FLOOR GOES DOWN.

Thirty Persons Dead by a Disaster at London, Ont.

Thirty persons are known to have been killed and many injured by the collapse of a floor in a building at London, Ontario, Monday night. The light-colored wooden floor had given way under the weight of a crowd of people who were gathered in the building for a social occasion.

The building was crowded to the very doors, and the floor was very old and in poor condition. The collapse occurred at about 10 o'clock at night, and the people who were in the building at the time were very lucky to escape with their lives.
