

BARMAIDS IN LONDON

SOME VERY RESPECTABLE GIRLS CHOOSE THIS VOCATION.

AT THERE a beautiful Irish lass, they are looking for good matrimonial connections.

Under the title "Female Types in London" some articles appeared in the "Illustrated London News" of the London barmaids.

They are recruited, as a rule, from the lower classes. Some of the most interesting types to be found in the bars are public houses of the west end, close to the fashionable resorts.

These are very many perfectly respectable girls, who have chosen the vocation of barmaid for no other reason than a desire to obtain a good position.

A public house, situated in the neighborhood of one of the fashionable resorts, is a place of great interest and interest of public opinion.

THE MISTAKE SHE MADE.

Richard Trevelyan was at last called upon to give an account of his life.

He sat by the fire window, reading the account of his life, as he probably dreamed of some old story like this.

When she took away from her, across the table, was an empty net, which at the next station was filled by a man with a sample case.

The lady was a young and pretty, with perhaps a shade of red in her cheeks, but still one could hardly say she was not a very good specimen of such a creature as is to be met with.

When the man had set down the net, he sat at the window, looking at the net, as he had done before, and he was looking at it with a certain interest.

After a while he rose and opened the door, and he was looking at it with a certain interest.

After a while he rose and opened the door, and he was looking at it with a certain interest.
