloon than without one and that the demoralizing effect will be less on the young boys who cannot enter a saloon, but who could prowl around the corn cribs etc., and drink with older persons. We do not believe this at all, but of course that is only our individual opinion. We are opposed to a saloon in any manner whatsoever, but now we have one, we sincerely hope that the assertions of the saloon men will prove true and that it will be an improvement over the bootlegging system. Time will tell.

LONG USED BY THE NATIVES OF LOWER CALIFORNIA

Guaranteed to Cure Sour Stomach and Bowels or Money Refunded.—See Bros' Cascarine. Made from the bark of a plant that grows in southern California and on the South Pacific coast. The bark was held in such high esteem by the natives that they named and described it as "sacred bark" and was used by them in the cure of chronic constipation, liver, stomach and bowel troubles. Investigated in 1811 by the German botanist, Frederick Pursh, introduced as a medicine in 1877 by Dr. Bundy, of Calusa, California, and was made the object of special investigation by Doctors Pease and Hanson in the United States; in France by Doctors Landowski and Durjard Baumetz at the Cochon hospital; quoted by Virchow and Hirsch in 1886 and the Persian Medical Journals in 1884.

Cascarine is a mild, tasteless and pleasant laxative; does not stick to the teeth and will not interfere with the most delicate stomach. Its action is mild, invigorating and does not gripe. It cures the most obstinate and stubborn cases. If you feel indispensed, tired, languid, if your head is dizzy, if you have a pain in your back, a rumbling noise in the stomach and abdomen or feel bloated and your food does not digest, or if you are nervous, can't sleep at night, take Cascarine. Continue the treatment for a short time, repeat it more or less occasionally as may be necessary, and you will save doctor bills and preserve your health. Cascarine is guaranteed to cure you or your money refunded. Take it and if not satisfied write to Red, Brothers & Co., Louisville, Minneapolis or New York and get your money back. ### THE CHICKERING INJUNCTION.

Order of the Court Granting the Prayer of the Complainant.

The following is a true copy of the order of the court granting the prayer of the complainant for a temporary injunction:

ORDER
 CIRCUIT COURT OF THE U. S.,
 NORTHERN DISTRICT OF ILL.,
 NORTHERN DIVISION.

Wednesday, July 2, 1902.

Present, Hon. Christian C. Kohlsaat, District Judge. Chickering & Sons, a corporation, 26, 159, vs. Clifford C. Chickering, Frederick W. Chickering, L. P. Chickering and Chickering Brothers, a corporation.

And now comes the complainant, by its solicitors, and moves the court that a temporary restraining order be entered against said defendants, and the court having duly considered the sworn bill of complaint heretofore filed herein and the amendments thereto, and the affidavits and exhibits produced and filed by said complainant in support of said motion, and having also considered the sworn answer filed herein by said defendants and the affidavits and the exhibits produced and filed by said opposition to said motion, having heard the argument of counsel, and being now fully advised in the premises,

The court doth now ORDER, ADJUDGE AND DECREE that the said Clifford C. Chickering, Frederick W. Chickering, L. P. Chickering and Chickering Brothers, and each of them, AND THEIR CLERKS, SERVANTS, AGENTS AND ATTORNEYS, be, and they are hereby, until further order of this court restrained and enjoined:

(1) From using as the name of a piano the word "Chickering" either alone or in connection with other words or letters;

(2) From using the name "Chickering Bros.," or the name "Chickering" alone, or with any other word or words, or letters to designate the name of a corporation or dealing in pianos;

(3) From using on pianos the word "Chickering" alone or with other words or letters to designate the maker or makers thereof, without displaying in connection therewith, plainly and in a prominent manner, a statement that the defendants are in no way connected with Chickering & Sons, of Boston, Mass., and that the defendants pianos are not the "original Chickering" pianos, or by some other means advise the ordinary observer of the fact that pianos of the defendants' manufacture are not the product of the complainant.

(4) From using in connection with the manufacture or sale of pianos in any form or manner, whether in circulars, catalogues, letter-heads, advertisements, labels or otherwise, the name "Chickering" alone or with other words or letters to designate the maker or makers of such pianos, without displaying in connection therewith, plainly and in a prominent manner, a statement that the defendants are in no way connected with Chickering & Sons, of Boston, Mass., and that the defendants pianos are not the "original Chickering" pianos, or by some other means advise the ordinary observer of the fact that pianos of the defendants' manufacture are not the product of the complainant.

(5) From making use of, on or in connection with the manufacturer or sale of pianos, the statement "the only piano made by Chickering," or any statement similar thereto, or from stamping, stenciling or impressing upon their said pianos said statement, or any other statement similar thereto.

(6) From using in connection with the manufacture or sale of pianos the Cross of Honor, in any form or manner, whether by marks upon their said pianos or in circulars, catalogues, letter heads, advertisements, labels, or otherwise.

(7) From exhibiting or distributing the booklet or pamphlet entitled "A History of the Chickering family and their famous piano," a copy of which is Exhibit "F" of the bill of complaint filed herein.

From doing any and all acts and from making any and all representations which are calculated to induce the public to believe that the pianos manufactured and sold by the defendants, or any one of them, are genuine Chickering pianos, or the product of original Chickering Piano Manufacturing Concern, or that the defendants, or any of them, are in any way or manner the successors to or connected with the original Chickering Piano Manufacturing Concern.—The Presto, Chicago.

ARE CHICKERING BROS. IN CONTEMPT OF COURT?

The Chicago Concern Against Which Judge Kohlsaat Issued an Injunction is Endeavoring to Nullify That Decision.—The Remarkable Letter, which is set in Accordance With the Facts of the Case.—The Opinion of Counsel O'Connell.—Statement From the Attorneys for Chickering & Sons.

The following letter from Chickering Bros., Chicago to George T. Johnson, music teacher and piano agent at Batavia, N. Y. was published in the Batavia "Daily News," of July 7; Chicago, Ill., July 3, 1902.

George T. Johnson.

Dear Sir—We are pleased to say that the injunction order, which has been finally entered in our suit with Chickering & Sons, leaves us at liberty to continue making the fall-boards of our pianos exactly as in the past, without the addition of change of anything. We are required under the order to use additional precaution to prevent confusion between our pianos and those of Chickering & Sons, but we are not required to do anything which will mar the appearance of our instruments or serve to advertise our competitors. We have taken an appeal from the entire order, and expect the Court of Appeals to reverse it. In the meantime we shall continue to do business in manner indicated, and we believe that the principle damage we are liable to suffer from decision, while it stands, will be due to malicious misrepresentations of it by some of our enemies among the trade press, rather than from any direct effect of the opinion itself. We are now open for future orders, and will be ready to take as prompt care of our customers as heretofore, with the fall-boards marked exactly as they have been.

"Yours very truly,
 "Chickering Bros."

THE OPINION OF AN EMINENT LAWYER.

This letter was submitted to Mr. J. J. O'Connell, consul for The Music Trades, and a distinguished member of the New York bar, for a statement as to its discolorance or concordance with decrees issued by Judge Kohlsaat against Chickering Bros., of Chicago, and this is what he says:

The decree of Judge Kohlsaat in the Chickering case enjoins the defendants, "Clifford C. Chickering, Frederick W. Chickering, L. P. Chickering, and Chickering Bros, and each of them and their clerks, servants, agents and attorneys until further order of the court, from the following acts, among other things:

"(1) From using the name of a piano the word 'Chickering' either alone or in connection with other words or letters;

"(2) From using the name 'Chickering Bros.' or the name 'Chickering' alone or with any other word, or words, or letters, to designate the name of the corporation manufacturing or dealing in pianos.

"(3) From using on pianos the word 'Chickering' alone or with other words or letters, to designate the maker or makers thereof, without displaying in connection therewith, plainly and in a prominent manner, a statement that the defendants are in no way connected with Chickering & Sons, of Boston, Mass., and that the defendants' pianos are not the 'original Chickering' pianos, or by some other means advise the ordinary observer of the fact that pianos of the defendants' manufacture are not the product of the complainant."

The letter signed "Chickering Bros.," and addressed to Mr. George T. Johnson, of Batavia, New York, says that the injunction in question "leaves us at liberty to continue making the fall-boards of our pianos exactly as in the past, without the addition or change of anything."

According to the decisions of Judge Kohlsaat, the defendants, up to the time of the decision, had marked on the fall-board the words "Chickering Bros., Chicago."

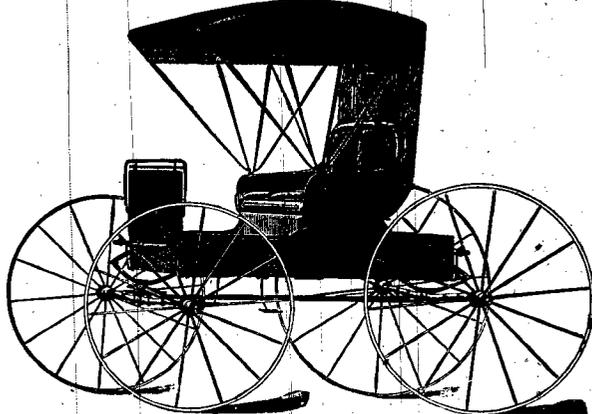

If the clause of the injunction numbered (1) were to stand alone there could be no question but that the defendants are absolutely enjoined from using the name "Chickering Bros." on the fall boards, either alone or in connection with any other words or letters.

But it seems to me that the paragraph numbered (3) permits them to use the name "Chickering" on the fall-board provided the fall-board also show affirmatively that the defendants' pianos are not the "original Chickering" pianos. It is true that that clause of the injunction says that they may use some other method of advising the ordinary observer of the fact that their pianos are not the "original Chickering" pianos, but it seems to me that whatever method is used the notice must be placed on the piano itself. The ordinary observer goes no further in his examination than the piano itself. The basis of the decision is that the use of the name "Chickering" on the defendants pianos is of itself unfair competition in that it tends to mislead the customer (not the dealer) and hence it seems to me that the notice required by the 3d clause of the injunction must be on the piano itself. And as the ordinary purchaser of a piano examines only the fall board, I should judge that the notice must be on the fall-board. This being so, the statement of Chickering Bros. contained in the letter to Mr. Johnson, and quoted above, IS NOT IN ACCORDANCE WITH THE FACTS. They not only state that their fall-board inscription need not be changed on pianos already in the hands of the dealers, but declare their intention of continuing it on new pianos. Of course, a threat to disobey an injunction is not contempt; only actual disobedience is punishable. But in so far as they INCITE OTHERS TO DISOBEY they are CLEARLY IN CONTEMPT IN CASE THOSE INCITED CONTINUE TO DO THE THINGS ENJOINED.—The Music Trades.

Charley Reynolds spent Sunday with his father at Fullerton. The Fagley baseball team of Sioux City defeated the College team in a one-sided game yesterday by a score of 18 to 2. The Sioux City boys were a little too fast for our boys. To date the would-be groom and bride have not outwitted the stern father in our little sloopment last week. Driskell took his daughter home with him and she may conclude not to get married for a while yet. A brother of Dr. Leahy, of Jackson, is preparing to open a drug store in the building lately vacated by Gaertner. The place is being fixed up and will be one the nicest places in town. The Hartington basket ball team and the Wayne team played a game of basket ball last Friday evening on the grounds west of Roe & Fortner's meat market which resulted in an easy victory for Hartington by the score of 27 to 8, but the two teams played even the last half although a little one-sided in the first half. A return game will be played at Hartington soon and our girls say they will surely win it.

Come down to the Old Settlers' picnic, neighbor Chaffee. We will guarantee a chicken pie or two extra for all old settler visitors.

D. K. Fern has gone to O'Neill to put in a few weeks' work. During the past year Mr. Fern put in dozens of fine instruments in this vicinity and the handsome piano—a Schiller—purchased by W. S. Goldie a few days ago was furnished by Mr. Fern. He will keep a stock in the Welch jewelry store for the fall and winter, this a splendid place to display them and convenient to handle a large stock.

Take a Trip to North Dakota.

Farmers, who in early days located upon the broad fertile prairies of Illinois, Iowa and Nebraska, braved the hardships and privations incident to pioneer life. Now, upon selling their homes at the present high prices that exist in these states, they naturally inquire: "where can I go to invest my money in cheaper lands of rising value and good quality, and still have money left for a rainy day after purchasing as much land as I have sold?" To all such we wish to state: "Take a trip to North Dakota, as that state has grand inducements to offer settlers in the way of good lands at low prices. Especially is this true of the famous Mouse River Valley in McHenry and Ward counties. And, with the present railroad facilities, homeseekers need have no dread of long drives to markets as thrifty villages have sprung up at intersections of every seven or eight miles along the Great Northern and Minneapolis, St. Paul and Sault Ste Marie, the latter better known as the Soo Line.

The surface of these counties named is very level with an occasional strip of undulating prairie along the stream. The soil is a black-loam, usually of a depth of two to four feet with a clay subsoil, and the country is well-watered, as many little lakes glimmer in the sunlight and never fail to excite the admiration of the traveler, especially if he be a sportsman. Land values at present are $10 and $12 per acre for deeded property. A few relinquishments can be had from $5 to $9, according to distance from the railroad towns.

Parties interested in this rich portion of the country, yet in its infancy, will promptly receive all desired information by writing the undersigned, or we will take pleasure in personally showing prospective land buyers deeded lands and relinquishments, we have listed. Yours for business, HUMPHREY & SARGENT, McHenry County, North Dakota.

The German singing societies of Nebraska hold their meeting this year at West Point, Aug. 8, 9, and 10. The committee of the Saenger Bund has taken steps to make it a great day, the 22nd Reg. U. S. Band will be present. The big day is the 10th when a low rate excursion will be run from Norfolk.

Mrs. Aug. Piepenstock traded her general stock to Wilson Bros for three houses in Ponca a few days ago. The cares of keeping up the business were too much for the lady and she feels quite relieved to get out of business. Wilson Bros. made a good trade, they got Wayne prices for Ponca property which means the stock cost them about forty cents on the dollar.

R. W. Hobart, of Columbus, came up Friday to meet his wife and little boy who had been visiting at Buesford, S. D., and drove over from there. The rain delayed Mrs. Hobart, she staying in Dixon over night Friday and did not get into Wayne until Saturday noon. They stayed over until Sunday morning and proceeded towards their home. Mr. Hobart is a prominent attorney at Columbus and a most pleasant gentleman to meet.

The last legislature passed a law providing for the cutting of weeds in the highways. This is observed in most places and the improvement is marked, it is a good law. In a few places it is neglected yet, however, and the result is a damage to the adjacent land. It leaves a border of seed producing weeds and is a relic of second class farming. It is safe to say Wayne county has not a single one of this class of farmers within her borders.

When the street fakers were in Wayne last week the ditty-tongued auctioneer in a moment of supreme confidence that his audience were not "fixed" for him as he exhibited his scissors and called for "a nail." One was produced. "Has anybody else got a nail?" he asked. Another one was dug up that was about all remaining in the pockets of his audience probably. He tossed the scissors on some soft pins instead and then the selling commenced at two pairs for a quarter. Our reporter asked dealers what kind of goods they sold. Mr. C. M. Craven ventured the fellows who bought the silverware were the ones the fakers were after. That is where they caught 'em.

Representative Kahn, of California, made a speech on the Philippine question a day or two ago, in which he devoted considerable time to pessimism, which, he said, was exemplified by the democratic attitude on the Philippines.

He gloried in the fact that he is an optimist, and in winding up that portion of his speech, he said:
"I verily believe that if some of these pessimists had been present in the garden of Eden when the Almighty took a rib out of Adam and created Eve, they would have shaken their heads dolefully, and would have sorrowfully exclaimed, 'It's no use, she won't work.'"

Chairman Hull of the house committee on military affairs, is telling a good joke on himself at the time of his visit to the Philippines. There was, during the Spanish regime, near Manila, a bridge over which toll was collected. When the Americans invested the city the bridge was made free, but later was again made a toll-bridge. It was largely used by the American soldiers, who refused to pay any toll to the native bridge-keepers. Mr. Hull thought it was a free bridge and started across and the keeper demanded toll.
"I am an American citizen and won't pay any toll," said Mr. Hull.
"No, you are not Americano," replied the keeper.
"But I am."
"No, you are not Americano, I know. If you were Americano you would have told me 'Go to hell' when I asked for toll."

Mr. Hull paid the toll. Next time he started over he remembered what the toll keeper had told him and promptly replied to his demand for toll as did the American soldiers. Bowing profoundly, the keeper made no further request and re-entered his shack, allowing Mr. Hull to pass over free of charge.—New York World.

General Grant's choice of military life as a profession was not the result of deliberation, as many suppose. It was, perhaps, more of a boyish freak than anything else. When he was a boy his mother one morning found herself without butter for breakfast and sent him to borrow from a neighbor. Going without knocking into the house of a neighbor, whose son was then at West Point, young Grant overheard a letter read from the son, stating that he had failed in examination and was coming home. He got the butter, took it home and without waiting for breakfast, ran down to the office of the congressman from that district.
"Mr. Hamar," he said, "will you appoint me to West Point?"
"No; So-and-So is there and has three years to serve."
"But suppose he should fail, will you send me?"
Mr. Hamar laughed. "If he doesn't go through no use for you to try."
"Promise you'll give me a chance, Mr. Hamar, anyhow."
Mr. Hamar promised. The next day the defeated lad came home and the congressman laughed at Uly's sharpness and gave him the appointment.
"Now," said Grant, "it was my mother's being out of butter that made me general and president."
But it was his own shrewdness to see the chance and promptness to seize it that urged him upward.

How to Catch Tracy, the Deserter-ado.
Sitting safely in his den two thousand miles from Washington, a writer may safely speak of this subject and tell how to catch Tracy. He is as safe in his prediction as the fellow is who after a thing is done can tell you just how to do it, and his advice is likely to cut quite a figure with the men who are actually on the scene and risking their lives every minute while in range of Tracy's rifle and they will applaud the brave editor who knows so much about it and who keeps at least two thousand miles from the danger line. Why do so many men hunt Tracy? Is it because they love "law and order" more than they do their families, and lay down their lives for a cause they consider justifiable, or does the $5,000 reward attract them and they hunt Tracy as they would a beast whose pelt paid a bounty of that sum? Is the governor justified in calling out the militia at an expense of several thousand dollars and more lives to complete the capture, or the present policy of sheriff's possees rushing pell mell after the desperate character to meet defeat except by chance shot they get him? We think not. We think shrewd detectives would pursue another course. Border warfare taught lessons we could use in just such cases as this. The Modoc Indian war in Oregon was a spectacular affair. Gen. Canby with cavalry, artillery, martial music and military maneuvers galore, a regiment of men at a cost of thousands of dollars and many lives spent weeks catching less than a hundred Indians. Geronimo cost the government many a like experience and this noted Indian terror wants to go after Tracy. The old fellow would get him too, it is not to be approved hardly, but would beat the present plan a thousand times. It is the best plan to turn the matter over to detectives. Tracy can't get away, the law will be vindicated, but Tracy has only one life to lose—it is not worth a score or more of lives flung away in a moment of excitement.

How About Your Heart

Feel your pulse, a few minutes. Is it regular? Are you short of breath, after slight exertion as going up stairs, sweeping, walking, etc? Do you have pain in left breast, side or between shoulder blades, choking sensations, fainting or smothering spells, inability to lie on left side? If you have any of these symptoms you certainly have a weak heart, and should immediately take
