WAYNE REPT. HELD

W. C. CONNORAN, - Business Publication, Editor of the Wayne News, Addressed at the Chamber of Commerce, Wayne, Nebraska, on Monday, Jan. 14, 1913.

Highly respectable gentlemen to whom to keep the land here evidently got attracted, and the winter and the cold that it is to be combated.

The Kansas people are known to know the value of the land here. They are not afraid of the incalculable loss of the elevation of land.

Came to think of it, I am sure that the people here are not afraid of the loss of the elevation of land.

The proposition of the Wayne people is to keep the land here. They are not afraid of the loss of the elevation of land.

Wanted—An Idea

Wanted—Practical Men

Wanted—Practical Men

Following from there.

The old saying that every one has the right to be heard, is a true statement, but it does not mean that every man should be heard on every subject. A good citizen is one who is willing to be heard on the subjects that are of general interest, and who is also willing to be heard on the subjects that are of special interest to him. It is the duty of every man to be heard on the subjects that are of general interest, and it is also the duty of every man to be heard on the subjects that are of special interest to him.

The small size of the population of this county is one of its great assets. It enables us to do things that larger cities cannot do. It enables us to do things that larger cities cannot do. It enables us to do things that larger cities cannot do.

With Regard to the State.

The State of Nebraska is one of the most progressive and most advanced of the Union. It is a state that is full of life and energy. It is a state that is full of life and energy. It is a state that is full of life and energy.

With Regard to the People.

The people of Nebraska are one of the most intelligent and most patriotic of the Union. They are a people that are full of life and energy. They are a people that are full of life and energy. They are a people that are full of life and energy.

The Point of View.

The point of view is one of the most important factors in the life of every man. It is the point of view that determines the way in which we think and the way in which we act. It is the point of view that determines the way in which we think and the way in which we act.

Best of Friends.

The best of friends is one who is true and loyal. He is one who is true and loyal. He is one who is true and loyal. He is one who is true and loyal. He is one who is true and loyal. He is one who is true and loyal.
