

Love, Courage and Philosophy.

The World-Herald, in speaking of the death of ex-Congressman Robinson, said:

Mr. Robinson died at 4 o'clock Monday morning. For perhaps twelve hours, perfectly conscious of all that was going on about him, he knew that he was rapidly passing to "the life-lysian whose portal we call death." The same cheerfulness that during the days of his strong and stalwart manhood endeared him to his friends characterized his dying moments. When after a consultation of physicians, it had been announced that there was no longer hope that the philosophy with which—as so many of us know—he was wont to cheer up his fellow democrats after a political defeat, was brought into play; and when the solemn announcement was made to him he said: "We have lost the battle, but we at least have the consolation of knowing that we made a good fight." Perhaps an hour before death came, the nurse, ascending the stairs to the sick room, stumbled, and, in keeping with an old superstition made an ejaculation. When the nurse entered the room Mr. Robinson said: "I see you are superstitious." "How do you know that?" asked the nurse. "You stabbed your toe on the stairway and I heard what you said," said the dying man. Twenty minutes before this man died he turned to a friend at the bedside and directing his attention to a cigar stub on the dresser, said: "Give me that cigar. I am going to have another good smoke, anyway." His friend replied: "John, you'd better have a fresh cigar," and from his own pocket he tendered the dying man an Havana which Mr. Robinson proceeded to light an apparently enjoy. For himself he seemed to have not the slightest fear. There was, unquestionably, deep anxiety on his part lest his great wife needlessly suffer, and his whole thought seemed to be to give his sweetheart and helpmate, out of his own poor and almost depleted stock of strength, the courage and the vigor essential in that, the most trying moment of her life. Turning to his brother at the bedside, he asked: "Jim, have you got your nerve with you?" The brother, well-nigh choking with emotion, replied in the affirmative. "I am glad of it. Hang onto it to the end. We will need it all," said the dying man. Perhaps five minutes before he passed away he noticed that all the windows in the room were open wide and he noticed, also that his wife wore no wrap. "Put on your jacket, Kate, you'll take cold," admonished the thoughtful man who at that moment stood at the very threshold of eternity. It is not difficult to discover that a man had some very strange convictions on the great question affecting the future. It must be evident to every one that he was well fortified to meet and solve the secret of nature. Some of those who shared his confidences known that he did not believe that there was an extremely broad chasm between this life and the next. They know he believed that men who die live again; and that somehow and someway the living who have loved and lost their beloved may enjoy the consolation of that sweet communion by which was smoothed the sorrow of one of whom was written: "A guardian angel o'er his life presiding, doubling his pleasures and his cares dividing."

And so when he came to bid farewell to the one nearest and dearest to him he turned to his good wife and said: "The end is drawing near, but we must not worry." And then with striking emphasis, he added: "It's alright; and I'll be standing right there, Kate, waiting for you on the other shore with outstretched arms." Some one has said: "The heavens themselves blaze forth the death of princes." Perhaps it was merely a coincidence, but it is however, a fact that at the very moment when the spirit of this brave man took its flight there came a heavy peal of thunder; and as the hands were folded on the breast, one of the watchers at the bedside turned to a companion and said: "It is as though the artillery of heaven were firing a salute in welcome to a superbly brave man." Though we may call the thunder peal a mere coincidence, who will say that it was not eminently fitting that the heavens themselves should blaze forth the death of a man capable of so much love, courage and philosophy?

Rev. Welden Resigns. It is with sincere regret that is shared alike by the people of Wayne and the genial pastor of the Baptist church, that the pleasant relations are to be broken in a few days that have been four years in forming. A few weeks ago Rev. Welden saw an opportunity at Hastings to do a splendid work in the future, he spoke from their pulpit, they extended a call to him and this was followed by the resignation here. At first the congregation here desisted from accepting the resignation, but finally did so last Sunday morning. No one is yet in view to take up the work but some one will no doubt be supplied in the near future. We must say of Rev. and Mrs. Welden, that while they will be missed by all, none will miss them so much as the young people of the church, who have felt the sincere pleasure and keen interest manifest in their social affairs, and the fellowship that inspires and lifts up young people's thoughts to higher things. The following is Rev. Welden's letter to his church:

WAYNE, Nebr., May 24, 1903. To the Wayne Baptist Church, My dear friends: It is now nearly four years since you invited me to become your pastor. I came to you with but little experience yet you imposed in me the great trust of the leadership of this church in its efforts to build up the Kingdom of God. I wish to bear grateful and unfeigned testimony to your united and hearty co-operation during this time we have labored together. If I have been able to be of any service in the work to which you called me it has, under the blessing of God, been due in large measure to your unflinching loyalty, kindness and sympathy. These four years have been years of helpfulness and joy to me. We have been together in sickness and health, in sorrows and in joys, in discouragements and in victories. The ties of affection have grown strong and will not be severed without pain. Yet I feel that now my best work in Wayne is done. I believe that this church under a new leader could accomplish more and that I in another field could be of more service. I have not come to this conclusion hastily but only after mature thought and the seeking of Divine guidance.

I therefore now and hereby return to you the trust with which you have honored me and pray that in the future it may be placed in abler and worthier hands. I wish to thank you for the innumerable courtesies and kindnesses which you have shown to Mrs. Welden and myself. These shall sing their glad song to us the rest of our lives. I wish this resignation, which I now tender, take effect June 15. And now the Lord bless thee, and keep thee; the Lord make his face to shine upon thee, and be gracious unto thee; the Lord lift up his countenance upon thee and give thee peace."

Wm. Fisher. Wm. Fisher was born in Bedford County, Pa., Mar. 16, 1826 and died at his residence in Van Wert, Iowa, May 26, 1903, aged 77 years and 10 days. He came to Illinois in 1850 and removed to Iowa near Decatur City in 1872. He was married to Susanah Russell the year 1848 and from this marriage were born twelve children. He was converted and joined the Methodist Episcopal church at the age of 27 years. He enlisted in Co. H, 93rd Pennsylvania Volunteers February 21, 1865. Sister Fisher died December 21, 1880 and on January 19, 1882 he was married to Susanah Stone who still survives him, also two sons and three daughters, Isaac Fisher, of Decatur City, Iowa; Wm. L. Fisher, of Wayne, Nebraska; Mary A. Negley, of Decatur City, Catharine Huff, Albia, Tex., and Lottie Souders, of Wayne, Nebraska. Bro. Fisher was one of the best men and leaves a large circle of friends who will cherish his memory. During his long sickness he bore his affliction with peculiar christian fortitude. His loyal and faithful service for his Master prepared him to shine through an experience well matured by all the past and enabled him to endure to the end. He has washed his robes and made them white in the blood of the Lamb and has gone home to be with Jesus forever.

How blest the righteous when he dies! When sinks the weary soul to rest, How mildly beams the closing eyes, How gently heaves the expiring breast! Life's labor done, as sinks the clay, Light from its load the spirit flies, While heaven and earth combine to say, How blest the righteous when he dies!

Funeral services of the deceased was conducted at Decatur City, at the M. E. church by Rev. Tenant, pastor and the burial was under the G. A. R. post of that city, of which he was a member and the remains laid to rest beside his first wife who is buried there. The above sketch including the verses were prepared by Rev. Tenant his pastor and spiritual advisor.

Very Complimentary to Prof. Pile. The address of President J. M. Pile, of the Wayne Normal was simply a masterpiece of logic and eloquence, and had it been delivered in any of the larger cities it would undoubtedly have received the recognition of the largest dailies and publicity. The main subjects discussed by this able gentleman were "The art of Teaching," "Be Master of Your Subject Matter," "Try to Teach Your Pupils to Be Somebody," "To Study Your Own Weakness and Thoughts," and "To Take Care of Their Health." His thoughts flow from his active brain in rapid succession and well defined, and it is doubtful if there is another educator in the state who possesses a wider scope of knowledge than President Pile. To attempt in our feeble way to do him justice would be impossible and no attempt therefore be made. A deep pride is taken by us, however, in expressing for the teachers their appreciation of the great benefit they derived from him and hope for them that still other opportunities of listening to him will be afforded them in the future.—West Point Democrat.

Be Careful of the Children.

In this day of sanitation, when we are sterilizing milk and various foods we use, filtering the water, using germ-proof brooms, sanitary clothing, plumbing, heating, etc., you should investigate your refrigerator. Never before in the history of the world has there been such precautions taken against microbes and bacilli as at the present time. Did you ever stop to think that you have perhaps overlooked your refrigerator. All the food, the very substance that enables us to exist, passes through the refrigerator. Then why do you keep your food in that poisonous, corroded, zinc lined refrigerator that is lurking with microbes and disease? Children form the most delicate thermometer of health, having less strength they show quickly the evil effects of any cause. Milk, the baby's food, should be kept in an absolutely pure and clean place if we expect baby to keep well. We should respect hygienic truth for baby's sake, even though we do not for ourselves. The HERRICK REFRIGERATOR is built on sanitary principles and is the only one that is so built. Sold in Wayne by TERWILLIGER BROS.

PIANO CONTEST!

THE WAYNE REPUBLICAN will give a beautiful Concert Grand Piano made by Chickering Bros., Chicago, and listed by them at $525.00, to the most popular lady in Wayne county and vicinity absolutely free, this lady to be designated by ballots cast for her by subscribers to, and by readers of the WAYNE REPUBLICAN, according to the terms and conditions set forth as follows:

- 1—Any lady, married or single, may enter the contest.
- 2—Any and every lady receiving one or more votes will be accredited with them at once and the result announced in these columns.
- 3—In every paper printed from June 15, to December 24, 1903, will appear two coupons; one is a FREE VOTE and may be voted by any one, the other is a SUBSCRIBER'S BALLOT and is to be voted by subscribers for whom they choose. For each cent paid by the subscriber, new or renewal, or arrearage on account of subscription, one vote may be cast.
- 4—Free votes must be cast within the time limit printed on each else they become void. Subscriber's ballots may be cast at any time before the contest closes, which will be at six o'clock p. m. December 24, 1903.
- 5—A ballot box will be placed in the REPUBLICAN office in which the ballots may be placed by the person voting or by some one for him, ballots may also be sent by mail. As votes are received they will be deposited in the ballot box, which will be kept under lock, and once each week in the presence of some disinterested person the same will be opened and the votes counted for the purpose of ascertaining the standing of the candidates.
- 6—The piano may be seen (or its counterpart) on exhibition at the M. S. Davies Book Store in Wayne at any time, and all interested may thus know it is no cheap affair, but that is a splendid instrument, beautiful in tone as well as in finish, and for reason of its high grade was selected especially for this contest to lend character and interest to it, for too often a cheap piano is selected to give away in a piano contest and the winner is wasting time in competing for it. But we are going to do this right—we are going to give the winner a piano equal to the best one in any home in the county, and to gain us the acquaintance we wish, to add to our subscription list as many new readers as possible, and to clean up the last dollar of a large amount of back subscription, we desire the interest to be genuine and make those who participate in the contest feel that they are doing something worth while and that their efforts are appreciated by this paper.

Any lady contesting, or any one else, may act as agent to receive subscriptions for us, and a liberal commission will be paid them to do so. Blanks will be furnished them on application, also, they may extend to subscribers any and all clubbing combinations offered at any time.

As the crowd thinned out at Park place the two men caught sight of each other and the tall one moved over to a seat alongside his friend.

"How spry you are for your age!" remarked the short one, with a symptom of envy in his tone.

"Age?" exclaimed the other. "Why, I have not begun yet to grow old. I am only 74."

"Well, well," puffed the stout one, "are you 74? I didn't think you were older than I am. I am only 68."

"Why," exclaimed the lean one, according to the New York Times, tapping his companion playfully on the knee, "you are quite a boy yet."

An amusing story is told of Robert Sloan, who was professor of mathematics at the University of Glasgow, and as eccentric in some ways as he was brilliant in others. He always counted his steps on the street, and allowed nothing to interfere with this valuable practice. If any one spoke to him during the process he repeated the number of the last step taken, and stopped short until he could resume his count and walk on.

One day he was accosted by a man who knew him by sight, but had never been told of the professor's habit of counting steps.

"I beg your pardon, professor," he said, at which the mathematician halted, murmuring, "573."

"May I have a word with you?" asked the man.

"Must happy—573."

"Oh, no, merely one question."

"Well—573."

"You are too kind, but knowing your acquaintance with the late Dr. P., I venture to ask whether I am right in saying that he left five hundred pounds to each of his nieces?"

"Precisely—573."

"And there were four nieces, were there not?"

"Exactly—573."

The man stared at the professor, and then muttering, "573!" He must be crazy!" he made a hasty bow and started away.

"No, no," cried the professor, taking a step as he spoke, "not five hundred and seventy-three nieces—four—573!"

THE GLOVERBURG COMEDY.

NEAR Gloverburg, Ky., lived two very respectable old gentlemen. They owned contiguous blue grass farms, each of generous acreage. Both men were descended from good old Kentucky stock, and both were extremely proud of their unblemished and honorable lineage.

Squire Israel Longacre, who got his title from having been at one time a county magistrate, was about sixty years of age, of round figure and strong constitution.

He carried his years well, and although possessed of a naturally kind heart, was at times subject to violent attacks of cholera, during which periods of temporary insanity he would neither reason himself or listen to the reasoning of others.

He married, late in life, a very estimable lady, and had one daughter—a beautiful and accomplished girl—who, at the time of which I write, was just budding into womanhood.

The squire's wife had died four years previous, and since that time his household affairs had been managed by his only unmarried sister, a lady of uncertain age, spare figure and vinegar temper.

The squire—albeit all people and all things were usually subservient to his will—had a mortal dread of his spinster sister, and a wholesome respect for her sharp tongue.

She had absolute control of household matters, and as the squire never interfered with her arrangements, the pair got along very nicely together.

Both loved the beautiful girl who had grown up to womanhood under their eyes, and the heart of the old squire could always be approached through Nellie, who was the image of her dead mother.

The daughter and her aunt—who rejoiced in the name of Dorothea Longacre—never quarreled, and, taken altogether, the Longacre household machine moved smoothly.

The Longacre's nearest neighbor was Col. Anson Shortrood, who at one period of his life rode at the head of a valiant regiment of militia.

The colonel was a widower of long standing, his excellent spouse having departed this life several years ago, leaving to him, as a legacy, a boy, now grown to manhood, who was named Anson, junior, after his father, and who was a model of industry and sobriety.

The colonel's household goddess was a buxom widow, Mrs. Abigail Sloan, who was related to the head of the household by marriage, being the only sister of his late consort.

The colonel was fifty-five, or thereabouts, was tall, angular and bony, and disposed to be unrelenting and unyielding in disposition.

The colonel and the squire had lived neighbors for thirty years, and up to about six months previous to the occurrence I am about to describe were warm friends.

They fell out over a trifling matter. The colonel owned a fine flock of merino sheep, of which he was very proud. The squire was the possessor of a large mastiff dog, of whose intelligence and good qualities he was always boasting.

One night an animal, supposed to be a sheep-killing dog, broke into the colonel's fold, killed a valuable buck and mangled several ewes.

When the doughty military chieftain discovered his loss he was furious, and stormed in true soldierly style.

"What dog could have done it?" inquired the son, who had been attracted to the spot by his father's storm of words.

"Why, that cur of Squire Longacre's," bawled his father. "He shall pay me heavy damages, or I'll have the law on him."

"I don't think—" began the son.

"Well, don't think, then!" bellowed his father. "I'll do the thinking."

"Shut up!" roared the colonel, frothing at the mouth.

And young Anson was silent.

The colonel hurried back to the house for his cane, and in a few minutes was striding across the field in the direction of Squire Longacre's mansion.

"What's the matter with your father?" asked buxom Mistress Sloan, as young Anson entered the kitchen, where she was at work, shortly after the departure of his sire.

"He's got one of his mad spells on," was the answer.

"That's plain to be seen," sniffed the widow. "But what, in goodness' name, has brought it on?"

"A dog broke into the fold last night, killed a fine buck and crippled several ewes."

"For pity's sake! Well, I never! That's enough to make a man mad! Whose dog was it?"

"He thinks it was Squire Longacre's."

"Not Bruno?"

"I believe he has only one dog."

"Well, I, for one, don't think Bruno will kill sheep. I know he will not, and the squire is too neighborly and too wise a man to quarrel with, just on a suspicion like that."

"They'll quarrel, though," said young Anson. "Father has gone over there, mad, and the first word he utters will start the squire."

"It's a great pity," commented Mrs. Sloan.

"That's what I say," assented Anson.

And he walked through the kitchen and sought his own room.

He seated himself at a desk which stood in one corner, and drew toward him pen and paper. After a few minutes' hesitation he dashed off a few lines, read what he had written carefully and placed the sheet in an envelope.

After directing it, he affixed a stamp, and, putting the letter in an inner pocket, left the house by a rear door and walked across the field toward the village.

He dropped the letter in the box at the post office and returned directly home. When he reached there he met his father.

"Anson," said the colonel, sharply, "that scoundrel, Longacre, refuses to pay for the sheep his dog killed, and I'm going to bring suit against him."

"Yes, sir."

"I've noticed lately that you've been paying that girl of his a good deal of attention. I want that stopped."

"Yes, sir."

"If I hear of you being together again, I'll disinherit you. She's as bad as her father, and he's no better than a thief. His sister, Miss Dorothea, is a very clever woman, and the only really decent person about the house."

Mrs. Abigail Sloan, who usually spoke of Miss Dorothea Longacre as that "hatchet-faced old maid," told young Anson that night that she for one did not believe in these neighborly quarrels, and she meant to tell Squire Longacre that she had no hand in the matter, and did not believe his dog killed sheep, the first time she saw him.

At about the same time Squire Longacre was standing on the porch of his house, angrily confronting his daughter Nellie, who had just returned from the village.

"Nell," he said, "that old rascal, Shortrood, has been here, and I expect we'll have a lawsuit. He says my dog Bruno killed his sheep last night, and I told him flatly that if he said my dog killed a sheep he was a liar!"

"Oh, papa!" protested Nellie.

"Well, he's an unreasonable old wretch, and I'll give him all the law he wants. His son's no better. And hark ye, girl, if I ever catch you and that young puppy together again I'll break my cane over his back and put you in a madhouse! Do you hear?"

"Yes, papa."

"Well, heed, then!" cried the squire, warningly; and he walked in to supper.

Nellie retired to her room, took a letter from her bosom and read the contents eagerly.

"Dear fellow," she said, and kissed the sheet which had been penned only a few hours before by young Anson.

Then she went down to supper.

But little was said during the meal. The squire was cross and sulky, and Miss Dorothea was evidently in one of her worst moods.

After the meal she put on her bonnet and threw a light shawl over her bony shoulders.

"Where are you going, Dor?" asked her brother.

"None of your business!" was the sharp answer.

"You needn't be so snappish about it!"

"Snappish!" cried the ancient maid, and she tossed her head. "I should say snappish! A man as unreasonable as you are, talk about people being snappish! Quarreled with one of the nicest men in the county."

"He's a scoundrel!" snarled the squire.

"He's a Christian gentleman!" contradicted Miss Dorothea, "and you ought to go down on your knees to him and ask his pardon."

"I'll see myself! If there's any going down on the knees, let him go down to me. He insulted me in my own house."

"I suppose you'd go down on 'em fast enough if that maneuvering old widow would ask you?"

"She's a lady!" cried the squire.

"You'd better go tell her so. I'll be news to her, I reckon."

"Perhaps I shall."

"Well, you'd better. A lady! Well, heaven save the mark!"

And, with this spiteful reflection, Miss Dorothea flounced out of the room.

She directed her steps toward a grove of maple trees which marked the boundary line between the farms of the two belligerents.

By a curious coincidence, Colonel Shortrood strolled in the same direction at about the same time.

The angular soldier and the maiden lady met. They spoke, and finally walked toward an unfrequented part of the grove, arm in arm.

Shortly after Miss Dorothea left the house the squire stole out the back way and walked rapidly across a wheat field toward a certain big willow tree which stood on the edge of a pond.

By a singular coincidence Mrs. Abigail Sloan, in the course of her serpentine ramble, reached this same pond.

Sent on a fallen log, she and the representative of county judicial honors were soon engaged in an animated conversation.

While these little scenes were being enacted, pretty Nellie Longacre, in the seclusion of her chamber, wrote the following note, which young Anson Shortrood got out of the post office the next morning:

"Dearest An: You know, best. We will attend the Lexington fair, and I'll be ready then. As papa has forbidden me to see you, we must manage our correspondence and interviews very secretly. Will be at the old place Sunday night. Your loving little

Famous Cat's Life Ended.
A public career of ten years, during which time she had come into association with the famous of many countries, was ended recently when Mike, the cat at the Auditorium Hotel in Chicago, breathed her last.

Although she was of the feminine gender, the name of Mike, bestowed by a belated ten years ago, when she drifted into the hotel while a political parade was passing, always clung to her. She was given a little rug upon which she lay near one of the pillars in the lobby of the hotel, and became the favorite of employees of the house and a large share of the traveling public.

Mike had been held in royal arms, having been petted by Prince Henry of Germany and the Crown Prince of Spain. William McKinley, Theodore Roosevelt, many United States Senators and Congressmen and famous actors and musicians had stroked her fur. Nordica, Fanny Davenport, Olga Nethersole, Emma Eames, Paderewski, Knibb, Mascagni, Peruggini and Mrs. Patrick Campbell were in the list. Mike had a special aversion for dogs, and among her famous combats were a fight with Mrs. Campbell's Panky-Panky and Olga Nethersole's pet dog—Chicago Record-Herald.

STOLEN DOG AND REWARD.
What Happened to One of Sir Edwin Landseer's Models.
Sir Edwin Landseer was about to put finishing touches to the portrait of a dog belonging to Lord X., and was expecting a visit from his model, when the owner arrived in a state of great perturbation, without the dog—the animal had been stolen. After talking over the loss with Sir Edwin the owner decided to leave the matter in the painter's hands, together with a £10 note as a reward for the recovery of the dog. Now, Sir Edwin's acquaintance with the dog fanciers was large, and he summoned to his aid one Jim Smith, who he thought might put him on the right track. He showed the man the picture, and the bank note and promised that if the dog were restored no questions should be asked. Jim Smith said he would do his best, and went his way.

Six weeks later Jim Smith arrived at the studio leading the missing dog by a piece of string. "Is this the dog, Sir Edwin?" There was no need to ask the question, for the animal was the very picture of his portrait. "Here is your £10 note," said the artist, "and I suppose I must ask no questions. But now that the affair is done with, you may just as well tell me all about it." After a moment of hesitation, the man confessed that he himself was the thief. "You're thundering rascal!" exclaimed Sir Edwin, "then why on earth have you kept us in suspense all this time?" "Well, yer see, governor," was the answer, "I stole the dog, but the gentleman I sold him to kept 'im so jolly close that I hadn't a chance of nicking him again till yesterday, and that's the truth, selp me."—London Chronicle.

"Hans Breitmann" and Bret Hart.
The late Charles K. Leland, in his chatty and interesting memoirs, tells us that all the principal "Hans Breitmann" poems, except the "Barty" and "Bretmann" as a Politician," were merely written to fill up letters to a friend, and that he kept no copies of them; in fact, utterly forgot them. By his friend they were published in a sporting paper. "The public," he says, "found them out long before I did and it is not often that it gets ahead of a poet in appreciation of his own work." Bret Hart appears to have gone through the same experience, for Leland relates that one evening after dinner, at the house of Mr. Truevener, when "Bret Hartie" was asked to repeat the "Heavenly Chinese," he could not do so, as he had never learned it, which is not such an unusual thing by the way, as many suppose." The confusion into which many otherwise well-informed persons fell with regard to the personality of these two writers was often very ridiculous, for instance, "an elderly gentleman went rushing about asking to see or be introduced to Hans Breitmann, whose works he declared he knew by heart."—London Chronicle.

THE GLOVERBURG COMEDY.

NEAR Gloverburg, Ky., lived two very respectable old gentlemen. They owned contiguous blue grass farms, each of generous acreage. Both men were descended from good old Kentucky stock, and both were extremely proud of their unblemished and honorable lineage.

Squire Israel Longacre, who got his title from having been at one time a county magistrate, was about sixty years of age, of round figure and strong constitution.

He carried his years well, and although possessed of a naturally kind heart, was at times subject to violent attacks of cholera, during which periods of temporary insanity he would neither reason himself or listen to the reasoning of others.

He married, late in life, a very estimable lady, and had one daughter—a beautiful and accomplished girl—who, at the time of which I write, was just budding into womanhood.

The squire's wife had died four years previous, and since that time his household affairs had been managed by his only unmarried sister, a lady of uncertain age, spare figure and vinegar temper.

The squire—albeit all people and all things were usually subservient to his will—had a mortal dread of his spinster sister, and a wholesome respect for her sharp tongue.

She had absolute control of household matters, and as the squire never interfered with her arrangements, the pair got along very nicely together.

Both loved the beautiful girl who had grown up to womanhood under their eyes, and the heart of the old squire could always be approached through Nellie, who was the image of her dead mother.

The daughter and her aunt—who rejoiced in the name of Dorothea Longacre—never quarreled, and, taken altogether, the Longacre household machine moved smoothly.

The Longacre's nearest neighbor was Col. Anson Shortrood, who at one period of his life rode at the head of a valiant regiment of militia.

The colonel was a widower of long standing, his excellent spouse having departed this life several years ago, leaving to him, as a legacy, a boy, now grown to manhood, who was named Anson, junior, after his father, and who was a model of industry and sobriety.

The colonel's household goddess was a buxom widow, Mrs. Abigail Sloan, who was related to the head of the household by marriage, being the only sister of his late consort.

The colonel was fifty-five, or thereabouts, was tall, angular and bony, and disposed to be unrelenting and unyielding in disposition.

The colonel and the squire had lived neighbors for thirty years, and up to about six months previous to the occurrence I am about to describe were warm friends.

They fell out over a trifling matter. The colonel owned a fine flock of merino sheep, of which he was very proud. The squire was the possessor of a large mastiff dog, of whose intelligence and good qualities he was always boasting.

One night an animal, supposed to be a sheep-killing dog, broke into the colonel's fold, killed a valuable buck and mangled several ewes.

When the doughty military chieftain discovered his loss he was furious, and stormed in true soldierly style.

"What dog could have done it?" inquired the son, who had been attracted to the spot by his father's storm of words.

"Why, that cur of Squire Longacre's," bawled his father. "He shall pay me heavy damages, or I'll have the law on him."

"I don't think—" began the son.

"Well, don't think, then!" bellowed his father. "I'll do the thinking."

"Shut up!" roared the colonel, frothing at the mouth.

And young Anson was silent.

The colonel hurried back to the house for his cane, and in a few minutes was striding across the field in the direction of Squire Longacre's mansion.

"What's the matter with your father?" asked buxom Mistress Sloan, as young Anson entered the kitchen, where she was at work, shortly after the departure of his sire.

"He's got one of his mad spells on," was the answer.

"That's plain to be seen," sniffed the widow. "But what, in goodness' name, has brought it on?"

"A dog broke into the fold last night, killed a fine buck and crippled several ewes."

"For pity's sake! Well, I never! That's enough to make a man mad! Whose dog was it?"

"Not Bruno?"

"I believe he has only one dog."

OSBORNE QUALITY

There is in the OSBORNE BINDER a superlative to every comparable feature with other binders. The whole is a machine as perfect as expert workmen can make it, with materials the best in the world and under patents recognized as pre-eminently out-classing those of all other binders. The only binder not in the binder-trust—sells on its own merits, the trust machines sell because criticism is largely eliminated by trust methods and they know the people must buy just so many machines each year whether they are THE BEST or whether they are "just as good as they ever were," a fact but a very doubtful compliment.

will save you many a little bill for repairs. Think of this.

Ten Osborne Strong Points.

- 1—Steel frame, forged corners. Drive chain always in line.
- 2—Suspension spokes and steel tire main wheel. Steel roller bearings.
- 3—Drive chain heavy and of correct pattern—the only one.
- 4—Elevator will take care of grain over 67 inches long.
- 5—Roller bearing grain wheel. Grain wheel easily raised or lowered.
- 6—A comfortable seat, levers handy and easily worked—why torture yourself?
- 7—Reel operated instantly and easily, picks up tangled grain, can be raised high enough for grain six feet tall—think of this!
- 8—Rollers never bind, even if they become warped by wet canvas—the bearings are self-adjusting.
- 9—The binder is simple, positive and beyond question the best made. The twine holder is adjustable to all sizes of twine. The burd's are uniform in size and evenly bound. The whole operation of binding is no strain on the machine because accomplished with less power than other binders require.
- 10—The bundle carrier is the Columbia, the only one that works up hill and down hill, always the same, easy to operate, no extra room required to pass through a gate.

It is a pleasure to sell an Osborne Binder to a friend because it is an honest machine and will save him money.

Osborne Mowers and Rakes

are built like the binders. The mowers have a long steel petman with perfect protection and adjustable bearings in every way. Easily operated till and lift. Gearings are simple and positive, roller bearings. Easily replaced steel section plates and leger plates, a perfect machine in any kind of grass. The rake is all steel, self dump, roller bearings, strong and durable. No competitor can touch it with anything on the market.

See me before you buy hay or grain machinery of any kind. I am selling the only machinery that is able to defy the "combine."

W. H. GIBSON PROPRIETOR.

Subscription Price, One Dollar Per Year

The younger element of the Presbyterian church has triumphed at last in repealing the "infant damnation" theory from the tenets of their faith. The church also forbids its ministers uniting in marriage divorced persons.

A "silver commission" has gone abroad to interest the foreign nations in a plan to establish an international standard, or exchange basis, between gold and silver probably at a ratio of 32 to 1. Mexico is desirous of having this done and the United States has joined Mexico in sending the commission abroad.

What the devil does the democratic party mean by sitting around waiting for a reply to its question to Grover. Won't you? Will you run again? While the fat fisherman dreads an answer and baits his hook again. Can it be that Grover is the whole thing? A party is in bad shape that has limited resources and depends upon the same Moses to lead it out of the wilderness that led it into the wilderness.

Strikes and lockouts are becoming recognized as such a menace to the public that the day of public ownership is about to dawn. In the next decade or two look for something along these lines. Capital is arrogant and has always been arrogant, but not more so, if indeed, as much so as is labor. Cool heads prevail after the lapa of months of strikes, labor and profits of vast amount lost, a settlement is effected and both sides make concessions they would not listen to at first. The hardships of the strikes rest upon the public from whom they derive their support, and the public will insist upon stability of industrial affairs sooner or later. Capital is not safe in many investments depending upon organized labor, an unfathomable quantity whose responsibility is not established and whose demands for increase wages seems to keep even in advance of the increased cost of living.

The Crawford Tribune tells out in meetin' some facts regarding Crawford which are applicable to many another town. It says "Crawford is suffering as a result of enduring just a few of these individuals whose heads taper to a peak." So called "business men" simply because they are occupying a building with a rectangular front, on a twenty-five foot lot, and have things on their shelves to sell. The fact that they "were there first" keeps some real business men out no doubt, but they will never be business men no more than can a monkey become a statesman. Wayne is singularly blessed by an absence of these peaked headed animals whose top story indicates a development of conceit in presuming to be known as business men, but not altogether. Pop bottles, hardware, cheap candy and shoddy clothing mixed up in a jumble, a little of everybody's business and none a credit, the stock in trade of some who do not advertise because "it won't do me no good," are in Wayne as well as in Crawford. But they can't stand it, they finally give away to real business men. We used to see and some times see yet merchants occupying one of the most prominent corners of a town who fill their windows with old straw hats that you could not give away in the cities, expecting to sell them to country yokels who don't know or are not supposed to know, fly-specks six years old—that is in the mind of the "business man" who allowed the supply to accumulate because he was afraid to sell them at less than 100 per cent profit while they were salable. Whose stock is generally of the character of one who never had a "remnant sale," who ships old goods around once in a while to catch new yokels who haven't seen 'em before. These are the worst offenders, and they most always give way sooner or later when a real business firm camps in town a few years. It is a truth as indisputable as life that there are no real business men who do not advertise. The advertiser is first in enterprise, first in public welfare, first in church work, first in school work, first in charity and benevolence. He gets money to spend it again and helps those who help him. He beautifies his home and his place of business, he spreads a radiance of good will and good humor wherever he goes, he is a business man whom we do business with as a pleasure.

AROUND ABOUT.

Mrs. E. W. Cullen and Mrs. Martiny started out one day this week to solicit money to build a Catholic church. They report that they have been very successful and think there will be no doubt but what the required amount can be raised.—Wisside Tribune.

Thursday night during the rain storm. He was coming in from the farm, driving a team and leading a horse back of the wagon. A bolt of lightning knocked down the horse that was being led and stung the team and stunned Mr. Thorpe. It was several minutes before Mr. Thorpe and the horses recovered so as to continue their journey home.—Stanton Register.

A complete re-organization of the Wausa band has been effected and the band now comprises sixteen pieces. Nearly all of the boys are old hands at their instruments and are ready to render first class music on short notice. Thursday evening of each week has been set aside for practice night. Extra time may be put in the next few weeks to get ready for the Fourth.—Wausa Gazette.

A cyclone, carrying everything in its path, struck the earth northeast of Randolph about 10 o'clock Friday evening. The storm moved in a northeasterly direction. Its track was a quarter of mile wide and for a distance of four miles it swept everything clean. The farm residence of Wm. Fredericksen was carried up into the air and then thrown heavily to the earth and the pieces were scattered over several miles. Mr. Fredericksen and his wife who were in the house at the time landed several hundred feet from where they started, he being quite severely injured, but his wife escaped with slight bruises. The houses and barns belonging to John Stewart and Henry Helms were also completely demolished, but they took refuge in caves with their families and escaped unhurt. The total damage wrought by the storm is over $15,000.

The Index understands that the Taylor family will return to Carroll from Memphis, Tennessee, on account of the continual ailment of Mr. Taylor it was thought the climate of the south is not conducive to his health and a return to Nebraska is deemed best. Ralph Taylor went down last week and will bring the family back in a short time. Lloyd Proudy, of Randolph, returned Tuesday evening from an extensive trip through the south-west, where he went in quest of a suitable location for a farmer and stock raiser. We heard him say that he had traveled through Texas and Oklahoma, and while he found the northern part of the Lone Star state very dry, in Oklahoma they were nearly rained out. "After all" he said "the finest looking seventy-five mile stretch of country I saw, lay between Tekamah and Randolph." Northeast Nebraska may be overly wet and windy and even dry sometimes, but no other land can stand it better, and whenever our farm owners return from viewing other states they always return better satisfied with Nebraska and feel justified in marking up their own possessions a notch or two. Stand by Wayne county and you'll never lose.—Carroll Index.

College Notes.

Many of the students are spending the vacation at their homes. Messrs. Bright and Waddell were Chapel visitors Wednesday morning. Prof. Pile will assist in the County Institute next week, as will also Mrs. James Miller. The outlook for the next term is most flattering. The attendance bids fair to exceed that of any previous term. John Wilson, who was a student here for several years, graduating last year, and then teaching in Belden, has been elected as principal of the Bassett, Nebraska schools.

Mrs. James Miller, who has so successfully taught the instrumental music this term, will not be with us during the summer. Her work was most satisfactory.

Mr. Fred Marshall, whom many remember as a faithful student of last year, has been elected at Verdigré at a salary of $75 per month. Mr. Marshall will spend the summer term in Wayne.

Mr. Will Richardson of this year's class has been elected principal of the Carroll schools. Mr. Richardson is a strong student and a successful teacher. Carroll has made no mistake in securing his services.

The base ball team left for a two week's tour of North Nebraska and South Dakota. The students of this team are some of our best students. Not only are they fine students, but gentlemen as well when it comes to playing ball.

Mr. H. P. Dilworth, a graduate of the Cincinnati Conservatory of Music and who has supplemented this with one year abroad as pupil of Ludovic Boettner, and some time in New York, will take charge of the Instrumental Music of the college. Mr. Dilworth was organist of the First Baptist church of Brooklyn while studying in New York.

Decoration Day.

Decoration Day exercises were conducted under the difficulties of mud and rain, but a keen interest was manifested, and at 1:30 the members of Casey post G. A. R. and citizens marched to Greenwood cemetery to pay the tributes to our honored dead. The G. A. R. ritualistic work for Decoration Day was rendered and leaving the flower strewn graves of their comrades the Post marched to the Opera House where Governor Mickey spoke. His address was eloquent in the benevolent and tender paths of his illusion to those whom in memory we would honor, and though the governor is not endowed with all the gifts of an orator, those present listened with keenest interest for his was the eloquence that stirs our hearts rather than pleases our fancy. Not even standing room was to be had, so crowded was the large auditorium.

While in our city Governor Mickey was the guest of Prof. Snodgrass who is an old friend and who formerly resided at Osceola formerly.

Mrs. John Harrington and son Paul who has just graduated from Lexington, Mo., Military Academy, arrived in Wayne Sunday, after stopping in Tekamah on their way home.

Married.
GILDERSLIEVE-SHERBARN—James Leonard Gildersleeve and Miss Mabel Sherbarn, both of Wayne, were united in marriage at the M. E. parsonage in Wayne on the 30th day of May, 1903, at high noon. Rev. C. N. Dawson officiating. This paper unites with the many friends of the couple in congratulations. They are to reside in Wayne.

Meeting of Uniformed Foresters, Modern Woodmen of America.
Indianapolis, Ind., June 12 to 25, 1903. For the above excursion, tickets will be sold June 13th and 14th, good returning until and including June 26th. A thirty day extension will be given by depositing ticket and fee of 50 cents. Fare $21.35.

A Freak Pig.
A. J. Lundin, a farmer six miles north of town, possesses a queer freak in the shape of a pig with six feet, the animal having two distinct pair of hoofs on each front leg. The little fellow is almost six weeks old and seems to be doing well. This is the second freak of the kind Mr. Lundin has obtained from the same strain of swine and he is thinking of making a specialty of pedigreed circus pigs.

School Boards to Meet.
Walter Gaebler and R. R. Smith, president and secretary of the Wayne County School Officers' Association, have issued a call for all school officers to be present June 7 in the court room in Wayne to consider the advisability of appointing a truant officer for the county. This will be during the week of county institute and a good time for the school boards to meet, especially as they can then see the work of the teachers and select the best teachers for the county's school (if they pay enough salary.) The subject of selecting a truant officer is one discussed quite a little and it is agreed there is some lack of attendance and school boards do not enforce attendance as they should for the reason that they dislike to make any fuss about their neighbor's children not attending school, which a truant officer would discover and correct, as he would enforce the law without any regard for anything but the good of the children who ought to be in the school room.

Order on Probate of Will or on Granting Letters of Administration.
State of Nebraska, Wayne county, ss.

At a session of the County Court held at the County Court room in Wayne, in said county, on the 25th day of May A. D. 1903.

Present E. Hunter, County Judge. In the matter of the estate of William R. Jones deceased. WHEREAS, letters of Administration have this day been granted to A. A. Welch as administrator of the estate of Wm. R. Jones, deceased, it is hereby ordered that creditors be allowed six months to present their claims against said estate for adjustment and allowance, and that said administrator be allowed twelve months to settle up said estate from the 25th day of May A. D. 1903.

It is further ordered that notice be given to the creditors of said estate to appear before me at the County Court room of said county on the 25th day of June, 1903; 25th day of August, 1903 and on the 25th day of November, 1903 at 10 o'clock in the forenoon of each day by publication in the WAYNE REPUBLICAN, a newspaper published in said county, for four weeks successively prior to the 25th day of June 1903. E. HUNTER, County Judge.

Midsummer Festival at Sioux City.
June 29th to and including July 4th. $50 to $100 Reward

Can be earned on this occasion by connecting business with pleasure. In order that we may place one or more pianos in every town near Sioux City, we quote you the prices below which will actually save you from $50 to $100 on the purchase of a single piano. Our reasons for making this offer is purely a business proposition. We are in the wholesale as well as the retail piano business, and as a matter of advertisement we make you this offer. Our line of pianos comprise such world renowned makes as the Emerson, Gramer, Vose, Ludwig & Co., Price & Temple, Buttell & Co., and 20 others. We not only have the largest and finest stock of pianos in Sioux City but we are the only concern in the city handling pianos exclusively.

READ THE FOLLOWING QUOTATIONS.

We will reserve for this occasion ten pianos which have been taken back on account of parties failing to make payments. Three piano cases slightly damaged in shipping, seven pianos of various discontinued styles, former price: one $475, two $375, two $350, one $300, and one $250. Now: $325, $285, $250, $225, $195, and $165. One fine Emerson and one fine Vose piano, case slightly damaged, one-third off. One piano special bargain $185 10 organs, Story & Clark, Mason & Hamlin, Crown, Chicago Cottage, Hamilton, Estey, and Packard organs.

All as good as if they just came from the factory. Price: $5, $8, $10, $15, $25 and up to $50. Some of these organs retail as high as $90. The above prices are for cash, however, with interest we will sell on monthly payments on one or two years time.

SPECIAL INDUCEMENT TO MUSIC TEACHERS.
Write what day you will attend the carnival and we will hold any particular day for your inspection.

L. E. JONES, wholesale pianos, 414 4th St., Sioux City, Iowa.

There is just now an opening for the right kind of a young man to learn the drug business. If your mind is fully made up, apply to L. P. Orth, West Side Pharmacy.

Notice to Teachers.

Examinations will be held on the third Saturday, and Friday proceeding, and the third Saturday only in July and August. A grade in Agriculture must be on all certificates issued after July 1, 1903. C. H. BRIGHT, Co. Supt.

Alum Baking Powders.

There are so many alum baking powders about, most of which are represented to be made of cream of tartar, that the following list of powders in which chemists have found alum will be of value: CALUMET, K. C. C. P. The housekeeper or should bear in mind that alum makes a cheap baking powder. It costs but two cents a pound and is made of the same material. The quality, therefore, is usually indicated by the price.

We Know How.

When God made man he done a good job. Every man would be successful and happy if he understood the business he was engaged in. It is not given to man to know what God intended him to do. Therefore man often makes mistakes in selecting his business. Some men change their business when they find out they have made a mistake. Some never succeed in finding the business they were intended for. Very few men start in the business for which they were intended, and for that reason very few make their business a success. Only those who find the business they were intended for and make it a life work succeed. They learn how to do it. Many people in Wayne county wonder why this store is so successful. We were lucky in selecting the business we were intended for and we have made it a life work. We learned how to do it. We sell more clothing than any other store in Wayne county because we know how; we sell more men's and boys' shoes because we know how; we sell more rubber boots and sell a better quality because we know how; we sell more hats and sell the Hawes hat because we know how; we sell more underwear and sell Staley because we know how; we please more people and give better satisfaction than any other store because we know how; we sell clothing cheaper and a better quality because we know how. If you will give this store a trial you will know how we do it. You will know how to do it and will save money and get better satisfaction if you trade here. We will give another suit if a suit goes wrong. We sell because we know how. We don't know how we can get you to come here but we know how we can keep you for a customer if you once trade here. Give this store a trial because we know how to buy and sell clothing and you will know how to save money on clothing bills. It costs nothing to try us.

State Superintendent Fowler will address the school board officials and teachers at the court house Tuesday afternoon at 2:30, and again in the evening, June 9th.

J. T. Leahy has a fine new Prussian Stock Food wagon which will dispense this line of goods to stockman during the coming months. All they are waiting for is dry roads.

Mrs. J. L. Stainaker and family left for Omaha Wednesday morning to make their home there in the future. Mr. Stainaker has been there for about two weeks, having acquired business interests there.

The Wayne County Old Settler's picnic will be held August 20. Bishop Gorrigan, of Sioux City will deliver the address. The music will be by Reed's band Sioux City and Julius Lombard of Omaha. A big time is in store for us that day.

Sunday morning an alarm called the fire department to the residence of W. M. Wright, but the blaze which was caused by some bedding getting too close to the stove pipe in the second story, was extinguished before the department could get there. The damage is slight.

Mrs. W. M. Wright and daughter Mrs. R. H. Jones returned from Chicago Saturday evening with the latter's little son who has recently undergone a surgical operation there. We are pleased to note the conditions of improvement and that his health may be fully restored with time.

Hard work always brings its reward, and Paul Harrington, who has just completed a three years course at the Lexington Military Academy, won first honors of his class in science and military tactics, and Capt. Davis, the officer in charge, recommended him to the Secretary of War for a commission.

Judge E. W. Beghtol and wife, of Holdrege, Neb., arrived in Wayne Friday morning to visit their daughters Mesdames Kate and Hufford and families. Upon their return Miss Alice Kate will go with her grand parents to spend the summer at Holdrege. The Judge has been in attendance at the Masonic grand lodge.

The Wayne K. P. lodge went up to Carroll last Friday evening and instituted there a new lodge of this order, putting through nine of the Carroll boys between twilight and dawn and getting outside of a monster banquet served at the Mossman hotel. Those in attendance from here say it was one of the most pleasant affairs of the kind they had ever been permitted to attend.

Superintendent C. H. Bright has arranged to have a lecture on "Imperial India" by Frank R. Robinson, who lectured before the State Teachers' Association, at Lincoln, in January, and who is most highly regarded as a lecturer and traveller of note. Those who heard him last winter regard his Wayne lecture as a feature worthy of our best patronage, as you will note from what Prof. Snodgrass and Prof. Gregg say of him.

H. H. Hart who was sheriff of Dixon county two terms, was chosen by the Board of Supervisors to fill the vacancy in the treasurer's office caused by the death of J. W. Thompson. The balloting was a dead lock for two days, and Hart's selection was made with the understanding that he would not be a candidate before the convention for the nomination. There are three or four strong candidates for the place and they will go into the race with their chances enhanced by having Hart out of the way.

Drs. Thomas & Lewis, osteopathic physicians, office over Orth's drug store.

E. Wallace Shepherd, an evangelist, is giving series of lectures in a tent across the street west of the postoffice. He is a fluent speaker, and presents in a most interesting manner those subjects, some fifteen of which are to follow his opening lecture given Wednesday night. Nine of his subjects have been announced, the others will follow later. We are pleased to note a good attendance and increasing interest in the subjects of the speaker.

E. Cunningham left us Monday for Billings, Mont., to conduct a four day horse sale. This gentleman is becoming well known as an extraordinary live stock auctioneer and has many calls upon his time. He gets the price and the fact that those sales of common stock and pedigreed stock cried by him have all been above the average has made the demand for his services grow each year until he will have only time for the fancy stock sales in the near future.

Ring out the roast beef and the stew, ring out the pork and beans, ring in the lettuce fresh with dew, ring in the mess of greens. My veins are clogged, my blood is thick, I'm full of rheumatiz, the winter grub has made me sick, and now my gorge has riz. So bring me curley dock and poke, and bile 'em with a jowl, and as they in my system soak, great joy will fill my soul. Take hence the last years cabbage head, cut out the buckwheat cakes, bring spinach from the spinach bed, and a touch of stomach ache.—Ex.

We did John S. Lewis an injustice in our brief mention of the fire at his brick yard last week by saying the damage was about $200. It is really $1200 or more. The shed was 65x70 feet and the labor and lumber would reach several hundred dollars, then the coal supply that burned was considerable more. The actual damage to the kiln is even yet hard to estimate as it is only on opening the kiln can this be known. The cracking and peeling off of the plaster casing of the kiln caused the expense of firing the finish to be double, and should the quality of brick be at all inferior from these causes it would make a large amount of damage at even a few cents a thousand. Our thoughtless estimate from informants who evidently knew even less about it, might be the means of creating a wrong impression of Mr. Lewis' loss, and we make this correction since learning the facts.

Ayer's

Why is it that Ayer's Hair Vigor does so many remarkable things? Because it is a hair food. It feeds the hair, puts new life into it. The hair cannot keep from growing. And gradually all the dark, rich color of early life comes back to gray hair.

THE ADVANTAGES OF USING A ...Janesville Disc Cultivator...

It cuts and buries trash, vines, weeds and stalks. It kills weeds. You can run it up close to the young plant without cutting off or wounding the lateral roots. It leaves a clean field after the crop is taken off as a result of the summer's tillage. It does not shove clods and stalks against the young plant to break it down or bury it. It does not waste your time by accumulating trash which you have to remove. You can cover a great deal of ground with it in a day because it travels steady and you do not have to slow up to uncover smothered plants. You can confine the cultivation to the surface as much as you desire. You know that when the corn plant is a few inches high that it sends forth long and tender side roots, which in turn send out branching rootlets quite near the surface of the ground. They search out the plant food in the upper soil, where the surface cultivation strengthens and aids instead of destroying. And the leysers help to preserve the moisture in the dry season, because they leave a fine, even crumb all over the field which does not easily bake hard, and which preserves the moisture longer than any other method of tillage. That is just the reason that corn worked with a Janesville Disk Cultivator during a drought or a dry season always produces from 25 to 75 per cent. more corn than a neighboring field that was worked with an old style cultivator.

Get the Best Price

Every person having property for sale is anxious to get the best price for it. Any property can be sold by anyone anywhere if the price is made low enough and time enough given. But the getting the full value in cash quickly is another proposition. Your home real estate dealer might perhaps in a short time get a half or a third what your house, business or farm is worth, but can he get you all it is worth? Aye there is the rub!

One Woman Will Sustain the Amputation of Both Arms at the Shoulder—Four Cars Plunged Down an Embankment Flung Feet.

Santa Barbara, Cal.: Overland passenger train No. 22, on the Southern Pacific Railroad, was derailed at a point about a mile east of Rincon at 8 o'clock Saturday night, four cars plunging down an embankment forty feet high, two of them being partly submerged in the sea.

About forty people were injured, some of them seriously. Many sustained broken bones and were badly bruised. A woman whose name was given as Mrs. J. C. Smith had both arms crushed so badly that they will have to be amputated at the shoulders. The injured were brought here as soon as possible by special train, and taken at once to the Cottage hospital and every physician in the city is on duty.

Among the injured are: Mrs. Nelson Johnson, Fort Madison, Ia., bruised and badly cut about the head. O. W. Grady, Lawton, Okla., cut and bruised. J. E. Carr, Creston, Ia., cut and bruised. Mrs. Alice Stebbins, Ithaca, N. Y., head, face, arms and hands cut and bruised.

Mrs. J. M. Casey, Fort Madison, Ia., cut and bruised about the head; feared internally injured. Mrs. Casey, bruised and cut. Five-year-old son of Mrs. Casey, slightly cut.

Nelson Johnson of Fort Madison, Ia., very badly hurt about head and shoulders; feared internally injured. Mrs. H. C. Smith, Highland Park, Los Angeles, both arms will be amputated; other bruises and cuts and internal injuries.

Train about O. M. Wells, right shoulder and back injured.

It is not known just what caused the wreck. It is believed, however, that the rails spread as the engine was passing over them, throwing the first car, followed by three others, down the steep embankment.

Several other cars left the track, but did not go down the bank.

MOTHER DIES, DAUGHTER WEDS

Wedding Ceremony in One Room is Followed by Funeral.

Mt. Vernon, O.: Miss Mary Elma Cline of this city, and George William Worslein of Marysville, O., were married at the home of the bride. In the next room lay the corpse of the bride's mother, whose death followed an operation in Cincinnati. It was the mother's dying request that the wedding, which was postponed several weeks ago, be not postponed.

Immediately after pronouncing the nuptial ceremony the same minister, the Rev. O. Gardner, preached the funeral sermon over the remains of the dead woman, and those who had taken part in the wedding followed the body to the cemetery.

STRENUOUS DAY FOR A TRAMP

Shoots Farmer, Has an Ear Shot Off, Wins River, is Deceived in Barn.

Findlay, O.: A tramp stopped at the home of Joe Harris, near London, Ky., and attempted to force an entrance. He was driven away and went to the home of J. D. Kelley, Harris had phoned Kelley, who met the tramp with a hoe. The tramp pulled a revolver and shot Kelley in the arm. A posse was organized and soon a shooting match was in progress, the tramp losing an ear. The tramp swam across the river and took refuge in a barn. After an hour's chase he crawled through a hole in the foundations and took to the woods. Two possees are now on his trail.

CATCHES HUMAN BODY.

Brings Corpse of a Woman to Surface of the Water on His Line.

Indianapolis, Ind.: While fishing in the White River, near Thirtieth Street, John Crabb brought to the surface the body of a woman. Before he could pull the body into the boat the line snapped and it disappeared. Crabb, however, hurried to the spot with a diver, and in searching the river a piece of cloth, the material used in the woman's dress, was brought to the surface.

Without Water Supply.

Kansas City, Mo.: The city is without a water supply, the flood having disabled the pumping station, and the utmost care is being taken that no fires shall break out. Even a small fire, it is feared, would start a conflagration. Only one street car line is in operation, owing to the disabling of the power plant.

Ship Yards May Shut Down.

Elizabeth, N. J.: The Crescent ship yard at Elizabethport may shut down for an indefinite period because of the frequent strikes at the plant.

Riot at Baseball Game.

Pittsburg, Pa.: In a riot at a baseball game at High Bridge one negro was killed, two were probably fatally shot, a third was badly wounded and thrown over a hill, and three white boys were severely but not fatally shot.

Fire at Racine.

Racine, Wis.: Fire swept the southern manufacturing district of the city, doing about $500,000 damage. The fire started in the boiler room of the Racine Boat Manufacturing Company, and a big tank of gasoline exploded.

Will Agree with Freight Handlers

Chicago: It is expected that the twenty-three big railroads entering Chicago will enter into contracts with the freight handlers providing for a slight increase in wages for the employees in the freight sheds. This will probably avert a general strike.

Many Were Drowned.

Kansas City: A message from Kansas City, Kan., by way of Leavenworth, at 2 o'clock Monday morning says that twenty-seven men were on the Union Pacific bridge, which spanned the Kansas river when it went down, and all of them were drowned.

FLOODS IN KANSAS.

Property Loss Will be Enormous in that State.

Topeka, Kan.: Santa Fe headquarters have been notified of a four-foot rise coming down Kansas River. The Union Pacific Railroad embankment is all that is keeping the Kaw River from sweeping North Topeka, but despite the use of sacks of sand the dyke is weakening. People living on the bottom have been warned and are preparing to move. Water already is flowing down many streets in North Topeka.

Word from Americus, Kan., says that town is three feet under water. The Neosho River is four feet higher than ever before known before. Runners have been sent out from Emporia to notify farmers along the bottoms east of that city that a high water wave is coming down the Neosho. At Bureka, Kan., homes have been abandoned. Heavy damage to property has been done.

At Abilene the flood waters from Mad Creek swollen by twelve hours' rain, swept through, doing damage estimated at $100,000. Chapman, Solomon and Fairbairn, nearby towns, fared equally bad. The loss to the country is tremendous.

Abilene has no water, lights, postoffice service or newspapers. The city has been cut off from the outside world. Kansas City, Mo.: Nearly four inches of rain fell in portions of Kansas, adding to the already bank full streams and rendering the flood in that state most serious.

It is still raining at many points and the local weather bureau predicts further heavy rain for the next few days, resulting in enormous damage and causing the most serious flood perhaps in the history of the state.

Judges are washed out, railway tracks submerged, thousands of acres of bottom lands covered and hundreds of telegraph poles are down. Telegraphic communication with many points is shut off. Trains are delayed in every direction.

RIVERS RISING AGAIN.

Outlook in Des Moines, Ia., is Worse Than Ever.

Des Moines: All Friday afternoon heavy rain was falling and the streets of Des Moines are flooded with water. The rain continued in torrents until late in the night, and as a result the rivers commenced rising again.

From nearly all over the state come reports to the effect that rivers are rising and that further danger from the flood is feared.

In the Des Moines valley from Spirit Lake to the Missouri River the entire bottoms are covered with water and the damage to the corn crop is incalculable. In Fort Dodge, Boone, Madrid, Des Moines, Ottumwa and other points, fully 500 houses are inundated by the waters. In Des Moines alone the damage will reach $500,000.

VERY COSTLY POKER GAME.

Manager Brady Loses Over $20,000 at One "Sitting."

New York: The "shoe string gamblers" along Broadway rolled their tongues vigorously over a poker game at the Greenroom Club, in which eye witnesses say Manager William A. Brady dropped $23,000 in a game of freezout with Commodore Charles Evans, of the famous old team of Evans and Hovey. Evans, an outsider, purchased a stack of blue chips and announced that he would welcome a game of freezout at $1,000 a side.

Brady commenced Mr. Evans to produce his first $1,000. Success smiled on Evans for two hours, when a slight advantage came to Brady. Every hand after that, however, went against Brady until he wrote a sight check for $21,000.

STUDIED LOCK WITH GLAS.

Burglars Studied Safe Combination Through Hole in Ceiling.

Birmingham, Ala.: Bennett Bibb and James Williamson are under arrest here charged with robbing the safe in the union passenger station ticket office of near $7,000. The detectives are after another man named Brady, who is believed to be the mastermind of the party.

The detectives say that the arrests developed an ingenious scheme. A hole was bored through a ceiling of the office and from above the alleged burglars studied the combination through a magnifying glass.

BIG TEXAS CATTLE SHIPMENTS.

The Total for Three Weeks Will Reach 100,000.

El Paso, Tex.: The shipments of cattle through this part of the country are unprecedented. The Mexico-Mormon colonization has shipped 23,000 calves through here to Idaho. Thirteen hundred Mexican cattle have arrived here for Canada. A total of 43,000 Mexican cattle have gone through here in the last two weeks. Sixty thousand Terrazas cattle will be shipped north and east next week. The total for the three weeks will be 100,000.

Heavy Gold Output.

Dawson, Alaska: Never before in the history of banking of Dawson have there been such heavy purchases of gold dust. The amounts purchased by the banks here, in connection with the large amount deposited for safe keeping, will aggregate upwards of $1,250,000. Present indications are the Yukon's output of gold this season will exceed last year's by from $1,900,000 to $3,000,000.

All Goes to Ray for Kisses.

Saratoga, N. Y.: The personal effects of J. P. Tittmore of Galveston are to be sold at auction to satisfy a $2,000 judgment obtained by Miss Frances Pettit, who proved that during a four-year courtship Tittmore had kissed her 1,231 times.

Probable Lynching in Kansas.

Yates Center, Kan.: A negro attacked Mrs. J. C. Lind, wife of a farmer living six miles from here, on a country road. He was arrested in Yates Center and placed in jail. There is much angry talk and he may be lynched.

Run Down by Street Car.

Logansport, Ind.: A street car struck a buggy containing James Morrison and his daughter, killing Morrison. The girl is in a precarious condition. She cannot recover. Miss Morrison was graduated this spring from the high school.

Yacht Founders; Two May be Lost

Port Colborne, Ont.: A small two-spined yacht, with sails set, foundered outside of the Breakwater here. The yacht is supposed to be the Emma Dietrich of Cleveland, recently bought by a Mr. Pettit of Lockport, N. Y. A son of Mr. Pettit and a boy named Bayless were bringing the craft from Cleveland, and are believed to have been drowned.

New Place for Wu Ting Fang.

Pekin: Wu Ting Fang, former Chinese minister at Washington, has been appointed to a subordinate place on the board of foreign affairs. The appointment practically creates a new office.

KICKING MULE IS COSTLY.

Beating Given "Dan" by His Driver Ties Up Three Big Colleries.

Linton, Ind.: "Dan," the boss kicking mule of the Black Creek mine, is the indirect cause of three large mines closing down and of 600 men being on strike. The miners are not about $15,000 in wages and the mines have failed to get out 30,000 tons of coal.

Henry Durrugh was "Dan's" driver at the Black Creek mine. The claim of the company is that on April 28 Durrugh tied Dan up to two posts, lashing his head to one and his tail to the other, and gave him an unmerciful beating with a club four feet long, and inflicted injuries that have made the animal practically worthless.

Durrugh was discharged for the mule whipping. The union demanded the reinstatement of Durrugh, who was struck, and the men struck May 11 and are still out.

WINS A GIRL, LOSES CASH.

Moses A. True, Who Eloped, Cut Off in Will.

Chicago: The reflection of a father's bitterness against the man who had won away his daughter against parental wishes was found in the will of Moses G. Knight, which was filed in the Probate court, and which disposes of an estate of $250,000.

The effect of the instrument, which annulles the death of Mrs. Knight and two daughters, is to divide the estate equally between Mr. Knight's son and daughter, Thomas D. Knight, 2016 Cleveland Avenue, and Mrs. Moses A. True, of 711 West Adams Street.

The will is so worded, however, as to prevent Mr. True from ever coming into possession of any of the estate left to his wife, with whom he eloped from the Knight home years ago.

EXPLOSION KILLS THREE.

Indiana Powder Mill Wrecked and One Hundred Men Idle.

Terre Haute, Ind.: The most disastrous of many accidents at the Indiana powder mill occurred when an explosion caused the death of three men, the loss of $25,000 worth of nitrate of soda, and the closing down of operations for several days, throwing 100 men out of employment.

The explosion was from a hot journal of the shafting in the soda house, and there followed twenty explosions in the next half hour. Harold Stinson, Caleb Hildre, and Fred Arthur, all married men, were killed.

FAITHLESS SERVANT.

Steals $10,000 Worth of Brics-a-brac and Silverware.

New York: A thief in the guise of a servant has robbed the residence of Geo. H. Morgan of this city of brics-a-brac, silverware, and objects of art valued at $10,000. The stolen goods were found in the trunk of a street car last week.

The articles stolen were pieces of ornaments, silverware, rare bits of china, and small works of art, such as statuettes, clocks, gold and silver cups of ancient design and manufacture, and many of them had been picked up by Mr. Morgan during the twenty-five years that he has been an art collector.

PUPILS GO ON A STRIKE.

Walkout is Due to the Removal of Their Teacher.

London, N. J.: Because their principal had been removed by the board of education to resign, 150 boys and girls of the high school have gone on a strike and refused to go to school. A majority of the citizens think the action of the board in forcing out the principal an outrage, and much excitement prevails.

ALLEGED CUBAN DISCREPANCY

Asserted It Will be Accounted for in Final Settlement.

New York: Regarding the statement published in New York that there is $2,000,000 discrepancy between the reports of Gen. Leonard Wood and his secretary of finance of total disbursements during the American military government in Cuba, it is stated, on the highest authority, that the discrepancy will be accounted for in the final settlement between the war department and Senator Quesada, Cuban minister at Washington.

Bain for Wounded Afflictions.

Jefferson City, Mo.: Lena Broyles of Kansas City was given a judgment of $12,500 damages against H. B. Norton of Westport, Mo., for breach of promise to marry by the supreme court. The case was tried at Liberty in 1901, when Miss Broyles was given a verdict for $25,000, which the supreme court says is excessive.

Rob Release Two Prisoners.

Bluefield, W. Va.: A mob of 200 attacked the jail here with pickaxes and crowbars and attempted to liberate two prisoners. The police, seeing that nothing could stop the wrath of the mob but the release of the prisoners, accepted bonds, and the mob dispersed. The prisoners had been arrested for disorderly conduct.

Disastrous Wreck.

Birmingham, Ala.: A head-on collision on the Southern Railway twenty-eight miles west of here, resulted in the death of three engineers, four firemen and one brakeman, the destruction by fire of twelve loaded freight cars and eight empty cars and great damage to the colliding engines.

Bride and Groom Over 70.

Kenosha, Wis.: Louis Kindt and Mrs. Barbara Mueller, both over 70 years of age, were married here. Mr. Kindt is a successful scenic artist.

Escaped Convict Makes Confession

Seattle, Wash.: John Josie, alias John Phillips, now dying in a hospital, has been identified as a convict who escaped from the Kingston, Ont., penitentiary twenty-eight years ago, after serving nine years for the murder of a woman. He confessed his identity.

Alleged Murderer Gains Time.

Valparaiso, Ind.: Truman Beam, charged with the murder of Martha Lawrence, entered a plea of not guilty. It is assumed a continuance until the September term of court.

Night Watchman Assaulted.

Kansas City, Mo.: George Becker, the night watchman of the Union Pacific shops in Kansas City, Kan., was seriously wounded while attempting to disperse a crowd of idlers who had hissed several non-union men as they were entering the building. Becker was knocked down by a stone and was rendered unconscious.

Dragged to Death by a Colt.

Rome, N. Y.: Rena Webster of North-western was killed by being dragged a half mile over a rough highway by a frightened colt whose halter rope she had tied to a post to prevent the animal from getting away.

STATE OF NEBRASKA

Damage by Hail and Wind—Big Feeding Barn is Wrecked Near North Loup—Many Cattle and Horses Killed.

Particulars of the tornado that passed near North Loup have just been obtained. The first damage reported was at the farm of Joseph Trupp, fifteen miles west of Davis Creek, where the cloud struck a barn, wrecking it badly. From there the storm passed to the north, through the hills where few people live, until it came into the valley of the North Loup River, where it struck the farm of Harry Hughes. This was a large feeding barn with sheds attached. It was completely demolished and carried away, together with farming machinery. Thirteen head of cattle and horses were killed outright and several others suffered broken legs and other injuries which made it impossible to kill them.

A disastrous cyclone visited Randolph and its path is strewn with the wreckage of farm buildings for three miles. The loss will figure nearly $70,000.

The Nemaha is again out of its banks in places, and five acres of oats have been blown off Table Rock. Corn planting has been greatly delayed, and the farmers will not be able to get into their fields until next week and many fields are as yet unplanted.

Complete retrus of the wind storm give additional particulars of the damage done. Fortunately the path of the storm was very narrow, only about four miles long. S. Wheeler's large barn south of York, one of the finest in the county, was blown off its foundation and completely demolished, entailing a loss of over $1,000. Nearly all of the force on the west side and some small buildings on the fair grounds were demolished. The large two-story house of Charles Debus was nearly moved off the foundation. The storm was the most severe that ever visited York.

Osmond was visited by a terrific rain and wind storm. Large barns on the Vachal farm, west of the town, were leveled to the ground.

POSTMASTER IS ARRESTED.

Admits He Was Guilty of Illegal Trafficking in Stamps.

Postoffice Inspector Albert O. Swift has taken into custody M. L. Erb, postmaster at Shoem, Neb., on the charge of making fraudulent returns of postal accounts and illegally trafficking in the sale of postage stamps.

Postmaster Erb was arrested by Deputy Marshal Walling and brought before Sanford Parker, United States commissioner for this district, in Spencer.

Inspector Swift had the case so well worked up that Erb saw there was no way to evade punishment or accept himself as the commissioner. He admitted his guilt as charged in a statement and was bound over to appear before the next term of the United States court at Omaha in the sum of $500, which bail he furnished and was released.

SENT TO ASYLUM.

Wife of a Lincoln Barber Tries Twice to Kill Herself.

Mrs. Ida Hoover, wife of a barber, tried twice during twenty-four hours to take her own life, and being unsuccessful was sent to the insane asylum. The first attempt was made Thursday afternoon. The woman was an inmate of the city jail, having been arrested charged with insanity, and to kill herself she tried to cut her throat by sawing it across a sharp nail on the bed, and next tried to smother herself in her cell by using the bed clothing. Mrs. Hoover is about 35 years of age and is the mother of four children. She is the daughter of George Shubert, founder of the town of that name.

TERRIFIC RAIN AT BEATRICE.

Three Inches of Water in as Many Hours.

A most serious condition of affairs exists at Beatrice, resulting from a tremendous rain which fell at the rate of an inch an hour, filling the streets from curb to curb and flooding the street sewers.

The storm was much heavier at Angus, where the storm wind from Nebraska County, where several buildings were damaged, glass broken and roofs injured. No serious damage is yet reported to crops.

SWITCHMAN IS CUT IN TWO.

Engine Passes Over Frank Stankey, Completely Severing His Body.

Switchman Frank Stankey was run over by a switch engine at the R. & M. yards at Hastings and instantly killed. The engine and eleven cars passed over the body in a line extending from the right shoulder toward the left hip, completely severing it. He was 20 years old, unmarried and had five children.

The coroner's inquest returned a verdict of accidental death. Young Stankey was very popular with his fellow employees and it was only through extraordinary persuasion that they were induced to continue their night's work.

WANT INVESTIGATION.

Neighbors Don't Believe Mrs. Fritz Kester Took Her Own Life.

Excitement runs high over the mysterious death of Mrs. Fritz Kester, who is said to have committed suicide at her home one mile from Wellfleet.

The neighbors who live to do farming say she hung herself by her apron to the knob of a closet door, but neighbors have begun to talk of foul play. It is claimed the woman did not die of strangulation, and a demand may be made on the coroner for an inquest.

Republican State Convention Date.

Wagon Bridges Washed Out.

So many bridges across small creeks near Fremont have been reported to the supervisors in a dangerous condition that the bridge committee started on an inspection trip to look at them. Many of the country roads are also reported badly washed out and the damage by the rain will not be finished until June.

Boys Charged with Robbery.

Robert Fuller and Wilson Reddy two small boys were arrested at Nebraska City charged with daylight robbery.

Hope for Coal, Oil or Gas.

The prospects of finding coal, oil and natural gas at Louisville are much stronger now than at any time in the past for this is the unmistakable evidence of these products found within the last few days. The citizens are intensely interested in the matter as a result of the tests made recently.

Killed by Lightning.

John Bowman, a farmer, was struck and killed by lightning at the residence of his wife. He was standing in the store door of a man named White, who was also badly shocked. Bowman was 40 years of age and leaves a wife and two children.

NEBRASKA TORNADES.

Enormous Damage Done Monday Night and Tuesday.

Eastern Nebraska was visited by another series of storms Monday night and Tuesday, several of which developed into small tornadoes. One visited Hastings and blew several buildings to splinters. Another struck German, where the home of D. Parish was demolished, and Mr. Parish, his wife and a child were seriously injured.

Omaha also received a storm which blew several houses from foundations and unroofed others in the southwestern part of the city. Accompanying the severe wind in each instance was a rain storm of unusual severity and as a result several towns in eastern Nebraska were flooded, Springfield, Papillion and Plattsmouth reporting the worst conditions.

One of the most severe storms was at Lincoln, which resulted in the injury of fifteen persons, none fatally. The report received from these states that every dwelling and outbuilding in the town was wrecked. The storm originated in Lincoln and did a great deal of damage in that city, the loss on buildings being estimated at $100,000.

The flood was disastrous at Springfield and six families barely escaped drowning.

A number of other towns, including Raymond, Valparaiso, Beaver Crossing, Ashland, Fremont and others received more or less damage.

STRUCK BY AN ENGINE.

Farmer Tried to Cross Track in Front of Freight Train.

While returning home from Ellis, Joseph Schumier, a prominent farmer residing eight miles west of Beatrice, in attempting to drive across the Rock Island Railroad, was struck by a westbound freight train. The buggy in which Mr. Schumier was riding was demolished and he was carried to the cowcatcher of the engine for nearly 100 yards before the train was brought to a stop. He was taken to his home immediately after the accident, and medical aid summoned.

The physician found that he had sustained a fractured skull and minor bruises about the body. It is thought that he will recover, although he will be confined to bed for some time. His escape from instant death seems miraculous. One of the horses was badly injured in the accident.

JOHN ROBINSON DEAD.

Former Nebraska Congressman is a Victim of Appendicitis.

Former Congressman John Seaton Robinson of Lincoln, Nebraska, died at Madison, Mo., of appendicitis. The deceased was born at Winfield, W. Va., May 4, 1856; received his education in the public schools of that city; was admitted to the bar by the supreme court of West Virginia in 1880; he removed west and settled at Madison, Neb., where he again took up the practice of law; he was admitted to the bar of the state of Missouri in 1888, and re-elected in 1890; in 1893 was elected judge of the Ninth judicial district of Nebraska, and re-elected in 1895, which office he was still holding at the time of his election to the Fifty-sixth congress; was re-elected to the Fifty-seventh congress.

BIG HAILSTONES.

Severe Storm of Wind and Hail at Edgar.

An Edgar special says: This section was visited by another hail storm. After a rather warm day and considerable wind the storm gathered rapidly in the southwest between 3 and 5 o'clock. The wind quieted and just a little before 5, hailstones of immense size began falling, some measuring eleven inches in circumference. They fell without wind and beyond the breaking of a few south windows little damage was done.

The storm was much heavier at Angus, where the storm wind from Nebraska County, where several buildings were damaged, glass broken and roofs injured. No serious damage is yet reported to crops.

SWITCHMAN IS CUT IN TWO.

Engine Passes Over Frank Stankey, Completely Severing His Body.

Switchman Frank Stankey was run over by a switch engine at the R. & M. yards at Hastings and instantly killed. The engine and eleven cars passed over the body in a line extending from the right shoulder toward the left hip, completely severing it. He was 20 years old, unmarried and had five children.

The coroner's inquest returned a verdict of accidental death. Young Stankey was very popular with his fellow employees and it was only through extraordinary persuasion that they were induced to continue their night's work.

WANT INVESTIGATION.

Neighbors Don't Believe Mrs. Fritz Kester Took Her Own Life.

Excitement runs high over the mysterious death of Mrs. Fritz Kester, who is said to have committed suicide at her home one mile from Wellfleet.

The neighbors who live to do farming say she hung herself by her apron to the knob of a closet door, but neighbors have begun to talk of foul play. It is claimed the woman did not die of strangulation, and a demand may be made on the coroner for an inquest.

Republican State Convention Date.

Wagon Bridges Washed Out.

So many bridges across small creeks near Fremont have been reported to the supervisors in a dangerous condition that the bridge committee started on an inspection trip to look at them. Many of the country roads are also reported badly washed out and the damage by the rain will not be finished until June.

RAINS HELP CROPS.

WEEK AN ENCOURAGING ONE FOR AGRICULTURE.

Warm Weather More General and Germination Greatly Advanced—Wheat and Corn in Good Condition—Small Fruits Better than Average.

In the weekly crop report of the weather bureau is the following summary: Respecting temperature, the week in districts east of the Rocky Mountains was the most favorable of the season, and the first in which there has been no complaint of a lack of warmth in some part of this region. Heavy rains from Oklahoma and Arkansas northward to Minnesota had the Dakotas have retarded work in these districts. The drought has been largely relieved in the Ohio valley, the lake region, and the southern portions of the middle Atlantic States.

Good progress was made with corn planting in Indiana, Illinois, Michigan and Wisconsin, but to the westward wet weather has prevented the completion of this work, which is much delayed, while the drought has prevented germination and planting in the middle Atlantic States and New England. In the Southern States the crop has made favorable progress.

In the southern portions of Missouri and Kansas winter wheat has suffered some deterioration, but elsewhere in these States and in Nebraska the crop continues in promising condition.

In the Dakotas, Minnesota, Iowa and Nebraska, spring wheat made rapid growth, and is promising early ripening. In the north Pacific coast States the crop is backward.

In the States of the Missouri valley oats made favorable growth and a decided improvement is reported from Michigan and Illinois. In the Ohio valley and middle Atlantic States the outlook is less promising. Harvesting is general in southern Texas, Georgia and Florida.

There has been a general improvement in the outlook for cotton, particularly in the middle and western districts, but the crop generally is late.

More favorable progress has been made with transplanting tobacco in the Ohio valley, but in the middle Atlantic States the crop is backward. In the Ohio valley and middle Atlantic States the outlook is less promising. Harvesting is general in southern Texas, Georgia and Florida.

AUTO RACE TO DEATH.

Eight Killed, Ten Hurt in the Versailles-Madrid Contest.

Premier Combes of the Spanish government stopped the mad automobile race from Versailles to Madrid after eight were killed and ten injured. The race, which ended at Bordeaux, has been covered by one newspaper, La Franciscana, "the Paris-Madrid magazine." The leaders in the first stage of the race reached Bordeaux at noon Saturday after the most furious and reckless contest ever engaged in by human beings. Machines were crushed to splinters and their drivers left mangled and lifeless by the roadside.

During the afternoon, says a Paris dispatch, word of the accidents began to arrive and cast a black cloud over the event. A dispatch from Bordeaux announced that Lorraine Barrows had met with a shocking accident near Libourne, southwest of Bordeaux, at 1:45. Mr. Barrows was driving a dog cart which was crossing the track and his monster car, No. 5 in the race, struck a tree with terrific force. His chauffeur was killed outright. Barrows himself was picked up unconscious, but still breathing, and was taken to a hospital. His condition is said to be critical. His car was dashed to pieces.

Shortly afterward news came that Marcel Renault, winner of the Paris-Vienna race last year, had been overturned in a deep ditch beside the road near Compe, twenty-one miles from Poitiers, and that he was dangerously injured.

The most terrible accident occurred near Bonnavent, nine miles from Chartres, where machine No. 243, driven by M. Porter, was overturned at a railroad crossing and took fire. The chauffeur was caught underneath the automobile and burned to death, while two soldiers and a child were killed.

A chauffeur was badly injured by an accident to his motor car near Angoulême. A woman crossing the road in the neighborhood of Angoulême was run over by one of the competing cars and killed.

The first stage in the 343 miles was finished at noon, when Louis Renault dashed at a furious pace into Bordeaux, having made a record run of eight hours and twenty-seven minutes.

An hour later M. Gabriel arrived with a still better record of eight hours and six minutes. It is estimated from the times made that these automobiles covered six-and-a-half miles an hour on the road outside the cities. Louis Renault's automobile attained at Bourdeaux a maximum speed of eighty-eight and three-fourths miles per hour.

PLANS A NEGRO REPUBLIC.

Kentuckians Plan to Establish One in Caribbean Sea.

A strong movement is now on foot, organized by H. L. Mosgrove, a Kentuckian and a well-known writer, to induce the Afro-American race to found an empire in the Caribbean. Already the national board at Sturgis, Ky., has received piles of papers, letters and telegrams, containing flaming offers of contributions to the cause, propositions from publishers to issue a book dealing with the question, and requests to deliver lectures and institute the local societies, Sons of Freedom, in various places.

The plan is to purchase or seize the sovereignty of some large island or State outside the boundaries of the United States, set up an Afro-American republic, which shall be administered both as a limited political body and gigantic cooperative commonwealth, all citizens holding certificates in the society to be stockholders, participating in the wealth of the nation, all franchises, land titles, and privileges to rest in the State and be held in common by the people.

COMMERCIAL FINANCIAL

Weather conditions and the labor situation are the dominant influences in the business world.

Unseasonably high temperature at many points, especially in the East, stimulated retail trade in wearing apparel and other summer merchandise to an unusual degree, but had no satisfactory effect upon vegetation, which was promptly reflected in diminished orders for supplies, and in some cases there were cancellations. More conservatism was also shown at the interior, where agricultural progress was with check, and, while no serious injury to the great staple crops is yet reported, the delay to planting induces caution among dealers," according to R. G. Dun & Co.'s Weekly Review of Trade. Continuing, the report says:

On the whole there are fewer wage earners voluntarily idle yet the spirit of unrest has caused the abandonment of some new enterprises and postponement of others, which means less demand for structural materials and labor. Payments are also less prompt, time often being asked where formerly cash transactions were the rule.

Aside from these two adverse factors the trade situation is favorable, and with average weather and industrial peace there is every prospect of continued prosperity throughout the country. Manufacturing plants are generally well equipped, especially in footwear, iron and steel. Trade in all these areas is heavy.

Earnings thus far reported for May exceed last year's by 13.6 per cent and surpassing 1901 by 25.7 per cent.

Readjustment in prices of iron and steel continues, the market gradually resuming normal conditions. There is no evidence of diminished activity as yet, and in many cases prompt deliveries are urged, but as the increased capacity brings plants nearer their orders buyers are naturally less eager to place contracts. The fact that some concessions have been made in quotations tends to postpone business, prospective buyers waiting for still more favorable terms.

Advances of about 10 per cent in wide sheetings indicate that the cotton goods market is beginning to stir, and the high raw material. A still more encouraging sign is the greater interest displayed by purveyors. Warm weather stimulates activity in wash goods for quick delivery. Print cloths are firmer, and no demand for regulars, old goods are not so freely reduced output of worsteds has strengthened the tone, and the recent advanced prices for carpets have not prevented large transactions.

Failures this week are 191 in the United States, against 192 last year, and 14 in Canada, compared with 12 a year ago.

Bradstreet's Trade Review.

While underlying conditions have improved as a whole, there is still room for betterment in several important matters. Railway earnings are no good as ever reported. Gross receipts for the first half of May indicate a 14 per cent increase over last year, while net returns for March show the significant increase of 10 per cent in net on a corresponding increase in gross. Some of the less favorable features are: (1) The heavy which notes the effect of the building trade labor troubles; silk manufacturing at Paterson, which is slack at present, and men's wear woollens, which are still halting as regards fall orders.

Order on Probate of Will.
State of Nebraska, Wayne Co., ss:
At a session of the county court, held at the county court room in Wayne, in said county, on the 2nd day of May, A. D. 1903.
Present, E. Hunter, county judge.
In the matter of the estate of R. H. Gibson deceased.
Whereas, letters testamentary have this day been granted to Earl R. Gibson as executor of the estate of R. H. Gibson deceased, it is hereby ordered that creditors be allowed six months to present their claims against said estate, for adjustment and allowance, and that said executor be allowed twelve months to settle up said estate from the 2nd day of May, A. D. 1903.
It is further ordered that notice be given to the creditors of said estate to appear before me at the county court room of said county on the 2nd day of June, 1903, and on the 2nd day of November, 1903, at 10 o'clock in the forenoon of each day, by publication in the Wayne Republican, a newspaper published in said county, for four weeks successively prior to the 2nd day of June, 1903.
E. HUNTER, County Judge.

Notice of Pendency of Petition for Dower.
COUNTY COURT.
State of Nebraska, ss
Wayne County, ss
To the heirs at law, devisees, and all persons interested in the estate of John Elming, deceased.
You are hereby notified that on the 20th day of April, 1903, Phebe A. Elming filed her petition in the County Court of said county, duly verified, praying for the assignment of her dower in the following described premises, to-wit: The south one-half of the north west quarter of section five (5) township twenty-six (26) range four (4) Wayne county, Nebraska, and lots 10 and 11, block six (6) East addition to the town of Wayne, Nebraska. You are notified to appear at the county court room in the city of Wayne, said county, on the 15th day of May, 1903, at the hour of 10 o'clock in the forenoon, and show cause, if any there be, why the prayer of said petitioner should not be granted. It is further ordered that a copy of this petition be served on all parties interested in said land by publication thereof once each week for three successive weeks in The Wayne Republican, a newspaper printed and published in said county. In witness whereof I have hereunto set my hand and affixed the seal of said Court this 20th day of April, 1903.
(Seal) E. HUNTER, County Judge.

Physical Culture and Cascarine.
Why both are very important: When you wake up in the morning, if your tongue is dry and coated, if there is a bad taste in your mouth, if your head aches and your back feels as if it were broken, if your liver and kidneys are all wrong, most of all you need Cascarine, the famous formulae prescription used by the most noted specialists throughout the world, and second, you need physical culture. Cascarine is a liquid laxative whose action is of the mildest and does not gripe or inconvenience the most delicate stomach and whose effects are wonderful.
Physical culture is that system of physical training which brings unused activity to that part of the body requiring healthful exercise. Write us; we will tell you about it.
If you suffer from dyspepsia, liver kidney or stomach troubles; if you feel tired and indisposed for the least exertion; if your back aches and your head is dizzy—take this treatment. It will remove all those distressing symptoms, because it will remove the cause. It is no use to take medicines which simply relieve for awhile and do not get at the trouble itself—only get at the effects of it. You must get at what causes those symptoms and they will disappear, never to return. Cascarine will do this. Buy a bottle now. The longer you let the trouble go unchecked, the more difficult it will be to overcome it. Cascarine is the ideal remedy for gall stones, liver and spleen troubles after all others have failed. There is one genuine Cascarine, made by Dr. Cassell & Co. For sale by the nearest Pharmacy. Price 25 cents.

JUST FOR FUN.

(Clipped.)

An Idaho undertaker has knocked out the well known advertisement "you press the button, we do the rest," with the following startling one: "You kick the bucket, we do the rest."

It is reported that a young married man of Gioconda, wrapped in the greatest excitement, flew to the telegraph office of his town and wired his wife's relatives a happening as follows: "Twins today, more to-morrow."

One of the best things said lately was by a Missouri editor. In addressing his Sunday school class he said: "Fame has taken men from the forge, the plow and the carpenter's bench, but she was never known to reach over a picket fence and snatch a dude out of hammock."

A Frenchman who was charmed with the singing of a young lady in "Our New Minister" last week arose in his enthusiasm and excitedly shouted: "Encore! Encore!" An Irishman sitting beside him caught him by the coat tails and said: "To the devil with Ann Cora. Let the same girl sing."

An Illinois paper advertises that mothers can check their babies "during the parade at the nursery department of Blank's drug store." A parade in the nursery department of a drug store must be an interesting sight, but we suppose the people who have babies and drug stores know what they are about.

A Missouri editor has created a sensation by printing a strong editorial defensive of Sunday fishing. He insists that it is no more a sin to catch fish on Sunday than to catch a yellow-legged chicken for a minister's dinner. The comparison is clever and may save him much unpleasant criticism from the pulpit.

The following dialogue between a local physician and a certain young lady in town took place not long since. Approaching the medical man, the lady was taken with a violent coughing spell, when the doctor inquired: "What seems to be the matter, Mrs. —?" "Well, doctor, I have got some lint on my lungs." "Lint on your lungs? Why how did that happen?" "Oh, chewing the rag," replied the lady, who suddenly left him a sadder, and we suppose, a wiser man.

Two devoted lovers, George and Lizzie, were crossing the fields approaching the town of Bethlehem, Pa. The sounds of the grasshoppers and katydids filled the air as they came in sight of a church. It was Sunday morning and the congregation were singing a melodious hymn. Lizzie heard it, but George did not, and she said: "Oh, George, isn't that beautiful!" He, thinking she referred to katydids, replied: "Yes, and they are doing all that with their hind leg."

It makes all the difference in the world where the language is used. According to President Harris, for instance, a word that is looked upon as profanity in Boston, may express the deepest sentiment out West, in proof of which he tells the following story: A rough miner died out West and was laid away by his fellow laborers, with a common slab of stone to mark his resting place. One of the stones was inscribed: "Bill Jenkins. Died June 13, 1901. He done his damndest. Angels could do no more."

An editor got a cattle show and a concert mixed in making up, and now has to keep it. This is the way he did it: "The concert given by Robinson's most beautiful young ladies was highly appreciated. They sang in the most charming manner, winning the plaudits of the entire audience who pronounced them the finest herd of shorthorns in the country. A few are of rich brown color, but the majority are spotted brown and white. Several of the heifers are able-bodied, fine limbed and promise to prove good milkers."

An editor who was running a daily paper in a small town in Pennsylvania had a hard tussle to "make both ends meet"—and then very often the "meet" was mostly rind. He was anxious to get some business from a firm that was doing considerable newspaper advertising in his territory and he wrote soliciting an order for his paper. The reply came: "Where does your paper go?" To this the editor answered: "North and South America, Europe, Asia and Africa, and it is all I can do to keep it from going to h—." He got the contract.

An editor's small son, who lives in a nearby city, recently said to his mother: "Mamma, I think the man who takes away our asses is the best man I know, I think he is even better than papa." His mother expressed surprise and asked why he thought the assman better than his father. "Well," said the boy, "he came with a poor mule the other day and after he had filled the wagon he told the mule to get up. But the mule was tired and would not go. The man whipped the mule hard, but even then it would not go. Then that good man sat down on the grass and told the poor mule all about Jesus and the bad place."

A Missouri editor laughed and said: "A new burglar alarm photographs the burglar, arouses the family and calls the police." At which the people marveled and took counsel together and said one to another: "Let us give thanks." And at this time appeared another editor speaking, saying: "The inventor might just as well have made it so it would grab the burglar and kick him out of the house, leaving the head of the family undisturbed in dreamland." With one accord the people paid their subscription and a man brought in a load of wood on subscription, green in substance full of sap.

AROUND ABOUT.

Miss Rosa Rundquist is up from Wayne this week visiting with her parents at this place—Wausa Gazette. George Reed by purchase took possession of the Pentico bakery Monday. Mr. Reed is an expert baker and cook and will endeavor to conduct his business on first class lines.—Randolph Times.

Prof. W. A. Richardson, of Wayne, has been engaged as principal of the Carroll schools for the coming year. There were quite a number of applications for the place but Mr. Richardson had a preference with the board from the first. He comes highly recommended and our school patrons are assured of a strong school man in him.—Carroll Index.

The Northwestern will soon establish entirely new yards at South Norfolk and put in machine shops. The improvements will cost thousands of dollars and will be commenced at once. The plans contemplate a new brick round house, coal sheds, machine shops, watering station, 70-foot turn table, new office buildings and new system of switches and five miles of side track. The land has been purchased and work will commence at once, it probably taking three or four months to complete the improvements. The machine shop is a very important addition as all repairing which was formerly done at Missouri Valley will be done at South Norfolk... T. F. Ziegler, the defaulting ex-county treasurer of Cedar county, has made good his shortage of nearly $25,000. The money was turned over to the county Saturday and this action probably closes the affair as it is not likely, the shortage having been made good, that the embezzler will be further prosecuted.—Pierce County Leader.

Rev. G. W. Hagans, of Clyde, Ohio, says: "I have used Dr. Warner's White Wine of Tar Syrup for sore throat, weak lungs, coughs, colds, and any diseases of the kind it surpasses all other remedies. Many thanks to the doctor for his valuable remedy. Sold by L. P. Orth.

Be Careful of the Children.
In this day of sanitation, when we are sterilizing milk and various foods we use, filtering the water, using germ-proof brooms, sanitary clothing, plumbing, heating, etc., you should invest in a refrigerator. Never before in the history of the world has there been such precautions taken against microbes and bacilli as at the present time. Did you ever stop to think that you have perhaps overlooked your refrigerator. All the food, the very substance that enables us to exist, passes through the refrigerator. Then why do you keep your food in that poisonous, corroded, zinc lined refrigerator that is lurking with microbes and disease? Children form the most delicate thermometer of health, having less strength they show quickly the evil effects of any cause. Milk, the baby's food, should be kept in an absolutely pure and clean place if we expect baby to keep well. We should respect hygienic truth for baby's sake, even though we do not for ourselves. The HERRICK REFRIGERATOR is built on sanitary principles and is the only one that is so built. Sold in Wayne by TERWILLIGER BROS.

For treatment of chronic disease or electric treatment go to Dr. Neiman.
Dixon has had a rural mail route established and it will be ready for business about July 1st.
The Catholic church at Dixon has purchased a parsonage and expects to have a resident priest soon.
J. W. Bartlett was in Grand Island all this week attending the session of the College Board and the commencement exercises of the Baptist College there.
M. S. Moats, of Sholes, spent last week in Missouri looking over the country and may locate there. He took a time when Missouri was at her worst and had a chance to see her flooded in good shape and will know the high places in case of another flood should he locate there.

Hoskins waterworks suffered a backset the past week, the dam wasn't worth a d—, it went out with the flood.

A dry goods merchant in Atchison exhausted his patience one day and wrote his poem, which he took around to the Globe: "There are some shoppers in this town who think they know it all, but they never buy in Atchison oh, no, this town is too small. They shop, and shop, and shop, and on clerks they have no pity, but when they have a cent to spend they go to Kansas City. But human nature's much the same no matter where you go, and while our dear friends here think our stores so very slow, in Kansas City, her sister or cousin to say the least, can't find a thing to suit her there and so goes farther east. In Chicago, that big city that is ruled by men from Cork, her sister's sister fails to find any thing this side New York. While in New York another sister—and there are many more than three—can't find a thing to suit her there, and she goes across the sea. In London and in Paris where her other sisters dwell, I really don't know where they go, but I hope they go to —."

PIANO CONTEST!

THE WAYNE REPUBLICAN will give a beautiful Concert Grand Piano made by Chickering Bros., Chicago, and listed by them at $525.00, to the most popular lady in Wayne county and vicinity absolutely free, this lady to be designated by ballots cast for her by subscribers to, and by readers of the WAYNE REPUBLICAN, according to the terms and conditions set forth as follows:

- 1—Any lady, married or single, may enter the contest.
  - 2—Any and every lady receiving one or more votes will be accredited with them at once and the result announced in these columns.
  - 3—In every paper printed from June 15, to December 24, 1903, will appear two coupons; one is a FREE VOTE and may be voted by any one, the other is a SUBSCRIBER'S BALLOT and is to be voted by subscribers for whom they choose. For each cent paid by the subscriber, new or renewal, or arrears on account of subscription, one vote may be cast.
  - 4—Free votes must be cast within the time limit printed on each else they become void. Subscriber's ballots may be cast at any time before the contest closes, which will be at six o'clock p. m. December 24, 1903.
  - 5—A ballot box will be placed in the REPUBLICAN office in which the ballots may be placed by the person voting or by some one for him, ballots may also be sent by mail. As votes are received they will be deposited in the ballot box, which will be kept under lock, and once each week in the presence of some disinterested person the same will be opened and the votes counted for the purpose of ascertaining the standing of the candidates.
  - 6—The piano may be seen (or its counterpart) on exhibition at the M. S. Davies Book Store in Wayne at any time, and all interested may thus know it is no cheap affair, but that is a splendid instrument, beautiful in tone as well as in finish, and for reason of its high grade was selected especially for this contest to lend character and interest to it, for too often a cheap piano is selected to give away in a piano contest and the winner is wasting time in competing for it. But we are going to do this right—we are going to give the winner a piano equal to the best one in any home in the county, and to gain us the acquaintance we wish, to add to our subscription list as many new readers as possible, and to clean up the last dollar of a large amount of back subscription, we desire the interest to be genuine and make those who participate in the contest feel that they are doing something worth while and that their efforts are appreciated by this paper.
- Any lady contesting, or any one else, may act as agent to receive subscriptions for us, and a liberal commission will be paid them to do so. Blanks will be furnished them on application, also, they may extend to subscribers any and all clubbing combinations offered at any time.

PERISH IN THE FLOOD

SOUTHERN CLOUDBURST RESULTS IN HEAVY LOSS OF LIFE.

Property Damage in Millions—Raging Water Wipes Out Everything in Its Course—Number of Dead Not Known.

Spartanburg, S. C.: So many wires are down and communication of all sorts is so thoroughly demoralized that it is impossible to form any definite calculation of the loss of life in Saturday's cloudburst and the resultant floods.

The mortality list may go to 160, the more conservative estimates place it at somewhere around forty or fifty. The total property loss in the entire section laid waste by the storm is likely to aggregate $2,000,000.

The loss in Paoli is placed at $1,000,000, summarized as follows: Mills No. 1 and 2 demolished. Twenty-eight thousand spindles were washed away, 3,500 bales of cotton, $200,000 worth of other goods in company's store damaged, grist mill, cotton gin, postoffice, shoe shop, blacksmith shop, dental office, livery stable and Presbyterian Church were all washed away.

At a late hour at night scores of people were clinging to the branches of trees at Clifton, and could not be reached.

RAINS DELAY CROPS.

CENTRAL STATES SUFFER FROM EXCESS OF MOISTURE.

Government Report Gives Condition of Grain Throughout the Union—Crops All Later than Usual—Frosts in Some Sections Cause Damage.

The crop report issued by the weather bureau says the States of the lower Missouri valley and portions of the Mississippi valley have suffered much from heavy rains, especially from the eastern portions of Kansas, Nebraska and western Missouri. Drought continues in New England, the northern portion of the middle Atlantic States and in Florida, and gains are noted in portions of the central Gulf States and in southern Texas. Drought conditions have been relieved in the Ohio valley and over the greater part of the middle and North Atlantic States. The latter part of the winter was unseasonably cool in the lower Missouri valley, west Gulf district and New England, damaging frosts occurring in the last named district. Very favorable temperatures prevailed in the Ohio valley and south Atlantic Gulf States. More favorable conditions than in the previous week are reported from the Pacific coast States, much needed showers having occurred in Oregon and Washington. Wet weather has caused further delay in corn planting in the Mississippi and upper Mississippi valleys, where much of the corn is unharmed and the early planted is becoming weedy. In the eastern portion of Kansas and Nebraska and in Iowa corn fields have been badly washed out and much replanting will be necessary. In Iowa the acreage will be materially reduced. In Illinois planting is practically finished and an excellent crop of corn is expected. In the upper Ohio valleys planting is also delayed, and early fields in some portions are suffering for cultivation. In the Southern States corn has experienced a very favorable week and is largely well up.

Wheat on low lands in the eastern portion of Kansas and Nebraska and northwestern Missouri has sustained injury from floods, but on the whole the crop has made satisfactory advancement, an improvement being generally indicated in the Ohio valley, lake region and middle Atlantic States. Hare-sting is general in Texas and has begun in Arkansas and Missouri. In the latter wheat has made slow growth in Washington and Oregon and the fields in the eastern portion of Oregon are unusually weedy. In California the outlook is not promising and much late wheat is being cut for hay. In Nebraska, the Dakotas and northern Minnesota spring wheat has made slow growth and in the southern Minnesota, Wisconsin and Iowa the crop on low lands has suffered much from heavy rains. In Washington and Idaho the crop is greatly improved.

On low lands in the lower Missouri and upper Mississippi valleys oats have suffered from heavy rains, but on the whole the crop has made satisfactory advancement. In the Ohio valley a great improvement is reported. In New York and Pennsylvania the outlook is not promising. Further improvement in the condition of cotton is generally indicated, but the crop as a rule is from two to three weeks behind the average. The outlook for the transplanted cotton in the Ohio valley and the middle Atlantic States. The prospects for apples are promising in many of the important apple States. The late crop appears promising in the Mississippi and upper Mississippi valleys.

State Reports.

Illinois. Beneficial rains except portion of the State and a little wind improved conditions, but some crops are in danger of rot. In central Iowa some fields plowed up, corn, potatoes and melons improved, corn particularly well. In the north, wheat, corn, soybeans, alfalfa, clover, timothy, clover, meadows, pastures, potatoes and garden crops improved. In the south, wheat, corn, soybeans, alfalfa, clover, timothy, clover, meadows, pastures, potatoes and garden crops improved. In the west, wheat, corn, soybeans, alfalfa, clover, timothy, clover, meadows, pastures, potatoes and garden crops improved.

Minnesota. Very favorable week in which the west and north of the State, without wind, and heavy rain, which has done much for the crops. In the north, wheat, corn, soybeans, alfalfa, clover, timothy, clover, meadows, pastures, potatoes and garden crops improved. In the south, wheat, corn, soybeans, alfalfa, clover, timothy, clover, meadows, pastures, potatoes and garden crops improved.

North Dakota. Crops in excellent condition and growing fast. Early wheat covers the ground, corn, soybeans, alfalfa, clover, timothy, clover, meadows, pastures, potatoes and garden crops improved. In the south, wheat, corn, soybeans, alfalfa, clover, timothy, clover, meadows, pastures, potatoes and garden crops improved.

Kansas. Reports meager; wheat blowing and corn badly washed in low lands; sections, much to be planted; needs sunshine and cultivation; wheat, grass and alfalfa growing; fields, pastures, meadows, potatoes and garden crops improved.

Albany the Rural Routes. It is planned to double the rural mail delivery service this year. About 15,000 new routes will be established. Congress appropriated $10,000 ten years ago for an initial experiment in rural free delivery. Since then the appropriation has increased to $8,000,000 for the current fiscal year and $3,500,000 for the fiscal year beginning July 1 next.

THE WEEKLY HISTORIAN

ONE HUNDRED YEARS AGO.
The invention of steel pens by "Mr. Water" an Englishman, was announced. Great Britain took possession of Guyana. A copper plate engraving machine was invented by Talbot, a native of London, England. A steam reaping press was invented by two Germans, König and Bauer. Napoleon visited Antwerp and decided to spend $100,000,000 in dock construction there.

SEVENTY-FIVE YEARS AGO.
Treaty between Brazil and Argentina was signed to end the contest for the independence of the State of Bahia. Original from the territory over which they had fought. The walk of the Brunswick Theater in London fell during a rehearsal and killed a large number of persons. Henry Clay, referred to at that time as the "Trading Secretary" succeeded in raising $10,000 at Philadelphia for a Kentucky education fund.

FIFTY YEARS AGO.
The ninth-month of the island of Cuba was reported under cultivation. All French vessels in English ports were seized by the latter government, and Napoleon retaliated by making all Englishmen in France prisoners of war. The second relief expedition left New York to search for Sir John Franklin's arctic exploring party.

THIRTY YEARS AGO.
A large number of women were arrested at Demassville and Williamstown, Ky., for expressing sympathy with the rebels, and were ordered deported south. Two companies of infantry from Camp Douglas took possession of the Chicago Times office and destroyed part of its morning edition. A treaty convention at Cooper Institute, New York, adopted resolutions denouncing the Civil War as unconstitutional.

THE LONDON TIMES PREDICTED THAT THE AMERICAN CIVIL WAR NEVER WOULD END, EXCEPT THROUGH THE FAILURE OF MEN OR OF CATHOLICISM.
The national convention to urge a ship canal between the great lakes and the Mississippi was opened in a tent at Chicago, with Hannibal Hamlin, Vice-President of the United States, presiding. The Illinois House of Representatives adopted resolutions denouncing Gen. Burnside for violating a "God given" right in suspending the publication of the Chicago Times. Gen. Payne inaugurated a system of hiring ex-slaves to their former masters, the latter contracting to pay the men $8 monthly and the women $5. Gen. F. S. Grant was criticized for exposing himself to rebel sharpshooters by sitting on a fence and smoking during the Vicksburg bombardment. Gen. Burnside forbade the circulation of the Chicago Times and the New York World in the department of the Ohio. Four thousand rebel prisoners reached Cairo, Ill., and were started by train for Indianapolis. Gen. Burnside threatened to hang every man in his possession if Gen. Bragg retreated for the former's execution of two rebel spies. A mob of Milwaukee women attacked a United States draft officer with clubs and stones and severely injured him before he could escape. President Lincoln revoked Gen. Burnside's order suspending publication of the Chicago Times. Gen. Pemberton, Confederate commander at Vicksburg, Miss., appealed to Gen. Joseph L. Johnston for assistance, but he declared that his provisions would last but thirty days longer. The United States government contracted for the supply of land for miles square, which were to be supplied to wounded soldiers free of cost. President Lincoln's policy was endorsed at a large union meeting in the Chicago court house square.

THIRTY YEARS AGO.
The Massachusetts labor reform party appealed to the workmen of the country for support, on the ground that one of the old parties belonged to the "past," and the other to the "future." Massachusetts T. Walworth, the lawyer, was shot to death by his 19-year-old son in the Sturtevant House in New York. The bridge accident at Dixon, Ill., by which over twenty persons were killed while watching a baptism, was attributed by Gen. Winfield Scott to the "unhappy" day of the Lord's day, and attention was called to the death of Chief Justice Salmon P. Chase shortly after he returned from a Sunday ride. Capt. Jack and his band of Madoc Indians were reported to have surrendered to Gen. Winfield Scott near Clear Lake. Spain announced that the indemnity paid to Cuban slaveholders would be invested in plantations.

THIRTY YEARS AGO.
Twelve persons were killed and twenty-six injured in a panic on the newly opened Brooklyn bridge.

LI HUNG CHANG, PREMIER OF CHINA, THREATENED WAR AGAINST FRANCE UNLESS THE LATTER RECOGNIZED THE CHINESE CLAIMS TO ANNAM.
The national free trade convention opened at Detroit with Anson Phelps Stokes, Charles Francis Adams, Jr., and J. Sterling Morton among the delegates. England annexed the vast African territory of the Bechuanas, north of the Orange Free State, because of the frequent wars of that tribe with the Boers. The Bartholdi statue, committee at New York appealed to the country for $100,000 with which to complete the pedestal of the statue of Liberty.

OWEN MCCARTHY OF SARATOGA IS THE OLDEST MAN IN NEW YORK, BEING 108.
Russell Sage, at 86 years of age, has just engaged a valet to "tag around." James A. Dumont, reappointed steamboat inspector at New York, is 80 years of age. Gen. Lew Wallace has been asked to get up a Ben-Hur chariot race for the Indiana State fair this fall. Through recent purchases, John D. Rockefeller now owns 3,000 acres in the famous Sleepy Hollow valley.

STOP POSTAL ABUSES.

PROTESTS OF COUNTRY MERCHANTS ARE HEARD.

Rural Carriers Will Not Be Permitted to Act as Agents for Mail Order Firms—Complaints From All Parts of the Country.

Owing to the vast number of complaints forwarded to the Postoffice Department at Washington by the proprietors of country stores and other local industries, an order has been issued discontinuing the practice of sending to a large number of manufacturing concerns and mail order firms throughout the country daily bulletins containing information regarding the establishment of local routes, their location and the names of their carriers.

This practice of distributing information wholesale under a government frank was held to be unjust discrimination in favor of the big concerns of the country and against the industries of the rural communities.

A second step in the endeavor to correct the existing conditions will be taken by Postmaster General Payne within a few days, when he will issue an order calling the attention of the employees of the rural free delivery service to that section of the postal regulations which prohibits a carrier on a rural route from acting as agent for any firm in the sale of commodities to patrons along his line of route.

The third step will be taken by the Postmaster General some time in the near future by rescinding the order issued some months ago instructing each postoffice to post in a conspicuous place in his office the names and addresses of patrons along the rural routes branching out from his headquarters.

Ever since this last order was issued the department has been deluged with complaints and petitions, requesting, urging and even demanding its revocation.

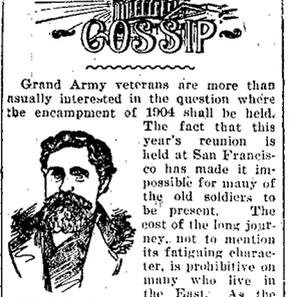

One of the most serious aspects of the case is considered to be that with regard to rural carriers acting as agents for various concerns. It is this practice which more than any other has enabled the mail order firms to secure a strong foothold in rural communities and to make great inroads into the business of their local competitors.

Many of the petitions received said that rural carriers in certain communities acted as purchasing agents for commission houses which dealt in eggs, butter and cheese; others who represented large dairymen, went about on the lookout for bargains in cows and contracted for the delivery of milk at railroad stations, while still others bought hay, corn, wheat and other farm products for the farms represented by them.

These same carriers or others, the complaints asserted, acted as agents for sometimes as many as a dozen firms and sold more different things than they could carry. They took orders for clothing, both for men and women, canned goods, flour, stoves, lamps, harness, sewing machines, in fact everything that is included in the assorted stock of a country store and many things that are not.

The officials of the Postoffice Department declare that every effort will be made to prevent the sort of discrimination against local industries and to preserve the popularity of the growing service, which is daily becoming a more important branch of the postal system.

WASHINGTON GOSSIP

GEN. J. C. BLACK.
Grand Army veterans are more than usually interested in the question where the encampment of 1904 shall be held. It is a fact that this year's reunion is held at San Francisco. Gen. J. C. Black of Chicago is to be elected commander-in-chief of the Grand Army, without any opposition. John Charles Black was born at Lexington, Miss., Jan. 27, 1839, and graduated at Wabash College, Crawfordsville, Ind., and later received the LL. D. degree from Knox College. He served in the Civil War from 1861 to 1865, enlisting as a private and being brevetted a brigadier general. He was United States pension commissioner, 1885-89; member of Congress, 1893-95; United States Attorney for Illinois, 1895-99, and is a past commander of the Military Order of the Loyal Legion in Illinois, and the Illinois Department of the G. A. R.

Over 22 per cent of the men who enlisted in the army for the war with Spain have thus far applied for pensions. This is shown in a brief special statement just prepared by Commissioner Ware. The statement shows in detail that the number of applications under the head of "Invalids" is 57,046 and those under the head of "Widows and Dependents" is $3,300. There have been allowed 0.881 invalid pensions and 2,191 of the widows and dependents class. A total of 18,185 claims have been rejected, leaving 34,210 claims pending May 1, the date to which Commissioner Ware brought down his figures. New applications are coming in daily by the hundred and the indications are that at the end of the year nearly 50 per cent of the men who were enrolled on the army lists during the war with Spain will have applied to the government to have their names placed on the pension lists. It appears from the numbers of claims already made that a greater proportion of the men who were in the army during the war between the spring of 1898 and the summer of 1901 than in any other army ever raised by the United States had determined to ask the government for a life pension for the service rendered.

There is a story afloat that the government of Venezuela is about to offer to the United States the island of Margarita, which stands about 100 miles off her north coast, in a situation to command the eastern part of the Spanish main. This is the island that Germany has coveted, and a man-of-war from the Kaiser's fleet made extensive surveys of the island and the waters around it. San inquired what it was doing and gave notice that the Monroe doctrine would prevent the accession of any territory on this side of the Atlantic by the German government. It is believed that there was a secret understanding between the Germans and President Castro for leasing the island as a naval station through the Hamburg-American Steamship Company, which has a line to Panama, and at the time was very anxious to obtain a coaling depot in the Caribbean sea. It is not known how much truth there is in the story.

In answer to her suggestion that a claim for compensation be lodged against Turkey in the amount of the ransom paid for her release by the brigands Miss Ellen Stone has been requested to supply the Department of State with the necessary information upon which to frame a formal application. It appears that so far outside the world of the people are the reports of Miss Stone's picture, esoteric and sensational experience in Turkey, the State Department has very little official information upon which to proceed at this stage, and until more is supplied it does not feel warranted in pressing the matter.

Postmaster General Payne has received the resignation of John Algood, the negro free delivery carrier at Gallatin, Tenn., who was held up and ordered under threat of death to leave his route. The report of the agent who investigated the case shows that Algood's troubles so far outside the world of the people are the reports of Miss Stone's picture, esoteric and sensational experience in Turkey, the State Department has very little official information upon which to proceed at this stage, and until more is supplied it does not feel warranted in pressing the matter.

The circulation of the national banks of the United States has passed $400,000,000, the largest amount in history, and the bureau of engraving and printing is making plans for the day to fill the orders for notes which have already been placed with the Comptroller of the Currency. On Dec. 31 last the total circulation of national banks was $384,829,784. At the close of business Wednesday it was $399,041,705.

President Roosevelt has been asked to visit the native born Chinese children of San Francisco in obtaining an education in the public schools of that city. The complaint is made that the Chinese are combined in a special school and are there insufficiently instructed.

Love's Strategy

PHILL told down the steps of the Belvidere and headed for me. "Ed," he exclaimed, "I'm in an awful hole!" "I don't want to borrow money—it's worse. I invited Mrs. Brittain and her daughter to lunch this noon—you know the Brittain's?" "I nodded."

"Now on my way to keep this appointment I met my aunt and cousin Nathalie. Unfortunately, I permitted the old lady to understand my intention of lurching alone at the Belvidere, and as a relative she forthwith invited herself."

"Well?" I interrogated. "It's like this. Aunt Hall disapproves of the Brittain's, while my inclinations tend toward Miss Agnes. Nevertheless, I am dependent on my aunt's bounty for all extras and would be in a fix should she decide to raise hedges, so you can see how I am up against it."

"How do you expect me?" "That's all right, Ed. I've got the Brittain's in the Egyptian room and auntie is down on unnecessary expenditure. I intend being present at both tables."

I followed, humbly glad of an opportunity to feast my eyes on the forbidden fruit of my desire. Mrs. Hall stared stonily, but Nathalie was condescendingly affable, and I embraced the chance offered by devoting my entire conversation to her, leaving to Phill the pleasant task of thawing out his aunt.

"I say, Ed," he exclaimed, after expounding an amount of persuasive heat, equal to three tons of best anthracite. "There is considerable unbusiness on the street to-day. Copper Range ballrooming and Steel company depressed. If the ladies could excuse me an instant I should like to telephone a stop order on Mohawk to Samuels."

"Certainly, Phillip," replied Aunt Hall, frigidly, and she turned her endeavors into an attempt to petrify me by staring through my head at the Grecian frets of the wainscoting. I struggled on manfully until I turned with some relief to an approaching waiter.

WHAT A PRETTY WORLD THIS IS.

BEAUTIES SURROUND COUNTRY DWELLER.

"Oh, isn't the world pretty!" exclaimed President Roosevelt, as he stood on a hill in Yellowstone Park, with a plain filled with grazing elk and other game spread out before him, with the morning songs of birds in his ears and the early sun driving the great banks of dark clouds into the west. What a boyish exclamation for the ruler of the greatest nation on earth! But it showed a trait of the man which is lovable, and loved.

Did you ever sleep just below the rafters, in an old country house where you could hear the rain playing on the shingles and the mice whispering in the seed corn that hung in bunches on the wall? The sun woke you up, didn't it? It first crept across the old patchwork quilt at your knees. You saw it, but the husk mattress was the most comfortable thing on earth and you'd take just one more snooze. The cows down in the lot wouldn't mind it and maybe dad wasn't up yet, anyway. But soon the sun got up the quilt to your eyes, and mother was poking at the cook stove downstairs, and you could lie abed no longer. Out you jumped and in ten seconds you had on shirt and breeches—all dressed. Gosh! those were bully times—no collars, no cuffs, no stockings, no shoes! Then you went to the tin wash basin on the bench beside the kitchen door and doused yourself with cool water from the rain butt. A bluejay was yelling murder in the old apple tree by the well. The pigs were squealing peevishly. The red calf was bawling hungrily. The spotted one was sucking the end of a fence rail and butting it occasionally. The turkey gobbler was making explosions by spreading his great tail and his blue and red throat sent forth one continual roll of gobbles. A bluebird on the clothes line was whispering his pathetic little melody as if afraid that the world would know he was happy and take his happiness away from him.

Then you drove the cows from the pastures to the milking yard. You walked in the long, winding path through the lot, because it was warm in the sand there and there were thistles at the side that were not good for bare feet. The bumble bees were already humming over the thistle blossoms and quarreling with the yellow butterflies. The big bunches of purple thoroughwort were alive with honey bees and wasps. How that red-headed woodpecker was hammering on the old chestnut stump! The covebees in the grass were full of diamond dewdrops. The chipmunk that lived in the stone heap near the pasture hens was on his highest rock washing his face with his paws. And dad comes to do the milking, and he's cross. He's had to pass through the kitchen, where mother's fixing up fried salt pork and milk gravy and baked potatoes, and griddle cakes with new maple syrup—Oh, Lord! Oh, Lord! who wouldn't be cross, not to go at all those things at once?

The world is pretty. Did you ever lie on the grass under the big pig-hickory, across the road from the house, and look up and up? You've ever so far, a cloud, sailing along in the blue, that looks like a great flake of snow. You can see its faint shadow passing over the wheat like a wave. Where is it going? Is it possible that God is sending it somewhere for a purpose? Does it mean rain to famishing people 'way off in India? How many other farmer's boys are watching it? Will it always keep together, or will it disappear as does that halo of heat that is quivering over the woods, down beyond the pasture? How cool it is under the hickory! What a blamed good idea was that got up by the fellow who invented an hour's rest at noon! Those sparrows scouring themselves in the rock kick up a lot of dust. The sun makes the little new shingles on the house look like silver. There's one of those two woolly catpillars linging by his thread from that branch up there! He's coming down lower, and lower, and lower—er-er-er. Then you are fast asleep.

Did you ever grin for money ten hours every day, in a dirty office; ride home in a crowded car, come down again in a crowded car for another ten hours or more, next morning, and know all the time about the red clover blossoms, the birds, the bees, the blue sky, the green woods, the singing brooks and all the world which is indeed pretty? Oh! for five good angels, worms, a fish pole and two hours in the world which is pretty—St. Louis Chronicle.

And, to make a long story short, we are engaged. QUAGMIRES SWALLOW ROADBED. Cut-Off Across Salt Lake Proves Hard to Build. The attempt of the Union Pacific railroad to build a roadbed across the Great Salt lake has proved a more formidable undertaking than the engineers expected. Roadbed after roadbed has disappeared in the maw of a quagmire, while human lives as well as cars and locomotives have been lost in these quagmires. There are two of these quagmires and Southern Pacific engineers believe the eastern quagmires is the result of the washing down for centuries of silt from the Bear river. This has filled in a deep canyon and they believe persistence will result in finding the solid bottom. While they do not offer to explain the other quagmire, they believe the same result may be obtained there.

The greatest difficulty is expected in the western quagmire, which is now giving most trouble. Here the wind sweeps the entire length of the lake and the waves are high. The water is thirty feet deep. It is the intention to build ten miles of trestle across this portion, but so far the foundation has not been secured. The engineers have decided on an experiment which they hope will solve the problem. They have started on the building of immense "cradles" of timber, which will be filled with stone and lowered into the lake. By anchoring these carefully and binding them closely together it is hoped that they will stand the strain.

All manner of expedients have been necessary to carry on the work, says the New York Herald. "Trouble began as soon as the lake was entered. Areas were encountered where the salt and sand made an apparently solid bottom. Perhaps it was solid and the pile driver would sink only a couple of inches at a stroke. Again the pile might go through the crust and sink out of sight at the second stroke. In other places the mud was so soft under the crust that it would not bear the weight of the construction train without some device to aid in the support. In such a case planks were laid eight feet to the south of the permanent roadbed, a temporary track laid and light cars of rock were sent out to be dumped over the side, forming the permanent roadbed.

When the water was reached the temporary track was extended by sand bags. These were loaded on rafts and piled out to the place desired. There they were piled into piers, and timber stringers were placed across, the track being laid on these. It was in this way that the first quagmire was reached. According to the best information obtainable, the two quagmires have already cost the company about $1,000,000 more than estimated, while with good luck from this time on the work on the lake portion of the undertaking cannot cost less than $4,000,000.

CARS TO RUN SWIFTLY WITHOUT WHEELS.

MODEL OF ALBERTSON MAGNETIC TRAIN.
Letters patent have been issued by the American and European governments for a new system of railroading, which, according to its inventor, will carry a train of cars without wheels drawn by a one horse-power locomotive from New York to San Francisco in ten hours' time. This remarkable invention, which will rush a regulation railway train through space at the speed of 300 miles an hour, is the creation of Professor A. C. Albertson, an electrical engineer, late of Copenhagen University, Denmark. The facilities of the Delaware, Lackawanna and Western Railroad have been placed at the professor's disposal for the working out of his scheme. If the invention proves to be practicable it upsets a law hitherto believed immutable, namely, that the heavier the load, the more power needed to move it. Professor Albertson seems to have proved that the heavier the load, the less the power needed. The scheme in brief is as follows: The train is equipped with a set of powerful electric magnets, which slide along under the rails and lift the cars from the track. If, for instance, a car weighs ten tons, the engineer of the train would merely turn on a magnetic force of eleven tons, which would thus overcome the weight of the train and allow it to be propelled with a friction of only one ton. In other words, the entire weight of the train is held up by the magnetic force, and experiments have generally shown that the more the train weighs the less force is needed to propel it. The great speed claimed by the inventor for the magnetic train is made possible largely by the fact that friction is almost wholly done away with.

On such a railroad system as this smoke and vibration would be eliminated; there would be no possible chance of grade-crossing accidents, no derailing, no hot boxes. Sleeping cars would be superfluous, as the distance between the oceans could be covered in one day. No mechanical or human brake would be needed, for the train is lifted, and the magnetic force of the engine would simply turn on more magnets, which would increase the pressure upward greater.

THE ADVANTAGES OF USING A

...Janesville Disc Cultivator...

It cuts and buries trash, vines, weeds and stalks. It kills weeds. You can run it up close to the young plant without cutting off or wounding the lateral roots. It leaves a clean field after the crop is taken off as a result of the summer's tillage. It does not shove clods and stalks against the young plant to break it down or bury it. It does not waste your time by accumulating trash which you have to remove. You can cover a great deal of ground with it in a day because it travels steady and you do not have to slow up to uncover smothered plants. You can confine the cultivation to the surface as much as you desire. You know that when the corn plant is a few inches high that it sends forth long and tender side roots, which in turn send out branching rootlets quite near the surface of the ground. They search out the plant food in the upper soil, where the surface cultivation strengthens and aids instead of destroying. And the levelers help to preserve the moisture in the dry season, because they leave a fine, even crumb all over the field which does not easily bake hard, and which preserves the moisture longer than any other method of tillage. That is just the reason that corn worked with a Janesville Disk Cultivator during a drought or a dry season always produces from 25 to 75 per cent. more corn than a neighboring field that was worked with an old style cultivator.

MADE MILWAUKEE FAMOUS! AND MINNEAPOLIS TOO!

WHAT DID? BEER OR BINDERS? BOTH!

The products of breweries and binder factories have kept up to the fore front, and while the brewery product is all right in harvest time, the binder is the main thing then and the one you think about now. You save money by buying the money you study up on—the binder with the very best improvements, last longest, improved binders have better bearings and gears, hence run easier, no weight on the horses necks means no sore necks, the best steel and machine construction means the lightest yet strongest frame and the whole means to you an investment that will please you, not one you will regret. We sell both the Milwaukee binders and the Minneapolis binders, mowers and rakes. Kindly call and see them.

Wayne wants a member of the State Normal School Board and this is not a new inspiration. We mentioned at Governor Savage last year to appoint Ed Mitchell, but Savage discovered Wayne was north of the Platte and we drew a blank. Lincoln has two members and should Governor Mickey reappoint the member whose term expires this month, who has recently moved to Lincoln that city would have three members of the Board. Now we are asking for the appointment of Prof. M. E. Snodgrass to this place, and this too without presuming at all upon the friendship that exists between Governor Mickey and Prof. Snodgrass who both resided at Osceola for a number of years at the same time, and the governor is well informed upon the thoroughness of Prof. Snodgrass in school work and his mindfulness of educational institutions. This desire to have Prof. Snodgrass appointed was brought to Governor Mickey's attention several months ago, and when he visited our city last week we had a well defined opinion upon the matter, one that leads us to feel that the appointment will come our way. Of course Mickey did not commit himself upon this matter, the best that we might know was that the governor considered fairly our claims and that he alone is governor and that he will handle this appointment with regards to the best interests of the state normal school interests. No other conclusion is so logical as the one that Prof. Snodgrass' appointment will follow in due course of a few weeks.

The eldest son, Glen, aged eight years, of W. B. Gamble residing south of this city, died at 12:30 this morning after an illness of Christmas time. The funeral will occur tomorrow (Saturday) morning, leaving the residence at nine o'clock and reaching the M. E. church about 10:30.

The Teachers' Institute.

The teachers of Wayne county have enjoyed a week of institute work this week, one that reflects credit upon all who took part in it. Superintendent C. H. Bright secured an able corps of instructors and the work done during the past week can not fail to bring results in the betterment of our school system. The tendency during the past two years has been to secure a better organization of schools, their teachers, school officers, etc and State Superintendent Fowler has carried on over the state many valuable reforms, but in no county has organization been in better hands than in this county, and this has been evident this week as we said before.

A model school has been conducted each morning by Miss Edith Stocking who taught the 1st primary grades in the Ward schools in this city, and the system of primary work, reading and numbers, busy work, systematic unison work in dumbbell exercise etc done during the week by her "A" grade pupils presented at the very best the results possible under instruction of the proper kind. An instilling in the plastic minds of the young students a love for study and industry an alertness of mind and a graceful body movement, all these things making possible a better scholarship at any given age than without this thorough early training.

Mrs. James Miller rendered and assisted in the opening half hour of music each morning and this was a pleasant feature of the week.

W. M. Kern, of Columbus, superintendent of the city schools, instructed in Agriculture, geography, history and literature. A grade being required from July 1st in agriculture under the law passed two years ago, this branch received the attention and interest it deserved, and soil chemistry and plant life unfolded many interesting secrets presented by their interesting instructor.

J. M. Pile of the Wayne Normal College as instructor in didactics, grammar, arithmetic and civics, presented in that usual style that has earned for him the reputation of being the best instructor in these branches in the state, these foundation studies in the fitting of our public school teachers. His talk on didactics were the very best thought possible to glean from that interesting field and many visitors listened with the keen appreciation that characterized the enrolled teachers.

There are eighty-two schools in Wayne county and the total enrollment is over a hundred not including the Wayne city school teachers many of whom are at their homes in other states.

The Wayne county school officers were to meet Tuesday to select a trustee officer, but this meeting did not bring out an attendance expected owing to the fact that the farmer members of school boards could not leave their work already behind on account of the wet weather the past month, and the attempt will be made again in August when the time will be more opportune, State Superintendent Fowler spoke Tuesday afternoon and again in the evening and his remarks were duly appreciated. He is a man very exact in his manner as well as in his method of school work. He is a man who is bound to bring results in the organization of the schools of the state and who will insist upon no slighting of English branches in the course of public school study. It is too bad, the school boards did not find it possible to meet at this time.

Thursday evening the lecture by Prof. F. R. Robertson at the opera house was well attended and was one of the best travel lectures ever heard in this city or any other city in fact, as Prof. Robertson is one of the world's real travelers and he carried it in this interesting narrative vein that carries you with him on his wide world journeys. We are under obligations to Superintendent Bright's enterprise in securing Prof. Robertson for this entertainment and the teachers feel that they were especially profited.

Hoskins.

Come to Hoskins the 4th. J. R. Manning was in town this week. Ed Braash was over from Norfolk Monday.

Several cars of hogs were shipped out this week.

A. H. Carter was calling on Hoskins people last Saturday.

Mrs. Zelmor was a passenger to Wayne last Saturday.

Louis Longingberg was a passenger to Norfolk last Friday.

Mrs. R. G. Rohrke was a passenger to Sioux City Thursday.

Mr. and Mrs. R. G. Rohrke drove over to Norfolk last Sunday.

M. J. Dendinger put up a new windmill for Mrs. Duncan this week.

Mrs. H. S. Strickland went to Norfolk Thursday to have dental work done.

Mrs. Joe Benish returned to West Point last week after a visit of several weeks.

Mrs. Rob Templin went to Albion last week to care for her mother who is very sick.

A wreck near Wakefield made the passenger from Sioux City eight hours late Tuesday.

Hoskins played ball with a German nine last Sunday and won the game to the tune of 7 to 6.

Little Miss Mettlin from near Winside is visiting her aunt, Mrs. H. J. Candor this week.

The E. & B. Lumber Co., will put in a big stock of all kinds of furniture this week or the first of next.

H. Clengstang's horses became frightened while he was loading lumber and took a lively spin around town.

Rev. Redmond preached at the M. E. church last Sunday and will be here every two weeks in the future.

R. G. Rohrke has torn out the partition in his store building and is getting ready for the big new stock of goods.

John Rissel arrived from Sweden Tuesday with several friends who are going to make their future home in America.

Elva and Maud Dobbins went to Norfolk last Saturday to visit over Sunday and Monday returned to Wayne to attend college.

Louie Zeimer the McCormick machine man was getting acquainted with his family over Sunday and left again for work Tuesday.

Born Monday June 8 to Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Wilbur a son, that is why Ernest is passing around the cigars while a broad smile illuminates his features.

Well Hoskins has one saloon this year and the equivalent of another and so is not dead this year, but is very much alive most of the time (with drunken men.)

The Hoskins' marshall gets a big salary of $25 a year cash and about seven hundred in advice, criticism and abuse by people who want something for nothing. Hoskins needs a good marshall and ought to either pay enough to make it an object to the marshall or keep their mouths closed.

Monday there was a horse tied in front of a business place down town from the middle of the forenoon until near seven in the evening without food or drink while its owner had plenty of both especially the later, and we do not know who needs kicking all over town most the owner of the horse or the people who allowed it to stay there. Both were equally to blame we think.

At the risk of being growled at, we say it is a shame that Hoskins did not have patriotism enough to hold appropriate services at their cemetery on Decoration day where three soldiers of the war of the rebellion lie buried.

Hoskin's going to celebrate, shoot a powder cracker; if the eagle wants to scream, Hoskins is going to back her; going to have some first class sports, also speaking, singing and dancing; with plenty of good things to eat, while you watch the prancing. Ringling Bros street parade, what a lot 'twas worth, was nothing with the street parade that Hoskins has the 4th. Hoskins is going to celebrate and shoot a firecracker, now the eagle's bound to scream, come and help us back her.

High School Commencement, Ten Graduates.

High School education in its relative importance to other courses of study was most favorably noted by the large number of people who crowded the opera house last Friday evening to witness the class of 1903 receive their diplomas. Under Prof. M. R. Snodgrass High School work has been most thorough and this gentleman takes pride in having the work maintain its place in the minds of Wayne people as the natural course a student should follow. In many places the annual commencement of the high school is heralded much louder than in Wayne, as we have allowed our normal college to overshadow our high school work to a large degree, but rightly they are of equal importance and the high school should be first in the minds of resident pupils who mean to pursue in their natural order the studies of the twelfth grade work.

The program rendered was of unusual interest and the address by Rev. H. C. Herring, of Omaha, on "Facts are the Most Stubborn Things" was one of the best ever heard in the city. Miss Winifred Hunter was valedictorian and her remarks were most creditable. No orations were given by the class members but they earned their diplomas by a high average of scholarship and were a fine looking class as they received the diplomas presented to them by Rev. Herring. The following are the members of the class of 1903: Helen Winifred Hunter, Emma Hollis Hughes, Donald Horton Cunningham, Monte Josephine Theobald, Fays Henriette Britton, Ethel Mae Holtz, Vera Ellen Embrose, Ethel Mildred Edgerton, Mable Young, Lola Jeanette Olmsted.

CUTICURA SOAP
The World's Greatest Skin Soap.
The World's Sweetest Toilet Soap.

Sale Greater Than the World's Product of Other Skin Soaps.

Sold Wherever Civilization Has Penetrated.

Millions of the world's best people use Cuticura Soap, assisted by Cuticura Ointment, the great skin cure, for preserving, purifying and beautifying the skin, for cleansing the scalp of crusts, scales and dandruff, and the stopping of falling hair, for softening, whitening and soothing red, rough and sore hands, for baby rashes, itchings and chafings, for annoying irritations, or too free or offensive perspiration, for alleviative weaknesses, and many sensitive, antiseptic purposes which readily suggest themselves to women, especially mothers, as well as for all the purposes of the toilet, bath and nursery.

Cuticura Soap combines delicate emollient properties derived from Cuticura, the great skin cure, with the power of cleansing ingredients and the most refreshing of flower odors. No other medicated soap ever compounded is to be compared with it for preserving, purifying and beautifying the skin, scalp and hands. No other foreign or domestic toilet soap, however expensive, is to be compared with it for all the purposes of the toilet, bath and nursery. This it combines in one soap at one price the most effective skin and complexion soap, and the purest and sweetest toilet, bath and nursery soap ever compounded.

WESTERN CANADA'S IMMIGRATION.

Rapid Settlement of the Fields Lykes.
North of the Canadian border, from the Chicago Record-Herald.
"Canada has anticipated a very heavy immigration this year, and she now has reason to believe that she is actually getting it in a way to meet all her expectations. In the first four months of this year the doors of the Dominion have received 142,000 persons, according to a report prepared by the committee on agriculture and colonization of the Canadian Parliament. This is almost twice as large as the immigration of the corresponding months last year, and fully three times as large as in 1901, the respective figures being 22,482 and 45,293.
"Most of these newcomers have been attracted by the wheat lands of the Northwest territories. They have moved direct from Winnipeg and they have turned that city into a great camp, in which they have been fitting themselves out for the last stage of their adventure for new homes.
"Of the immigration of the spring a little over a third has come from Great Britain, the figure being 16,457. This is three times as large as the British immigration of the corresponding months of the preceding year, and it is within 2,000 of the number of immigrants that the United States attracted from Great Britain and Ireland in the same period this spring. As to the remainder of the immigration into Canada, 13,770 settlers came from the United States, a 50 per cent increase over the preceding year, and 40,145 from Continental Europe, a 40 per cent increase.
"These 142,000 immigrants into Canada may appear trifling in comparison with the 2,075,070 persons who entered the United States in the same period, but they are proportionately more important to the country. Canada's population is one-fifth of ours, but her immigration is now two-fifths as large as ours. It is worth remembering also that Canada's immigrants are almost entirely of Anglo-Saxon and Teutonic races, while our immigration is now two-thirds made up of Romance and Slav elements.
"Speculation is natural as to the future of Canada in her relations to the United States when her Northwest territories are added up, but the one absolutely certain fact of the near future is that the United States is to have a great competitor in the grain markets of the world."
The above editorial article taken from the columns of the Chicago Record-Herald of May 25 shows the condition of the Canadian immigration, which as pointed out, has had a constant growth—a marvellously increasing growth—for the past six or seven years, until this year, it is confidently assumed, the increase to Canada's population by way of immigration will exceed 1,000,000. This is accounted for by the great agricultural resources which abound there. It is no fairy tale, but the matter-of-fact experience of the tens of thousands bear ample testimony to the wealth and riches in store for all who choose to accept of the opportunities offered.
Those who wish to learn more of the country can secure illustrated atlases, pamphlets, etc., giving full and reliable data issued under government authority, by applying to any of the authorized agents of the Canadian Government. Tested by Time.
Mrs. Robert R. D. Rich, who resides at 1915 Virginia street, in San Antonio, Tex., tells in an excellent manner that will interest every reader. It shows as well that Doan's Kidney Pills are the best cure for kidney trouble. She says: "Up to the early part of the year 1902 I had been a sufferer from kidney troubles for many years. The pain in my back became worse and worse until it was a daily burden that interfered with every duty. I was much afflicted with headache and dizzy spells and was unable to rest well nights. In May, 1902, after using Doan's Kidney Pills I made a statement for publication declaring that they had entirely relieved me of the pain in my back. I have since then had a year's time in which to study the effects of the medicine, and while I have had slight touches of the trouble since, the use of the pills has always driven away all signs of the disorder and I have become convinced of the fact that the first treatment was practically permanent in its effects, and I know that a box of Doan's Kidney Pills kept on hand are a sufficient guarantee against any suffering from the kidneys or back. I should advise every sufferer to take Doan's Kidney Pills, and I know that they will be surprised and pleased with the results."
A FREE TRIAL of this great kidney medicine which cured Mrs. Broderick will be mailed on application to any part of the United States. Address Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, N. Y. For sale by all druggists, price 50 cents per box.

THE ABUSE OF FUEL.

Americans Prone to Overheat Their Living Rooms.

The high prices of coal have carried with them a salutary lesson. It has reminded our people that they have been using fuel wastefully. The natural resources of the United States are so great that something out of the usual order is necessary to convey the lesson that there is a limit to them.
But it is not merely in the matter of wastefulness that fuel has been abused. The sanitary argument is even stronger than that based on economy. In America we indulge in hot rooms to a degree unknown in other parts of the world. Some of those who lecture us on the subject probably are on the other side. The cold rooms of Germany and France have their drawbacks, and there is reason to believe that they are often insufficiently heated. But that does not, in any degree, excuse the hot rooms to which Americans are so very commonly subjected. It is not the degree of cold which is so fatal to health as the sudden transition from heat to cold. To quit a room at the temperature of a day in Italy and go into a zero temperature is necessarily injurious, yet this is a common incident of our American experience. It has cost many a man his life, and caused others troublesome attacks of illness.
With coal at abnormal prices the temptation to use too much fuel is not so strong. When normal prices are restored, it is altogether likely that most of the people will forget the lesson which necessity has taught them. But it is not too much to hope that the lesson of the strike may not be altogether lost on some.—Louisville Courier-Journal.

Wit of Horne Tooke.

It is said that Horne Tooke, who excelled in that double-kontroversy exhibited by two disputants when pitted against each other with only the breadth of a mauling board between them, was exceedingly quick and sharp at retort. When he made his most dandy thrust, says the Saturday Evening Post, it was with a smiling countenance, and without seeming effort or emotion.
Replying to a man who contended that only land owners should be allowed to vote at elections, he said:
"Pray tell me how many acres does it take to make a wiseacre?" When asked by George III, whether he ever played cards, he replied: "I cannot, your majesty, tell a king from a knave." What can be more uniquely comic than his saying to his brother: "You and I, my dear brother, have invented the laws of nature; you have rivin in the world by your gravity and I have fallen by my levity."

Immune.

"My?" exclaimed the old lady who was taking her first trolley ride, "I should think it would be mighty dangerous workin' on these cars all the time. Ain't you feared of the 'lectricity strikin' 'em?"
"No'm," he replied, as he took her nickel and neglected to ring it up on the register, "I see I'm not a good conductor."—Philadelphia Press.

THAT'S THE TIME.

When Proper Food Is Necessary.

Prayer food is not more necessary than when recovering from wasting sickness, when over-eating would be fatal and yet the body needs nourishment and plenty of it.
At this time the condensed food Grape-Nuts is shown to be one's most wonderful friend. Four teaspoonfuls of Grape-Nuts and cream will sustain a healthy man for half a day and a less quantity in warm milk will build up the convalescent wonderfully. No stomach is too weak to digest and relish Grape-Nuts. "I was taken sick with typhoid fever and everyone who has had this disease knows how weak and lifeless a person feels when beginning to recuperate."
"I had to be very careful about my diet and could eat only very light foods. These did not seem to nourish me and instead of getting better every day I was kept at a standstill and everyone began to fear a relapse. One day while lying in bed very much discouraged my sister who was reading to me from the paper read an article about Grape-Nuts and we decided to send for a package.
"From the very first meal of Grape-Nuts I began to improve, strength came in bonns and I was able to get up. I was soon out of bed; my change for the better seemed simply marvelous. My mind is clear and strong and my body sturdy. I am now entirely recovered."
Name given by Postum, Co., Battle Creek, Mich.
"A dessert that helps the body, that's the thing! Any number of them in the little recipe book in each package of Grape-Nuts."

STORM IN THE SOUTH.

STRIKES GAINESVILLE, GA., WITH AWFUL FURY.

Many Women and Children Killed and Two Hundred Buildings Carried—Hannan Beings and Wreckage Razed Through the Air.

Eighty-five men, women and children dead, forty more fatally injured, and a property loss of $300,000 is the result of a cyclone which struck St. Louis, Ga., New Holland and White Sulphur, suburbs, Monday afternoon. The death list is imperfect, not all the bodies having been identified. Many of them were mangled beyond recognition, the only means of identification being the records of the two cotton mills in which most of the victims worked.
The devastating storm appeared suddenly a little before 1 o'clock, and within two minutes it had killed nearly a hundred persons, torn two stories from the five-story brick factory of the Gainesville cotton mills, demolished almost 200 cottages, razed two brick stores, and blown down innumerable outbuildings. By what appears to be a miracle, the cyclone's fury was confined to the outskirts of the city, the main business and residence portion not being touched. Torrents of rain accompanied the wind, but within five minutes after its first onslaught the sun was shining upon a scene of fearful desolation. The list of the dead is confined mainly to those who were employed in cotton mills and the Parolee cotton mills, two-thirds of whom were women and children.
Work of an Instant.
The cyclone did its appalling work in an incredibly short time. It appears to have swept down from the southwest, striking the Gainesville mills with a roar like the report of artillery. After lifting two stories from the structure it swept on to the northward, leaving a trail of destruction along Summit street, which is inhabited almost exclusively by negroes. Nearly a hundred cottages of colored people on this street were leveled to the ground, but by a fortunate circumstance the tenants were all absent, having left the city in the morning to take part in a negro picnic.
The furious wind next descended on the plant of the Parolee cotton mills at New Holland, two miles from the Southern Railroad station. This is one of the largest cotton mills in the South, employing more than 600 hands. The storm spared the Parolee factory, but entirely demolished the structure in its path, a standing near and tenanted by its operatives. Here the fatalities were greatest, upward of thirty-five persons being buried in the ruins of the cottages. Bodies were blown hundreds of yards and many of them when picked up bore no semblance to humanity. The trunk of one was found in the gutter, and the head disappeared in the gully by the roadside.
From New Holland the tornado swept onward to the east in the direction of White Sulphur, a town of about 100 persons, and caused considerable loss of life. The bodies of most of the dead in the two cotton mills were fearfully torn and mangled. The skulls of many of them were crushed and the limbs broken. The property loss, it is now estimated, will reach about $300,000. The heaviest losses are the Gainesville cotton mills, $50,000, and the Parolee mills $100,000. Other losses of individuals had firms range from $1,000 and less, upward.

NEW CREED IS NOW A FACT.

Report on Revision Adopted by Presbyterian General Assembly.

The Presbyterian Church of the United States, at its general assembly in Los Angeles, Cal., finally disposed of the question of revision of the creed that has been before the last three general assemblies and which has agitated Presbyterian circles for the last fifteen years. The assembly by unanimous vote adopted the revision of the confession of faith as prepared by the committee appointed by the general assembly in 1880. Besides clearing the calendar of this important question the assembly disposed of "separate presbyteries in the same territory," which was commonly known as the "colored question" of the Presbyterian church and the report of the special committee on divorce and remarriage.
Dr. Van Dyke presented the report of the committee on creed revision. The only protests against the new creed were from Lehigh and St. Cloud presbyteries and these protests were thrown out.
The following declaratory statement, which preceded the reading of the text of the revised creed, was adopted:
"While the ordination vow of ministers, ruling elders and deacons, as set forth in the form of government, requires the reception or adoption of the confession of faith only as containing the system of doctrine taught in the holy scriptures, nevertheless, seeing that the doctrine has been formally expressed for a disavowal by the reading of certain forms drawn from statements of the confession of faith and also for a declaration of certain aspects of revealed truth which appear at the present time to call for more explicit statement, therefore the Presbyterian Church in the United States of America does authoritatively declare:
Then follows the text of changes in the confession of faith. One of the most vital changes is that expressing belief that all who die in infancy are saved.

Saved His Life.

Whitehall, Ill., June 8.—Mr. Lon Manley had Bright's Disease and after his home doctor had treated him for sometime he finally told him that he could do nothing more for him, and that he would surely die.
A friend who had heard of what Dodd's Kidney Pills had done in cases of Kidney Trouble, advised Mr. Manley to try a box of this remedy.
He did so and everyone was surprised and delighted to see an improvement in a very short time. This improvement gradually kept on as the treatment proceeded, till now Mr. Manley is well. He says:
"The doctor said he had done all he could for me. He gave me up. My friend advised me to take Dodd's Kidney Pills, and in a few weeks I was nearly all right again.
"I am not dead, and can truthfully say that I feel better to-day than I have for years. Dodd's Kidney Pills are a wonderful remedy and I will always praise them and recommend them to everyone suffering as I did."
Mr. Manley's recovery has caused a profound sensation, as no one ever thought he would recover.

Gov. Bailey of Kansas Wants Aid for the Desperate.

With the residue of the waters every effort is being put forth to care for the thousands of homeless flood sufferers at Topeka, Kan., and an appeal to the country has been made for assistance with that end in view.
Distress will be great among the refugees. Gov. Bailey issued a proclamation calling for help for flood sufferers of the State. Fifty deputy sheriffs are armed, and when necessary they will be sent to North Topeka to protect property with orders to shoot looters whenever they are caught stealing.
Gov. Bailey's proclamation calling for outside aid was decided upon at a mass meeting, when the Governor was requested to issue the call. It was decided to make this a general appeal for the people all along the flooded districts of the State, as well as those in Topeka. The plan is to make Topeka headquarters and to distribute the aid from there to other parts of the State. In addition an appeal through the fraternal organizations and other appeals through various sources has been made.
A meeting of the representative people of North Topeka who are on the south side was held to arrange for systematic protection of their property in North Topeka. Immediately after the meeting a large number of armed men left in boats for the north side, to guard property, and with orders to shoot.

Mormons have been refused permits to preach in the streets of New York City, a privilege they have heretofore had.
Col. A. J. Smith died at Cucharas, Colo. He was at one time a federal officer holder in Montana and served as governor of the Soldiers' Home at Leavenworth, Kan., and at Los Angeles, Cal. For the past four years he has been inspector of homes.
Ten or twelve persons were severely injured and three business houses in the center of Stockton, Cal., were burned by an explosion which was followed by fire. The explosion occurred in the rear of Garlach & Morath's shoe store, when the street was crowded with people.
The Burlington has just issued an official announcement of the new Atlantic and Pacific Kansas City to St. Louis. The circular says it is hoped that the new line will be in operation by June of next year, so as to handle part of the world's fair crowds. By building from Old Monroe to Mexico, on the Alton, sixty-three miles, and using the tracks of the Alton from Mexico to Kansas City, 168 miles, making the total distance over the proposed line 280 miles between St. Louis and Kansas City. The track will be used jointly by the Burlington and the Chicago and Alton.

EARLIEST USES OF TOBACCO.

It Was Considered a Medicine, Both to Smoke and Snuff.

Tobacco was first used in Europe as a kind of rude antiseptic and preventer of infection, and in the West Indies, northern America and Africa, the inhaling of the dried and powdered tobacco leaf was practiced long before the herb was known in Europe, according to a writer in the Detroit News-Tribune. The same is probably true of smoking. The use of tobacco was introduced into Europe by a Franciscan friar named Ramon Pane, who accompanied Columbus on his second voyage to the West Indies in 1494. He was sent ashore at Cuba in charge of an exploring expedition, and reported on his return that he had found the natives snuffing this powdered herb, which they had taroquen short hollow cane. He introduced the practice into Europe, but it was not until 1560 that the plant was cultivated in Europe.
Jenn Nicot, who had been British ambassador at Lisbon, began tobacco growing in France in that year, and through this circumstance the herb got its name nicotine. Snuff was first used as a relief from catarrh and stoppages of the nasal passages, and the first personage to make the use of it popular was the famous Catherine de Medici, and her son, Charles IV, also used it as a relief from chronic headache. The great Catherine's patronage caused snuff to be called "Herbe a la Reine." It became enormously popular as a preventive in England after the great plague of 1600.

Whitehall, Ill., June 8.

Whitehall, Ill., June 8.—Mr. Lon Manley had Bright's Disease and after his home doctor had treated him for sometime he finally told him that he could do nothing more for him, and that he would surely die.
A friend who had heard of what Dodd's Kidney Pills had done in cases of Kidney Trouble, advised Mr. Manley to try a box of this remedy.
He did so and everyone was surprised and delighted to see an improvement in a very short time. This improvement gradually kept on as the treatment proceeded, till now Mr. Manley is well. He says:
"The doctor said he had done all he could for me. He gave me up. My friend advised me to take Dodd's Kidney Pills, and in a few weeks I was nearly all right again.
"I am not dead, and can truthfully say that I feel better to-day than I have for years. Dodd's Kidney Pills are a wonderful remedy and I will always praise them and recommend them to everyone suffering as I did."
Mr. Manley's recovery has caused a profound sensation, as no one ever thought he would recover.

AN UP-TO-DATE PROPOSAL.

Woeer Wasn't Handsome, but His Bank Account Was.

"Yes, I put your father on to a good thing last month."
"Did you? That was nice of you. Papa asked me the other day if I knew you."
"What else?"
"When I told him I had met you he asked me if I thought you would be asleep when dividend day came round."
"That was nice of you. I gave your father a good tip yesterday. He took it, too. It must have netted him a couple of thousand."
"Why, you are quite a good fairy. Mr. Slimmer, I'll remember that tip the next time I strike papa for my pin money."
"But why not give poor papa a rest?"
"I beg your pardon?"
"Why not let somebody else put up for the pins? I happen to know that papa isn't on Easy street often enough to establish a permanent address there."
"Pray make yourself a little plainer, Mr. Slimmer."
"That's quite impossible, Miss Bimler. I feel that nature has done her worst to me."
"Ah, you are fishing for a compliment."
"No, Miss Bimler, you wrong me. I have no time for fishing, but let me particularize. I am neither young nor handsome. My temper is fairly good, my health excellent. That, I think, disposes of the minor details. Here is a schedule of my worldly possessions—subject, of course, to the daily fluctuations of the market. May I trouble you to look it over?"
"With what end in view, Mr. Slimmer?"
"I will come to that presently, Miss Bimler. I have shown your esteemed father a duplicate of this schedule. It seemed to please him. He even hinted at me with a note for you. Here it is." (He handed her a sealed envelope, says the Cleveland Plain Dealer, which she opens with a "Fardon me." It contains but two lines: "My dear, mail this chap—I need him in the business. Your dotting papa.")
"It is quite evident, Mr. Slimmer, that you have made a favorable impression upon papa."
"And how about your papa's daughter?"
"Will you make that a little clearer, Mr. Slimmer?"
"With pleasure. How does the sum total strike you?"
"Oh, the schedule? Why, it seems very satisfactory."
"And—and will you share it with me, Miss Bimler—subject, of course, to the market fluctuations?"
"Oh, Abner, this is so sudden!"
"Quick curtain."

"Oh, sublime Sultan, father-in-law to the moon and the crescent of Allah, here is another note from the Yankees regarding Miss Stone's abductors," said the Vizier as he bowed himself into the Sultan's presence; "and, supreme one, pardon the expression, but there is generally the devil to pay!"
"Oh, devil to pay," muttered the Sultan, looking up from his pig-ping game; "that's all right. Promise to pay him just as soon as we settle up with the other powers."—Baltimore American.

PISO'S CURE FOR COUGHS AND CONSUMPTION.

S. C. N. U. No. 24-1003

Mrs. Tupman, a prominent lady of Richmond, Va., a great sufferer with woman's troubles, tells how she was cured.

"For some years I suffered with backache, severe bearing-down pains, leucorrhoea, and falling of the womb. I tried many remedies, but nothing gave any positive relief.
"I commenced taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound in June, 1901. When I had taken the first half bottle, I felt a vast improvement, and have now taken ten bottles with the result that I feel like a new woman. When I commenced taking the Vegetable Compound I felt all worn out and was fast approaching complete nervous collapse. I weighed only 98 pounds. Now I weigh 106 1/2 pounds and am improving every day. I gladly testify to the benefits received."
—MRS. R. C. TUPMAN, 424 West 30th St., Richmond, Va.—$5000 forfeited if right of above letter proving genuineness cannot be produced.
When a medicine has been successful in more than a million cases, is it just to yourself to buy without trying it? "I do not believe it would help me?"
"Surely you cannot wish to remain weak and sick."
Mrs. Pinkham, whose address is Lynn, Mass., will answer you fully, without cost all letters addressed to her by sick women. Perhaps she has just the knowledge that will help your case—try her to-day—it costs nothing.

How Cheap Baking Powder is made.

A recent seizure of a lot of "cheap" baking powders by the authorities of a neighboring city has exposed the character of the low priced baking powders which many manufacturers are offering throughout the country. The price of the powders first attracted attention to them. Samples were taken and analyzed. The official report of the analysis showed the stuff to be "alum powders," composed chiefly of alum, sulphuric acid and pulverized rock. The powders were declared dangerous to health and several thousand pounds were confiscated and destroyed.

Physicians have frequently cautioned consumers against mixing food with these so-called "cheap" baking powders. They are all found when analyzed, to contain large percentages of alum and sulphuric acid to which are added various sorts of filling matter sometimes both injurious and nasty.

The high class, cream of tartar baking powders, are the most economical and wholesome and should always be selected for use. They will be found cheaper in the end, besides making the food better add more healthful.

The Bloomfield Train is Wrecked.

Monday the Bloomfield train met with an accident three and one-half miles east of Wakefield. The cause was a broken axle or something of the sort, the result was a wreck, three loaded box cars wrecked badly, two of them tipped over in the ditch, one of passenger coaches considerably damaged and its occupants scared, the track torn up for three hundred feet and the devil to pay generally. The wreck delayed the passage of trains for nine hours and the Norfolk and Bloomfield trains were just that much late in arrival, as the track had to be built around the wreck which occurred in a cut and was a bad place to get around. No one was injured in the wreck except M. S. Moats, of Sholes, who had his wrist cut with a piece of glass which fell out of the coach door when he attempted to open it. He had this dressed at Wakefield and will suffer no permanent injury from it aside from the soreness of a few days, the cut was quite deep but not over an inch or so in length. It was very fortunate perhaps that the ground was soft and the coach imbedded its trucks in the bed of the grade, thereby avoiding a telescoping with the wrecked box cars just in front of there. The engine and several freight cars in the front end of the train escaped injury and ran ahead to Wakefield, the regular Norfolk train returned to Emerson,

The city of Wayne will put in at least one thousand dollars worth of sawed stone crossings this year. Some of the stone has already arrived and will be put in place as fast as possible.
Mr. and Mrs. David Cunningham, and Mrs. E. Cunningham and Mae went to Madison Saturday to be present at the funeral of Arthur Cunningham, which was held at that place Sunday.
Two weeks ago A. B. Clark brought in from Illinois seventeen head of registered Shorthorn which makes him a herd of about thirty registered animals of this breed on his farm north of Wayne and is the foundation of a fine herd as Mr. Clark has had the experience and is practical, and will go after the very best in the Shorthorn line. Price is a second consideration when one is laying the foundation for a registered herd but always first is size and quality of your animal. Mr. Clark has handled all kinds of stock and is a careful observer of conditions and his interests in Shorthorns is a good indication that Wayne is to be a Shorthorn center, and that Shorthorns are not second to any stock of any kind.

AROUND ABOUT.

Holy Trinity church, Hartington, will be dedicated with impressive ceremonies July 8th, 1903. The Ziegler shortage was practically settled last Saturday although no money has as yet changed hands. It is arranged that when the court meets June 15th, the bondsmen and bond company will confess judgement for $26,000 and as soon as the decree is entered will pay the money.—Cedar County News.
Willard Mower, the plumber, is figuring on starting in operation very soon a gas plant for the use of the city. As a starter he proposes to put in a pipe down to Siefkin & Jona's corner and immediately start it into operation, thence branching out as fast as they are needed. This gas plant is for cooking and lighting purposes and will be enlarged as fast as required. Mr. Mower is certainly energetic and the Monitor believes his scheme is a good one.—Bloomfield Monitor.
Forty Hour devotion was held at St. Frances church this week, beginning Sunday. Rev. Father Renner was assisted by Revs. Loecker of Hartington, Haley of Wayne, Windolph of Creighton, and McNamara of Bloomfield. Rev. McNamara preached the sermon Sunday evening. Rev. Haley on Monday evening. Rev. Loecker gave the sermon Monday morning and Rev. Windolph Tuesday morning. Good crowds and deep spiritual interest marked the services. George Fox came down from Pipestone Monday and is visiting his brothers here.—Randolph Times.

PIANO CONTEST!

THE WAYNE REPUBLICAN will give a beautiful Concert Grand Piano made by Chickering Bros., Chicago, and listed by them at $525.00, to the most popular lady in Wayne county and vicinity absolutely free, this lady to be designated by ballots cast for her by subscribers to, and by readers of the WAYNE REPUBLICAN, according to the terms and conditions set forth as follows:

- 1—Any lady, married or single, may enter the contest.
  - 2—Any and every lady receiving one or more votes will be accredited with them at once and the result announced in these columns.
  - 3—In every paper printed from June 15, to December 24, 1903, will appear two coupons; one is a FREE VOTE and may be voted by any one, the other is a SUBSCRIBER'S BALLOT and is to be voted by subscribers for whom they choose. For each cent paid by the subscriber, new or renewal, or arrears on account of subscription, one vote may be cast.
  - 4—Free votes must be cast within the time limit printed on each else they become void. Subscriber's ballots may be cast at any time before the contest closes, which will be at six o'clock p. m. December 24, 1903.
  - 5—A ballot box will be placed in the REPUBLICAN office in which the ballots may be placed by the person voting or by some one for him, ballots may also be sent by mail. As votes are received they will be deposited in the ballot box, which will be kept under lock, and once each week in the presence of some disinterested person the same will be opened and the votes counted for the purpose of ascertaining the standing of the candidates.
  - 6—The piano may be seen (or its counterpart) on exhibition at the M. S. Davies Book Store in Wayne at any time, and all interested may thus know it is no cheap affair, but that is a splendid instrument, beautiful in tone as well as in finish, and for reason of its high grade was selected especially for this contest to lend character and interest to it, for too often a cheap piano is selected to give away in a piano contest and the winner is wasting time in competing for it. But we are going to do this right—we are going to give the winner a piano equal to the best one in any home in the county, and to gain us the acquaintance we wish, to add to our subscription list as many new readers as possible, and to clean up the last dollar of a large amount of back subscription, we desire the interest to be genuine and make those who participate in the contest feel that they are doing something worth while and that their efforts are appreciated by this paper.
- Any lady contesting, or any one else, may act as agent to receive subscriptions for us, and a liberal commission will be paid them to do so. Blanks will be furnished them on application, also, they may extend to subscribers any and all clubbing combinations offered at any time.

MRS. CECELIA STOWE,
Orator, Entre Nous Club.

176 Warren Avenue,
CHICAGO, ILL., Oct. 22, 1902.

For nearly four years I suffered from ovarian troubles. The doctor insisted on an operation as the only way to get well. I, however, strongly objected to an operation. My husband felt disheartened as well as I, for home with a sick woman is a disconsolate place at best. A friendly druggist advised him to get a bottle of Wine of Cardui for me to try, and he did so. I began to improve in a few days and my recovery was very rapid. Within eighteen weeks I was another being.

WINE OF CARDUI

Mrs. Stowe's letter shows every woman how a home is saddened by female weakness and how completely Wine of Cardui cures that sickness and brings health and happiness again. Do not go on suffering. Go to your druggist today and secure a $1.00 bottle of Wine of Cardui.

Ayer's Hair Vigor

Sometimes the hair is not properly nourished. It suffers for food, starves. Then it falls out, turns prematurely gray. Ayer's Hair Vigor is a hair food. It feeds, nourishes. The hair stops falling, grows long and heavy, and all dandruff disappears.

"My hair was coming out terribly. I was almost afraid to comb it. But Ayer's Hair Vigor promptly stopped the falling, and also restored the natural color."

Many persons (perhaps you) have a mistaken idea in regard to Spectacle Lenses. They think glasses are to increase visual power. This is true when you buy merchandise, but when you come to me it is a far different proposition. I correct the refractive trouble which stops the leaks and saves the nerve forces and they are allowed to go into their proper channels. Refractive trouble of the eye is the cause of a large per cent. of headaches, nervousness, red, inflamed lids, dizziness, crossed eyes, itching, burning lids, spots floating before the vision, abnormal growths called Pterigiums, loss of memory inability to see distant objects distinctly, pains running from base of brain down spinal column, convulsions which precede menstrual period, adhesion of lids to eyeball, stomach trouble called dyspepsia, etc.

Spectacle Lenses are my only therapeutic. The letters below are samples of thousands which I have upon file. This is my twentieth year as an eye specialist, ten years of this time in Sioux City. My patients number into the thousands for a radius of four hundred miles around.

Alexandria, S. D., March 20, 1903.
Dr. J. C. Clark, Sioux City, Iowa—
Dear Sir: Last June when we sent our daughter to Sioux City to consult you, we were discouraged in regard to her health. She had never matured as a girl of her age should and was weak and nervous, suffering continually from headache, stomach trouble and in fact was an invalid the whole time. She was unable to attend school and was very despondent. From the very first day she began to wear glasses you made for her she began to get better and is now in perfect health, attending school and doing nicely. She has not taken a drop of medicine since treating with you and has followed your instructions. You can use this letter if you wish.

Mrs. J. J. McCormick.
A letter from the young lady says: "I am perfectly well now. I am going to school and getting along fine. I stand the highest in my class and I owe it all to you and the glasses, and I can never thank you enough for what you have done for me."
Miss Josie McCormick.

This young lady was 17 years old and looked like an unhealthy child of 12 in size, and in her face she looked to be very aged. The exhaustion of nerve force caused by eye strain took all her vitality and left nothing for maturing of mind and body.

Mrs. M. D. Chance, of Wayne, says: "Mr. daughter had nervous prostration. We had doctored with medicine and did all in our power for her without benefit. Dr. Clark fitted her with glasses and she at once began to get better. Her nervousness is all gone. She goes to school and studies music now and is doing nicely. Before she got the glasses we had to take her from school and stop her study of music."

Magnet, Nebr., Jan. 7, 1890.
Dr. Clark: "I am very much pleased with results of your treatment of my little girl's eyes. The glasses you fitted for her have done all and more than you claimed they would do. She never looks cross-eyed now and her eyes do not trouble her in school as they used to do."
Mrs. W. Preston.
This little girl was very cross-eyed. Mrs. Preston was for many years a teacher in the public schools.

Lizzie Rehnus Winside.....	100
Lucy Miller Wayne.....	100

With Sunday school will begin Sunday the 21st at three o'clock. Miss Tossie Hansen, St. Grace Goss, sec., Miss Griffith, organist.

Jake Wingert says he uses all the water on the streets the water commissioner will let him have and the supply will probably not increase before September 1. This will either have to be put up with or the sprinkling abandoned.

Friends of H. S. Welch notice with pleasure the splendid business built up here in the jeweler's line in the four and a half year's since this gentleman came to Wayne, and now they have opened a branch store under the firm name of H. S. Welch & Co., at Winside and Mr. Welch's father who has spent the past few months in Wayne, takes charge of it. Winside people need no introduction to these gentlemen and will find every advantage in patronizing their home institution. It means a great deal to a town to have such a reliable firm establish its business there, as it takes time to establish confidence in this line where there is so much deception and chance for fraud.

CHARLOTTE CUSHMAN.

Bitter Ending of the One Love Affair of the Famous Actress.

Charlotte Cushman, the actress, was in love but once in her life. She met in Cincinnati, where she was playing, an actor named Clark, with whom she fell in love. Through her efforts Clark was advanced to leading man in the company, and the course of true love ran smoothly.

One night the actress met a strange woman behind the scenes between the acts.

The woman came up to her and addressed her thus:
"You are Charlotte Cushman, the great actress. Haven't you got enough men to admire you without coming between man and wife and robbing me of my husband?"

"Your husband?" cried Miss Cushman, getting excited.
"Yes, and you have taken or you are trying to take him from me," continued the ragged woman, looking Miss Cushman full in the face.

"Who is your husband?"
"Conrad Clark," replied the woman, "the father of this child," pointing to a half starved, thin little child in her arms.

Miss Cushman started as if she had been shot.

She went through her part that night as usual—acted it splendidly—brought down the house; then, after the performance, she sent for Clark to come to her dressing room. Clark knocked and then opened the door. She brought forward to him his wife and baby, who had been waiting in the dressing room to receive him.

Such a reception! Charlotte Cushman never looked or acted so grandly on the stage in all her life as she did that night in her dressing room. She waved Clark away with a greater majesty than ever as Queen Catherine she waved away Cardinal Wolsey, and then going to her hotel probably she had a good crying spell.

But she never loved again.

SAYINGS OF THE WISE.

The eyes of other people are the eyes that ruin us.—Franklin.
If you would know and not be known, live in a city.—Colton.

The way of the world is to make laws, but follow customs.—Montaigne.
We carry happiness into our condition, but cannot hope to find it there.—Holmes.

Prosperity is no just scale. Adversity is the only balance to weigh friends.—Plutarch.

Children are unconscious philosophers. They refuse to pull to pieces their enjoyments to see what they are made of.—Henry Ward Beecher.

Energy will do anything that can be done in this world, and no talents, no circumstances, no opportunities, will make a two legged animal a man without it.—Goethe.

Great, ever fruitful, profitable for reproof, for encouragement, for building up in manifold purposes and works, are the words of those that in their day were men.—Carlyle.

Pedigree of Arabian Horses.

The Arabs have no written pedigrees. It is all an affair of memory and of notoriety in the tribe. Certain alleged pedigrees of Arabian horses, couched in romantic language and represented as carried in a small bag and hung by a cord around the animal's neck, have been published, but these are forgotten or not up probably by horse dealers, Egyptian, Syrian or Persian.

The breeding of every horse is a matter of common knowledge, and it would be impossible for his owner to fabricate pedigree so as to deceive the natives, even if he were so inclined. The Bedouins, it seems necessary to admit, are in general great liars, and they will lie (to a stranger) about the age, the qualities or the ownership of a horse, but they will not lie about his pedigree, even when they can do so with impunity. To be truthful on this subject is almost a matter of religion, certainly a point of honor in the desert.—Atlantic.

Animals That Delight to Play.

In animals the faculty of amusement awakes very early. Our four footed friends seem to be aware of this and make it a part of their parental duties to amuse their young. A ferret will play with her kittens, a cat with hers, a dog with her puppies. A mare will play with her foal, though the writer has never seen a cow try to amuse her calf nor any birds their young. If their mothers do not amuse them, the young ones invent games of their own.—London Tit-Bits.

The Coldness of Space.

Away out in space is a cold so intense that we fairly fail to grasp its meaning. Perhaps 300 or 400 degrees below the freezing point of water, some philosophers think, are the dark recesses beyond our atmosphere. And night and day, summer and winter, this insatiable space is robbing us of our heat and fighting with demonic power to reduce our globe to its own bitter chill.

Mrs. Homer—You can't go home while it is raining so. Stay and have dinner with us.

Mr. Wittness—Oh, no, thank you. It isn't as bad as all that.—Chicago News.

Gossip.

"Gossip, my dear," answered Miss Cayenne, "is never idle. It is the most industrious thing on earth."—Washington Star.

Wait Till You're Cooler.

If you get mad at a man, make up your mind what you're going to say, and then don't say it.—Baltimore News.

His Mistake.

"Once at a party," said a Scotch clergyman, "there was a crusty old Scot seated at a whist table playing passionately, and his partner was a young woman, the daughter of a neighboring laird. You are to imagine this young woman's surprise in the heart of the game when the old fellow threw down his cards and bawled at her:
"What kind of a game are ye playing, ye damned auld!"
"And then, recollecting himself, he bowed and said humbly to the astonished girl:
"Yer pardon's begged, madam. I took ye in the excitement for my ain wife."

Marriage and Crime.

It is said that statistics prove that in every 1,000 bachelors there are thirty-eight criminals, while in every 1,000 married men the criminals number only eighteen. This is so, it surely proves that the present day members of the sex labeled coy and hard to please have at least an immense capability for keeping men out of mischief, sufficient to outbalance perhaps even the unkind reputation handed down the ages by Mother Eve.—London Tatler.

"Who is it?" asks the gruff post, as the butler brings a card. "Is it that barber I sent for?"

"Yes, sir," is the reply, "and he has brought with him the buying agent of a hair pillow manufacturer who requests to be permitted to bid on your surplus hair for the next year."—Chicago Tribune.

LIKED BY DIPLOMATS.

Secret of President Roosevelt's Popularity Among Them.

WIDE READING AND GOOD MEMORY

He Knows Something About Politics and History of Every European Nation—How He Surprised Mme. Hengelmuller by His Knowledge of Poland.

No president who has occupied the White House within memory has made so agreeable an impression upon members of the diplomatic colony as President Roosevelt, writes the New York Commercial Advertiser's Washington correspondent. Indeed it is doubtful whether among the reigning sovereigns of Europe there is one who is so thoroughly at home in discussing with the representatives of other nations just the questions in which those representatives happen to be particularly interested. The German emperor may be an exception, for his mental activities are said to be almost boundless. As for the others—so members of the foreign colony in Washington say—not one of them can compare with the president of the United States. There are very few questions about which President Roosevelt does not know something. He has been a voracious reader ever since he was a boy, and he has always been passionately fond of history and biography. His memory is tenacious and encyclopedic. Whatever information once gets into his mind sticks there, ready to be called on at a second's notice. No president since John Quincy Adams has begun to compare with him in the extent of his general knowledge of questions not immediately concerned with American politics and history. He knows something about the politics and history of every nation in Europe, even the most insignificant, and he at times displays a familiarity with them which is as surprising to their representatives in Washington as it is gratifying to the president.

The wife of the Austrian ambassador, Von Hengelmuller, is a native of Poland. If there is a region in Europe about which most American public men have vague and hazy notions, it is Poland. Everybody knows something about Kosciuszko and how freedom shrieked when he fell, and that is about the limit. But it happens that in the course of his reading the president has picked up a lot of information about Poland and about the old Polish families. He knows their relationship to one another and the part they have played in Polish history, so that when Mme. von Hengelmuller happens to be placed beside him at dinner he can talk to her about her own people with a familiarity and with a just appreciation which fill her with astonishment and delight.

So with M. Jusserand, the new French ambassador. M. Jusserand is a litterateur of high rank in his own country and has an international reputation, although comparatively few Americans probably have ever read much that he has written. He has made a special study of early English literature and has written upon it with great ability and with fine discrimination. When he came to talk with the president, he was flattered and overjoyed to find that Mr. Roosevelt had read everything he had ever written about early English literature. Piers Ploughman and the rest, and the two conversed with enthusiasm for a long time upon topics congenial to both which have no bearing whatever upon international relations. Sir Michael Herbert and Baron von Sternburg of course are old friends, dating back to the days when the president was an under official in Washington, and all the other diplomatic representatives in Washington find their personal relations with the occupant of the White House exceptionally pleasant.

The representative of a different type of individual to whom the president appeals even more strongly than to the diplomats was in Washington recently—Seth Bullock, the sheriff of Deadwood, S. D. Bullock is as fine a specimen of the frontiersman as could be found anywhere, with long, drooping mustaches, aquiline nose and hawklike eye. Bullock came on to visit the president and brought with him Mrs. Bullock. They were invited to the German musicale at the White House the other evening, the president having warned Seth in advance not to "shoot the fiddle." Seth was immensely taken with the German choruses. After the entertainment was over Senator Lodge asked him what he thought of it. "It was fine," was the reply. "I liked it. It took me a little higher up the gulch than I'd ever been before, but I liked it." Seth would go through fire and water for the president, and the president would do the same for him.

Several members of the house were discussing their plans for the coming summer in Speaker Henderson's room the other morning when General Henderson turned to Representative Gaines of Tennessee, says the Washington correspondent of the New York Tribune, and said:

"How are you going to spend your summer, Gaines?"
"I intend to take a rest, an absolute rest," was the reply.

"That means that you will resume your law practice, I presume," remarked the speaker, and a shout of laughter greeted the presumption.

Latest in Pottery.
A new Dutch pottery of rich, warm fleur-de-lis coloring comes in fetching shapes, high shouldered little rose jars, long necked vases and wide mouthed bowls.

According to a local tradition, probably invented, Sayville, N. Y., received its name in a peculiar fashion. The settlers were gathered in debate upon the shore, trying to agree upon a name for the place, and one after another proposed his suggestion with, "Say, how 'll this do?" After many suggestions had been rejected, some one bawled out in imagination but sensitive of ear proposed that the oft repeated word "Say" be made the first syllable of the name and that "ville" be added as the second syllable. The idea took, and, says the legend, then and there the settlement was christened Sayville.

Chas. Burbank visited several days the last of the week with Hoskins friends.

Mr. and Mrs. F. C. Oldenberg drove over to Norfolk to attend church last Sunday.

Kate Waddell is town' this week from Winside getting acquainted with her folks.

John Shannon shipped four cars of fat cattle from this point to Chicago Saturday.

Mr. and Mrs. John Foster were at Norfolk last week to visit Mr. Burbank's people.

Mr. and Mrs. Backlund took a vacation this week and went to Minnesota to visit Mrs. B's parents.

Rev. Redmond will be at the M. E. church again next Sunday evening. Services begin at 8 o'clock.

Dr. W. E. Edmunds and wife are here on a visit to Mrs. Edmunds' sister and family, Mrs. Louis Ziemer.

Herman Zeimer sold out his interest in the Hoskins livery barn and in the Weizlich implement house this week to Ed Mortz.

All kinds of races here July 4. fat women's race, old women's race and newspaper correspondents' race. Come and see 'em.

Mrs. F. C. Oldenberg, Kate Waddell, Mrs. E. A. Waddell, Alma Foster and Johnnie were passengers to Norfolk Wednesday.

Otto Wotlock has bought the Schroder place down by the stockyards and is going to build a large barn and is going into the livery business.

Mortz & Wetlich have bought lots between Woodman hall and the Wilbur blacksmith shop and will soon erect a fine new livery barn.

Mrs. Burbank was here from Norfolk to visit friends Tuesday. Mrs. John Foster accompanied her to her home at Norfolk Wednesday.

The afternoon train was delayed at Hoskins several hours Wednesday owing to two freight cars being derailed between Hoskins and Winside.

Not a few are sorry that Wayne has the Woodman roll rolling the 4th. That event is something we all wanted to attend. Same in lots of other towns that had made preparations to celebrate before knowing that Wayne was going to celebrate in that particular way. It isn't fair at all. Wayne ought to celebrate for once on the battle fields of Hoskins and find out what a 4th of July celebration is.

WHY WE CELEBRATE.

Every man, woman and child should celebrate the 4th of July. Did you ever stop to think that only the disobedient ever accomplish anything worth celebrating. If your forefathers had obeyed the laws of England we would never had this grand republic. Only the brave who step out of existing conditions and dare to do right, as they see the right, ever accomplish anything that their ancestors ever feel like celebrating. If they succeed we call them great, and if they fail we call them cranks. If you are buying clothing like your grandfather bought, and the same way, step out of the old way and be brave enough to make this store a visit and your children will celebrate the day you first bought clothing of us. If your father buys clothing at a dry goods store, and if you will be brave enough to step out of that old way and face us you will gain a victory that you will feel like celebrating. If you have always traded at a certain store because you like the man that runs the store, be brave once and try this new up-to-date store and you will not only feel like celebrating the Fourth, but you will save enough on one suit to celebrate with. Most of you were brave enough to leave home and come to Nebraska and you are not sorry you done it. If you will be brave enough to try a store where goods are bought and sold for cash and everything is up-to-date you will not be sorry for trading here. Wayne will have a big time the 3rd and 4th and you will enjoy yourself if you buy your clothing here. Everything here is up-to-date and prices lower than elsewhere.

Why not try us?

The Long and the Short of It!

The long and the short of it is that we can fit men of all sizes.

YOU VERY TALL FELLOWS who have all kinds of grief—and fit at a tailor's—can come here and get suited. We make to order and we make to fit. A tall man might as well save clothes money as anyone.

YOU STOUT MEN—we have special sizes for you and the man is rare today who cannot be properly fitted in our various sizes of stout, or extra stout suits and trousers—if you think you are hard to fit, we wish you would come in and try on some of our special sizes. This is the sort of trade very few stores try to get. We like it. Whatever your shape may be—come to us—and we will fit you, please you, and best of all, not overcharge you.

WE MAKE TO ORDER. We also represent the leading tailoring house of America, Lamm & Co., of Chicago. Should you wish a suit to measure we guarantee a perfect fit or no trade.

The Children's Day exercises at the Presbyterian church last Sunday were a decided success. The church was very nicely decorated and the program was of a select character. To much praise can not be given to the untiring efforts of both Committees.

An all day picnic party was the occasion of much enjoyment for the Juniors of the M. E. church, last Thursday, at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Auker. Every effort was made by the host and hostess as well as by different members of the family to add enjoyment to the occasion, for which the Juniors are indeed grateful.

A wreck occurred near Winside, Wednesday, the rear end of a freight train piling up and wrecking three box cars. The conductor and rear brakeman jumped and no one sustained injury. The mail, express etc was transferred to the Bloomfield train which backed down to meet number 10, the regular passenger east.

Rev. Welden packed his household goods the first of the week and Wednesday departed for Hastings. We are sorry to lose this family but they better themselves by going there, better salary, and parsonage furnished and nearer Mrs. Welden's relatives. The church Mr. Welden will serve is a handsome structure erected last year at a cost close to $20,000.

Asa Witzman died at Wakefield this morning, at the home of I. H. Weaver, as a result of an operation performed Monday at Sioux City for some trouble he had with his ear. He is a son-in-law of I. H. ## JUST FOR FUN.

Ruthven (In.) Appeal: A subscriber writes that he does not want the paper any longer. We wouldn't make it any longer if he did. The present length suits us very well.

An exchange says: Samuel Frost and Emma Winters were married in Omaha recently. If they follow the President's advice they will probably raise a flock of loaves.

It is reported that young married man of Golconda wrapped in the greatest excitement, flew to the telegraph office of his town and wired his wife's relatives a happening as follows: "Twins today, more tomorrow."

Hamburg (In.) News: We saw a team of mules on the street the other day for which the owner asked $450 and we decided that the next time a dissatisfied subscriber called us a jack-ass we would reflect a little before taking it as an insult.

"I suppose," says the condoling neighbor, "that you will erect a handsome monument to your husband's memory?" "To his memory?" echoed the tearful widow. "Why, poor John hadn't any. I was sorting over some of the clothes he left, today, and found the pockets full of letters I had given him to mail."

An Oklahoma paper says: A baby was born to the minister Saturday morning. That evening the church officer waited on him with $50 in cash. The next morning when the congregation assembled two wags stood before the church door and one bet the minister would thank the Lord for the money first and the other bet he would thank the Lord for the baby first. When the reverend gentleman arose to pray he said: "Lord, we desire to thank thee for this timely succor," and the boys were yet undecided as to which was the winner.

Midsummer Festival at Sioux City.

June 29th and including July 4th. $50 to $100 Reward

Can be earned on this occasion by connecting business with pleasure. In order that we may place one or more pianos in every town near Sioux City, we quote you the prices below which will actually save you from $50 to $100 on the purchase of a single piano. Our reasons for making this offer is purely a business proposition. We are in the wholesale as well as the retail piano business, and as a matter of advertisement we make you this offer. Our line of pianos comprise such world renowned makes as the Emerson, Gramer, Vose, Ludwig & Co., Price & Teeple, Buttell & Co., and 20 others.

We not only have the largest and finest stock of pianos in Sioux City but we are the only concern in the city handling pianos exclusively.

READ THE FOLLOWING QUOTATIONS.

We will reserve for this occasion ten pianos which have been taken back on account of parties failing to make payments. Three piano cases slightly damaged in shipping, seven pianos of various discontinued styles, former price: one $475, two $375, two $350, one $300, and one $250. Now: $325, $285, $250, $235, $195, and $135.

One fine Emerson and one fine Vose piano, case slightly damaged, one $185 10 organs, Story & Clark, Mason & Hamlin, Crown, Chicago Cottage, Hamilton, Estey, and Packard organs. All as good as if they just came from the factory. Price: $5 $6, $10, $15, $25 and up to $50. Some of these organs retail as high as $60. The above prices are for cash, however, with interest we will sell on monthly payments on one or two years time.

SPECIAL INDUCEMENT TO MUSIC TEACHERS.

Write what day you will attend the carnival and we will hold any particular piano for your inspection.

FANATIC PRIESTS OF INDIA.

They are like some people of today. Their sole ambition seems to be to endure as much suffering as possible; they starve themselves, chastise themselves with spike-tongued whips, until the flesh is lacerated and bleeding; they deprive themselves of sleep and remain with their foreheads pressed on the ground in prayer until they fall over from exhaustion, thereby, according to their fanatic belief, preparing themselves for what comes after the termination of their earthly career. A part of this civilized world bears a strong resemblance to these misguided fanatical priests, for while the suffering of the former is not deliberately self-inflicted, yet they refuse to avail themselves of the opportunity to be relieved.

Why does the head ache so terribly? Why does the food remain, indigestible giving untold agony and that horrible bloated feeling? Why is the appetite so poor? Why will sleep not come at night? Why the untold agonies of insomnia? Why so nervous, dyspeptic, irritable and miserable? Because the liver, kidneys, stomach and bowels are out of order, they are clogged and inactive, and do not perform their natural functions because, in the state they are, they cannot take Cascaria; it cures dyspepsia, constipation, biliousness, catarrh of the stomach. It is the remedy which is endorsed by thousands of grateful people who have been cured; is recommended and used by many of the greatest specialists and physicians living; Cascaria; Cascaria's purgative and cures out the disease itself, and does not, as so many so-called remedies do, simply relieve the symptoms for a while, after which the symptoms increase, Cascaria is made from bark, herbs, plants and berries. Cascaria kills the disease itself, and if the disease is extinct, those awful sufferings cannot return. Cascaria at druggists, 50 cents.

THE ADVANTAGES OF USING A ...Janesville Disc Cultivator...

One Can't Be Too Careful.
"Dearest," he wrote from his hostelry in the Ardennes, "I am sitting here beside a pleasant window, gazing dreamily out over the barren heath, and on to the borders of the wide, wild forest beyond. But, further than eye can reach, travel the thoughts, the yearnings of my soul; they are all with you, darling—all with the sweet, precious, adorable wife who awaits my return in London."

These, and other dainty sentiments he wrote, with one exception. From the word "window" up above he inadvertently omitted the letter "n" and, when his wife read that he was "sitting beside a pleasant willow," she threw down the letter, started post haste for the Ardennes, and brought him home with a flea in his ear. And, in spite of all explanations, the poor fellow says that for close on three months he was confoundingly N-poked through that confounded "X."

A Maryland Wonder.
Upper Cross Roads, Md., June 15.—Never in the history of medicine in this state has anything so great, such a sensation by its marvelous cures of the most extreme cases as Dodd's Kidney Pills.

This wonderful medicine seems to know no limit in its wonderful working power. Long-standing cases that have defied the most expert medical treatment seem to yield readily to this new conqueror of disease.

Hundreds have testified to the virtue of Dodd's Kidney Pills. They tell of severe cases of Rheumatism, Lumbago, Backache, Female Trouble, Nervous Disposition and even Dropsy, Diabetes and Bright's Disease cured by this medicine.

Among those who have been benefited may be mentioned Mrs. John Conroy of this place.

Mrs. Conroy says:
"I believe Dodd's Kidney Pills the best remedy ever known for Kidney Trouble and weak back."

"They are without exception the best medicine I have ever used. I will always praise them highly, for I know that they are good."

Mrs. Conroy is only one of many who say of Dodd's Kidney Pills:
"The most wonderful remedy ever heard of."

Trumpan—In Nam it is lawful for a man to gamble his wife away.

Bluffen—Such a law would be a dead letter in this country.

Bluffen—Why do you think so?
Bluffen—It would be impossible to find a man willing to take the bet.

An Unfailing Sign.
Druggist—That dyspepsia remedy you put on the market wasn't a success, eh?
Physician—Why do you think it wasn't?
Druggist—Because there hasn't been a single imitation offered for sale.

Breaking It Gently.
After the ship which had come from New Zealand was tied up at the wharf, Larry O'Brien was told off by his shipmates to call upon Mrs. McCarthy and break the news of the death of her husband, which had occurred on shipboard the preceding summer. The Brooklyn Eagle tells how he did it:

"Good-morning, Mrs. McCarthy," said he. "Is Denny in?"
"Denny? Did the surprised woman. My Denny? No, he's not in. Is the ship here?"
"Sure, it is. And Denny's not got home yet. That's queer—unless something has happened him."

"What would happen him?" Mrs. McCarthy asked, anxiously.
"There's plenty of things can happen a man," said Larry, delicately. "He might have got hurt, or he might have taken sick with the fever. But there's one comfort, as Father McGinnis said once, and that is that time heals every grief."

"What do you name, Mr. O'Brien?"
"I name that if anything happened to Denny you wouldn't feel as bad about it a few months after it happened as you would right at the time, would you?"

"I suppose not," said Mrs. McCarthy. "I mind when I lost my first husband I thought I'd never get over it. But, as you say, in a few months it was easier to bear."

"Then, Mrs. McCarthy, you'll be glad to know that it's now four months—nearly five—since Denny died. Sure, it can't grieve you now as much as it would if you'd known it at the time."

THE REAL CRANK.
It is Plainly Marked.
A crank is one who stays in beaten paths when common sense tells him to leave.

The real crank is one who persists in using coffee because accustomed to and yet knows it hurts him. It is this one who always pays the penalty, while the sensible person who gives up coffee and takes on Postum Food Coffee in its place enjoys all the benefits of returning health.

A well-known manufacturer's agent of New York City visited the grocery department of one of the big New York stores not long ago and there he tasted a sample cup of Postum made the right way. He said afterwards: "Just through the energy of that young woman who was serving Postum there I became a convert to the food drink and gave up the drug drink coffee and got well."

"I had used coffee to excess and was gradually becoming a nervous wreck, getting weaker and more nervous every day. I paid the penalty for using coffee and when I tasted the delicious Postum I was glad indeed to make the change."

"So I gave up the coffee altogether and have used Postum instead ever since. My family at first called me a crank, but seeing how Postum benefited me the first month they all got on line and as a result of Postum's remarkable effects I can now all drink it now entirely in place of coffee and we are well." Name given by Postum Co., Battle Creek, Mich.

THE SENATOR'S BRIDE

"CHAPTER VI.—(Continued.)
"How happy, poor Bruce!" he murmured. "How the better consequences of his wrongdoing have followed him! And now, in all probability, he must die yet, after all!" thought this loyal heart. "It cannot be so very hard to die for her."

The noiseless entrance of his pleasant-faced mother made him look up. Taking a seat by the bed, she quietly dismissed them from the room.

"I will watch by him myself," she said, kindly, "and the fever in the room the better, you know. Both of you go and rest yourselves."

They both withdrew with lingering steps, and eyes that seemed both to quit that pale sleeper, but sat down in the quiet little parlor to talk it all over.

"Only, brother, did Mrs. Conway say when you told her?"
"Went off into strong hysterics. I sent the doctor out there as I rode in town. She may think herself for the most of it," he answered, half bitterly. "Why did she tempt his weak mind with her wealth and pride? She knew better than any one else how wavering a will was his."

"But, brother, he ought to have had more manliness. I wonder if Mrs. Winans knows—how she feels about it? Do you know, brother Willie, I would give much to see this wonderful woman whose beauty has only been for a time. What is she like?"

"I know nothing you ever saw, little Lulu—the same fair skin, or so."
"The passion in his heart broke through his words. A faint red flushed his brown cheek, and his eyes dropped as his sister looked up with soft, astonished gaze."

"Why, brother, did you love her, too?"
"That is the first time you have accused me of loving any one but yourself, little Lulu," he answered, lightly, parrying the question.

"Well, tell me this, brother. Did you ever go to see her at all?"
"I went there sometimes—not often," his glance falling with unconscious pathos on the empty sleeve that lay between him and any aspiration toward woman's love. "I liked her very much indeed. She was very sweet and attractive, very obliging indeed. She was a little, I suppose, as a more friend. I never presumed to ask for a deeper regard. I knew she loved Bruce. I felt, Lulu, it seemed to me then, in her dark days, every pang that struck home to that trusting and deceived young heart. I felt sorry for her, and admired her for it, and I was very strong and full of sympathy for her through that bitter ordeal. I rejoiced with her when she married a letter man than Bruce and seemed to have forgotten the past."

The tender brown eyes looked gravely at him as he spoke, reading his heart with a woman's quick intuition. She put aside her own grief, and turned her face to her lips to the noble brow over which the brown curls fell so gracefully. The mute earnest told him that she understood and sympathized in his unspoken grief. The man's heart in him could not bear it. He rose, putting her kindly and gently aside.

"Lulu, she has a noble husband; a handsome, generous fellow, a man among men, but he is married almost as much by his own choice as by Bruce by his unstable character. I pity her. She is worthy of confidence and all respect. It is an honor to my man to have loved her even though hopelessly."

"And Senator Winans has left her, they say, Brother Willie? Why don't you see him, brother, and talk with him, try to make him look at things fairly? It seems to me she should be full of sympathy for the four people whose life-paths crossed each other so strangely and sadly. She shuddered and hoped she would never love. Of the three men who each loved Grace Winans in his own fashion, she wondered which was the most unhappy; the husband who had started the man on his path of sin, the selfish passion; Bruce Conway, who was dying for her, or her brother, whose heart was silently breaking for her."

A low tinkle of the doorbell sounded, and he answered the summons himself. It was a messenger from Mrs. Conway to inquire concerning her nephew. He sent back a message that he still lay sleeping quietly. For the rest of the day the same was heard with callers and friends from all parts of the city.

In the midst of it all, in his deep grief and anxiety for his friend's life, in his pity and sympathy for the exiled duelist, a fair face brooded over all his thoughts, a pang for a woman's suffering struck coldly to his heart. To know that she was mourning alone, bowed to earth in her mourning, and shrouded in the height and depth of bitterness to the man who loved her tenderly and purely as he did his own little sister.

And the spring day wore to its close, and the silence of the balmy spring night, with its wandering breeze of violets, its mysterious stars, fell over all things.

At ten o'clock, the captain of limited John, Mrs. Conway's servant, who had come to seek fresh tidings for his mistress. His biggest black face looked up in vague, unstruck grief at the captain's mournful features.

"Oh, marse cap'n!" he pleaded, "lemme see him, if you please, sir, one more time. Be very quiet, then," said the captain, "and it will do no harm for you to go in."

The black boy went in with footfalls noiseless as the captain's own. Lulu and her mother were there, one on each side of the bed, watching the sleeper with anxious eyes. They looked up at the entrance of the boy as he paused and gazed at the still white face on the pillow. He gazed long and mournfully, seeming to take in every movement of that beloved face; then as he turned reluctantly away, stooped carefully down and touched his rough lips tenderly and lightly on the cold, white hand that lay outside of the coverlet.

"'Twas a hand that never struck me, and was always kind to me," he murmured, mournfully, as he went out, followed by the injunction from Mrs. Clendennon to report that Mr. Conway was still in the same condition—sleeping quietly.

Lulu looked down at the hand lying so still and lifeless on the counterpane. A

I am sorry, but we can do nothing."
"Grace—Grace!" came in a whisper from the bed.

"It was by him in an instant."
"Will you be so good as to go?"
"No." The pallid brow contracted in a vexed frown. "Go away; you are not Grace. Cannot you get Grace to come—won't you try?" he whispered, in a faint voice.

A low tinkle of the door bell seemed to echo his words. Half raising his handsome head, he looked at her eagerly.

"That may be Grace now," he said. "Won't you go and see?"
She started in astonishment when she opened the door. Outside was a pleasant-faced Irishman, dressed plainly and neatly with a pretty babe in her arms. It was Mrs. Winans' nurse and child.

Grace had learned from Miss Story where Bruce was, and when Nora went out to take the little boy for his morning airing, she had directed her to call and inquire of Captain Clendennon how Mr. Conway was getting on. Nora introduced herself and her business briefly and clearly, and Lulu invited her in and gave her a seat.

"And this is Mrs. Winans' baby?" she said, taking the beautiful boy from the nurse's arms and kissing his rosy face. "How lovely he is!"

"Little Paul smiled fearlessly back at her, and something in the dark flash of his eyes so vividly recalled the appeal of the Mayor and other officials for order. The mob conducted its work in a perfectly orderly manner, and many of the citizens of Belleville knew nothing of the lynching.

Hertel was shot in his office by the teacher, who had called to have his certificate renewed. A young man named Fidler was in the office when the shooting occurred. He grappled with Wyatt, but the negro beat him off with the butt of his revolver, inflicting a severe scalp wound. A passing policeman hurried into the room and succeeded in arresting the negro. He was hurried to the county jail and the place was surrounded with police, as it was feared that a mob would form.

A couple of hours passed when suddenly an orderly crowd of determined citizens appeared before the jail and forced a passage to Wyatt's cell. Securing the prisoner they dragged him out and hanged him. Before being executed Wyatt asserted the shooting was the result of a political feud. Wyatt was hanged to a telephone pole at the public square in front of the court house. After he was pronounced dead his body was buried in the hospital. The ball entered his right breast near the nipple and ranged upward. He is unable to use his right arm, but is resting well, although the ball is still in his body. State's Attorney Wheeler will make every effort to fix the responsibility of the lynching upon the leaders. Wyatt was a graduate of the University of Michigan and was not refused a teacher's certificate because of lack of knowledge, but because charges of immorality had been preferred against him.

MANY DIE IN FLOOD.
Hundred Perish and Big Cotton Mills Crumble in South Carolina.
By a tremendous cloudburst from 75 to 100 persons lost their lives at Spartanburg, S. C., and at Paoclet and Clifton, S. C., on Friday night. The water built up the neighborhood to a high state of prosperity, were wiped out by the same flood. The Paoclet mill, at Spartanburg, was destroyed, where the property of Victor N. Montgomery, who owned the mills at New Holland, Ga., which were crippled by the tornado near Gainesville a few days before.

The storm settled over Spartanburg on Friday night, and before midnight brought a giant cloudburst, the downpour from the clouds sweeping away the dams, which in turn settled into a vast swirling stream, which rushed through the valley where the mills were situated.

Saturday afternoon the waters were roaring above the homes in a settlement on Friday a thousand laborers were busy. The property loss, it is believed, will reach $2,000,000. Many cottages were swept away in the terrific flood with their inmates, who were asleep when the storm burst upon them and cut off their chance of escape.

Paoclet and Clifton are situated in the defiles of two valleys and most of the homes of the workmen are located in the valley near the mills, which they inhabited. Their situation was trap-like, and the bursting cloud filled the valley with its flood of water.

The Paoclet River rises in the mountains forty miles above, and ordinarily it is just large enough to furnish power for the cotton factories. It is now a giant mill race.

The greatest disaster was at the village of Paoclet. There were three cotton mills known as Paoclet Mills Nos. 1, 2 and 3. Nos. 1 and 2 have been washed away, together with a number of warehouses filled with cotton goods and raw cotton.

Besides the mills at Paoclet the Presbyterian Church, a hotel, a livery stable and a number of dwellings were washed away by the flood. The water is running through the windows of the Southern Railway station there. Box cars standing on the tracks were washed away. All the water power dams on the river are gone. The flood carried away at least three bridges on the main line of the Southern Railway.

President Twichell, of the Clifton mill, located at Clifton, S. C., telegraphed to Paoclet, Pa., that the cotton stock holders, that No. 3 mill there is wrecked. No. 1 and No. 2 partially destroyed and several warehouses swept away. The dispatch said: "There has been heavy loss of life. Glendale mill (No. 1) converse is intact, but the dam and several warehouses have been swept away."

TEACHER IS HANGED.

NEGRO LYNCHED BY MOB AT BELLEVILLE, ILL.

Avengers Proceed Quietly and Kill Colored Man After Dragging Him from Jail—Superintendent Shot for Refusing to Renew Certificate.

A mob of infuriated citizens in Belleville at midnight lynched W. T. Wyatt, a colored school teacher of East St. Louis, two hours after he had shot and mortally wounded Charles Hertel, county superintendent of schools, because the latter refused to renew his teaching certificate. The colored man was hanged by the mob despite the appeals of the Mayor and other officials for order. The mob conducted its work in a perfectly orderly manner, and many of the citizens of Belleville knew nothing of the lynching.

BABY'S FUTURE

Lives of Suffering and Sorrow Averted

Cuticura Soap, Ointment and Pills

When All Else Fails.

Every child born into the world with an inherited or early developed tendency to distressing, disfiguring humors of the skin, scalp and blood, becomes an object of the most tender solicitude, not only because of its suffering, but because of the dreadful fear that the disfigurement is to be lifelong and mar its future happiness and prosperity. Hence, it becomes the duty of mothers of such afflicted children to acquaint themselves with the best, the purest and most effective treatment available, viz., the Cuticura Treatment.

Warm baths, with Cuticura Soap, to cleanse the skin, and ointment, for the scales, special applications of Cuticura Ointment, to allay itching, irritation and inflammation, and soothe and heal, and mild doses of Cuticura Resolvent, to cool the blood in the severer cases, are all that can be desired for the speedy relief and permanent cure of skin troubles of infants and children, and the comfort of worn-out parents.

Millions of women use Cuticura Soap, assisted by Cuticura Ointment, for preventing, purifying and beautifying the skin, and for the relief of various skin ailments, such as eczema, itching, irritation and inflammation, and soothe and heal, and mild doses of Cuticura Resolvent, to cool the blood in the severer cases, are all that can be desired for the speedy relief and permanent cure of skin troubles of infants and children, and the comfort of worn-out parents.

Mrs. F. Wright, of Oelwein, Iowa, is another one of the million women who have been restored to health by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

Over-shadowing indeed is the success of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound—compared with it, all other medicines for women are experiments.

Why has it the greatest record for absolute cures of any female medicine in the world? Why has it lived and thrived and done its glorious work among women for a quarter of a century? Simply because of its sterling worth.

A Young New York Lady Tells of a Wonderful Cure:— "DEAR MRS. PINKHAM:—My trouble was with the ovaries; I am tall, and the doctor said I grew too fast for my strength. I suffered dreadfully from inflammation and doctored continually, but got no help.

THE BETTER WAY. LOUISE? "Yes, auntie." "Where is Bob Hunter?" "He has gone home."

"My dear," she said, softly, "Bob is only a man—and you wouldn't let any sense of duty stand between you?"

And the girl pressed her soft cheek against the one so old and wrinkled. "First there was the old father and mother you nursed so long, and now there's me—and he's a likely lad as ever was. He'll be rich, some day."

But when the winter of snow and rain set in, and Louise had to plod back and forth a mile through the storm to the little millinery store, where she was hired at 75 cents a day, the old woman more than once brought up the name of her old-time lover.

Bob Hunter had been in the city twenty years. He was no longer known as Bob, but as Robert Hunter, millionaire.

He had friends; such as they were, astute business financiers like himself; servants who ran at his bidding; but not one person in the whole world who loved him.

Even the little errand boys knew him for what he was, hard, cold and uncharitable. They were paid their stipulated prices, never a cent more. "This world and this life was only a place to live long in, in order to grow rich and richer."

Bob did not care a copper cent to be shown any of these affairs, but he had his own reasons for being civil, hence he permitted himself to be dragged hither and thither and at last actually found himself inside the handsome new "poorhouse."

"The matron will show us through," said the obsequious friend. "Who knows but you may run across some of your old acquaintances," he added, with a light laugh.

Be Careful of the Children.
In this day of sanitation, when we are sterilizing milk and various foods we use, filtering the water, using germ-proof brooms, sanitary clothing, plumbing, heating, etc., you should investigate your refrigerator. Never before in the history of the world has there been such precautions taken against microbes and bacilli as at the present time. Did you ever stop to think that you have perhaps overlooked your refrigerator. All the food, the very substance that enables us to exist, passes through the refrigerator. Then why do you keep your food in that poisonous, corroded, zinc lined refrigerator that is lurking with microbes and disease? Children form the most delicate thermometer of health, having less strength they show quickly the evil effects of any cause. Milk, the baby's food, should be kept in an absolutely pure and clean place if we expect baby to keep well. We should respect hygienic truth for baby's sake, even though we do not for ourselves. Secret of President Roosevelt's Popularity Among Them.

WIDE READING AND GOOD MEMORY

He Knows Something About Politics and History of Every European Nation—How He Surprised Mme. Hengelmueller by His Knowledge of Poland.

No president who has occupied the White House within memory has made so agreeable an impression upon members of the diplomatic colony as President Roosevelt, writes the New York Commercial Advertiser's Washington correspondent. Indeed it is doubtful whether among the reigning sovereigns of Europe there is one who is so thoroughly at home in discussing with the representatives of other nations just the questions in which those representatives happen to be particularly interested. The German emperor may be an exception, for his mental activities are said to be almost boundless. As for the others—so members of the foreign colony in Washington say—not one of them can compare with the president of the United States. There are very few questions about which President Roosevelt does not know something. He has been a voracious reader ever since he was a boy, and he has always been passionately fond of history and biography. His memory is tenacious and encyclopedic. Whatever information once gets into his mind sticks there, ready to be called on at a second's notice. No president since John Quincy Adams has begun to compare with him in the extent of his general knowledge of questions not immediately concerned with American politics and history. He knows something about the politics and history of every nation in Europe, even the most insignificant, and he at times displays a familiarity with them which is as surprising to their representatives in Washington as it is gratifying.

The wife of the Austrian ambassador, Von Hengelmueller, is a native of Poland. If there is a region in Europe about which most American public men have vague and hazy notions, it is Poland. Everybody knows something about Kosciusko and how freedom shrieked when he fell, and that is about the limit. But it happens that in the course of his reading the president has picked up a lot of information about Poland and about the old Polish families. He knows their relationship to one another and the part they have played in Polish history, so that when Mme. von Hengelmueller happens to be placed beside him at dinner he can talk to her about her own people with a familiarity and with a just appreciation which fill her with astonishment and delight.

So with M. Jusserand, the new French ambassador. M. Jusserand is a litterateur of high rank in his own country and has an international reputation, although comparatively few Americans probably have ever read much that he has written. He has made a special study of early English literature and has written upon it with great ability and with fine discrimination. When he came to talk with the president, he was flattered and overjoyed to find that Mr. Roosevelt had read everything he had ever written about early English literature. Pierre Ploeghman and the rest, and the two conversed with enthusiasm for a long time upon topics congenial to both which have no bearing whatever upon international relations. Sir Michael Herbert and Baron von Sternburg of course are old friends, dating back to the days when the president was an under official in Washington, and all the other diplomatic representatives in Washington find their personal relations with the occupant of the White House exceptionally pleasant.

The representative of a different type of individual to whom the president appeals even more strongly than to the diplomats was in Washington recently—Seth Bullock, the sheriff of Deadwood, S. D. Bullock is as fine a specimen of the frontiersman as could be found anywhere, with long, drooping mustaches, aquiline nose and hawklike eye. Bullock came on to visit the president and brought with him Mrs. Bullock. They were invited to the German musicale at the White House the other evening, the president having warned Seth in advance not to "shoot the fiddlers." Seth was immensely taken with the German choruses. After the entertainment was over, Senator Lodge asked him what he thought of it. "It was fine," was the reply. "I liked it. It took me a little higher up the gulch than I'd ever been before, but I liked it." Seth would go through fire and water for the president, and the president would do the same for him.

Congressman's Law Practice Restral.
Several members of the house were discussing their plans for the coming summer in Speaker Henderson's room the other morning when General Henderson turned to Representative Gaines of Tennessee, says the Washington correspondent of the New York Tribune, and said:

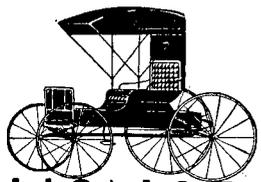

"How are you going to spend your summer, Gaines?"

"I intend to take a rest, an absolute rest," was the reply.

"That means that you will resume your law practice, I presume," remarked the speaker, and a shout of laughter greeted the presumption.

Victoria's Jubilee Gifts Loaned to St. Louis Exposition.

Highly Priced Collection of Presents to England's Late Queen Will Be Sent by King Edward to America in Charge of a Royal Commission and Heavy Armed Guard.

It needed some such striking fact as King Edward's munificent offer to send the priceless collection of Queen Victoria diamond jubilee presents to the Louisiana Purchase exposition to arouse the British mind to a proper appreciation of the importance of the St. Louis fair, and it has had its effect, says the London correspondent of the New York World.

All London is talking, too, of the appearance at the American society's Washington's birthday banquet of the phlegmatic, unemotional Duke of Devonshire as the eulogist of President Roosevelt. He has never been known before to propose a personal toast to any one; but to the surprise of all, he became almost enthusiastic over the American chief executive.

At this banquet the central figure was President Francis of the exposition, who has been indefatigable in his work at London to make the St. Louis fair a success. In his private audience with King Edward, Governor Francis was told that the gifts would be sent as the monarch's own mark of intimate sympathy with the American people and in appreciation of their admiration for his mother. It is probable that a royal commission will be appointed and that a heavy guard will be sent with the highly prized treasures to guard them on their way to and from the United States and while they are there.

This magnificent collection of gifts, estimated to be worth at least $15,000,000, created a great stir when shown for the first time in London, and extraordinary precautions were taken for their safety. One of the most superb things in the collection is the gift from the czar, the carina, the Grand Duke and Duchess of Hesse and Prince and Princess Louis of Battenberg. It is a diamond heart pendant, the center of which is open and occupied by the Slavonic numeral for "sixty," above which is an enormous sapphire and at the sides two drops of the same stones. Among the numerous rare and wonderful presents from the emperor of China is a bronze altar vessel for wine, square in form, suspended in a framework pierced with metal bearing dates, proving it to have been manufactured about 1,000 years before Christ.

The shah of Persia's gift is his most costly photograph in one of the best costly frames ever made. It is of solid gold, with a floral device carried out in large turquoise of flawless color and diamonds.

The Princess of Wales, now Queen Alexandra, together with the Duke and Duchess of York, the Duke and Duchess of Fife and other members of the royal family, gave a splendid diamond brooch, consisting of one immense diamond of rarest luster surrounded by twelve smaller ones.

The German emperor's present is a large silver gift vase surmounted by a figure of Britannia.

The emperor of Japan's presents are a finely carved screen with embroidered silk panels and a gold lacquer cabinet.

JAPS BUILD HIS COTTAGES.

William Rockefeller to Have Novel Home in Adirondacks.

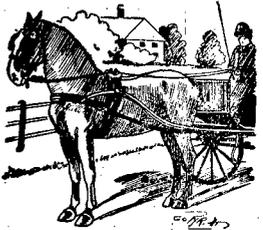

William Rockefeller, the Standard Oil millionaire, who has made large purchases of land in the Adirondacks, near St. Regis lake, is erecting two cottages the like of which were never seen in America, says a Watertown (N. Y.) dispatch to the New York World. He recently imported Japanese to build two beautiful Japanese cottages near the lake for use in summer.

All the work is done by Japanese under the supervision of a Japanese architect. The cottages will cost many thousands of dollars. Even American nails are discarded, and as much Japanese materials as can possibly be used are being put in the cottages.

Grateful Parliament.

A number of Parliament who were in the siege have decided to erect a monument to the memory of the pigeons that carried the dispatches which kept up communication with the outside world, says the New York Commercial Advertiser. It will consist of a pedestal surmounted by a bronze vase, on which will be cast a group of the birds that proved of such utility to the French. The gratitude comes somewhat late, for after the war the pigeons in question were sold by auction and commemorated in pigeon pie.

In this day of sanitation, when we are sterilizing milk and various foods we use, filtering the water, using germ-proof rooms, sanitary clothing, plumbing, heating, etc., you should invest in your refrigerator. Never before in the history of the world has there been such precautions taken against microbes and bacilli as at the present time. Did you ever stop to think that you have perhaps overlooked your refrigerator. All the food, the very substance that enables us to exist, passes through the refrigerator. Then why do you keep your food in that poisonous, corroded, zinc lined refrigerator that is lurking with microbes and disease? Children form the most delicate thermometer of health, having less strength they show quickly the evil effects of any cause. Milk, the baby's food, should be kept in an absolutely pure and clean place if we expect baby to keep well. We should respect hygienic truth for baby's sake, even though we do not for ourselves. The HERRICK REFRIGERATOR is built on sanitary principles and is the only one that is so built. Sold in Wayne by TERWILLIGER BROS.

LIKED BY DIPLOMATS.

Secret of President Roosevelt's Popularity Among Them.

WIDE READING AND GOOD MEMORY

He Knows Something About Politics and History of Every European Nation—How He Surprised Mm. Hengelmuller by His Knowledge of Poland.

No president who has occupied the White House within memory has made so agreeable an impression upon members of the diplomatic colony as President Roosevelt, writes the New York Commercial Advertiser's Washington correspondent. Indeed it is doubtful whether among the reigning sovereigns of Europe there is one who is so thoroughly at home in discussing with the representatives of other nations just the questions in which those representatives happen to be particularly interested. The German emperor may be an exception, for his mental activities are said to be almost boundless. As for the others—so members of the foreign colony in Washington say—not one of them can compare with the president of the United States. There are very few questions about which President Roosevelt does not know something. He has been a voracious reader ever since he was a boy, and he has always been passionately fond of history and biography. His memory is tenacious and encyclopedic. Whatever information once gets into his mind sticks there, ready to be called on at a second's notice. No president since John Quincy Adams has begun to compare with him in the extent of his general knowledge of questions not immediately concerned with American politics and history. He knows something about the politics and history of every nation in Europe, even the most insignificant, and he at times displays a familiarity with them which is as surprising to their representatives in Washington as it is gratifying.

The wife of the Austrian ambassador, Von Hengelmuller, 's a native of Poland. If there is a region in Europe about which most American public men have vague and hazy notions, it is Poland. Everybody knows something about Kosciusko and how freedom shrieked when he fell, and that is about the limit. But it happens that in the course of his reading the president has picked up a lot of information about Poland and about the old Polish families. He knows their relationship to one another and the part they have played in Polish history, so that when Mm. von Hengelmuller happens to be placed beside him at dinner he can talk to her about her own people with a familiarity and with a just appreciation which fill her with astonishment and delight.

So with M. Jusserand, the new French ambassador. M. Jusserand is a litterateur of high rank in his own country and has an international reputation, although comparatively few Americans probably have ever read much that he has written. He has made a special study of early English literature and has written upon it with great ability and with fine discrimination. When he came to talk with the president, he was flattered and overjoyed to find that Mr. Roosevelt had read everything he had ever written about early English literature, Piers Ploughman and the rest, and the two conversed with enthusiasm for a long time upon topics congenial to both which have no bearing whatever upon international relations. Sir Michael Herbert and Baron von Sternburg of course are old friends, dating back to the days when the president was an under official in Washington, and all the other diplomatic representatives in Washington find their personal relations with the occupant of the White House exceptionally pleasant.

The representative of a different type of individual to whom the president appeals even more strongly than to the diplomats was in Washington recently—Seth Bullock, the sheriff of Deadwood, S. D. Bullock is as fine a specimen of the frontiersman as could be found anywhere, with long, drooping mustaches, aquiline nose and hawklike eye. Bullock came on to visit the president and brought with him Mrs. Bullock. They were invited to the German musicale at the White House the other evening, the president having warned Seth in advance not to "shoot the fiddler." Seth was immensely taken with the German choruses. After the entertainment was over Senator Lodge asked him what he thought of it. "It was fine," was the reply. "I liked it. It took me a little higher up the gulch than I'd ever been before, but I liked it." Seth would go through fire and water for the president, and the president would do the same for him.

Congressman's Law Practice Restful.
Several members of the house were discussing their plans for the coming summer in Speaker Henderson's room the other morning when General Henderson turned to Representative Gaines of Tennessee, says the Washington correspondent of the New York Tribune, and said:

"How are you going to spend your summer, Gaines?"
"I intend to take a rest, an absolute rest," was the reply.

"That means that you will resume your law practice, I presume," remarked the speaker, and a shout of laughter greeted the presumption.

FINE EXHIBIT FOR A FAIR

Victoria's Jubilee Gifts Loaned to St. Louis Exposition.

Highly Priced Collection of Presents to England's Late Queen Will Be Sent by King Edward to America in Charge of a Royal Commission and Heavy Armed Guard.

It needed some such striking fact as King Edward's munificent offer to send the priceless collection of Queen Victoria diamond jubilee presents to the Louisiana Purchase exposition to arouse the British mind to a proper appreciation of the importance of the St. Louis fair, and it has had its effect, says the London correspondent of the New York World.

All London is talking, too, of the appearance at the American society's Washington's birthday banquet of the phlegmatic, unemotional Duke of Devonshire as the eulogist of President Roosevelt. He had never been known before to propose a personal toast to any one; but, to the surprise of all, he became almost enthusiastic over the American chief executive.

At this banquet the central figure was President Francis of the exposition, who has been indefatigable in his work at London to make the St. Louis fair a success. In his private audience with King Edward, Governor Francis was told that the gifts would be sent as the monarch's own mark of intimate sympathy with the American people and in appreciation of their admiration for his mother. It is probable that a royal commission will be appointed and that a heavy guard will be sent with the highly prized treasures to guard them on their way to and from the United States and while they are there.

This magnificent collection of gifts, estimated to be worth at least $15,000,000, created a great stir when shown for the first time in London, and extraordinary precautions were taken for their safety. One of the most superb things in the collection is the gift from the czar, the empress, the Grand Duke and Duchess of Hesse and Prince and Princess Louis of Battenberg. It is a diamond heart pendant, the center of which is open and occupied by the Slavonic numerals for "sixty," above which is an enormous sapphire and at the sides two drops of the same stones. Among the numerous rare and wonderful presents from the emperor of China is a bronze altar vessel for wine, square in form, suspended in a framework pierced with metal bearing dates, proving it to have been manufactured about 1,000 years before Christ.

The dowager empress of China sent precious porcelain from the imperial potteries and some autograph scroll paintings, among which is one representing "Eternal Spring Over the Sea Nation."

The shah of Persia's gift is his own photograph in one of the most costly frames ever made. It is of solid gold, with a floral device carried out in large turquoises of flawless color and diamonds.

The Princess of Wales, now Queen Alexandra, together with the Duke and Duchess of York, the Duke and Duchess of Fife and other members of the royal family, gave a splendid diamond brooch, consisting of one immense diamond of rarest luster surrounded by twelve smaller ones.

The Chinese ambassador sent one of the most unique presents. It depicts marvelously modeled birds in jade, surrounded by bushes and water plants standing out in high relief, being to the Chinese mind an allegorical representation of the spontaneous joy of a myriad nation.

The Prince of Wales, now King Edward, presented to his mother splendid portraits of himself and his brother, the Duke of Connaught, painted by Detaille.

Empress Frederick gave a beautiful paperweight formed of an oblong block of chrysoptase, with the two dates 1837-97, the royal crown and cipher in diamonds and other precious stones.

The emperor of Japan's presents are a finely curved screen with embroidered silk panels and a gold lacquer cabinet.

JAPS BUILD HIS COTTAGES.

William Rockefeller to Have Novel Home in Adirondacks.

William Rockefeller, the Standard Oil millionaire, who has made large purchases of land in the Adirondacks, near St. Regis lake, is erecting two cottages the like of which were never seen in America, says a Watertown (N. Y.) dispatch to the New York World. He recently imported Japanese to build two beautiful Japanese cottages near the lake for use in summer.

All the work is done by Japanese under the supervision of a Japanese architect. The cottages will cost many thousands of dollars. Even American nails are discarded, and as much Japanese materials as can possibly be used are being put in the cottages.

Grateful Partisans.

A number of Partisans who were in the siege have decided to erect a monument to the memory of the pigeons that carried the dispatches which kept up communication with the outside world, says the New York Commercial Advertiser. It will consist of a pedestal surmounted by a bronze vase, on which will be cast a group of the birds that proved of such utility to the French. The gratitude comes somewhat late, for after the war the pigeons in question were sold by auction and commemorated in pigeon pies.

In this day of sanitation, when we are sterilizing milk and various foods we use, filtering the water, using germ-proof brooms, sanitary clothing, plumbing, heating, etc., you should investigate your refrigerator. Never before in the history of the world has there been such precautions taken against microbes and bacilli as at the present time. Did you ever stop to think that you have perhaps overlooked your refrigerator. All the food, the very substance that enables us to exist, passes through the refrigerator. Then why do you keep your food in that poisonous, corroded, zinc lined refrigerator that is lurking with microbes and disease? Children form the most delicate thermometer of health, having less strength they show quickly the evil effects of any cause. Milk, the baby's food, should be kept in an absolutely pure and clean place if we expect baby to keep well. We should respect hygienic truth for baby's sake, even though we do not for ourselves. The HERRICK REFRIGERATOR is built on sanitary principles and is the only one that is so built. Sold in Wayne by TERWILLIGER BROS.

WHEREAS, letters of Administration have this day been granted to A. A. Welch as administrator of the estate of Wm. R. Jones, deceased, it is hereby ordered that creditors be allowed six months to present their claims against said estate for adjustment and allowance, and that said administrator be allowed twelve months to settle up said estate from the 25th day of May A. D. 1903.

It is further ordered that notice be given to the creditors of said estate to appear before me at the County Court room of said county on the 25th day of June, 1903; 25th day of August, 1903 and on the 25th day of November, 1903 and at 10 o'clock in the forenoon of each day by publication in the WAYNE REPUBLICAN, a newspaper published in said county, for four weeks successively prior to the 25th day of June 1903. ### LIKED BY DIPLOMATS.

Secret of President Roosevelt's Popularity Among Them.

He Knows Something About Politics and History of Every European Nation—How He Surprised Mme. Hengelmueller by His Knowledge of Poland.

No president who has occupied the White House within memory has made so agreeable an impression upon members of the diplomatic colony as President Roosevelt, writes the New York Commercial Advertiser's Washington correspondent. Indeed it is doubtful whether among the reigning sovereigns of Europe there is one who is so thoroughly at home in discussing with the representatives of other nations just the questions in which those representatives happen to be particularly interested. The German emperor may be an exception, for his mental activities are said to be almost boundless. As for the others—so members of the foreign colony in Washington say—not one of them can compare with the president of the United States. There are very few questions about which President Roosevelt does not know something. He has been a voracious reader ever since he was a boy, and he has always been passionately fond of history and biography. His memory is tenacious and encyclopedic. Whatever information once gets into his mind sticks there, ready to be called on at a second's notice. No president since John Quincy Adams has begun to compare with him in the extent of his general knowledge of questions not immediately concerned with American politics and history. He knows something about the politics and history of every nation in Europe, even the most insignificant, and he at times displays a familiarity with them which is as surprising to their representatives in Washington as it is gratifying.

The wife of the Austrian ambassador, Von Hengelmueller, is a native of Poland. If there is a region in Europe about which most American public men have vague and hazy notions, it is Poland. Everybody knows something about Kosciusko and how freedom shrieked when he fell, and that is about the limit. But it happens that in the course of his reading the president has picked up a lot of information about Poland and about the old Polish families. He knows their relationship to one another and the part they have played in Polish history, so that when Mme. von Hengelmueller happens to be placed beside him at dinner he can talk to her about her own people with a familiarity and with a just appreciation which fill her with astonishment and delight.

So with M. Jusserand, the new French ambassador. M. Jusserand is a litterateur of high rank in his own country and has an international reputation, although comparatively few Americans probably have ever read much that he has written. He has made a special study of early English literature and has written upon it with great ability and with fine discrimination. When he came to talk with the president, he was flattered and overjoyed to find that Mr. Roosevelt had read everything he had ever written about early English literature. Piers Ploughman and the rest, and the two conversed with enthusiasm for a long time upon topics congenial to both which have no bearing whatever upon international relations. Sir Michael Herbert and Baron von Sternburg of course are old friends, dating back to the days when the president was an under official in Washington, and all the other diplomatic representatives in Washington find their personal relations with the occupant of the White House exceptionally pleasant.

The representative of a different type of individual to whom the president appeals even more strongly than to the diplomats was in Washington recently—Seth Bullock, the sheriff of Deadwood. S. D. Bullock is as fine a specimen of the frontiersman as could be found anywhere, with long, drooping mustaches, aquiline nose and hawklike eye. Bullock came on to visit the president and brought with him Mrs. Bullock. They were invited to the German musicale at the White House the other evening, the president having warned Seth in advance not to "shoot the siddle." Seth was immensely taken with the German choruses. After the entertainment was over Senator Lodge asked him what he thought of it. "It was fine," was the reply. "I liked it. It took me a little higher up the gulch than I'd ever been before, but I liked it." Seth would go through fire and water for the president, and the president would do the same for him.

Congressman's Law Practice Restful.

Several members of the house were discussing their plans for the coming summer in Speaker Henderson's room the other morning when General Henderson turned to Representative Gaines of Tennessee, says the Washington correspondent of the New York Tribune, and said:

"How are you going to spend your summer, Gaines?"

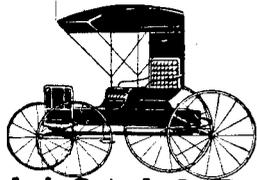

"I intend to take a rest, an absolute rest," was the reply.

"That means that you will resume your law practice, I presume," remarked the speaker, and a shout of laughter greeted the presumption.

FINE EXHIBIT FOR A FAIR

Victoria's Jubilee Gifts Loaned to St. Louis Exposition.

Highly Prized Collection of Presents to England's Late Queen Will Be Sent by King Edward to American in Charge of a Royal Commission and Heavy Armed Guard.

It needed some such striking fact as King Edward's munificent offer to send the priceless collection of Queen Victoria diamond jubilee presents to the Louisiana Purchase exposition to arouse the British mind to a proper appreciation of the importance of the St. Louis fair, and it has had its effect, says the London correspondent of the New York World.

All London is talking, too, of the appearance at the American society's Washington's birthday banquet of the phlegmatic, unemotional Duke of Devonshire as the eulogist of President Roosevelt. He had never been known before to propose a personal toast to any one; but, to the surprise of all, he became almost enthusiastic over the American chief executive.

At this banquet the central figure was President Francis of the exposition, who has been indefatigable in his work at London to make the St. Louis fair a success. In his private audience with King Edward, Governor Francis was told that the gifts would be sent as the monarch's own mark of intimate sympathy with the American people and in appreciation of their admiration for his mother. It is probable that a royal commission will be appointed and that a heavy guard will be sent with the highly prized treasures to guard them on their way to and from the United States and while they are there.

This magnificent collection of gifts, estimated to be worth at least $15,000,000, created a great stir when shown for the first time in London, and extraordinary precautions were taken for their safety. One of the most superb things in the collection is the gift from the czar, the Grand Duke and Duchess of Hesse and Prince and Princess Louis of Battenberg. It is a diamond heart pendant, the center of which is open and occupied by the Slavonic numerals for "sixty," above which is an enormous sapphire and at the sides two drops of the same stones.

Among the numerous rare and wonderful presents from the emperor of China is a bronze altar vessel for wine, square in form, suspended in a framework pierced with metal bearing dates, proving it to have been manufactured about 1,000 years before Christ.

The dowager empress of China sent precious porcelain from the imperial porcelains and some autograph scroll paintings, among which is one representing "Eternal Spring Over the Sea Nation."

The shah of Persia's gift is his own photograph in one of the most costly frames ever made. It is of solid gold, with a floral device carried out in large turquoise of flawless color and diamonds.

The Princess of Wales, now Queen Alexandra, together with the Duke and Duchess of York, the Duke and Duchess of Fife and other members of the royal family, gave a splendid diamond brooch, consisting of one immense diamond of rarest luster surrounded by twelve smaller ones.

The German emperor's present is a large silver gilt vase surmounted by a figure of Britannia. The Chinese ambassador sent one of the most unique presents. It depicts marvelously modeled birds in jade, surrounded by bulrushes and water plants standing out in high relief, being to the Chinese mind an allegorical representation of "the spontaneous joy of a myriad nation."

The Prince of Wales, now King Edward, presented to his mother splendid portraits of himself and his brother, the Duke of Connaught, painted by Detaille.

Empress Frederick gave a beautiful paperweight formed of an oblong block of chrysoptase, with the two dates 1837-87, the royal crown and cipher in diamonds and other precious stones.

The emperor of Japan's presents are a finely carved screen with embroidered silk panels and a gold lacquer cabinet.

JAPS BUILD HIS COTTAGES.

William Rockefeller to Have Novel Home in Adirondacks.

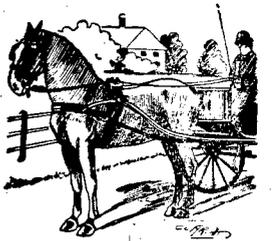

William Rockefeller, the Standard Oil millionaire, who has made large purchases of land in the Adirondacks, near St. Regis lake, is erecting two cottages the like of which were never seen in America, says a Watertown (N. Y.) dispatch to the New York World. He recently imported Japanese to build two beautiful Japanese cottages near the lake for use in summer.

All the work is done by Japanese under the supervision of a Japanese architect. The cottages will cost many thousands of dollars. Even American nails are discarded, and as much Japanese materials as can possibly be used are being put in the cottages.

Grateful Partisans.

A number of Partisans who were in the siege had decided to erect a monument to the memory of the pigeons that carried the dispatches which kept up communication with the outside world, says the New York Commercial Advertiser. It will consist of a pedestal surmounted by a bronze vase, out of which will be cast a group of the birds that proved of such utility to the French. The gratitude comes somewhat late, for after the war the pigeons in question were sold by auction and commemorated in pigeon pies.

AN AWFUL EXPLOSION

3,000 POUNDS OF DYNAMITE STRUCK BY LIGHTNING.

Six Men Were Killed and a Score Injured—Five Die in Mine Explosion in New Mexico—Naphtha Explodes in a Wreck.

Cambridge, O.: Lightning struck a house stored with 3,000 pounds of dynamite at the new mines, now being opened near Senecville, twelve miles from here Saturday, and killed six men and injured a score of others. The mine shaft was rained and nearly all the windows in Senecville, half a mile away, were broken.

The men killed and injured were carpenters employed in opening the mines and building the shafting. When the storm came up they took refuge in John Salzbeger's home, some distance from the mine. Suddenly a blinding flash came and in an instant the barn was demolished and the men scattered over a radius of 100 feet, bleeding from injuries sustained from heavy rocks from the earth and from the timbers from the blacksmith shop.

Raton, N. M.: Five men were killed by an explosion which completely wrecked mine No. 2 of the Raton Coal and Coke Company at Blossburg, N. M.

Jack Ball, fire boss, was badly burned and Harry Mussel had several ribs broken.

The explosion is believed to have been caused by a windy shot. The mine was inspected less than two weeks ago.

New Richmond, Wis.: A naphtha tank, part of a wagon engine train, exploded in the Wisconsin Central, two miles east of here.

The train of twelve cars broke through an iron bridge and plunged into Willow River.

A fireman dropped his lantern into the wreckage, ignited the naphtha and the explosion followed.

About half an hour later another car of naphtha exploded, sending up flames hundreds of feet in the air.

EMBARRASSED BY WHITES.

Indian Baptists Bear Pale Faces from Their Meetings.

Hobart, Okla.: The Indian Baptist Association, which is composed entirely of Kiowa Indians, has adopted a resolution excluding all whites from its meetings. Missionaries working among the Indians announce this as a result of the timidity of the Indians in participating in religious exercises in the presence of the whites.

Lon Wolf, who recently brought suit against the United States government to prevent the opening of the Kiowa reservation to settlement by white settlers, is attending and presiding during the convention now in session. He is a Catholic graduate.

ASSASSINS REWARDED.

Servian Officers Who Helped in Murder Are Promoted.

Belgrade: The promotions are announced of various members of the military detachment to King Peter at Geneva. Col. Popovich of the late King Alexander's palace guard, is created a general and first aide-camp to King Peter; Capt. Kostich, who opened the palace gates for the assassins of the late king and queen, is promoted to be a major, and Lieut. Grunic, who was on guard outside the palace on the night of the assassinations, and who was a confidant of the conspirators, is made a captain.

Hired to Murder Reformer.

Hongkong: Evidence given at the trial of murderers of the reform leader, Yuen King Wan, proved that the Chinese government hired assassins to murder the reformer, who had been connected with the Wai-chou rising of 1900. A reward of $20,000 and official rank was offered for the capture or assassination of the reformer.

May Be Held to a Million.

Superior, Wis.: A virgin faun, a laborer, probably is the heir to a million or more dollars left him by relatives in Denmark, and it was by an accident that he was located here. He had a number of wealthy relatives living in Denmark.

Earthquake in Wales.

London: A storm of carnage, Wales, was accompanied by two strong earthquake shocks and the inhabitants were alarmed by the rocking of their houses, but no damage is reported.

May Be Sympathetic Strike.

Kansas City: There is no change in the strike situation of the 400 freight handlers. A sympathetic strike on the part of the switchmen and truck men is likely.

Walked 85 Miles.

Goodland, Kan.: Channery Dewey, William J. McTee and Clyde Wilson have arrived here from St. Francis, accompanied by soldiers of the state militia, having walked the entire distance of thirty-five miles.

Coffin Supply Short.

New York: Owing to the coffin makers' strike there is a great scarcity of coffins in New York. It will be necessary to hire ordinary carpenters to make caskets in a few days unless the strike be settled.

King Peter Approves.

Geneva: King Peter Sunday afternoon gave an audience to the Servian deputations and in the course of the proceedings expressed his approval of the program of his reception in Belgrade which will include a gala performance at the theater.

Great Strike is Ended.

Lowell, Mass.: The textile council has declared the great strike in the Lowell mills at an end. Every mill in the city was closed and the council was represented and the vote was unanimous to return to work. Male spinners and loom fixers were included in this vote.

ON A HELPLESS BOAT.

Fifty Passengers on Verge of a Panic.

Chicago: Drifting helplessly on Lake Michigan, fifty passengers bound to Chicago on the little steamer Mary, which had lost its propeller and was leaking, spent twelve hours Friday in a state bordering on panic.

It was impossible to hold the boat steady in the slight running on the lake, and many of the passengers passed the day in an agony of seasickness as the disabled craft rolled. Those who were not too ill to eat were ravenously hungry, for there was not a bite of food on board.

Fifty miles from Michigan City, from which port they started at 6 a. m., and with Chicago still twenty-five miles away, the steamer suffered its accident. Then its engines, released from the resistance of the wheel, ran riot, shaking the entire vessel and causing fright to the passengers. As soon as possible the engines were stopped, but not until some of the ship's seams were opened and water began trickling into its hold.

Capt. Algie Alexander tried in vain to calm the fears of the passengers, twenty of them women. He declared there was no danger, and by his coolness prevented a rash toward the ship's bows.

When it was found that the ship was helpless, Capt. Alexander ordered four of the crew into a rowboat, which, with the boat's first officer in charge, was headed for Michigan City. Four hours later that point was reached. Chicago officials of the company were notified, and the tug Perfection was sent to aid the Mary.

With the departure of the ship's boat came a demand from the passengers to be taken ashore. The shore line could just be seen eight miles away, but to the frightened people it looked invitingly near. There were still three boats on the ship, and it was estimated that each would carry fifteen.

"It's impossible to talk about rowing ashore," said Capt. Alexander. "You must arrive to take us to Chicago. I can't allow any foolishness at this time. You must stay with the steamer."

The unfortunates passed the hours taking refuge in the cabin and four staterooms on the boat. Distress whistles were sounded, but there was no response. At 3 o'clock in the afternoon smoke was seen in the direction of Chicago, and half an hour later the Perfection steamed up to the side of the disabled boat.

MAN AND HORSES KILLED.

Carload of Racers is Smashed at Approach of Eads Bridge.

St. Louis: An eastbound Big Four freight train ran into the rear engine of Illinois Central train which was standing in the approach of the Illinois side of the Eads bridge.

J. L. Dodge of Dallas, Tex., who was in charge of an express car loaded with race horses, was instantly killed.

The express car was attached to the rear of the Illinois Central train, and the car was splintered. Thirteen of the horses were killed, and the rest, which will have to be killed, being with a record of 2,493, was killed outright. The names of the other victims are not known.

Three Kentucky Negroes May Later Be Tried for Murder.

Maysville, Ky.: The trial of the three negroes, Sanders, Mann and Morris, for murderously assaulting the famous family, has concluded. Each of the prisoners being sentenced to five years in the penitentiary. The three are to be tried for burglary, that crime having been committed at the time of the assault. If convicted they will each get ten years' additional imprisonment.

J. B. Farrow, who is now in the asylum at Lexington suffering from the effects of his wounds, is not expected to live, and the commonwealth's attorney has reserved the right in the event of Farrow's death to have the three negroes pardoned and then tried for murder, so that they can be executed.

The troops will remain here to guard the court house and jail until the cases are finally disposed of.

VICTIM OF DIME NOVELS.

Boy Murderer Set on Wrong Path by Trashy Literature.

Springfield, Ill.: Fred Mink, the young desperado who is now a prisoner in the Pike County jail at Pittsburg, charged with the murder of Newton J. Hart's and his mother, Mrs. Adam Mink, owes his imprisonment to reading of trashy literature. During school days he read only stories of the James boys and other desperate characters, and while still a small boy, procured firearms and became efficient in their use.

When in Walla Walla, Wash., Mink heard much about outlaw Frank White, and he carried a copy of his adventures to school, carrying pepper in his pockets to sprinkle on his trail to put bloodhounds off the scent. There is no talk of lynching.

TO SEEK NORTH POLE.

Amundsen's Expedition Leaves Christiania, Norway.

Christiania, Norway: The whaling ship Gjøa, with Captain Amundsen's expedition to the north pole expedition on board, has sailed.

It has been announced that the Amundsen expedition will first go to King William Land, on the east coast of Greenland, thence proceed to Behring Strait. If Amundsen is able to follow the course projected it will take him almost across the pole.

The Gjøa is classed as being one of the strongest and best vessels of the Arctic fleet. She can be handled by a crew of seven and is fitted with an auxiliary petrol engine and equipped for a four years' stay in the Arctic regions.

STATE OF NEBRASKA

Grandma Tries to Kiss—Omaha Colored Woman—Goes to Fremont to Get a Little Child Takes Man Along to Assist.

There was considerable excitement among the colored people at Fremont Saturday over an attempt by Mrs. Boyd, a colored woman living in Omaha, and William Blackwell, colored, also from Omaha, to kidnap a 3-year-old colored girl, the daughter of Haywood Adams. They were arrested by the officers just as they were about to drive out from a livery stable with the little girl hidden away in the buggy.

A few weeks ago Adams' wife left him and his children, and is now supposed to be in Omaha. She wanted the children, but Adams was determined to keep them himself. Mrs. Boyd, who is the mother of Mrs. Adams, and Blackwell came to Fremont on the Union Pacific and located the Adams house. Saturday morning they walked out past the place and seized the little girl and cut in the yard, picked her up and went to the livery stable, where they had already made arrangements for a team. Adams found out they were in town, and suspecting trouble, went back to his house to find his little girl gone. The police were notified and Deputy Sheriff Jensen and Chief of Police Doherty soon got track of the pair and placed them under arrest.

The woman did not seem to realize that she was guilty of a penitentiary offense. She said she didn't want to let Adams take her to Omaha and care for her herself. Blackwell "joke" came along to help the lady out cause that Adams he don't want no fit man to bring up a child, especially as his woman's gone.

After talking with County Attorney Simpson and Police Judge Cook it was decided to dismiss the charge of kidnapping, the defendants having acted through ignorance and without criminal intent. The paid pleaded guilty to assault and were fined $5 and costs each. They were sent to Omaha for the money and paid up and Adams took his little girl home, vowing vengeance on the food woman if she interfered with his family again.

AGREE TO SEPARATE.

Bohemian Couple Decide on a Home-Made Divorce.

People at Table Rock were surprised last week by the separation of Frank Doherty and his wife, Mary Doherty, wealthy Bohemians, living a short distance east of the Table Rock station. The wife, eighty years of age, is a trustee for the benefit of the two little daughters, another eighty years, and paid his wife $1,150 cash.

Articles of separation were drawn up by attorneys and signed and the wife, with the two little girls, left for her father's home at Ballwin, Mo. The husband will remain on his hands, to which his wife renounced by deed her right of dower.

CROWDED CAR TRAGEDY.

Lincoln Boy Killed, Returning from Ball Game.

Herbert Gaffey, a 12-year-old boy, of Lincoln, while riding on a College View car Sunday afternoon, fell under the rear track and was crushed, death resulting almost instantly.

He had been at a ball game in College View and was returning home about 5. According to the story of the conductor, he was sitting on the step of the car kicking wheels, when his foot caught and he was dragged from his seat.

Five in Norfolk Piano Store.

A fire that started accidentally and which for a time threatened the entire heart of the business portion of Norfolk, destroyed the rear end of the Rees building, in which was located the retail house of A. Hoop & Co., piano dealers. Owing to brilliant work on the part of several companies of the fire department the main portion of the building was saved, but two shops were lost. The loss is but $500, covered by insurance.

Two Convicted of Murder.

District court just adjourned at Valentine after nearly a three weeks' session. This has been the longest term of court in the history of Cherry county. In the grand jury's transcript there were two murder cases, and in each instance a conviction of manslaughter was secured. This is pointed to by the people of the county as evidence that even this far west in Nebraska human life may not be any longer taken with impunity.

Man Convicted of Manslaughter—Tries Suicide.

John Green, the Merriam hotel keeper, who was convicted of manslaughter at Valentine last Friday, tried to commit suicide Sunday by taking a dose of carbolic acid. He was not successful in carrying out his intention, as a physician arrived in time to save his life.

Green killed a man in Merriam last fall and his case excited much interest here, as he is well known. He carried the poison for several weeks in his pocket.

Saved Ducks, Lost Leg.

In attempting to drive some ducks from the railroad tracks to prevent them from being run over by a switch engine, Mrs. J. P. Coats of Omaha was herself struck by the engine and severely and dangerously wounded. The wheels passed over her right leg below the knee, and her foot, necessitating amputation.

Went to Sleep on Track.

Frank Mangum, a fireman on the Burlington, was struck by a passenger train at Lincoln Sunday afternoon and instantly killed. Mangum, who was firing a freight standing on the sidetrack had stretched himself full length on the ground, with his head resting on a tie, which protruded from the main line, apparently for a brief rest. He had fallen asleep.

Lillie Transcript Completed.

The appeal of the case of the State of Nebraska against Lena Marzetta Lillie, charged with the seduction of Miss Bonnie Starr, was given his preliminary hearing in the county court, and was bound over to district court in the sum of $700. He failed to give bond and was compelled to give a bond of $100 to appear as witness.

Woman Mysteriously Disappears.

Mrs. Elzbie Nason of Des Moines, Ia., after an extended visit with her aunt, Mrs. William Cooper of Humboldt, left a few weeks ago for her home, and the Humboldt relatives have just been notified that she failed to arrive and no word has been heard from her. The family is considerably worried, and it is feared she may have lost her life in the woods.

Double Suicide Theory.

D. W. Staff of Columbus is much inclined to favor the theory that W. L. Walker has committed suicide, as indicated by the letter left to Chief Donahue. Walker was well known and had been for a number of months acting as time-keeper for a bridge gang on the Union Pacific.

Long Jail Sentence.

Mike Elmore was given an 85-day sentence in the county jail at Fremont for assaulting his wife, the first, last and intermediate on bread and water. The officer had to break in a door to get his man. Elmore has already served out a 30-day sentence this year.

Triplets in York County.

A York special says: Mr. and Mrs. Carmony, prosperous farmers of Arvold, York township, had born to them triplets, one boy and two girls, weight 7 1/2, 6 and 4 1/2 pounds, respectively.

Husband Regains Girl Bride.

W. H. Harrison of Tecumseh, the young man who had quite an experience in getting his wife from her parents in Beatrice, has been successful in his fight for the return of his bride. Two members of the board are in favor of petitioning the governor to commute the man's sentence; a third member refuses to commit himself and the fourth is in favor of allowing the verdict of the court to be carried out.

Neigand's Ghost Still Stalks in Lincoln.

And now comes forward Attorney Meyer and says that the ordinance passed by the council for the issuance of bonds for the establishment of an electric lighting plant for the city of Lincoln was no good. H. R. Kent, who made the best bid for the bonds, has called the attention of the council to the fact and says that he will not accept them.

ON TRIAL FOR MURDER.

Edward Morris Shot Another Soldier During a Quarrel.

Edward Morris, a colored soldier from Fort Niobrara, is on trial in the United States court for murder in the first degree. It is charged against Morris that he deliberately, premeditatedly and with malice shot and killed Henry McKee, also a colored private soldier, stationed at Fort Niobrara. The murder occurred on Sept. 17, last, and was the result, it is said, of a quarrel growing out of a game of cards. Morris' defense is that he shot McKee in self-defense, because he saw the latter reaching for his revolver. An earnest effort was made, when the prisoner was arraigned several days ago, to induce him to plead guilty, the hope of minimum sentence being held out to him, but he steadfastly refused to do so.

YOUNG WOMAN GOES INSANE.

Plainview Girl Found Wandering the Streets of Sioux City.

The insanity commissioners at Sioux City explained to the mental condition of Miss Beulah Hodgson of Plainview, and directed that she be taken to her home by Police Matron Thurston of Sioux City.

Miss Hodgson arrived in Sioux City Saturday morning from Arena, Wis., en route to Plainview. Her reason deserted her in Sioux City and she was found wandering aimlessly about the streets by a policeman and taken to the police station. The unfortunate young woman was taken to the Samaritan hospital and the insanity commissioners notified. Mrs. Thurston telegraphed to the chief of police at Arena regarding the identity of the young woman and received a reply that her father was Lewis Hodgson of Plainview.

PIANO CONTEST!

THE WAYNE REPUBLICAN will give a beautiful Concert Grand Piano made by Chickering Bros., Chicago, and listed by them at $525.00, to the most popular lady in Wayne county and vicinity absolutely free, this lady to be designated by ballots cast for her by subscribers to, and by readers of the WAYNE REPUBLICAN, according to the terms and conditions set forth as follows:

- 1—Any lady, married or single, may enter the contest.
- 2—Any and every lady receiving one or more votes will be accredited with them at once and the result announced in these columns.
- 3—In every paper printed from June 15, to December 24, 1903, will appear two coupons: one is a FREE VOTE and may be voted by any one, the other is a SUBSCRIBER'S BALLOT and is to be voted by subscribers for whom they choose. For each cent paid by the subscriber, new or renewal, or arrangements on account of subscription, one vote may be cast.
- 4—Free votes must be cast within the time limit printed on each else they become void. Subscriber's ballots may be cast at any time before the contest closes, which will be at six o'clock p. m. December 24, 1903.
- 5—A ballot box will be placed in the REPUBLICAN office in which the ballots may be placed by the person voting or by some one for him, ballots may also be sent by mail. As votes are received they will be deposited in the ballot box, which will be kept under lock, and once each week in the presence of some disinterested person the same will be opened and the votes counted for the purpose of ascertaining the standing of the candidates.
- 6—The piano may be seen (or its counterpart) on exhibition at the M. S. Davies Book Store in Wayne at any time, and all interested may thus know it is no cheap affair, but that is a splendid instrument, beautiful in tone as well as in finish, and for reason of its high grade was selected especially for this contest to lend character and interest to it, for too often a cheap piano is selected to give away in a piano contest and the winner is wasting time in competing for it. But we are going to do this right—we are going to give the winner a piano equal to the best one in any home in the county, and to gain us the acquaintance we wish, to add to our subscription list as many new readers as possible, and to clean up the last dollar of a large amount of back subscription, we desire the interest to be genuine and make those who participate in the contest feel that they are doing something worth while and that their efforts are appreciated by this paper.

Any lady contesting, or any one else, may act as agent to receive subscriptions for us, and a liberal commission will be paid them to do so. Blanks will be furnished them on application, also, they may extend to subscribers any and all clubbing combinations offered at any time.

Since the Republican State Convention is called for August 18, and the Ninth Judicial District Convention is called to meet at Norfolk August 17, it would seem August 15, which occurs on Saturday, would be a good date to hold the Wayne County Republican Convention to both nominate candidates for county offices and select delegates to the conventions to follow the following Monday and Tuesday. We do not know that this will conflict with any dates already set, it is a little too early to suit some but altogether is not a bad idea and is advanced by those who have the matter in charge and who wish to serve the best interests of the party.

Miss Anna Gamble will sing a solo at the Presbyterian church Sunday morning.

The merry-go-round has moved up to the lot west of Ross & Fortner's meat market where they will hold forth July 3 and 4. The proprietors are Montana gentlemen who came down here several weeks ago and took the machine out of storage where the old proprietors had left it last fall. They have fixed it up considerably and intend to put on all new coaches and horses which were ordered weeks ago of a Kansas City firm who were caught in the flood and the order delayed, but may arrive in time for the Woodmen picnic.

Republican Judicial Dist. Convention.

To the Republican Electors of the Ninth Judicial District of Nebraska: Notice is hereby given that a republican judicial convention will be held at Norfolk, Nebraska, on the 17th day of August, 1903, at 11 o'clock a. m. for the purpose of nominating a candidate for judge of the Ninth Judicial District, and the transacting of such other business as may regularly come before it. The several counties of said district are entitled to the following representation, based on the vote of J. H. Mickey, governor, in November, 1902:

Antelope	13
Knox	16
Pierce	9
Madison	17
Wayne	10

Total, 65

It is recommended by the committee that no proxies be allowed in said convention, but that the delegates be allowed to cast the full vote of the county represented by them.

By order of the committee,
GEO. F. BOYD, J. B. BARNES,
Secretary. Chairman.

T. A. Craig tells of Oklahoma.

WAYNE, Nebraska, June 12, 1903. Editor Republican: As I have just returned from an excursion of home-seekers to Oklahoma I will give you a kind of out line of what I observed. I went by the way of Kansas City, then I saw on my way going, a little more stir at the depot than I had formerly seen. We took a southwestern excursion 375 miles to a town called Perry, about a station or two from Oklahoma City, then we returned to Wellington, Kansas, and from there we went a hundred miles or more to Waynoka which was the end of our journey. Now as to what we saw on our journey: First I was somewhat surprised to see so little improvement, poor little houses and might say no laws at all, even through the best part of Kansas and the way of the principal cities. The towns and cities seemed to be behind, but the farms, why they did not seem to have many cattle, and only here and there any range to amount to anything, and I might say I did not see one orb of corn from last year, and it was only in places that there was very much wheat. They have considerable kafir corn planted there, crops are backward on account of too much rain. I saw a good deal of fine looking land as any man man could set his eyes on but didn't look very productive to me. As to Oklahoma, where land was near the river the sand precluded everything else. I was back from the river about four miles nothing but sand, but I was out back of that and found some very good farm land. I saw one as good field of wheat as I ever saw anywhere, it was about three feet high and so thick it would carry a man's hat. The oats showed a fair crop. Oklahoma don't claim to have any good corn country but what I saw seemed to look about as well as anything in Kansas. The peach crop there this year is fair as to the storm, the country is too much flooded for the good of the crops, we found it cold and muddy, but take it all it is a fair country and naturally a healthy country, but Nebraska is king.

Facts About Fitting Spectacles.

For every defect of the eyes there is a certain lense for its correction. If the optician furnishes the correct one for your trouble, why should you pay twice as much to a traveling optician for glasses we can furnish you for half the money, isn't $5.00 to $10.00 as good to you as to them! If we cannot fit your eyes, it does not cost you a cent.

LIVER TROUBLES

"I find Theford's Black-Draught a good medicine for liver disease. I cured my son after he had spent $100 with doctors. It is all the medicine he needs."—MRS. CAROLINE MARTIN, Parkersburg, W. Va.

If your liver does not act regularly go to your druggist and secure a package of Theford's Black-Draught and take a dose tonight. This great family medicine frees the constipated bowels, cures the torpid liver and causes a healthy secretion of bile.

Theford's Black-Draught will cleanse the bowels of impurities and strengthen the kidneys. A torpid liver invites colds, biliousness, chills and fever, and all manner of sickness and contagion. Weak kidneys result in Bright's disease which claims as many victims as consumption. A 25-cent package of Theford's Black-Draught should always be kept in the house.

"I used Theford's Black-Draught for liver and kidney complaints and found nothing to equal it."—WILLIAM COFFMAN, Marshall, Ill.

BOSTON

July 6 to 10

To Teachers and Friends:
The Wabash Railroad has arranged to run a special train from Chicago to Boston, account N. E. A., leaving Chicago from Wabash Station, corner Dearborn and Polk Streets, about 12:00 noon, July 2. The route selected, as shown below, is most attractive, and desirable in every respect. Leaving Chicago, passing through the beautiful city of Detroit, where we cross the Detroit River, running through Canada, passing the great Welland ship canal, arriving at Niagara Falls next morning at 7 o'clock, where you can spend as much time during the day as you wish sight seeing, thence via "The Niagara Gorge" electric cars, which leave the Falls every 15 minutes for Lewiston, this being a most wonderful trip, passing along the very edge of the Niagara River, on one side frowning walls of rock hundreds of feet high, and the other the great Whirlpool Rapids of Niagara River.

On reaching Lewiston, we embark on one of the Niagara Navigation Co. steamers for Toronto, five trips made daily. A refreshing trip across Lake Ontario.

The Canadian Pacific train leaves Toronto 10 p. m. arriving Montreal 7:30 a. m., July 4, where the day will be spent in sight seeing. All know the attractions of Montreal, which are too numerous to mention. Leaving Montreal 7:15 p. m. via Canadian Pacific and Boston & Maine, arriving in Boston 7:30 a. m., July 5.

SIDE TRIPS.
All those who wish to take advantage of the delightful side trips may do so at a very small additional cost, as shown below:

Toronto to Kingston, via steamer	$3.40
Toronto to Montreal, via steamer	5.50
Kingston to Montreal, via steamer	3.50
Montreal to Quebec and return, via steamer	3.00
Montreal to Quebec and return, via rail	3.00
Montreal to Quebec, via (optional) steamer or rail	4.00
Quebec to Saguenay and return, via steamer	4.50
Kingston to Smith's Falls, Rideau Navigation Co.	1.25

All meals and berths on steamers extra.

On tickets reading via the Wabash Line, passengers will have the privilege of stopping off at either Niagara Falls, Detroit or Montreal, ten (10) days stop being allowed on one-way tickets, and stop within the final limit of ticket on the return portion of round trip tickets.

Tickets will be sold from all points in Nebraska for one regular one-way fare plus $2.00 for the round trip. Tickets will be on sale on or about July 1 to 4, but upon deposit of tickets with Joint Agent and the payment of fifty cents, tickets will be extended to permit return as late as September 1.

Pullman rate, Chicago to Niagara Falls	$3.00
Pullman rate, Chicago to Boston	5.50
Tourist Car rate, Chicago to Niagara Falls	1.50
Tourist Car rate, Chicago to Boston	2.00

These rates are for double lower berth, and can be occupied by two persons.

OTHER DETAILS.
Other and fuller details, with map of the city of Boston, and all necessary information regarding many side trips and rates therefor, list of Boston hotels with their location and rates, and views of principal attractions, will be published in folder form and may be obtained by application to the undersigned.

Begin to make your arrangements at once, and inquire the rates from your local ticket agent, as all sell tickets from Chicago east via the Wabash.

For sleeping car berths, descriptive maps, folders and all information, call on or address the undersigned.

RALPH RUNDLELL, The Cash Grocer.

Prof. Dilworth gave his piano recital last Saturday evening before a large and enthusiastic audience. Prof. Dilworth is fresh from his studies in New York as the brilliancy and vigor of his execution gave ample evidence. He was very ably assisted by Miss Cunningham of our city. The piano used was a Ludwig furnished by Mr. F. H. Jones.

Rev. Shepherd who conducted the tent meetings for several weeks left Tuesday, evidently feeling he was not properly appreciated. The gentleman spoke in an entertaining way and many remarked upon the fund of knowledge by which he propounded theology from an adventist stand point. But while a few went quite regularly the crowds he hoped for would not go. The evenings have been too cold usually to enjoy sitting in a tent and the mosquitoes and their say so to the meetings so it is a wonder any one was present.

The damage done by the hail storm last week was not all done to crops, many horses were driven into barbed wire fences and badly out. Slevers and his brother who live in the edge of Cuming county had their head so injured and many others reported. The storm struck Wm. A. Meyer, Wm. Wischoff and others northeast of here and passed straight south passing Altona a mile to the east and veering off towards Wilson. Chris Thompson is erecting a residence on his farm northeast of here. This was blown off the foundation. A half strip is about a mile and a half wide, on the sides the damage is partial but the center is a dead mass of grain that was jointed, could probably come out in most cases, could not help but be damaged in most cases.

A Place to Rest
Mothers and babies will find a comfortable room furnished with chairs and all necessaries at my store July 3 and 4.

WHERE TO CELEBRATE.

It is the duty of every citizen to celebrate our nation's birthday. At no time in our experience have the people been so prosperous and as we are at peace with all nations, let us all celebrate the glorious 4th at Wayne this year. It is no question this year where to go. Everyone knows that the M. W. A. annual picnic is always a success, and as Wayne has made a special effort for a grand celebration this year, everyone should come to Wayne to celebrate. What to wear is a question with all. We are in position that we can satisfy any man or boy as to what he should wear.

Don't You Do It.

Don't think of enjoying yourself in an old suit of clothes the 4th. You will get more than double the enjoyment if you come here and rig up for the occasion. Your friends will brighten up and it is your duty to look as well as you can. If you buy clothing here you will get stylish clothing and you will have money left to celebrate with.

Come To Wayne The 4th.

If you will see us before you buy your clothing we will convince you that you can save enough on your bill for all necessary expense on the 4th. Not only that, but you will get better clothing here, and if you want extra good things to wear you will find them here. Our stock is large and complete in everything that is stylish. You will find what you want and at prices lower than elsewhere. One price to all. Why not visit this store before you buy clothing.

Every One Is Welcome.

Make our store a resting place the 4th. Bring your things here and leave them. Bring the children in and let them throw their peanut shells on the floor. Use our chairs, tables and the counter. We have a well and plenty of good water. Drink and be happy for you live in the best country on earth.

Mrs. W. E. Gibson and children are in Quincy, Illinois, for a few weeks' visit with her parents. Mr. Gibson accompanied them as far as Council Bluffs, Monday.

Henry Staltenberg and H. E. Lage from the northwest part of the county were in Wayne Saturday transacting business and honored us with a pleasant call. They are up in the land of big corn and big steers, big farms and big hearted farmers.

Our representative this week had the pleasure of visiting the home of W. J. Templeton, two miles east of Winside. If you are of those who entertain the unfortunate idea that the farmer has not time for a well kept lawn and rosary, or that Wayne county will not produce her own good fruit visit Mr. Templeton, even in this off year and have your idea brought up to date. It is not the great extent of his orchard, for it is just intended for family use, but he demonstrates that thorough cultivation produces health and thrift that will well repay the true horticulturist.

"What do we plant when we plant the tree? We plant the family luxury."

W. L. Welbaum was a pleasant caller Saturday, he says the hail did not damage much at his place but this side of him it out a wide swath of destruction to grain that was jointed. Mr. Welbaum is one of those solid farmers who own that rich table land between the two Logans northeast of town which was the original Garden of Eden and when these were first christened they were the original Tigres and Euphrates rivers.

While in Omaha this week the writer visited the Wabash Railway general offices of that city, and met Mr. Harry E. Moores who is building up the business of the passenger department, of which he is general passenger agent for that district. At present Mr. Moores is enthusiastically working up an excursion to the National Educational Association, his road will run to Boston a special solid vestibuled train from Chicago, July 6 to 10. All rail roads sell the tickets over any line as far as Chicago, where a special train providing every convenience, a model of elegance, and the pride of the Wabash railroad managers in every way, as the itinerary of this excursion published elsewhere in this issue in full shows, and Mr. Moores will personally accompany the train a further evidence that the excursionists will enjoy all to be enjoyed and be annoyed by nothing that a skilled excursionist can scare away. It will be a trip of that pleasure that it will find many numbered among its participants who are not expecting to attend the Association's meeting at Boston.

Best options and lowest rates and loans. Phil H. Kohl, Agt. Farmers Mutual Insurance. Phil H. Kohl, Agt. Wanted—To buy a horse and buggy, address box 502. Buckeye Binder Repairs at Nealey & Craven's Hardware. Mrs. Elizabeth Kelley, sister of David Cunningham and Mrs. Buck and two children, of Omaha, are here visiting. Hugh Sonner was called to Hamburg, Iowa, last Thursday by a message announcing the death of his father, he returned Wednesday evening. Wm. Prince from beyond Winside joined the REPUBLICAN family this week. Mr. Prince is one of our representative stockmen and farmers who demonstrates that a man can yet be genial and hospitable and still progressive.

D. K. Hern and H. S. Welch have arranged to both occupy the Welch building to a better advantage to both. They will take out the partition and Mr. Welch will put his stock on the west side Mr. Hern occupying the east side. This arrangement offering a fine display to both stocks and will be one of the most attractive business places in the city. T. A. Craig returned yesterday from a trip up in Dakota. He says he thinks crops look fine up there, they have not suffered with excessive rains, and everything indicates another Dakota boom this year. The price of land up where he was is from $7 to $12 and is a stock country. He did not invest, but thinks it would not be bad at that price if used for stock raising. The writer was down to Omaha this week and observing the crops along the way it seemed they look much better here than down that way, the effects of wet weather making them look yellow and weedy, even the upland not being as much ahead as it ought to be of this latitude a hundred miles farther north. At (Alhoun and Blair they are making good shipments of strawberries, their crop coming in just late enough to miss the rain that so damaged the crop south. Stock seemed to look thinner down on the bottoms where the pasture is so wet than from the bottom this way, and evidence of better bred animals is shown in the white faces and shorthorns met in this corner of the state.

Mr. Geo. Buskirk and wife were in town last Monday selecting a piano for their daughter, Mrs. Hugh Sonner. This makes the second piano purchased by Mr. Buskirk from Mr. Hern in the past three years, the first instrument being for his own home and the second one as a present to his daughter. This makes something over $700.00 which Mr. Buskirk has invested in music, but any one who has had the pleasure of visiting at his beautiful home south east of this city will find everything else on the same scale—the finest residence in Wayne county, full-blooded, northern cattle, heavy draft and fast driving horses, in short one of the first farmers and stock men in this part of the state.

The C. E. convention at South Sioux City was well attended, about fifty delegates and a like number of visitors of this northwestern Nebraska district. State President Chase of Omaha, Rev. Bray of Ponca, Rev. Pierce of Sioux City and others made addresses of more than usual interest. C. W. Mack of this place made a response and Fred Philleo presented a splendid paper. The meeting will be held at Laurel next year in June, the date to be fixed by the local society. The officers of the ensuing year elected were: President, Mr. Buol of Randolph, Co.; Secretary, C. W. Mack of Wayne; Rec. Secretary, Miss Nieber of Winnebago; Treasurer, Thos. A. Tucker of Pender. The C. E. society embraces participating societies of the Ev. Lutheran, Presbyterian and Congregational churches.

D., of Lincoln, Neb., will preach in the Baptist church next Sunday morning and evening. Morning topic "The Unknown Sepulchre of Moses. Evening topic "Spiritual Affinity."

Henry Damme, of Altona, called a few minutes Wednesday while in Wayne on a business trip made a big dollar mark on our old subscriber's tally list. Mr. Damme lives just half way between here and Winer and chooses his market. A. B. Clark attended the sale of Shorthorns at Ames, Nebraska, this week and purchased twenty-three head of the Standard Cattle Company's dispersion sale. The cattle are good ones and make Mr. Clark's herd of registered Shorthorns number an even fifty head. Terwilliger Bros. show one of the catch 4th of July windows, one of the kind you see done in places where professional window dressers do the work. It is a great deal of work to arrange a window sometimes, but it pays—George says they have sold their first order of fireworks out in some lines and reordered, and yet the 4th is not here.

The C. E. convention at South Sioux City was well attended, about fifty delegates and a like number of visitors of this northwestern Nebraska district. State President Chase of Omaha, Rev. Bray of Ponca, Rev. Pierce of Sioux City and others made addresses of more than usual interest. C. W. Mack of this place made a response and Fred Philleo presented a splendid paper. ## JUST FOR FUN.

Two old cronies of this city sent their wives to visit relatives in nearby towns. In order to feel at ease as to their husbands' conduct, a solemn promise had been made and kept, that the men should write every evening. This was done in the office of a friend who possessed a type-writer (machine). The object in using the machine was: A piece of carbon paper frequently allowed of making two letters of one "impression", and when the hands and heads of the men were not steady, the type-writer characters would not divulge the fact. The owner of the machine thought the wives should know of the hilarious state in which their husbands spent the evenings, so with a few manipulations, unknown to the two chums, he transposed the characters "o" and "x" on the type-writer and awaited results. It was just getting dark when the two chums, perfectly sober came in. "No need of a light," said one whom we will call Gaston. "Alphonso will dictate and I will do the rest. We are in a hurry to have a time with the boys." A half hour later the following letter was dropped into the Norfolk postoffice. When "Skinny" saw the queer address, a Rooseveltian smile stole over his features, and as he threw the epistle into the proper pouch, he regretted his inability to be in two different places at the same time:

My dear wife,
I am in the office.
Your loving husband,
W. C. BONHAM.

Twenty-four hours later two irate females stepped from a train at the Junction, and sent a hack in search of their husbands. We will leave Gaston and Alphonso, bowing to each other, to see who shall be first to leave the hack.—Norfolk Press.

Fair Warning.
If you want your 4th of July signs done for five cents or less per foot, get them in before July 1st.

THE ADVANTAGES OF USING A ...Janesville Disc Cultivator...

It cuts and buries trash, vines, weeds and stalks. It kills weeds. You can run it up close to the young plant without cutting off or wounding the lateral roots. It leaves a clean field after the crop is taken off as a result of the summer's tillage. It does not shove clods and stalks against the young plant to break it down or bury it. It does not waste your time by accumulating trash which you have to remove. You can cover a great deal of ground with it in a day because it travels steady and you do not have to slow up to uncover smothered plants. You can confine the cultivation to the surface as much as you desire. You know that when the corn plant is a few inches high that it sends forth long and tender side roots, which in turn send out branching rootlets quite near the surface of the ground. They search out the plant food in the upper soil, where the surface cultivation strengthens and aids instead of destroying. And the layers help to preserve the moisture in the dry season, because they leave a fine, even crumb all over the field which does not easily bake hard, and which preserves the moisture longer than any other method of tillage. That is just the reason that corn worked with a Janesville Disk Cultivator during a drought or a dry season always produces from 25 to 75 per cent. more corn than a neighboring field that was worked with an old style cultivator.

W. H. BRILL, D. P. A., Omaha, Nebraska.

Be Careful of the Children.
In this day of sanitation, when we are sterilizing milk and various foods we use, filtering the water, using germ-proof brooms, sanitary clothing, plumbing, heating, etc., you should investigate your refrigerator. Never before in the history of the world has there been such precautions taken against microbes and bacilli as at the present time. Did you ever stop to think that you have perhaps overlooked your refrigerator. All the food, the very substance that enables us to exist, passes through the refrigerator. Then why do you keep your food in that poisonous, corroded, zinc lined refrigerator that is lurking with microbes and disease? Children form the most delicate thermometer of health, having less strength they show quickly the evil effects of any cause. Milk, the baby's food, should be kept in an absolutely pure and clean place if we expect baby to keep well. We should respect hygienic truth for baby's sake, even though we do not for ourselves. The HERRICK REFRIGERATOR is built on sanitary principles and is the only one that is so built. Sold in Wayne by TERWILLIGER BROS.

Order on Probate of Will or on Granting Letters of Administration.
State of Nebraska, Wayne county, ss.
At a session of the County Court held at the County Court room in Wayne, in said county, on the 25th day of May A. D. 1903.
Present E. Hunter, County Judge.
In the matter of the estate of William R. Jones deceased.
WHEREAS, letters of Administration have this day been granted to A. A. Welch as administrator of the estate of Wm. R. Jones, deceased, it is hereby ordered that creditors be allowed six months to present their claims against said estate for adjustment and allowance, and that said administrator be allowed twelve months to settle up said estate from the 25th day of May A. D. 1903.
It is further ordered that notice be given to the creditors of said estate to appear before me at the County Court room of said county on the 25th day of June, 1903; 25th day of August, 1903 and on the 25th day of November, 1903 at 10 o'clock in the forenoon of each day by publication in the WAYNE REPUBLICAN, a newspaper published in said county, for four weeks successively prior to the 25th day of June 1903.
E. HUNTER, County Judge.

Midsummer Festival at Sioux City.
June 29th to and including July 4th.
$50 to $100 Reward
Can be earned on this occasion by connecting business with pleasure. In order that we may place one or more pianos in every town near Sioux City, we quote you the prices below which will actually save you from $50 to $100 on the purchase of a single piano. Our reasons for making this offer is purely a business proposition. We are in the wholesale as well as the retail piano business, and as a matter of advertisement we make you this offer. Our line of pianos comprise such world renowned makes as the Emerson, Gramer, Vose, Ludwig & Co., Price & Teeple, Buttell & Co., and 20 others. We not only have the largest and finest stock of pianos in Sioux City but we are the only concern in the city handling pianos exclusively.
READ THE FOLLOWING QUOTATIONS.
We will reserve for this occasion ten pianos which have been taken back on account of parties failing to make payments. Three piano cases slightly damaged in shipping, seven pianos of various discontinued styles, former price: one $475, two $375, two $350, one $300, and one $250. Now: $325, $285, $250, $235, $225, $195, and $165.
One fine Emerson and one fine Vose piano, case slightly damaged, one-third off. One piano special bargain $135 + 10 organs, Story & Clark, Mason & Hamlin, Crown, Chicago Cottage, Hamilton, Estey, and Packard organs. All as good as if they just came from the factory. Price: $5, $8, $10, $15, $25 and up to $50. Some of these organs retail as high as $80. The above prices are for cash, however, with interest we will sell on monthly payments on one or two years time.
SPECIAL INCITEMENT TO MUSIC TEACHERS.
Write what day you will attend the carnival and we will hold any particular piano for your inspection.

WHAT DID? BEER OR BINDERS? BOTH!

The products of breweries and binder factories have kept up to the forefront, and while the brewery product is all right in harvest time, the binder is the main thing then and the one you think about now. You save money by buying the money you study up on—the binder with the very best improvements. Lasts longest, improved binders have fewer bearings and gears, hence run easier, no weight on the horses necks means no sore necks, the best steel and malleable construction means the lightest yet strongest frame and the whole means to you an investment that will please you, not one you will regret. We sell both the Milwaukee binders and the Minneapolis binders, mowers and rakes. Write and see them.

Cake... AND ICE CREAM

Carnival

Yourself and lady friends are invited to inspect the dainties at the Steen Ice Cream Parlors at any time your leisure permits. The ice cream and fruit is constant in supply and of the well known quality. This is also cake season and the quantity and excellent quality are both of interest to particular people. We cater to lawn parties. Churches make money by figuring with us on their socials—people don't like home-made ice cream of the donation kind.
