SCARCITY OF MONEY.

Many parts of South and West have no money.

Business men in the West are complaining of a scarcity of money.

The money market is tight and business is suffering.

There is a general feeling of pessimism among the people.

The banks are not lending money as freely as in the past.

The result is that many businesses are closing their doors.

The government is doing its best to ease the money market.

But the situation is still very serious in many parts of the country.

The people are suffering from the lack of money.

The government must take more effective measures.

To relieve the scarcity of money and help the people.

The situation is a national emergency.

And the government must act quickly.

To prevent a complete economic collapse.

The people are counting on the government for help.

And the government must not fail them.

The money market is the lifeblood of the economy.

And it must be kept flowing.

For the good of the entire nation.

The government has a duty to see to it.

That the money market is never again so tight.

As it is now.

The people are suffering and the government must act.

To ease the money market and help the people.

The situation is a national emergency.
